Well-Traveled (50/50) (Minor, General)

Polygot (Minor, General). This virtue grants Affinity for all Living Languages. The character is adept at learning the spoken word, but cannot gain experience points from texts on a language and has a -3 penalty to Living Language ability scores (other than his native language) when attempting to comprehend something he reads. He benefits normally from exposure, a teacher, or practice. The character still needs Artes Liberales to read and write. (e.g. A Catalan character from Barcelona with Polygot has a Living Language: Greek score of 4. When reading a Greek Bible, his score of 4 is considered a 1.)

Equipment

Falco is an Italian from Piedmont. He lacks his traveling companions' martial prowess, but he's a good shot with a crossbow, and speaks almost a half-dozen languages with a honey-sweet silver tongue. Part of why he travels with the three brutal mercenaries is his inability to keep his hands off other men's wives.
