LIMITLESS MONSTERS

Acknowledgements

We would like to thank our wives, children, families, and friends for supporting us in this crazy sidequest that seems to have turned into a full campaign.

When we started, we just wanted to create a simple set of tools to help DMs get over writer's block, and give them a direction when they were stuck. We had no idea we would receive so much love and support from the community.

Thank you,

- The Limitless Team

A Note on Our Limitless Monsters

The purpose of this product is to make your life as DM easier. Some of the monsters in this book may require players to come up with solutions other than combat. The world is a scary place and sometimes you may have to run for your life.

Feel free to change the names, treasures, and details of these creatures as you see fit.

We value your business and your feedback, send us your comments, questions and concerns to support@limitless-adventures.com

Novelties

Every Limitless Adventures product will contain something new; a unique creature, spell, item, god, or optional rule that is previously unpublished. These novelties are set apart in blue text boxes.

Further Adventure™

Each monster will have a Further Adventure™ section to give the DM three ideas for additional quests that could spring from a seemingly random encounter. These hooks are merely suggestions for continuing a plot and should be used or ignored at your discretion. For example, if a hook suggests that the Duchess was the murderer, that is a just a possible twist you could build from and needn't be acted upon if it would disrupt your campaign.

Perhaps you find these encounters useful and recommend them a friend or like us on Facebook or Twitter...

You could join our e-mail newsletter and get free exclusives monthly at www.limitless-adventures.com ...

Maybe you turn out to be a doppelganger...

Aasimar

"The proud jaw, the noble bearing; I knew at once that this young man was descended from an angelic bloodline. The aasimar captain led the defenses of the city of Hope against Ventru's forces time and again, and in the fiercest of those battles, I never saw him waver."

Creature(s)

Aasimar

Medium Humanoid (Aasimar), Lawful Good

Armor Class: 16 (chainmail shirt)

Hit Points: 27 (5d8+5)

Speed 30 ft.

Challenge 1 (200 XP)

Skills Perception +3, Religion +2

Damage Resistances necrotic, radiant

Senses passive Perception 13

Languages Common, Celestial

Innate Spellcasting The aasimar's innate spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 11, +3 to hit with spell attacks). It can innately cast the following spells, requiring no material components:

At will guidance, sacred flame, spare the dying

Actions

Multiattack The aasimar makes two longsword attacks.

Longsword Melee Weapon Attack +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one creature) Hit: 4 (1d8+1) slashing damage, or 6 (1d10+1) slashing damage if used with two hands to make a melee attack.

The aasimar wields a shield.

Tactics

The aasimar fights defensively, often staying back and casting sacred flame while enemies close to melee range.

Lore: Religion

DC 15 - Aasimar are humanoids with strong celestial blood. Aasimar are attractive and tend to be natural leaders.

DC 20 - Aasimar can cast a number of clerical cantrips at will.

Treasure

A typical aasimar carries 3d6 sp, 3d4 gp, his combat gear, and a holy symbol of a lawful good god.

Further Adventure™

The party's newest hireling reveals himself to be an aasimar on a mission from a solar...

A stranded aasimar needs the party's assistance in returning to the outer planes (see below)...

The party is approached by a pair of aasimar sisters trying to find a lost temple believed to house an ancient relic...

Finding the Portal

Complexity: 6 successes before 3 failures

Difficulty: DC 15

Suggested Skills: Arcana, Investigation, Survival

Success: The party finds a portal to return the aasimar to the higher planes

Failure(s):

- 1: The party gets lost, the next roll is made with disadvantage.
- 2: The party is hot, tired, and hungry, thus gaining one level of exhaustion.
- 3: The party succeeds in finding the portal, is sucked through it with the aasimar.

Animated Object: Brass Oracle

"We spent more than a week underground, navigating the collapsed city by the sea, resting in the library after a vicious attack, and there I discovered wonderful volumes of works I'd never seen before. While many were damaged, I was ecstatic to discover one brass oracle intact. Despite it only speaking Aquan, and carrying facts about ocean voyages, I believe it was a great treasure."

Saving Throws Int +4, Wis +3

Skills Arcana +4, Religion +4, History +4

Damage Resistances fire, cold

Damage Immunities poison, psychic

Condition Immunities blinded, charmed, deafened, frightened, paralyzed, petrified, poisoned

Senses blindsight 60 ft. (blind beyond this radius), passive Perception 11

Languages One language known by its creator

Long Memory The brass oracle can remember facts and information it has been taught in a language it knows. It will photographically remember details of images or interactions it has seen, but can only describe them with words.

Antimagic Susceptibility The brass oracle is incapacitated while in the area of an antimagic field. If targeted by dispel magic, the oracle must succeed on a Constitution saving throw against the caster's spell save DC or fall unconscious for 1 minute.

False Appearance While the brass oracle remains motionless, it is indistinguishable from a normal brass bust of a humanoid.

Actions

Disapproving Gaze One creature the oracle can see must make a DC 13 Wisdom save or take 5 (1d8 + 1) psychic damage. On a failed save, the creature will be stunned until the end of the oracle's next turn.

Treasure

An oracle can be convinced to come with a party, as long as it knows that it will eventually be heading to an active place of learning (a temple or library in good repair and use). It can assist a party member with most general intelligence skill checks if consulted, granting advantage if shown the object in question or given detailed descriptions.

Further Adventure™

The bust complains about all the non-topic information "cluttering its memory", but needs a password to reveal it... Something is wrong with this oracle, and it always lies...

The oracle becomes confused and begins answering previously asked questions (even centuries old)...

Lore: Arcana

DC 10- Brass Oracles are magical constructs, can speak one language, and know extensive information - generally on one specific topic. They can be judgemental for people who don't respect learning or information.

DC 15- The specific topic is chosen by those who teach the oracle the information, so other information can also be stored in a Brass Oracle, it can remember anything, even images - but can only describe or recite information.

Animated Object: Unfinished Armor

"Abandoned in the cobwebs of the armory, it began trying to piece itself together again, a mishmash of armor and a sickly green glow animating the mass of pieces - attacking the veteran we'd hired. It tore and ripped pieces from his gear to complete itself, growing more powerful."

Creature(s)

Animated Object: Unfinished Armor

Medium Construct, Unaligned

Armor Class: 18 (natural armor)

Hit Points: 33 (6d8+6)

Speed 25 ft.

Challenge 2 (450 XP)

Damage Immunities poison, psychic

Condition Immunities blinded, charmed, deafened, exhaustion, frightened, paralyzed, petrified, poisoned

Senses blindsight 60 ft. (blind beyond this radius), passive Perception 6

Languages -

Antimagic Susceptibility The armor is incapacitated while in the area of an antimagic field. If targeted by dispel magic, the armor must succeed on a Constitution saving throw against the caster's spell save DC or fall unconscious for 1 minute.

False Appearance While the armor remains motionless, it is indistinguishable from a normal suit of armor.

Actions

Multiattack The armor makes two melee attacks. The unfinished armor may use its Grappling Chains and Rending Assimilation with these multiple attacks.

Grappling Chains As an attack, the unfinished armor can lash out with chains and straps in an attempt to begin tearing at a target's armor. The target must make a DC 12 Strength check, or be grappled. The chains may be attacked (AC 14; 6 hit points; immunity to poison and psychic damage).

Rending Assimilation Melee Weapon Attack +4 to hit, reach 5 ft (one grappled target) Once the armor has a target grappled, it can use its action to begin to rend and assimilate non-magical armor, leather, and metal worn or carried by the target. On a successful hit, the target's worn armor is reduced by 1 point of AC value. When the target armor reaches 10 AC, it is destroyed (ex: Leather Armor base AC is 11 and is destroyed with one hit - reduced to 10). On a successful hit, the unfinished armor will then assimilate this point to itself gaining 1 point of AC (max: 21), and gain 1d4+4 temporary hitpoints even above its hitpoint maximum. Multiple uses of assimilation will further increase the number of temporary hitpoints. Any nonmagical armor, weapons, or equipment made of non-rusted iron or leather can be assimilated in this manner.

Slam Melee Weapon Attack +4 to hit, reach 5 ft. (one creature) Hit: 5 (1d6 + 2) bludgeoning damage.

Lore: Arcana

DC 15- A wizard, attempting to create animated armor, might fail or be interrupted, creating an animated mass of materials ever trying to become whole.

DC 20- The armor seems drawn to non-magical gear in an attempt to assimilate it.

Treasure

Typically, animated armor contains several pieces of workable armor. There's a 50% chance of a chain shirt, a 25% chance of a complete breastplate, and a 10% chance of a leather belt with a potion of health and a pair of coin purses containing 150 gp, 45 sp, and 75 cp.

Further Adventure[™]

A wizard is building an army of unfinished armor to be unleashed upon the field of battle to use his enemies' strength against them...

Once destroyed, the animating spirit of the armor may float away and move on to another form (wood, or clay) and attempt to rebuild itself with new materials...

The animating force within the armor is a trapped spirit that then possesses one of the party's weapons, and begins speaking to the user, urging destruction...

Applehead/Cornbabies

"They may look like the corn maiden dolls (fashioned at harvest time from grain or carved apples), or even the toys of children. But these familiars are sent on missions by their masters, especially when something as simple as a doll would never be suspected of more malicious activities."

Creature(s)

Applehead/Cornbaby

Tiny Construct (Plant), Unaligned

Armor Class: 13

Hit Points: 8 (3d4+1)

Speed 45 ft.

Challenge 1/4 (50 XP)

Skills Stealth +6

Damage Resistances bludgeoning, piercing, and slashing from nonmagical attacks

Damage Immunities poison, psychic

Damage Vulnerabilities fire

Condition Immunities charmed, exhaustion, frightened, paralyzed, petrified, poisoned

Senses darkvision 120 ft.

Languages Understands one language spoken by their creator, but cannot speak

Remote Sight As an action, the creator of the doll can see through its eyes and hear what it hears until the start of the creator's next turn, gaining the benefits of any special senses that the familiar has. During this time, the creator is deaf and blind with regard to their own senses.

A Leaf on the Wind The doll can move with magical speed (45ft.), as if blown along by the wind. It is only strong enough to carry objects up to 5 pounds.

Magical Vessel The doll may be constructed to deliver one spell, similar to glyph of warding. The spell can be a delivered touch spell, similar to the capability of a familiar, but must be stored in the doll when it is created. The doll may carry the spell indefinitely until ordered to cast it.

Magic Resistance The doll has advantage on saving throws against spells and other magical effects.

Actions

Deliver Spell The doll may activate and deliver the spell contained within it, destroying itself. It may do so via verbal order by its creator, or by meeting qualifying conditions of previous orders (e.g. "Destroy whoever holds the chalice", "Kill my pursuers", "Go to the temple and destroy the altar.", etc.) If not specified by the DM, the doll explodes in a 20 ft radius, creatures within the sphere take 5d8 necrotic damage on a failed Dexterity saving throw, or half as much damage on a successful one. The spell attack modifier or save DC is based on the caster's modifier or save DC.

Slash Melee Weapon Attack +2 to hit, reach 5ft. (one target) The doll may slash a target, dealing 1 hp damage

Lore: Arcana (Roll with disadvantage if only destroyed dolls are sighted)

DC 10 - Appleheads/Cornbabies are magical talismans made from the last harvested crops of the season to house "the spirit of the field" during the coming winter, plowed under in the spring ensuring a good harvest.

DC 15 - Powerful spellcasters can warp the natural energy in these dolls to create magical servants. As part of their construction, their creators may infuse their forms with a powerful spell or curse that can be unleashed, destroying the doll. Tiny telltale details of the doll's construction reveal the spell contained within it.

Treasure (Harvest)

If captured(or grappled), and the spell effect can be disarmed with a DC 15 Dexterity (Thieves' Tools) check before the doll releases its magic, the doll has a 100 gp ruby gemstone "heart" material component that can be salvaged. Harvesting this gemstone dispels the magic animating the doll. A failed check will immediately deliver the spell, targeting or centered on the creature attempting to disarm. If the spell is activated, or the check failed, this gemstone is destroyed with the doll.

Further Adventure™

All the children in town seem to be carrying these dolls everywhere you look, and valuables are going missing...

Temples and healing potions are becoming tainted with only scraps of straw and carved apples as evidence...

A night hag uses the dolls to deliver powerful sleeping drugs to her victims, to ease her collection of evil souls...

Archfey

"We'd tracked the unicorn for days, an amazing specimen with a slight golden thread in the spiral of her horn. She stopped in a glade and transformed into the most beautiful high elf matron I had ever seen who asked us to please leave her be. Godrick wrote a song about her eyes."

Creature(s)

Archfey

Medium Humanoid (Fey), Chaotic Neutral

Armor Class: 19 (natural armor)

Hit Points: 187 (25d8+75)

Speed 30 ft.

Challenge 21 (33,000 XP)

Saving Throws Int +7, Wis +11

Skills Animal Handling +11, Nature +7, History+7, Perception +11, Persuasion +10

Damage Immunities poison; disease; bludgeoning, piercing, and slashing from nonmagical attacks

Condition Immunities charmed, exhaustion, frightened, paralyzed, poisoned, disease

Senses truesight 60 ft., passive Perception 15

Languages Common, Druidic, Elvish, Sylvan, Celestial, Abyssal

Fey Nobility Fey nobility have advantage on saving throws against being charmed and magic can't be put to sleep. Their connection with the Feywild also grants them truesight to 60 ft. The archfey ages at 1/10th the rate of normal elves. Fey nobility grants her a resilient, radiant, skin and many immunities.

Legendary Resistance (3/Day) ○○○ If the archfey fails a saving throw, she can choose to succeed instead.

Archruid The archfey can regain 10 levels spell slots (below 6th level) with a short rest. The archfey can move through non-magic difficult terrain and plants without slowing, and has advantage on saving throws against plants that are magically created or manipulated to impede movement, such those created by the entangle spell. Due to the archfey's connection with nature When a beast or plant creature attacks, that creature must make a Wisdom saving throw against your druid spell save DC. On a failed save, the creature must choose a different target, or the attack automatically misses. On a successful save, the creature is immune to this effect for 24 hours. The creature is aware of this effect before she makes her attack. The archfey's wildshape ability may be used an unlimited number of times, and may ignore verbal, somatic, and material components that do not have a listed gp cost - casting in fey or beast form.

Spellcasting The archfey is an 20th-level spellcaster. Its spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 19, +11 to hit with spell attacks). The archfey has the following druid spells prepared:

Cantrips (at will) druidcraft, thorn whip, guidance, shillelagh

1st level (4 slots) ○○○○ entangle, detect poison and disease, speak with animals, longstrider

2nd level (3 slots) ○○○ barkskin, beast sense, lesser restoration, pass without trace, spike growth, spider climb

3rd level (3 slots) ○○○ call lightning, conjure animals, dispel magic, sleet storm, plant growth

4th level (3 slots) ○○○ conjure woodland beings, divination, freedom of movement, ice storm, stoneskin, locate creature

5th level (3 slots) ○○○ awaken, commune with nature, greater restoration, reincarnate, tree stride

6th level (2 slots) ○○ conjure fey, heroes' feast, irresistible dance

7th level (2 slots) ○○ mirage arcane, plane shift, regenerate

8th level (1 slot) ○ control weather

9th level (1 slot) ○ true resurrection

Actions

Wildshape As a bonus action, the archfey can wildshape into a beast CR 6 or less. A DC 15 Nature check will reveal subtle features and details that point to the animal actually being an archfey. ex: Giant Elk (CR 2; AC 14; 42 hp; 60 ft.)

Enthralling Touch Melee Weapon Attack +10 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one creature) Hit: 10 (3d6) radiant damage. The target must succeed on a DC 18 Wisdom saving throw or be charmed for 1 minute. The target can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, ending the effect on itself on a success.

Legendary Actions

The archfey can take 3 legendary actions, choosing from the options below. Only one legendary action option can be used at a time and only at the end of another creature's turn. The archfey regains spent legendary actions at the start of her turn.

Wildshape: Unicorn (Costs 3 Actions) As a feature of the archfey's nobility, the archfey can take the form of a unicorn (CR 5; AC 12; 67 hp; speed 50 ft) or return to her archfey form.

Cantrip The archfey casts a cantrip.

Enthralling Touch (Costs 2 Actions) The archfey uses her Enthralling Touch.

Peaceful Countenance (Costs 2 Actions) The archfey fixes her gaze on one creature she can see within 10 feet of it. The target must succeed on a DC 18 Wisdom saving throw against this magic or become blissfully stunned by the archfey's beauty for 1 minute. The stunned creature will only look at the archfey in awe while affected. The blissfully stunned target can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, ending the effect on itself on a success. If a target's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the target is immune to the archfey's countenance for the next 24 hours.

Restore Life (Costs 3 Actions) The archfey may expend one spell slot and restore 1d8 hitpoints per level of the spell slot expended to herself or another willing creature.

Lore: Nature

DC 20 (must also speak Sylvan)- The archfey are nobility among elves, even to the nobles. Their connection with the feywild gives them amazing transformative powers.

DC 25 (must also speak Sylvan)- The presence of an archfey causes plants for several miles to grow with renewed vigor and bounty. The archfey can become a unicorn.

Tactics

If the archfey has a cloak of elvenkind, staff of the woodlands, and healing potions remember to use those items if she is attacked.

Treasure

The archfey may carry a cloak of elvenkind, and a staff of the woodlands, and 1d4 potions of superior healing, but generally no coins.

Further Adventure™

The forests are dwindling, the archfey lays wounded in her unicorn form, unable to transform because her alicorn was removed...

A covenant between the local lord and a neighboring archfey was broken when a starving, overtaxed peasant poached on her land...

The land is barren and dying, and its only hope would be to convince an archfey to take residence in the local forest...

Argenta - Goddess of Healing

"When we ventured out of the Ylera Valley, we encountered many new cultures and beliefs, the noblest, kindest, and most charitable we encountered were the followers of Argenta, the Silver Queen."

Lore: Religion

DC 10 - Argenta is a goddess of healing and compassion. Her clerics wear pale blue robes and are often pacifists, though Argenta does have a fierce order of champions who are willing to fight to protect the weak.

DC 15 - Argenta is depicted as a silver-haired human or an elegant silver dragon. Sages believe her to have once been an ancient silver dragon that was raised to godhood.

Treasure

Argenta has little need for wealth and gave her hoard away eons ago shortly before her apotheosis. However, she can easily produce nearly any non-unique, non-artifact magical item.

Further Adventure™

Priests of Argenta hire the party to escort a shipment of healing herbs to a distant land or city affected by a plague...

Argenta appears to one of the party in a dream and asks them to recover a powerful healing relic that was lost at sea...

A champion of Argenta hires the party to broker a peace accord between two rival factions...

Champion of Argenta

Medium Humanoid (Dragonborn (silver)), Neutral Good

Armor Class: 16 (chainmail shirt)

Senses passive Perception 13

Languages Common, Draconic

Breath Weapon (short or long rest) The champion exhales an icy blast in a 15-foot cone. Each creature in that area must make a DC 11 Dexterity saving throw, taking 7 (2d6) cold damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Divine Eminence As a bonus action, the champion can expend a spell slot to cause its melee weapon attacks to magically deal an extra 10 (3d6) radiant damage to a target on a hit. This benefit lasts until the end of the turn. If the champion expends a spell slot of 2nd level or higher, the extra damage increases by 1d6 for each level above 1st.

Spellcasting The champion is a 5th-level spellcaster. Its spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 13, +5 to hit with spell attacks). The champion has the following cleric spells prepared:

Cantrips (at will) spare the dying, sacred flame, thaumaturgy

1st level (4 slots) ○○○○ cure wounds, guiding bolt, sanctuary

2nd level (3 slots) ○○○ lesser restoration, aid

3rd level (2 slots) ○○ mass healing word, revivify

Actions

Shield Bash Melee Weapon Attack +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one target) Hit: 5 (1d4 + 3) bludgeoning damage. If the target is a Medium or smaller creature, it must succeed on a DC 14 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone.

Warhammer Melee Weapon Attack +4 to hit, reach 5. ft., (one creature) Hit: 7 (1d8+3) bludgeoning damage or 8 (1d10+3) bludgeoning damage if used two handed.

Spellcasting Argenta is a 20th-level spellcaster. Her spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 27, +9 to hit with spell attacks). Argenta has the following cleric spells prepared:

Cantrips light, sacred flame, thaumaturgy

1st Level (4 slots) cure wounds, guiding bolt, sanctuary

2nd Level (3 slots) lesser restoration, spiritual weapon

3rd Level (3 slots) dispel magic, spirit guardians

Legendary Resistance (5/Day) If Argenta fails a saving throw, she can choose to succeed instead.

Actions

Multiattack Argenta can use her Frightful Presence. She then makes three attacks: one with her bite and two with her claws.

Bite Melee Weapon Attack +17 to hit, reach 15 ft., (one target) Hit: 21 (2d10 + 10) piercing damage.

Claw Melee Weapon Attack +19 to hit, reach 10 ft., (one target) Hit: 17 (2d6 + 10) slashing damage.

Tail Melee Weapon Attack +19 to hit, reach 20 ft., (one target) Hit: 19 (2d8 + 10) bludgeoning damage.

Frightful Presence Each creature of the Argenta's choice that is within 120 feet of the dragon and aware of her must succeed on a DC 27 Wisdom saving throw or become frightened for 1 minute. A creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, ending the effect on itself on a success. If a creature's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the creature is immune to Argenta's Frightful Presence for the next 24 hours.

Breath Weapons (Recharge 5-6) Argenta uses one of the following breath weapons.

Cold Breath The dragon exhales an icy blast in a 90-foot cone. Each creature in that area must make a DC 27 Constitution saving throw, taking 67 (26d8) cold damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Paralyzing Breath Argenta exhales paralyzing gas in a 90-foot cone. Each creature in that area must succeed on a DC 27 Constitution saving throw or be paralyzed for 1 minute. A creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, ending the effect on itself on a success.

Change Shape Argenta magically polymorphs into a humanoid or beast, or back into her true form. She reverts to her true form if she dies. Any equipment She is wearing or carrying is absorbed or borne by the new form (Argenta's choice).

Legendary Actions

Argenta can take 5 legendary actions, choosing from the options below. Only one legendary action option can be used at a time and only at the end of another creature's turn. Argenta regains spent legendary actions at the start of its turn.

Detect The dragon makes a Wisdom (Perception) check.

Tail Attack The dragon makes a tail attack.

Wing Attack (Costs 2 Actions) The dragon beats its wings. Each creature within 15 feet of the dragon must succeed on a DC 27 Dexterity saving throw or take 17 (2d6 + 10) bludgeoning damage and be knocked prone. The dragon can then fly up to half its flying speed.

Actions

Multiattack: The astral pirate makes three melee attacks: two with its scimitar and one with its dagger. Or the astral pirate makes two ranged attacks with its daggers.

Scimitar: +5 to hit, Hit: 6 (1d6 + 3) slashing damage.

Dagger: Melee or Ranged Weapon Attack +5 to hit, 5 ft., (reach one creature) or 20/60 ft., (range one creature) Hit: 5 (1d4 + 3) piercing damage.

Reactions

Parry: The astral pirate adds 2 to its AC against one melee attack that would hit it. To do so, the astral pirate must see the attacker and be wielding a melee weapon.

Tactics

Astral pirates are raiders, they have one mission, get loot and get out. As such, the astral pirates avoid fair fights, make great use of cover, and often dodge and disengage instead of attacking.

Lore: Arcana

DC 15 - Astral pirates flood through naturally occurring planar portals and those created by magic. They lair on the Astral Plane in floating hideouts.

DC 20 - Astral pirate groups are led by a raid mage responsible for opening the portals to the Material Plane. Additionally, some astral raiding parties have armored minotaur brutes to aid in the assault.

Treasure

Astral raider - 4d8 gp, usually in silver items - candlesticks, rings, jewelry, silverware, etc.

Minotaur blockade crusher - 6d8 gp, in coins, gems, and weapons. Raid mages - 10d12 gp, most likely in books, scrolls, relics, potions and arcane objects.

After a raid, one of the astral pirates is left behind...

A particularly nasty raiding party kidnaps several children, whisking them back to the Astral Plane...

A raiding party takes a priceless relic from a tomb or temple and the gods are showing their disfavor with endless storms...

Heated Body A creature that touches the azer or hits it with a melee attack while within 5 feet of it takes 5 (1d10) fire damage.

Heated Weapons When the azer hits with a metal melee weapon, it deals an extra 3 (1d6) fire damage (included in the attack).

Illumination The azer sheds bright light in a 10-foot radius and dim light for an additional 10 feet.

Actions

Multiattack The azer marauder attacks twice with its maul.

Maul Melee Weapon Attack +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one creature) Hit: 14 (2d6 + 4) bludgeoning damage, plus 3 (1d6) fire damage.

Tactics

Azer marauders take advantage of their race's lawful and nonevil reputation and lure planar travelers into traps. They also prey on the good-hearted by setting fires to aid in their escape. One example of this tactic is setting a cottage filled with people on fire, forcing adventurers to choose between pursuing the azers, or saving the villagers.

Lore: Arcana

DC 15 - Azers are fiery humanoid elementals native to the Plane of Fire.

DC 20 - While azers are typically lawful neutral, marauders are outcasts of the azer society for their evil ways.

Treasure

Azer marauders carry fireproof treasure and weapons. A typical azer marauder carries 3d4 obsidian coins (5 gp each).

Further Adventure™

Azer marauders have been sent to retrieve an item for their red dragon master and are burning a path as they go...

A group of azer marauders poses as their lawful neutral kin to lure the party into a trap...

A rift to the elemental plane of fire has opened and an azer marauder war band has slipped through and is working to make the rift permanent...

Bilge Horror

"On a voyage to the southern archipelago, a sailor went missing on the third night. The missing sailor was found two days later crawling around the orlop deck."

Creature(s)

Lore: Nature

DC 15 - Bilge horrors resemble zombies, but are actually living humanoids transformed by a naturally occurring parasite found in filthy sea water.

DC 20 - Individuals bitten by a bilge horror will grow gills and transform into a bilge horror themselves if the disease is not cured within seven days.

Treasure

The bilge horror still wears shredded clothing from its form life. In the pocket of its breeches is a silver locket (5 gp), 3 cp, and a leather pouch containing the bones of a rare bird.

Further Adventure™

A ship slowly pulls into port and a flood of bilge horrors pour onto the deck...

The ship's cleric has been infected with parasites and the ship is caught in a doldrum...

A plot to introduce bilge horror parasites into the city's water supply has been revealed, but the authorities don't know when it will happen or by whom...

Pack Tactics The charnel hound has advantage on an attack roll against a creature if at least one of its allies is within 5 feet of the creature and the ally isn't incapacitated.

Actions

Bite Melee Weapon Attack +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one creature) Hit: 11 (2d6 + 4) piercing damage. If the target is a creature, it must succeed on a DC 14 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone.

Necrotic Breath (Recharge 5-6) The charnel hound exhales a blast of necrotic energy in a 15-foot cone. Each creature in that area must make a DC 12 Dexterity saving throw, taking 18 (4d8) necrotic damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Tactics

Charnel Hounds work well in packs in graveyards that force the party to walk in single file. They prefer their leader confront a party directly, while the others flank from the sides. The leader will immediately bite the strongest foe, while the flanking pair will start with their breath weapons to weaken the middle or rear of the party.

Lore: Religion

DC 15 - Scholars believe that charnel hounds were once winter wolves that were either twisted by dark magic or forced to eat the dead out of necessity.

DC 20 - Charnel hounds have a terrible breath weapon that deals necrotic damage.

Treasure

Charnel hounds carry no treasure, but they sometimes uncover jewelry or trinkets that were buried with the deceased. A typical example would be one of the following: a tarnished gold wedding ring (20 gp), a copper arm torc (15 gp), a silver pendant (10 gp).

Further Adventure™

A charnel hound is digging up the local graveyard and eating the deceased...

A pack of charnel hounds are gathering en mass and digging up a hill near town...

A war band of undead gnolls mounted on charnel hounds has been devouring travelers on the nearby road...

Chosen of Lugh

"We watched as the nearly naked berserker began to contort and change. We heard bones cracking and sinews ripping free and reshaping themselves. The man had become a barely recognizable giant that howled and launched itself into the battle."

Creatures

Tactics

The Chosen of Lugh are brawlers, and not well-versed in tactics, but they do know enough to get deep into the enemy lines before giving in to the Riastrad.

Lore: Religion

DC 15 - The Chosen of Lugh are mad, battle-scarred berserkers capable of transforming into frenzied giants for a short period of time.

DC 20 - The Chosen of Lugh become battle mad while under the effects of the Riastrad, unable to tell friend from foe.

Treasure

The axes carried by the Chosen of Lugh, while not magical, are storied blades and highly prized by collectors and warlords often fetching as much as 100 gp.

Further Adventure™

A Chosen of Lugh slew his thane in a battle frenzy and the party is hired to track the warrior and bring him back alive... The party must negotiate a peace with a barbarian tribe. The tribe respects only strength and will not come to the table unless one of the party bests a Chosen of Lugh in hand to hand combat...

Additionally, while under the Riastrad, the Chosen treat any target within reach as an enemy, and are unable to tell friend from foe. The transformation takes one standard action.

Actions

Multiattack The Chosen of Lugh makes two greataxe attacks.

Greataxe Melee Weapon Attack +7 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one target) Hit: 10 (1d12+4) slashing damage, or 23 (3d12+4) slashing damage if under the Riastrad.

Spore Immunity Due to the symbiotic mycelium of the nightcaps, the deep crab is immune to sleep or charm effects.

Amphibious The crab can breathe air and water.

Actions

Slumber Spores (Recharges after a short rest) The deep crab shakes its shell and releases a cloud of spores. All creatures in a 20-foot radius centered on the crab are affected as the sleep spell cast using a third level slot (so, 9d8 hit points).

Claw Melee Weapon Attack +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one creature) Hit: 12 (2d8 + 4) bludgeoning damage, and the target is grappled (escape DC 14). The crab has two claws, each of which can grapple only one target.

The deep crab looks very much like its mundane cousins, with two exceptions. The deep crab is the size of a tinker's wagon, and the deep crab's shell is covered in a field of blood red mushrooms called nightcaps. Nightcap mushrooms are extremely rare and have only been found on the shells of deep crabs. The spores of the nightcap cause living creatures to fall into a deep slumber.

Tactics

Deep crabs tend to charge into the middle of large groups of prey to maximize the use of its slumber spores.

Lore: Nature

DC 10 - Deep crabs are massive subterranean crustaceans. Their shells are covered in red mushrooms.

DC 15 - The red mushrooms, known as nightcaps, emit spores that can put creatures into a deep slumber.

Treasure (Harvest)

Deep crabs don't hoard treasure; however, the treasure from their victims has been found near their nests. Typical treasure: 7cp, 3 gp, silver bracelet (10 gp).

Further Adventure™

A sage wants a live specimen of a deep crab brought back for study...

The city guard hires the party to track down a gang that has been selling baby deep crabs on the black market...

Tactics

Kavora have little in the way of tactics as their limited intellect and rage prevent serious planning. Kavora do, however, make good use of their Spider Climb ability and wait on ceilings to ambush their prey.

Lore: Arcana

DC 15 - The kavora are sightless demons used as shock troops in demonic armies. This roll reveals all the fiend traits.

DC 20 - The kavora can move full speed over any surface, even upside down.

Treasure (Harvest)

Kavora demons carry no treasure, though a gland in their head can be removed (DC 20 Medicine check) and used to create a rage drought (see below).

Further Adventure™

When you make a melee weapon attack using Strength, you add 1d4 to the damage roll. You have resistance to bludgeoning, piercing, and slashing damage. The rage drought lasts for 1 minute, during which time you cannot cast spells.

Dracolich, Adult Red

"It was believed that the Ylera Valley was guarded over by a red dracolich whose soul was held by Ventru, the overking."

Tactics

Dracoliches are ancient creatures of vast intellect and should be played as such. Before a party of adventurers ever gets to a dracolich, they should have been softened up by a series of deadly traps and difficult minions. When the party does manage to reach dracolich be sure to use its slow and dominate spells on the weak-willed, and save its counterspell (it only has one) until it is out of Legendary Resistances.

Lore: Religion

DC 15 - Dracolichs have undergone a dark ritual to become undead, placing their soul in a vessel, not unlike true liches. Dracoliches can cast a number of spells as a sorcerer. This roll reveals undead traits.

DC 20 - Dracolichs are no longer dragons and are not subject to effect that target dragons. The dracolich's breath weapon is an admixture of fire and necrotic energy.

Treasure

The dracolich has amassed an enormous hoard - 43,000 gp, 28,000 pp, a mithril crown (7,000 gp), a platinum and ruby ring (8,000 gp), a +2 greatsword named Gerwinn with a griffon head pommel, a staff of withering, brazier of fire elemental control, and a suit of elven chain.

Further Adventure™

The dracolich hires the party to retrieve his phylactery which was stolen by a guild of thieves...

Innate Spellcasting The dracolich's innate spellcasting ability is Charisma (spell save DC 19, +11 to hit with spell attacks). It can innately cast the following spells, requiring no material components:

1/day each counterspell, dominate person, greater invisibility, slow, wall of fire

Magical Resistance The dracolich has advantage on saving throws against magic.

Legendary Resistance (3/Day) If the dracolich fails a saving throw, it can choose to succeed instead.

Actions

Multiattack The dragon can use its Frightful Presence. It then makes three attacks: one with its bite and two with its claws.

Bite Melee Weapon Attack +14 to hit, reach 10 ft., (one creature) Hit: 19 (2d10 + 8) piercing damage plus 7 (2d6) fire damage.

Tail Melee Weapon Attack +14 to hit, reach 15 ft., (one creature) Hit: 17 (2d8 + 8) bludgeoning damage.

Frightful Presence Each creature of the dracolich's choice that is within 120 feet of the dracolich and aware of it must succeed on a DC 19 Wisdom saving throw or become frightened for 1 minute. A creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, ending the effect on itself on a success. If a creature's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the creature is immune to the dracolich's Frightful Presence for the next 24 hours.

Fire Breath (Recharge 5-6) The dracolich exhales necrotic fire in a 60-foot cone. Each creature in that area must make a DC 21 Dexterity saving throw, taking 31 (9d6) fire and 31 (9d6) necrotic damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Legendary Actions

The dracolich can take 3 legendary actions, choosing from the options below. Only one legendary action option can be used at a time and only at the end of another creature's turn. The dracolich regains spent legendary actions at the start of its turn.

Detect The dracolich makes a Wisdom (Perception) check.

Tail Attack The dracolich makes a tail attack.

Wing Attack (Costs 2 Actions) The dracolich beats its wings. Each creature within 10 feet of the dragon must succeed on a DC 22 Dexterity saving throw or take 15 (2d6 + 8) bludgeoning damage and be knocked prone. The dracolich can then fly up to half its flying speed.

If its penalty drops to -5, the weapon is destroyed. Ammunition made of metal that hits the rust dragon is destroyed after dealing damage.

Actions

Multiattack The dragon can use its Frightful Presence. It then makes three attacks: one with its bite and two with its claws.

Bite Melee Weapon Attack +12 to hit, reach 10 ft., (one target) Hit: 18 (2d10 + 7) piercing damage.

Claw Melee Weapon Attack +12 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one target) Hit: 14 (2d6 + 7) slashing damage.

Tail Melee Weapon Attack +12 to hit, reach 15 ft., (one target) Hit: 16 (2d8 + 7) bludgeoning damage.

Frightful Presence Each creature of the dragon's choice that is within 120 feet of the dragon and aware of it must succeed on a DC 17 Wisdom saving throw or become frightened for 1 minute. A creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, ending the effect on itself on a success. If a creature's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the creature is immune to the dragon's Frightful Presence for the next 24 hours.

Breath Weapons (Recharge 5-6) The rust dragon uses one of the following breath weapons.

Acid Breath The dragon spews acid in a 90-foot line that is 5 feet wide. Each creature in that line must make a DC 19 Dexterity saving throw, taking 66 (12d10) acid damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Rusting Breath The dragon exhales corrosive energy in a 30-foot cone. Each creature in that area must succeed on a DC 19 Dexterity saving throw. On a failed save, all nonmagical ferrous metal objects within the area corrode. If the object isn't being worn or carried, the attack destroys a 10-foot cube of it. Magical ferrous weapons and armor worn or held by a character that fails her save take a cumulative and permanent -1 to damage. Once a weapon has accumulated a -5 to damage, it is destroyed. Metal armor or a metal shield being worn or carried takes a permanent and cumulative -1 penalty to the AC it offers. Armor reduced to an AC of 10 or a shield that drops to a +0 bonus is destroyed.

Lore: Arcana

DC 15 - Sages believe that rust dragons are created in the lower planes by corrupting metal dragon eggs with a dark and torturous ritual. Rust dragons have a corrosive breath weapon that destroys ferrous metals, and their hide damages metal weapons as well. This roll reveals fiend traits.

DC 20 - Rust dragons are fiends and not subject to effects that target dragons. Rust dragons also have an acid breath weapon.

Treasure

5 amber (500 gp each), 7 jade (500 gp each), A painting of a bronze dragon (1,200 gp), +2 leather armor with brown bear claw adornments, a ceramic jar containing the ashes of an archmage (2,000 gp).

Magic Resistance The duende has advantage on saving throws against spells and magic effects.

Innate Spell Casting The duende's innate spellcasting is Wisdom (Spell save DC 12). It can innately cast the following spells, requiring only naturally found items as a component.

At Will jump

1/day confusion, freedom of movement, faerie fire, gust of wind, phantasmal, force, polymorph, sleep, and speak with plants.

Actions

Superior Invisibility The duende magically turns invisible until its concentration ends (as if it is concentrating on a spell). Any equipment the duende wears or carries is invisible with it.

Lore: Nature

DC 15 - The Duende are known to fade from view with ease.

DC 20 - These fey creatures are capable of confusing the mind and tricking those they dislike with illusions.

Treasure

Duende rarely carry much treasure but may have a trove of rare tropical fruits. Proficiency with an herbalist kit reveals these fruit act as goodberries, and for a minute grant advantage on saving throws versus poison.

Further Adventure™

The Duende explain that a malicious entity has corrupted some of the predators of the jungle...

The Duende says they can lead the party to an ancient ruin if they win in a dance-off(see below)...

The Duende grab a backpack with a number of your provisions and swing away into the deep jungle...

Fey Dance Contest

Complexity: 4 successes before 3 failures

Difficulty: DC 15

Suggested Skills: Athletics, Acrobatics, Performance,

Success: The duende acknowledge your sweet moves and lead you to the ruin

Failure(s):

1: You stumble, the next check is made with disadvantage

2: Out of shape, you gain one level of exhaustion

3: Laughing stock, you lose badly, but the Duende take pity and show you the way, mocking you the entire trip

Fey Ancestry The briar knight has advantage on saving throws against being charmed, and magic can't put the knight to sleep.

Brave The Briar knight has advantage on saving throws against being frightened.

Actions

Multiattack The briar knight makes two attacks.

Longsword Melee Weapon Attack +4 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one creature) Hit: 11 (2d8+2) slashing damage.

Long Bow Ranged Weapon Attack +4 to hit, range 150/600 ft., (one creature) Hit: 11 (2d8+2) piercing damage.

Leadership (Recharges after a Short or Long Rest) For 1 minute, the knight can utter a special command or warning whenever a nonhostile creature that it can see within 30 feet of it makes an attack roll or a saving throw. The creature can add a d4 to its roll provided it can hear and understand the knight. A creature can benefit from only one Leadership die at a time. This effect ends if the knight is incapacitated.

Reactions

Parry The briar knight adds 2 to its AC against one melee attack that would hit it. To do so, the knight must see the attacker and be wielding a melee weapon.

Tactics

Feral dogs surround and attack their prey, tripping or hamstringing whenever possible. After the pack leader trips the prey, his pack is granted advantage on subsequent attacks.

Lore: Nature

DC 10 - feral dogs are slightly tougher and more aggressive than their domestic counterparts.

DC 15 - some feral dogs are diseased and can prevent their victims from healing normally.

Treasure

Feral dogs obviously don't hoard treasure, at best, one may wear a leather collar worth 3d4 cp.

Further Adventure™

One of the dogs wears a silver tag that sports a noble crest of a local house...

A band of street children or gnomes could use the feral dogs as mounts...

An especially fast and nimble dog has a message tied around its neck...

Variant: Diseased Feral Pack Leader

Some feral pack leaders carry vile diseases that they spread with their bites. A diseased feral pack leader has a challenge rating of 1 (100 XP) and the following action instead of its normal bite attack.

Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +4 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (2d4 + 2) piercing damage. If the target is a creature, it must succeed on a DC 13 Constitution saving throw or contract a disease. Until the disease is cured, the target can't regain hit points except by magical means, and the target's hit point maximum decreases by 3 (1d6) every 24 hours. If the target's hit point maximum drops to 0 as a result of this disease, the target dies.

Spider Climb The forsaken can climb difficult surfaces, including upside down on ceilings, without needing to make an ability check.

Actions

Multiattack The forsaken makes two attacks, only one of which can be a bite attack.

Claws Melee Weapon Attack +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one creature) Hit: 8 (2d4 + 3) slashing damage. Instead of dealing damage, the forsaken can grapple the target (escape DC 13).

Bite Melee Weapon Attack +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one willing creature, or a creature that is grappled by the forsaken, incapacitated, or restrained.) Hit: 6 (1d6 + 3) piercing damage plus 7 (2d6) necrotic damage. The target's hit point maximum is reduced by an amount equal to the necrotic damage taken, and the forsaken regains hit points equal to that amount. The reduction lasts until the target finishes a long rest. The target dies if this effect reduces its hit point maximum to 0.

Further Adventure™

The master vampire returns to claim new thralls...

Cattle, sheep, and goats are going missing in the village. A weird stable boy is accused of the crimes, but a forsaken is the real culprit...

A band of forsaken causing trouble is believed to be an adventuring party that disappeared after stalking a vampire coven...

Tactics

The forsaken still possess much of their cunning and make good use of their spider climb ability to avoid melee attacks.

Lore: Religion

DC 15 - The forsaken are born when the remains of someone killed by a vampire are buried after the body has been skeletonized. The forsaken are not as powerful as their full-vampire peers, but also avoid many of the weaknesses attributed to true vampires.

DC 20 - Forsaken face no hindrance in sunlight and no aversion to holy symbols.

Treasure

The forsaken sometime retain an item from their former life. Choose one of the following: a tarnished gold wedding ring (20 gp), a silver hair comb (15 gp), a fine quality steel shield (15 gp), or a platinum locket on a chain (25 gp).

Osmeterium (Recharge 6) The caterpillar creates a 15-foot-radius sphere of nauseating gas centered on itself. The cloud lingers in the air for five minutes. Each creature that is completely in the cloud at the start of its turn must make a DC 13 Constitution saving throw against poison. On a failed save, the creature is poisoned. Creatures that don't need to breathe or are immune to poison automatically succeed on this saving throw. A moderate wind (at least 10 miles per hour) disperses the cloud after 4 rounds. A strong wind (at least 20 miles per hour) disperses it after 1 round.

Thanatosis If the caterpillar is reduced to 20 hit points or less it shivers violently and crashes to the ground seemingly dead. A DC 13 Insight reveals the caterpillar is feigning death in an attempt to survive the fight.

Lore: Nature

DC 10 - Giant caterpillars can create a noxious cloud of poisonous gas around themselves.

DC 15 - Giant caterpillars have a voracious appetite, eating 200 times their own weight before becoming a chrysalis.

A single giant caterpillar can eat a dozen or so fully grown trees over the many months between their hatching and becoming a chrysalis. While not normally meat eaters, they will attack and eat any unfortunate animals that get a little too close. They are known to completely devour granaries and wooden structures if other food isn't available.

Treasure (Harvest)

A giant caterpillar has a silk gland that can be manipulated with a DC 12 Herbalism check to produce a fine spool of white silk thread worth 5 gp.

Further Adventure™

An enemy has placed giant luna moth eggs throughout grain reserves and storehouses throughout the kingdom...

An elvish wizard says he can craft several lengths of luna rope if the party gathers the required silk glands...

Attempting to resurrect a fallen ally may require collecting a dozen chrysalides to construct a magical sarcophagus...

Luna Rope

Wonderous item, common

Luna rope is a fine white nearly weightless silk rope made from the chrysalis silk of the giant caterpillar. Its powers are activated via somatic gestures. When one end is held and activated, the other end of the rope rises into the air until the whole rope hangs perpendicular to the ground. The rope can be climbed in either direction as any silk rope, and the effect lasts for one hour or until deactivated while holding either end. Knots can be placed in the rope, which can be untied with a similar gesture from either end.

Druidic Mounts Elvish peoples, druids, and some rangers may hatch a luna moth chrysalis in 1 hour, and after a ten minute period they may convince the moth to serve as a mount for 24 hours, after which the moth will continue on with its lifecycle. The luna moth can carry 420 pounds on its back. The moth is intelligent and serving of its free will for this period, and may leave if treated poorly.

Flyby The moth doesn't provoke opportunity attacks when it flies out of an enemy's reach.

Actions

Dazzling Display As an action, the moth can flutter and pop its wings in the face of a creature within 10 ft. If the target creature fails a DC 13 Wisdom save, they are stunned until the beginning of the moth's next turn.

Once a giant caterpillar enters the chrysalis phase, it sits dormant for many months or years, especially if the climate is cold. When conditions are right, the luna moth can hatch out of the chrysalis and begin flying in about an hour. The Luna moths have no mouth and do not require food or drink for the next seven days while they search for a mate, after which they die.

Lore: Nature

DC 10 - Luna moths live a very short time because they have no mouth to eat. These large, intelligent moths are about the size of a horse, and can even act as mounts.

DC 15 - There is a ritual that can wake them from their chrysalis, and they can serve as a mount for 24 hours.

Treasure

The luna moth has no treasure.

Further Adventure™

Strange paladins wearing green leafy armor arrive on giant luna moths to escort the party to their trial in the wildlands...

There is an ancient luna moth rumored to live in a high cave in a nearby mountain, somehow finding sustenance there...

Each night, one of the horses in the lord's stable violently transforms into a luna moth and flies away...

Waking A Chrysalis

1st-level druid/ranger spell (ritual)

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Touch

Components: V, S, M (must have a living luna moth chrysalis)

Duration: Instantaneous

A Luna moth is the adult form of the Giant Caterpillar, which forms a chrysalis after many months of voracious eating. This chrysalis can be stored in such a way as to remain dormant for many years. Knowledge of the waking a chrysalis ritual also includes information about preparing a chrysalis for long-term storage. This ritual awakes the chrysalis and hatches an adult luna moth in one hour. The moth must be convinced to serve as a mount or ally NPC. If the caster is good-aligned, this check can be made with advantage. A luna chrysalis weighs 200 pounds, AC 20 and 30 hit points.

Lore: History

DC 10- Gremlins are the tiniest of goblins and are very agile. They're known for traps, lockpicking, and damaging machinery.

DC 15- If you're not paying attention, they'll set traps right in front of you. If it takes a while, they're probably poisoning them. You really don't want to know what the poison muck is.

Treasure

Gremlins consider themselves lucky to carry a copper piece, as well as a lockpick set made of random wire, chicken bones, and other twigs and sticks. The "Gremlin Lockpicks" can be used by tiny races with no problem, and small races with disadvantage due to poor construction and tiny size.

Further Adventure™

Horrific Appearance Any humanoid that starts its turn within 30 feet of the hag and can see the hag's true form must make a DC 11 Wisdom saving throw. On a failed save, the creature is frightened for 1 minute. A creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, with disadvantage if the hag is within line of sight, ending the effect on itself on a success. If a creature's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the creature is immune to the hag's Horrific Appearance for the next 24 hours. Unless the target is surprised or the revelation of the hag's true form is sudden, the target can avert its eyes and avoid making the initial saving throw. Until the start of its next turn, a creature that averts its eyes has disadvantage on attack rolls against the hag.

Actions

Claws Melee Weapon Attack +4 to hit, reach +4 (one creature) Hit: 9 (2d6 + 2) slashing damage.

Haunting Song The hag targets one creature she can see within 30 feet of her. If the target can hear the hag, it must succeed on a DC 11 Wisdom saving throw against this magic or be charmed. So long as the hag sings (concentration), the target will regard the hag as friendly and worthy of protection, even allowing the hag to grapple or incapacitate the victim. Upon taking damage the target may attempt another save.

Illusory Appearance The hag covers herself and anything she is wearing or carrying with a magical illusion that makes her look like an ugly creature of her general size and humanoid shape. The effect ends if the hag takes a bonus action to end it or if she dies. The changes wrought by this effect fail to hold up to physical inspection. For example, the hag could appear to have no claws, but someone touching her hand might feel the claws. Otherwise, a creature must take an action to visually inspect the illusion and succeed on a DC 16 Intelligence (Investigation) check to discern that the hag is disguised.

Grotto hags are hermits, often living away from people, choosing crossroads and far off tracks near water sources from which to capture their humanoid prey. Because they aren't as powerful as their other hag sisters, grotto hags are more likely to integrate into rural society. Despite the danger, villagers may occasionally seek them out for information and medicine. This fact is usually not openly discussed.

Lore: Arcana

DC 11- The least of all hags, they lie in freshwater caves, pools, and marshes.

DC 12- The grotto hag lures her victims closer with her haunting song, then drowns or slashes them with her vicious claws. (reveal the nature of the haunting song)

Treasure

The grotto hag carries a purse containing 10 gp, 20 sp, and 35 cp, but little else. Her home will contain enough dried herbs and components to make 1d4 uses of a healing kit. Tactics

Half red dragon trolls start each battle by using their breath weapon. They will back up (even risking attacks of opportunity in the process) to catch as many targets in the cone. Should any player deal acid damage to the troll, it focuses all attacks on that target until it is neutralized.

Lore: Arcana

DC 10 - Dragons can breed with lesser beings to create half-dragons. In this case, a red dragon mated with a troll to produce a fearsome fire-breathing offspring that is tougher and stronger than normal trolls.

DC 15 - Half red dragon trolls are resistant to fire and continue to regenerate after taking fire damage (though not after taking acid damage).

Treasure

Half-dragons inherit their parents' need to hoard treasure. A typical cache would be 13 cp, 23 sp, 67 gp, 3 pp, a pearl (100 gp), and a fine steel helmet with a griffon plume (25 gp).

Further Adventure™

Half-Red Dragon Wyvern

"Well, I would imagine it gets lonely in those mountains..."

Creature(s)

Tactics

Half Dragon Wyverns try to stay airborne and keep mobile. Keep in mind their 10 ft. reach.

Lore: Nature

DC 15 - Half-dragon wyverns look very much like normal wyverns, but their usually dun-colored scales reflect their draconic parent and they sport a pair of stunted arms. This roll reveals dragon traits.

DC 20 - Half-dragon wyverns have a breath weapon of the same type as their true dragon parent, while maintaining a wyvern stinger.

Treasure

Half-dragon wyverns are only slightly more intelligent than an animal and do not hoard treasure as their full-blooded cousins. However, some treasure can be found in their lairs among the bones of travelers and adventures. A typical treasure would be - 53 gp, a gold belt buckle (25 gp), and a citrine (50 gp).

Creature(s)

Tactics

Ice elementals are light on tactics. They focus their attacks on unarmored opponents, but switch all attacks to any character that deals fire damage.

Lore: Arcana

DC 15 - Summoned from paraelemental planes where the Plane of Air and Plane of Water overlap, ice elementals are used as guardians. The elementals are immune to cold and vulnerable to fire.

DC 20 - The ice elementals slam attacks can slow their victim's movement.

Treasure

Ice elementals don't hoard treasure, but sometimes precious gems or coins can be used in the summoning of such creatures; a typical cache would be 7 blue quartz (10 gp each) frozen in the chest of the creature.

Pack Tactics The kobold has advantage on an attack roll against a creature if at least one of the kobold's allies is within 5 feet of the creature and the ally isn't incapacitated.

Spellcasting The kobold sorcerer is a 1st-level spellcaster. Its spellcasting ability is Charisma (spell save DC 12, +4 to hit with spell attacks). The kobold sorcerer has following sorcerer spells prepared:

Cantrips (at will) light, firebolt, minor illusion

1st level (3 slots) ○○○ mage armor, magic missile, sleep

Actions

Dagger Melee Weapon Attack +4 to hit, reach 5 ft. (one target) Hit 4 (1d4+2) piercing damage.

The kobold sorcerer draws its magic directly from the draconic blood in its veins. It requires no spellbook and considers such casters as mere dabblers. They are often the adviser to the chief, if not the chief themselves. Some kobold sorcerers are apprentices and servants to dragon spellcasters.

Tactics:

Kobold sorcerers are no more courageous than their non-caster cousins and prefer ranged spells. They often keep a spell slot or scroll in reserve to allow them to escape.

Lore: Arcana

DC 10 - Kobold sorcerers are rare, but do exist. They are often the adviser to the chief, if not the chief themselves. Some kobold sorcerers are apprentices and servants to dragon spellcasters.

Treasure

A kobold sorcerer typically carries 3d6 cp, 1d4 sp. Some rare, albeit worthless, trinkets can also be found. Typical examples include a polished dragon scale, the finger bone of an ancestor, a braid of whisper cat hair, or a vial of graveyard dirt.

Legendary Resistance (3/Day) ○○○ If the void lich fails a saving throw, it can choose to succeed instead.

Rejuvenation A destroyed void lich gains a new body in 1d10 days, regaining all its hit points and becoming active again. The new body appears within its extra-dimensional phylactery, and it must cast plane shift to escape.

Spellcasting The void lich is an 18th-level spellcaster. Its spellcasting ability is Charisma (spell save DC 20, +12 to hit with spell attacks). The void lich has the following spells prepared:

Cantrips (at will) mage hand, prestidigitation, vicious mockery

1st level (4 slots) ○○○○ detect magic, dissonant whispers, shield, witch bolt

2nd level (3 slots) ○○○ crown of madness, detect thoughts, invisibility, phantasmal force

9th level (1 slot) ○ weird

Madness The void lich has advantage on saving throws that result in psychic damage. If the saving throw results in saving for half damage, the void lich takes none.

Actions

Lamprey Touch Melee Weapon Attack +12 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one creature) Hit: 10 (3d6) necrotic damage, and the void lich regains hit points equal to half the amount of necrotic damage dealt.

Legendary Actions

The void lich can take 3 legendary actions, choosing from the options below. Only one legendary action option can be used at a time and only at the end of another creature's turn. The void lich regains spent legendary actions at the start of its turn.

Cantrip The void lich casts a cantrip.

Lamprey Touch (Costs 2 Actions) The void lich uses its Lamprey Touch.

Crazed Stare (Costs 2 Actions) The void lich fixes its gaze on one creature it can see within 10 feet of it. The target must succeed on a DC 18 Wisdom saving throw against this magic or become frightened for 1 minute. The frightened target can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, ending the effect on itself on a success. If a target's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the target is immune to the void lich's gaze for the next 24 hours.

Bedlam (Costs 3 Actions) Each living creature within 20 feet of the void lich must make a DC 18 Wisdom saving throw against this magic, taking 21 (6d6) psychic damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Void Lich (cont.)

Lore: Arcana

DC 20 - The void lich sought immortality and power through deep exploration of the Far Realm and returned immortal, strange, alien, and insane. It views all other life as lesser creatures, not even worthy of contempt.

DC 25 - The void lich has a phylactery that must be fed like a normal lich, but it exists as a special demi-plane only accessible via a unique version of the imprisonment spell. (Each void lich has their own version of the spell that leads to their own unique demi-plane phylactery).

Phylactery: The lich knows a unique version of the imprisonment spell, which leads to a living demi-plane that is maintained by the souls the void lich feeds it. This space can appear as anything the lich desires of any size or complexity, but its original form is like that of a living creature, with bones, veins, muscles, and flesh encompassing the entirety of the demi-plane. Within a hollow portion of this space resides the lich's soul, always threatened by the surrounding demi-plane to be consumed. Souls imprisoned by the lich reside here and are consumed in its place to maintain the demi-plane and the lich's immortality. Learning the details of the unique imprisonment spell should be arduous.

Tactics

Given the lich's disdain for "lesser" creatures and quest for knowledge, it may dimension door close to disable spellcasters with feeblemind, cast globe of invulnerability, steal their spellbooks and other powerful magic items, and then plane shift away - attempting to ignore other party members.

If threatened while attempting to complete a ritual (where it cannot readily escape), the lich will likely try to charm, dominate, or frighten martial foes, while attempting to remove the casters with feeblemind. Eyebite or similar charm effect spells at the start of combat might shift the battle immediately to the lich's favor by removing direct threats. The Lich is likely to save the 9th level slot only if the battle is going poorly, or much of the party is within the 30 ft. range and the battle is dragging on. Generally, a plane shift is preferable to destruction, giving the lich some distance from which to observe the party and attack at a better time.

Treasure

The void lich carries a tome of madness and a pouch containing at least one gem with an imprisoned soul (worth 500gp per hit die of the contained creature) that it tortures for entertainment.

Tome of Madness

Wonderous item (book), very rare

Possessing the tome of madness grants advantage on all Arcana checks related aberrations and the far realms, using an action to look up entries in the book. Reading the book for an Arcana check carries a 5% chance of taking 4 (1d8) psychic damage and a random short-term madness roll. Detailed study of the manual over several days (12 hours cumulative) grants permanent advantage of Arcana checks specific to aberrations as well as permanent resistance to psychic damage but requires a long-term madness roll. A detailed study has an additional 5% chance of an indefinite madness roll. This effect is obvious to the casual reader, as well as via the identify spell. Once the book is studied in detail, the writing becomes incomprehensible and the manual then loses its magic but regains this capability and magic in a century.

Further Adventure™

A void lich was sent by a Great Old One to destroy a party member, and there are more horrors on the way...

A void lich comes with an offer to grant a level of warlock to one of the party...

A void lich kidnaps a specific child and begins a slow process of converting them into a huge horrifying monster...

Living Hoard

"The treasure pile begins to shift and move, coalescing into a vaguely humanoid shape. It turns toward you, raising a massive fist made of coins."

Creature(s)

Tactics

A living hoard has limited mental facilities, and no real tactics to speak of, short of smashing the last person to deal it damage.

Lore: Arcana

DC 15 - A living hoard is a construct created by a special ritual. Its only purpose is to guard and protect the treasure of its creator.

DC 20 - Fragile items in the hoard are susceptible to attacks and will likely be destroyed. The actual value of a hoard can be reduced as a result of defeating it.

Treasure

The living hoard is the treasure hoard of a much more powerful creature like a dragon or a lich. The actual treasure will depend on the hoarding creature.

Further Adventure™

The creature mate returns to the lair and finds the party looting...

The enchantment that created the living hoard remains in place and the creature attempts to reform in 24 hours...

Unique Spellcasting The living spellbook has the spells of a 15th-level spellcaster, though it is not a spellcaster in the typical sense. The living spellbook uses the spellcasting abilities of its master in place of its own (spell save DC 18, +10 to hit with spell attacks, all spells act as though they were cast by a 15th level caster). The living spellbook can cast each of the following spells one time only (lost spells are not regained):

5th level (one time each) cone of cold, dominate person, wall of force

6th level (once) flesh to stone

7th level (once) forcecage

8th level (once) maze

Actions

Slam Melee Weapon Attack +8 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one target)

Hit: 8 (2d6+1) bludgeoning damage.

Further Adventure™

An enemy spellcaster steals the spellbook of the party's wizard and transforms it into a living spellbook...

The party is sent to retrieve a spell from the tomb of a mage, only to find the wizard's spellbook is alive...

The party encounters a living spellbook that has been imparted, either intentionally or accidentally, with free will, and it wishes to aid the party in their quest...

Lore: Arcana

DC 15 - Powerful casters can perform a ritual to awaken their spellbooks. This ritual is usually set to activate after the mage's death. The roll reveals the construct traits.

DC 20 - The living spellbook is able to cast the spell contained within its pages, but only once.

Treasure (Harvest)

Living spellbooks don't keep treasures, but their remains can be harvested for spellbook pages (see below).

Success: The party retrieves pages containing maze, forcecage, stone to flesh, and wall of force

Failure(s):

1: The next roll is made with disadvantage

2: The pages containing maze are destroyed

3: The pages containing forcecage and stone to flesh are destroyed

Magic Resistance The lubber fiend has advantage on saving throws against spells and other magical effects.

Actions

Claws Melee Weapon Attack +4 to hit, reach 5 ft. (one target) Hit: 5 (1d4 + 3) piercing damage, and the target must succeed on a DC 10 Constitution saving throw or take 5 (2d4) poison damage and become poisoned for 1 minute. The target can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, ending the effect on itself on a success.

A Friendly Gleam in His Eye One creature of the lubber's choice within 20 feet of it must succeed on a DC 13 Wisdom saving throw or be charmed for 1 minute. If it fails the saving throw, it is charmed by the lubber until the spell ends or until the lubber or its companions do anything harmful to it. The charmed creature regards the lubber as a friendly acquaintance for 1 hour. When the spell ends, the creature knows that there was some effect in place, but is not otherwise aware that they were charmed. If the save succeeds, or the spell effect ends, that target is immune to the effect for 24 hours.

Invisibility (1/day) The lubber magically turns invisible until it attacks, or until its concentration ends (as if concentrating on a spell). Any equipment the lubber wears or carries is invisible with it.

Lore: Arcana

DC 10 - It's difficult to find references to lubber fiends being all that bad. They seem a little mischievous, but otherwise seem perfectly friendly. They still make deals for souls, but they also do chores in exchange for things or information they want.

DC 15 - That gleam in his eye is a trick, as is the alcohol. You'll think it was all "perfectly normal" until you find yourself drunk and signing contracts with him.

Treasure

The lubber may carry a broom worth 2 sp, and a bottle of medium quality wine (5 gp) he created the day before.

Creature(s)

Tactics

A favorite among anti-magical zealots, the hounds can deal with powerful spellcasters allowing their masters the freedom to engage the martial party members. They may also be commanded to take down divine healers in the party to maintain the tide of battle.

Lore: Arcana

DC 15 - Mage hounds look like large long-haired hunting dogs, but they are covered with fleshy tumors. Sages believe that the hounds were created to track and kill magic users.

DC 20 - The tumors that cover a mage hounds body absorb magic spells, both arcane and divine.

Treasure

Mage hounds do not hoard treasure, though their remains can sometimes be sold to sages or mages for 50 gp.

DC 10 - Grave mephits arise as the crumbling foundations of the elemental plane of earth meets the negative energy plane (or plane of shadow). They attack with bludgeoning fists that drain your essence.

DC 15 - They can exude a mist that embodies the chill of the grave. When they die, they explode in a blast of necrotic energy.

Treasure

The grave mephit generally carries no treasure but is likely to haunt graves dug in rich soil. The occupants of those graves are likely to carry at least one thin gold ring (5 gp), and possibly a string of rough beads or a silver locket with a picture of a child worth 5 gp.

Further Adventure™

When certain wizards are buried on unhallowed ground, the earth can give rise to grave mephits...

A mad druid is summoning grave mephits to punish those who dare cut down the trees of her forest...

A lich has found a way to corrupt summoned earth elementals, shattering them into multiple grave mephits as a reaction...

Telepathic Scrying As an action, Nyx may use telepathy to speak with any creature on the same plane of existence using rules similar to the spell scrying with a DC 23 Spell save. On a failure, Nyx may speak freely for 24 hours with the creature and gains the sensor abilities of scrying. Once connected, Nyx has advantage on the next use of telepathy to speak with that individual. The fiend ignores the range restriction on her telepathy when communicating with a creature she has charmed. The two don't even need to be on the same plane of existence.

Shapechanger Nyx can use her action to polymorph into a Small or Medium humanoid, or back into her true form. Without wings, Nyx loses her flying speed. Other than her size and speed, her statistics are the same in each form. Any equipment she is wearing or carrying isn't transformed. She reverts to her true form if she dies.

Actions

Flying Darkness As an action, Nyx can cause magical blades of shadow to leap up from the feet of a target within 60 ft who must make a DC 23 CON save or take 26 (3d10+10) slashing damage and 11 (1d10+5) necrotic damage, or half as much damage on a successful save.

Shadowy Chains Ranged Weapon Attack +17 to hit, range 50 ft (one target) As an action, Nyx may summon chains from any shadow within 120 ft. The 5 ft cube around the point becomes magical darkness, with the chains extending to pierce and grapple the target. On a successful hit, the chains do 21 (2d10 + 10) piercing damage, 11 (1d10+5) necrotic damage, and attempt to grapple the target. On a failed DC 23 Athletics (Strength) check, the chains grapple the target, who becomes restrained. They may attempt a save at the end of each turn. Each round the target is restrained results in 11 (1d10+5) slashing damage and 11 (1d10+5) necrotic damage from the magical hooks and barbs. Multiple chains may grapple a target, and must be checked separately.

Caressing Touch Melee Weapon Attack +19 to hit, reach 5 ft. (one target) Nyx touches a creature, resulting in 21 (2d10+10) necrotic damage and 10 (1d10+5) psychic damage.

Nyx's Kiss Nyx kisses a creature charmed by her or a willing creature. The target must make a DC 27 Constitution saving throw against this magic, taking 115 (10d20+10) psychic damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one. The target's hit point maximum is reduced by an amount equal to the damage taken. This reduction lasts until the target finishes a long rest. The target dies if this effect reduces its hit point maximum to 0. If the target dies from this affect, a shadow immediately arises from the corpse.

Alluring Charm One humanoid Nyx can see within 120 feet of her must succeed on a DC 27 Wisdom saving throw or be magically charmed for 1 day. The charmed target obeys Nyx's verbal or telepathic commands. If the target is harmed by Nyx or receives a suicidal command, it can repeat the saving throw, ending the effect on a success. If the target successfully saves against the effect, or if the effect on it ends, the target is immune to this fiend's Charm for the next 24 hours. Nyx can have three targets charmed at a time. If she charms one more, the effect on the first target ends.

Ephemeral Shadows Nyx may magically enter the Ethereal Plane, or Plane of Shadow, from the Material Plane, or vice versa.

Reactions

Scorn As a reaction, Nyx can laugh mockingly and cause a re-roll of any d20 ability check, attack roll, or save. The new roll must be used. If the subsequent roll is a 1, the target takes 21 (2d10+10) psychic damage.

Legendary Actions

Nyx can take 5 legendary actions, choosing from the options below. Only one legendary action option can be used at a time and only at the end of another creature's turn. Nyx regains spent legendary actions at the start of her turn.

Flay Nyx uses her Flaying Darkness.

Silence (2 actions) Nyx can cast silence (20 ft radius) on a point within 120 ft.

Kiss Nyx will kiss, and drain, a creature she has charmed (or is willing.)

Caress Nyx will use her Caressing Touch.

Charm Nyx uses her Alluring Charm

Summon Chains (2 actions) Nyx summons Shadowy Chains to attack.

Dispel Daylight (2 actions) Nyx can cast a special form of dispel magic to disrupt the daylight spell, or Nyx may cast darkness (15 ft) on a point within 60 ft, similar to the spell.

Tactics

Long before the party fights Nyx, she'll use her telepathic abilities to make deals (starting with female characters) with the party. She will avoid identifying herself during these deals, just offering them telepathically with no further information. With her powers, she can ensure long or short rests can be made in safety (even in normally dangerous locations) similar to magnificent mansion, provide common or uncommon magic items (usually with a curse attached) or assist with difficult problems in exchange for later favors. These favors may be an assassination of some unknown NPC, acting as a courier between two other contacts, or the favor may allow her to negate an action of the player making the deal during a final showdown as one of her reactions. A favor can be activated as a reaction, once a player has chosen their action, negating its effect and wasting the resource (Spells "counterspelled", potions poured on the ground, etc.)

In direct conflict, she prefers to let others do her dirty work, attempting to charm martial characters in the party. She will then cast silence as her first legendary action on a point near the full casters of the party. She will then proceed to summon chains to grapple support players (and casters). If she has any unspent favors, she will wait for characters to use powerful abilities and then nullify them. She may also use her legendary actions to convert up to three nearby NPC slaves into shadows with her kiss to engage party members with multiple attacks.

Lore: Religion

DC 15 - Nyx was once a succubus who attained godhood through deception.

DC 25 - This succubus, once the consort of a god of darkness, has clawed and climbed her way with wit and guile to steal the mantle of darkness for herself. Her appetite for destruction has not rested, as she has set her sights on even more lofty targets. She prefers to tempt good people to do her dirty work, and revel in their downfall, while she picks up the pieces.

Treasure

Nyx's followers amass and maintain pleasure pits and brothels for Nyx to visit, as she prefers sins of the flesh to sins of greed. Nyx can easily produce nearly any non-unique, non-artifact magical item - but generally, prefers to add a curse to them before gifting them.

Orc Shaman

"The orc shaman takes delight in the suffering of any kind. An aggressive tactician, even by orc standards, he commands his allies and offers them magical strength and power to harry their enemies."

Creature(s)

Lore: Arcana

DC 10 - The large orc seems to be some kind of spellcaster.

DC 15 - A priest of the dark and violent gods of old, the Orc Shaman is a cruel master of the battlefield. (reveal powers)

Tactics

The Orc shaman will use its first round of combat to begin casting Unholy Inspiration to grant a d6 inspiration die to its allies, which it will command to use their Aggressive traits to move in to attack.

On its next turn, it will use spiritual weapon on a ranged attacker, with a cantrip to either attack or support its close allies. The orc will lead with its more powerful spells to cause upset and force flanking where possible. Chaos and aggressive attacks are its favored battle style.

Treasure

An orc shaman carries at least one potion of poison, a necklace of talismans made from bones and feathers that identify its magical school, and a spell focus pouch of gemstones (agates, obsidian, quartz, hematite, etc) worth 100 gp in total.

Further Adventure™

A cabal of orc shamen are attempting to raise one of their own to lich-like levels of power, gathering magic and materials...
 An orc shaman was revealed a great secret, and now seeks redemption in the light, if only someone would listen...
 Children of villages around an old hill known as Orskeep have been going missing for weeks at a time, eventually returning scarred and with missing limbs, too afraid to speak of the horrors they've seen...

Multiattack The harpy makes two attacks: one with each of its claws.

Claws Melee Weapon Attack +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one creature) Hit: 6 (2d4 + 1) slashing damage. Plus 7 (2d6) necrotic damage. Hit characters must make a DC 11 constitution saving throw or gain the poisoned condition.

Luring Song The pestilence harpy sings a magical melody. Every humanoid and giant within 300 feet of the pestilence harpy that can hear the song must succeed on a DC 11 Wisdom saving throw or be charmed until the song ends. The pestilence harpy must take a bonus action on its subsequent turns to continue singing. It can stop singing at any time. The song ends if the pestilence harpy is incapacitated. While charmed by the pestilence harpy, a target is incapacitated and ignores the songs of other pestilence harpies. If the charmed target is more than 5 feet away from the pestilence harpy, the target must move on its turn toward the harpy by the most direct route, trying to get within 5 feet. It doesn't avoid opportunity attacks, but before moving into damaging terrain, such as lava or a pit, and whenever it takes damage from a source other than the pestilence harpy, the target can repeat the saving throw. A charmed target can also repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns. If the saving throw is successful, the effect ends on it. A target that successfully saves is immune to this pestilence harpy's song for the next 24 hours.

False Appearance While the sargasso remains motionless, it is indistinguishable from a normal mass of seaweed, such as kelp. The floating stipes come from a central mass of seaweed, typically anchored to a submerged wall, pier, or sea floor.

Tangling Stipes The sargasso can have up to six stipes (tendrils) at a time. Each stipe can be attacked (AC 20; 10 hit points; immunity to poison and psychic damage). Destroying a stipe deals no damage to the sargasso, which can extrude a replacement stipe on its next turn. A stipe can also be broken if a creature takes an action and succeeds on a DC 15 Strength check against it.

Waterbound The sargasso can breathe and move freely in water, but is unable to move or breathe out of the water. It may attack creatures on the surface of the water with its stipes, extending them up to 15 ft. out of the water.

Actions

Multiattack The sargasso makes four attacks with its tendrils, uses Ensnare, and makes one attack with its bite.

Poisonous Bite Melee Weapon Attack +7 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one creature) Hit: 16 (4d8) piercing damage, and 2 (1d4) poison damage.

Stipe Melee Weapon Attack +7 to hit, reach 50 ft., (one creature) Hit: The target is grappled (escape DC 15). Until the grapple ends, the target is restrained and has disadvantage on Strength checks and Strength saving throws, and the sargasso can't use the same tendril on another target.

Ensnare The sargasso pulls each creature grappled by it up to 20 feet straight toward its mouth.

Lore: Nature

DC 15 - Sargasso normally hunt in waters far from land, but sometimes get washed closer to shore. They have six tangling stipes (reveal the tangling stipe power)

DC 20 - Sargasso are known to survive in fresh water.

Treasure

In deep water, any treasure captured by the sargasso is scattered on the ocean floor. Near shipwrecks (particularly if it makes it's home inside the ship), there is likely to be 100 pp, 100gp, and 200 gp in assorted small gemstones (ex: A 100gp pearl and a 100 gp Jade or Amber). Additionally, 500 sp and 1000 cp are likely corroded and are difficult to find (DC 16 Perception check to locate evidence that there may be more; DC 18 Investigation, 5 minutes of searching to gather). There is a 5% chance of some magical weapons or armor, +1 if any. Nonmagical clothes are likely to be destroyed.

Further Adventure™

Rogues in a nearby port use a sargasso living in a shipwreck as a dumping ground for problems (like the party)...

After a huge storm, the bay has become absolutely chocked with sargasso, hundreds of them, attacking anyone approaching the shore, or walking on the docks...

Somehow, in a cool freshwater pool, a sargasso has taken root - attacking the party when they stop to rest...

Scion

"A scion is to a halfling, as a tiefling is to a human. While primarily fey in ancestry, they are touched by a diabolical or demonic ancestor. This gives them a small, impish appearance, and, combined with their halfling joy of life, they develop an appetite for mischief and practical jokes."

Scion Nimbleness A scion can move through the space of any creature that is of a size larger.

Brave The scion has advantage on saving throws against being frightened.

Mocking Delight When a creature, who can hear and understand the scion, rolls a 20 on the d20 for an attack roll, ability check, or saving throw, the scion can, as a reaction, mock them verbally and force them to reroll the die. The target creature must use the new roll.

Actions

Multiattack The scion makes two dagger attacks.

Scion's Poison Dagger Melee or Ranged Weapon Attack +5 to hit, 5ft (reach one target) or 20/60 ft. (range one target) Hit: 5 (1d4 + 3) piercing damage, and the target must make a DC 12 Constitution saving throw, taking 10 (3d6) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one

The scion appears to be a halfling, similarly affected by their ancestry as a tiefling - with impish traits. This adds a more mischievous bent to their nature. Physically, a scion may have horns and a tail, and even vestigial wings. Traits and coloration vary wildly depending on ancestry, similar to tieflings.

DC 10 - A scion is like a tiefling, but imp-like with a lot of halfling qualities. They can exude a poison from their skin (or tails if they have them) with which they can coat their blades over the course of a few minutes.

DC 15 - They're mocking, and can ruin even the most critical blow with a few choice words.

Treasure

Scions keep their "stingers", up to 6 daggers, on their person at all times. Scions have a great love for gemstones and may have decorated their daggers with a total of 50 gp worth of small gemstone fragments to create a kind of colorful mosaic in the handle. There's a 5% chance that one of the daggers has an amethyst in the hilt worth 100 gp. Scions may also carry 2 gp and 15 sp.

Scion poison is an intimate thing, not readily shared with others, and not normally harvestable.

Further Adventure™

Scions are used as messengers, carrying contracts to and from human agents of demonic forces...

A scion dagger is found in the back of a scribe in a nearby temple, a page torn from the book he was copying...

A scion tries to hire the party to bust up a small local gang, so he can enhance his own operation...

Sea Serpent

"Sea serpents may not be large enough to sink a sailing ship, but they can play havoc on deck - easily destroying a crew in minutes, or easily crushing a rowboat. Underwater, they are even more deadly."

Creature(s)

Lore: Nature

DC 15 - Sea serpents usually live far out at sea, nesting in remote lagoons. They can extend their body and grapple multiple sailors.

DC 20 - When threatened by powerful foes, sea serpents are known to use a water jet of steam to burn their enemies in a line.

Treasure

The serpent typically has no treasure. Its hide, with several hours of labor, has a roughness similar to sharkskin - but is very tough and can be used to make waterproof liners for boats, weatherproof rain slickers, roofs, etc. A DC 16 Survival check is necessary to create the curable hide for crafting (clothing, gloves, boots, hide armor, etc). Hide armor from sea serpents is superior, providing AC 14 + Dex modifier (max 2). 1d6 complete sets of armor can be harvested from one serpent, each "set" requiring a separate Survival check. For each failed attempt at harvesting, 1 "set" is ruined and unusable for any purpose. For a fail of 10 or more (ex: 6), 1d4 "sets" are ruined. Each set of hide armor is worth 200 gp, mainly due to its unique nature.

Further Adventure™

Every day at dawn, a serpent attacks the ship; after a few days, the crew notices it's the same serpent scarred and restored each day...

An ocean druid, riding a serpent, says further travel is forbidden and commands the ship to turn about or suffer the consequences...

Sinuous body The sea serpent's body is very long and thin, and it can use the central portion of its body to encircle and constrict a large or smaller target, while still being free to bite and attack with its tail. By expending its movement, the serpent can also choose to extend it's body into a 40' line (of any shape), or coil up into a 10' cube. Attacks can only be made within reach of an appropriate part of the body.

Amphibious The sea serpent can breathe air and water.

Actions

Multiattack The sea serpent makes three attacks: one with its bite, one with its body to Constrict, and one with its tail slam.

Constrict Melee Weapon Attack +7 to hit, reach 10 ft (one creature) Hit: 13 (2d8+4) bludgeoning damage, and the target is grappled (escape DC 16). Until this grapple ends, the creature is restrained, and the sea serpent can't constrict another target. Once constricted, each round the sea serpent may continue to try to crush the restricted creature for an additional 8 (1d8+4) bludgeoning damage.

The sewerfolk have scraped together 3 cp and try to hire the party to hunt down a massive rat that has been hunting them...

The man calling himself the king of the sewerfolk is rumored to be a thief hiding from the local guild...

Sewer Plague

Sewer plague is a generic term for a broad category of illnesses that incubate in sewers, refuse heaps, and stagnant swamps, and which are sometimes transmitted by creatures that dwell in those areas, such as rats and otyughs.

When a humanoid creature is bitten by a creature that carries the disease, or when it comes into contact with filth or offal contaminated by the disease, the creature must succeed on a DC 11 Constitution saving throw or become infected. It takes 1d4 days for sewer plague's symptoms to manifest in an infected creature. Symptoms include fatigue and cramps. The infected creature suffers one level of exhaustion, and it regains only half the normal number of hit points from spending Hit Dice and no hit points from finishing a long rest.

At the end of each long rest, an infected creature must make a DC 11 Constitution saving throw. On a failed save, the character gains one level of exhaustion. On a successful save, the character's exhaustion level decreases by one level. If a successful saving throw reduces the infected creature's level of exhaustion below 1, the creature recovers from the disease.

DC 10 - The laughing are intelligent pack hunters from the Feywild, not mere wild beasts, and aim to confuse and unsettle their prey. Their unnerving laughter attack can only be used once in combat, by each laughing beast.

DC 15 - Their Misty Step power allows them to take advantage of their pack tactics on confused targets.

Tactics

The laughing prefer to attack in multiples of 2, to take advantage of their pack tactics. In groups of four, any laughing with a misty step ability will step to gain advantage from another laughing. Additional laughter will also target the weaker targets (those with the lowest strength) while one or two keep the strong targets busy. If the party is at rest, the laughing will attempt to drag off the weakest target after stealthily approaching.

Treasure (Harvest)

The laughing will typically have a lair nearby where they drag their kills to consume them. Tor'gall behave much like trolls, but are only seen in caves or at night..

Lore: Nature

DC 15 - These alpha trolls have the same weaknesses as regular trolls to fire and acid.

DC 20 - The vile nature of these trolls also makes them weak to radiant energy and resistant to necrotic.

Treasure

Tor'gall take glee in stealing treasures from other trolls. Sample treasures in a troll's lair could be 1003 gold worth of various coins, 10 pieces of amber, (worth 1,000 gp) or on a rare occasion a +1 shield it uses as a centerpiece for a stack of human skulls.

Further Adventure[™]

To stop a terrible rotting disease, a healer requires the intestines of a Tor'gall...

Trolls have been fleeing from their usual swamps and pose a threat to a nearby village; rangers suspect a Tor'gall has developed and spooked the normal trolls...

A wizard requests that a party of seasoned adventurers capture a Tor'gall alive as part of a strange mechanism he is constructing in his tower...

Spellcasting The vampire priest is a 9th-level spellcaster. Its spellcasting ability is Wisdom (spell save DC 17, +9 to hit with spell attacks). The vampire has the following cleric spells prepared:

Cantrips (at will): guidance, resistance, and sacred flame

1st level (4 slots): command, inflict wounds, protection from good, shield of faith

2nd level (3 slots): blindness/deafness, hold person, silence

3rd level (3 slots): bestow curse, dispel magic, spirit guardians

4th level (3 slots): banishment, death ward, guardian of faith

5th level (1 slot): flame strike

Shapechanger If the vampire isn't in sunlight or running water, it can use its action to polymorph into a Tiny bat or a Medium cloud of mist, or back into its true form. While in bat form, the vampire can't speak, its walking speed is 5 feet, and it has a flying speed of 30 feet. Its statistics, other than its size and speed, are unchanged. Anything it is wearing transforms with it, but nothing it is carrying does. It reverts to its true form if it dies. \ \ While in mist form, the vampire can't take any actions, speak, or manipulate objects. It is weightless, has a flying speed of 20 feet, can hover, and can enter a hostile creature's space and stop there. In addition, if air can pass through a space, the mist can do so without squeezing, and it can't pass through water. It has advantage on Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution saving throws, and it is immune to all nonmagical damage, except the damage it takes from sunlight.

Legendary Resistance (3/Day) If the vampire fails a saving throw, it can choose to succeed instead.

Misty Escape When it drops to 0 hit points outside its resting place, the vampire transforms into a cloud of mist (as in the Shapechanger trait) instead of falling unconscious, provided that it isn't in sunlight or running water. If it can't transform, it is destroyed. While it has 0 hit points in mist form, it can't revert to its vampire form, and it must reach its resting place within 2 hours or be destroyed. Once in its resting place, it reverts to its vampire form. It is then paralyzed until it regains at least 1 hit point. After spending 1 hour in its resting place with 0 hit points, it regains 1 hit point.

Regeneration The vampire regains 20 hit points at the start of its turn if it has at least 1 hit point and isn't in sunlight or running water. If the vampire takes radiant damage or damage from holy water, this trait doesn't function at the start of the vampire's next turn.

Spider Climb The vampire can climb difficult surfaces, including upside down on ceilings, without needing to make an ability check.

Vampire Weaknesses The vampire has the following flaws:

Forbiddance The vampire can't enter a residence without an invitation from one of the occupants.

Harmed by Running Water The vampire takes 20 acid damage if it ends its turn in running water.

Stake to the Heart If a piercing weapon made of wood is driven into the vampire's heart while the vampire is incapacitated in its resting place, the vampire is paralyzed until the stake is removed.

Sunlight Hypersensitivity The vampire takes 20 radiant damage when it starts its turn in sunlight. While in sunlight, it has disadvantage on attack rolls and ability checks.

Actions

Multiattack (Vampire Form Only) The vampire makes two attacks, only one of which can be a bite attack.

Unarmed Strike (Vampire Form Only) Melee Weapon Attack +9 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one target) Hit: 8 (1d8 + 4) bludgeoning damage. Instead of dealing damage, the vampire can grapple the target (escape DC 18).

Bite (Bat or Vampire Form Only) Melee Weapon Attack +9 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one willing creature, or a creature that is grappled by the vampire, incapacitated, or restrained) Hit: 7 (1d6 + 4) piercing damage plus 10 (3d6) necrotic damage. The target's hit point maximum is reduced by an amount equal to the necrotic damage taken, and the vampire regains hit points equal to that amount. The reduction lasts until the target finishes a long rest. The target dies if this effect reduces its hit point maximum to 0. A humanoid slain in this way and then buried in the ground rises the following night as a vampire spawn under the vampire's control.

Charm The vampire targets one humanoid it can see within 30 feet of it. If the target can see the vampire, the target must succeed on a DC 16 Wisdom saving throw against this magic or be charmed by the vampire. The charmed target regards the vampire as a trusted friend to be heeded and protected. Although the target isn't under the vampire's control, it takes the vampire's requests or actions in the most favorable way it can, and it is a willing target for the vampire's bite attack. \ \ Each time the vampire or the vampire's companions do anything harmful to the target, it can repeat the saving throw, ending the effect on itself on a success. Otherwise, the effect lasts 24 hours or until the vampire is destroyed, is on a different plane of existence than the target, or takes a bonus action to end the effect.

Children of the Night (1/Day) The vampire magically calls 2d4 swarms of bats or rats, provided that the sun isn't up. While outdoors, the vampire can call 3d6 wolves instead. The called creatures arrive in 1d4 rounds, acting as allies of the vampire and obeying its spoken commands. The beasts remain for 1 hour, until the vampire dies, or until the vampire dismisses them as a bonus action.

Legendary Actions

The vampire can take 3 legendary actions, choosing from the options below. Only one legendary action option can be used at a time and only at the end of another creature's turn. The vampire regains spent legendary actions at the start of its turn.

Move The vampire moves up to its speed without provoking opportunity attacks.

Unarmed Strike The vampire makes one unarmed strike.

Bite (Costs 2 Actions) The vampire makes one bite attack.

Lore: Religion

DC 10 - Vampire divine spellcasters are rare, but not unheard of. Some were clerics turned while attempting to destroy the undead, some were converted to dark powers after death.

DC 15 - Vampire priests are similar to other vampires in all other respects, except their powerful divine spells. This roll reveals undead traits and vampire weaknesses.

Treasure

Senses Passive Perception 13, blindsight 60 ft (blind beyond this radius)

Languages Deep Speech, Telepathy 120 ft.

Dominating Emotions The whim has certain spell-like effects similar to an innate Intelligence spellcasting ability (spell save DC 17). Whip-like tentacles deliver these effects via melee attacks and continuous touch. The tentacles can be severed (AC 19; hp 15; immune to poison and psychic), and will regrow back in 24 hours. Damaging the tentacles does not affect the whim's AC. If severed at 10 ft, that particular tentacle can be used with a 5 ft. reach.

Emotional Sting A whim may sometimes transfer emotions to a target of its nerve whip. The effect is similar to a contact poison that helps the whim transfer emotions. It has the option to change the effect on the creature with a new attack roll, from another tentacle, each round. If the tentacle is taken away, the effect stops. The effects are immediate upon a successful hit, Charisma saves (DC 17) to end the effect at the end of the target creature's next turn.

Once per round, on a Hit with nerve whip, roll 1d12:

1. Laughter - as per the spell hideous laughter.
2. Joy - as per the spell irresistible dance.
3. Sadness - Intense waves of sadness overcome the creature causing ongoing 25 (6d6+4) psychic damage, and a DC 15 Constitution save or be knocked prone by the intense emotion
4. Rage - The target becomes enraged by any creature attacking the whim, and will attack allies and defend the whim while being touched by the tentacle.
5. Lethargy - the target takes ongoing 14 (4d6) psychic damage, gains a level of exhaustion, drops their weapons, and sits down, unable to take actions or reactions.
6. Mistrust - the target takes ongoing 14 (4d6) psychic damage, and feels an intense emotional distance and distrust for the party, and refuses to help or accept help from them.
7. Void - The target's mind is open to the vastness of the Far Realm, and their own tiny place in the universe, taking an ongoing 40 (8d8+4) psychic damage, and possible madness effects.
- 8-12. No Effect - The whim doesn't use it's emotional sting.

Actions

Multiattack The whim makes three attacks: A luring glow and two nerve whip attacks, or three nerve whip attacks.

Nerve Whip Melee Weapon Attack +7 to hit, reach 10 ft (one target) Hit: 21 (6d6) lightning damage. Roll 1d12 for an emotional sting. Each round, only one new emotional sting effect may activate.

Luring glow (Recharge 5-6) The whim can create beautiful dancing lights around itself in an attempt to lure viewers to come closer. Any creature that starts its turn within 30 feet of the whim and can see the luring glow must make a DC 16 Wisdom saving throw. On a failed save, the creature is charmed for 1 minute and will seek to touch the glowing lights (under the whim). A creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, with disadvantage if the whim is within line of sight, ending the effect on itself on a success. If a creature's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the creature is immune to the Whim's luring glow for the next 24 hours.

The whim appears as seven human-sized brains in a spherical jellyfish-like structure connected to the center by their brain stems to a mass of tentacles. It is coated in a slimy gel that makes landing a blow difficult, it sends whip-like tentacles to perform touch attacks to affect the minds of its victims. The whim is curious, and experiments with the emotions of other beings to feed itself. It seems haphazard and chaotic but is quite methodical when the mood takes it.

For more of a challenge, whim eggs may hatch in the whim's lair, revealing a number of curiosities (see below). A curiosity is a bit more malicious than its parent, seeking to explore how other creatures suffer.

Lore: Arcana

DC 15 - The whim is a curious creature of the Far Realm that has a number of powerful emotional/psychic attacks it uses against its prey. The luring glow is hypnotic, and will lure in creatures to be destroyed - you can avert your gaze to avoid its effect.

DC 20 - The whim has a specific set of emotional attacks it uses, and most involve psychic damage (reveal Emotional Sting - party is able to identify which tentacles have which powers)

Treasure

A whim isn't interested in treasure unless it involves various humanoids in various stupors/roles (rage/protector or just gazing in awe at the charm effect) to keep itself fed. If in an area for a long time, this can result in a number of adventurers, beasts, wandering monsters, and other corpses piling up into a hoard, requiring a least an hour to collect and sort through the mess, including: Various gemstones among the bodies (1x500 gp black pearl, 5x100 gp white pearls, 1x1000 gp emerald, 2x1000 gp star rubies, 5x100 gp amethyst), one pouch of diamond dust (1000 gp), a potion of superior healing, a small ivory bottle containing oil of ethereality, a wire medallion containing a bead of force and a spell scroll of create undead. There are 1d4 salvageable suits of chainmail armor and a 10% chance of a salvageable suit of plate-mail. Along the ground are 1d4 longswords, 1d10 daggers, and a 10% chance of a two-handed ax or maul.

Further Adventuretm

The whim has learned how to break off tentacles in its victim's gear to continue the effects without requiring touch...

A portal mysteriously opens in the court of a noble and begins attacking people at random...

A wizard thinks he can create a wand from each tentacle the party harvests and will pay them well for the materials...

Lore: Nature

DC 10- Whisper cats' origins are unclear, but they have some magical traits that keep them invisible most of the time

DC 15 - They stay invisible until they Attack. They have a purr that can disable a single creature. (reveal Calming Purr capability)

Treasure (Harvest)

Whisper Cats carry no treasure. The fur of a single whisper cat can be used as a substitute material component in creating a potion of invisibility, with knowledge of the proper process. A cloak could be fashioned but would require dozens of the cats. When not activated the nature of the cloak would be clear to anyone able to make a DC 12 Arcana check due to the wildly colored fur and skin patterns.

Further Adventure™

Woven Form The dragon's woven form gives it resistance to piercing attacks.

Amphibious The dragon can travel in air and water, as it doesn't need to breathe.

Awakened Resistance (3/Day) ○○○ Due to the powerful magics animating the dragon, if it fails a saving throw, it can choose to succeed instead.

Ensnaring Strike On a successful hit, the dragon can enhance its attack, leaving vines and thorns ensnaring the target. On the start of each of the target creature's turns, the creature makes a DC 17 Strength save, failure restrains the target and causes ongoing 1d6 piercing damage each round. A success negates the effect.

Actions

Tangling Step The dragon can grow vines and creepers out to a 20 foot square within 90 feet per the entangle spell (DC 17 Strength save or be restrained).

Multiattack The dragon can use its Frightful Aura. It then makes three attacks: one with its bite and two with its claws.

Bite Melee Weapon Attack +11 to hit, reach 10 ft. (one target) Hit: 17 (2d10 + 6) piercing damage plus 7 (2d6) poison damage.

Thorny Claw Melee Weapon Attack +11 to hit, reach 5 ft. (one target) Hit: 13 (2d6 + 6) slashing damage.

Thorny Tail Melee Weapon Attack +11 to hit, reach 15 ft. (one target) Hit: 7 (1d8 + 3) bludgeoning damage and 7 (1d8 + 3) piercing damage

Frightful Aura Each creature of the dragon's choice that is within 120 feet of the dragon and aware of it must succeed on a DC 16 Wisdom saving throw or become frightened for 1 minute. A creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, ending the effect on itself on a success. If a creature's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the creature is immune to the dragon's Frightful Aura for the next 24 hours.

Poison Pollen Breath (Recharge 5-6) The dragon exhales a cloud of poisonous flower pollen in a 20 foot radius centered on any point within its reach. Each creature in that area must make a DC 18 Constitution saving throw, taking 35 (10d6) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one. The cloud persists for 1d4 rounds, affecting any creature that starts within the cloud. It may be dispersed by a strong wind.

Lore: Arcana

DC 15 - It is said that wicker dragons are woven from thorny vines and flowering trees, but somehow imbued with the life force of a dragon. They can exhale a cloud of poisonous flower pollen. (Reveal their bites, claw, and breath weapon)

DC 20 - Wicker dragons can grow and extend the vines in and around them to ensnare and tangle attackers with thorny vines.

Tactics:

The dragon will try to ensnare the area with its tangling step to trap attackers within its poison pollen breath weapon. Once the cloud is in place, it will use its melee attacks in close quarters.

Treasure (Harvest)

A wicker dragon is not concerned with hoards unless it was created to protect one. More frequently, it guards a portal, jail, artifact, or some other item of great importance.

Within the dragon's chest cavity are 1d4 harvestable poisonous flower pods. The poisonous pods can be collected with a DC 18 Survival check. A failed check results in inhalation of the pollen. The harvester must make a DC 18 Constitution saving throw, taking 35 (10d6) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one. The effect is immediate and does not linger. Once harvested, the pods dry out within an hour and are less potent.

Harvested flower pods can be thrown at a creature within 20 feet, as a ranged attack, with enough force to burst the dried petals, releasing the poison pollen into a 10-foot cube. The poison lasts 1d4 rounds, or until dispersed by wind. Each creature starting in that area must make a DC 18 Constitution saving throw, taking 17 (5d6) poison damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Further Adventure™

Legends speak of a city of marble, now overgrown by the surrounding forest, guarded by one of the wicker dragons...
A college of wizards would like a party to test the powers of a wicker dragon, without killing it, and return to report...

Thorny whip Melee Weapon Attack +2 to hit, reach 5ft. (one target) Hit: A wickerman can lash out with a thorny vine dealing 1 (1d4 - 1) slashing damage, plus 2 (1d4) poison damage.

Wickermen are a nimble race of awakened vines, woven and braided skillfully, slightly larger than an average halfling. Many have sprouted leaves and tendrils for hair. Some wear masks shaped and stone ground from fallen bark. Originally woven by a fey archdruid in ancient times to assist her in caretaking of her forest, the druid taught the wickermen how to weave more of their kind before she died. Once a year, through the use of specific standing stones and midsummer rituals, one or more wickermen can create a new wickerman. They live peacefully in forested areas, sculpting the trees and bushes into tools and houses. They generally stick to themselves, but will sometimes trade expertly crafted bows, quarterstaves, and other wooden art objects with human settlements for rope, stone, and cloth. They will never cut down a full grown tree, but will raise and harvest smaller saplings and plants, growing them into the shapes required. As part of their fey heritage, Wickermen can be skilled musicians with drums and stringed instruments, and enjoy dancing in groups.

Lore: Nature

DC 10 - It's easy to walk right past a wickerman village; if they all hold still, you'd just think it was a thicker patch of forest

DC 15 - Wickermen are some kind of awakened vine that was tended and braided into a small humanoid shape. Wooden items made by wickermen are beautifully made and weigh half as much as human made items.

Treasure

A wickerman defending its home, on a dangerous mission, or traveling far from home will carry a wicker short bow and 10 darts. Individuals will carry 10 sp and 20 cp. There is a 5% chance that one might have 10 gp from a recent trade.

As with hirelings, the apprentice will leave if mistreated or placed in harm's way.

Benefits: An apprentice can aid her master in arcane research. As such, the wizard reduces the cost to transcribe spells into their spellbook by 25%; each time the wizard gains spells for reaching a new level, they may add one additional spell to their spellbook. The additional spell must use a slot equal to or less than one-third the wizard's character level.

DC 15 - Archivists are minor spellcasters with a unique ability to speak with the dead.

DC 20 - Archivists are responsible for a collection of skulls, which they call an archive. These skulls were gifted by sages who wanted to continue sharing their knowledge in the afterlife.

Treasure

An archivist carries a spell focus (usually a wand or staff), 3d6 sp, 3d4 gp, and a collection of skulls.

Further Adventure™

An archivist hires the party to retrieve the remains of a long-dead sage from a ghaist infested crypt...

The party is hired to escort an archivist across the desert to consult for a powerful djinni...

The players arrive at a new town to find an angry mob chasing an archivist through the streets...

For a fee of 25 gp, the player may ask five questions to any one expert in the library (known as archives).

The archives are in fact corpses preserved through magical means, that donated themselves to the library. The actual number of archives is up to the DM, but it should be an impressive list, with expertise in several areas. Example sources:

Name	Formerly	Areas of Expertise
Alton Britmire	(human mage)	arcane magic, the outer planes
Sir Balrick Red	(human knight)	tactics, heraldry, courtly etiquette
Devin the Joke	(half-elf bard)	history, performance

Combat Engineer

"They say they're allowed to wear beards in uniform as a concession to the danger of their work: sapping below the walls in a siege. They are easily identified by their trademark aprons and axes. Languages any one language (usually Common)

Structural Assessment A Combat Engineer may take an action to study earth works, boulders in a cliff face, or any short wall to determine how to pry loose a rock or brick (if any) that can fall (or be thrown) on creatures below on their next turn. Taking less care they can combine this check with an attempt to Collapse a structure as an action. They may use this ability as a substitute for the lockpicking skill in relation to locked outdoor gates and doorways in stone walls, using a Wisdom check with proficiency (+4) to damage the mounting to the rock and mortar.

Actions

Collapse If next to a cave wall, or ceiling, or mining support, as an action, a Combat Engineer may attempt to cause the wall or ceiling to collapse, with a DC 20 Structural Assessment check. In most cases, this causes a 10 ft. cube to become difficult terrain, opening a 5ft section of wall. Creatures within the 10 ft cube must make a DC 12 Dexterity save, on a failed save taking 2 (1d4) bludgeoning damage and are knocked prone. There is a 1% chance this will cause a catastrophic collapse if underground or near a very tall cliff face or wall (5% chance if a mining support was removed). All creatures within 20 ft of the catastrophic collapse must make a DC 15 Dexterity saving throw. On a failed save, the creature takes 17 (5d6) bludgeoning damage, is knocked prone, and is buried in the rubble, requiring a DC 20 Strength (Athletics) check as an action to escape.

Multiattack The combat engineer makes two axe attacks.

Axe Melee Weapon Attack +3 to hit, reach 5 ft., (one creature) Hit: 5 (1d8 + 1) slashing damage, or 6 (1d10 + 1) slashing damage if used with two hands.

Combat engineers are integral to siege, construction, structural, and similar operations. They are skilled in construction, as well in demolition. They are known for carrying an axe and shovel.

Lore: History

DC 10 - A combat engineer is a sapper, digging under and destroying castle walls during a siege.

DC 15 - When not engaged in warfare, engineers may be employed to oversee stone construction projects and surveys.

Treasure

A combat engineer moves around a lot to stay apace with work. A typical engineer will have 10 pp, 75 gp, and 30 sp on his person, along with personal items, maps of the local area, and structural drawings of several castles (mostly local) and a few bridges under construction. In addition to his ax, a combat engineer will have a surveyor's kit including a finely crafted plum line on a gold chain, rulers, paper, and other small drafting tools worth 200 gp. There is 5% chance of the kit including a surveyor's theodolite (similar to a spyglass) worth 500 gp.

Further Adventure[™]

Several combat engineers have been sneaking off from the employ of a local lord to secretly establish a gemstone mine nearby, a secret they'd like to keep...

A disgruntled engineer approaches the party to sell his equipment and several plans and maps...

Sections of the floor in banks, shops, and the homes of the wealthy have been collapsing while their owners are away...

The fighter mage can employ a variety of tactics given its ability to blend magic and swordplay. If outnumbered, the fighter mage can attempt to put one or more weaker-looking opponents to sleep. Additionally, the fighter mage is a capable ranged fighter as well, casting firebolts from behind cover.

Lore: Arcana

DC 15 - The fighter mage blends martial prowess with arcane skill. They are often highly sought after for service in humanoid armies.

Treasure

A fighter mage carries 4d6 sp and 3d12 gp, and some can be found with a minor (cantrip) arcane scroll (roll a d4: 1. light mending, 3. minor illusion, 4. ray of frost)

Further Adventure[™]

A fighter mage offers her services to the party for 25 gp a day. Is she trustworthy? Does she have an agenda...

A fighter mage army officer tries to press the party into fighting against a mercenary hobgoblin tribe...

Uncovering the Smuggling Ring

Complexity: 4 successes before 3 failures

Difficulty: DC 15

Suggested Skills: Insight, Intimidation, Investigation, Persuasion

Success: The party aids the fighter mages in finding the smugglers.

Failure(s):

Hospitallers are holy warriors who navigate the battlefield in search of wounded allies to aid. They lack the questing life of a paladin and are primarily healers, whose martial prowess is used to get to their wounded soldiers.

Lore: Religion

DC 15 - often mistaken for paladins, hospitallers are militaristic knights that serve in highly structured armies. They rarely adventure or go on quests, as their duty is to tend to the sick and injured.

DC 20 - Hospitallers are not quite as skilled as paladins in the arts of offense but are superior healers.

Treasure

Hospitallers carry very little treasure, typically 3d6 cp, 2d6 sp, and 1d12 gp, but some carry a potion of healing. All hospitallers carry healer's kits.

Further Adventure[™]

The players encounter a group of wounded pilgrims being healed by hospitallers. The pilgrims claim to have been attacked by bugbears...

The party encounters a group of hospitallers whose wagon is caught in a muddy bog and they have medical supplies that are needed on a nearby battlefield...

A lone hospitaller needs an escort through enemy territory to join his unit...

Their style may including singing, or other physical and vocal performances. Their Marotte (Rod carved with a tiny jester) and costume are their spellcasting focus for their bardic powers.

Lore: History

DC 10 - A jester is a kind of bard, seemingly only an entertainer, who has satire and mockery that can cause real damage.

Treasure

A jester, away from court, is likely to be carrying a message or some form of entertainment for a neighboring lord or noble family member. On their person, besides their marotte, they would have an entertainer's pack and a purse containing 30 gp, 10 sp, and 20 cp. They are likely to be carrying a letter from their lord to assist in freely crossing borders and tollways. In court, they would likely only have personal effects and their coin purse.

Further Adventure™
