Adventure Primer

This adventure is designed for three to seven 11th to 16th level characters and is optimized for five characters with an average party level (APL) of 13. Characters outside this level range cannot participate in this adventure.

This adventure occurs in the city of Malagard on the seventh layer of the nine hells: Maladomini .

Background

After a series of abductions led to the discovery of a powerful lich within the city of Malagard, Baalzebul decided to take action. To that end, he placed the Horned Devil Spyknok in charge of hunting down the lich's phylactery and destroying it. Fortunately for Spyknok, an artifact that can do just that is being auctioned off in the city of Grenpoli.

Overview

The adventure's story is spread over Three parts and takes approximately Four Hours to play. The adventure begins with a Call to Action scene. If you're planning to play the entire adventure at once, you only need to introduce the Call to Action once. However, if you plan to play them over several sessions, you'll want to revisit the Call to Action each time you play.

Part 1: A Simple Job (Call to Action). The adventurers arrive at an outpost outside the city of Grenpoli to meet with Spyknok. He proceeds to give the adventurers their task (along with the complications) with the reward of release from this level of the Nine Hells. This is the call to action.

Part 2: The Auction House. Upon arriving at the auction house, the adventurers must locate the entrance to the vault level. At which point, the adventurers have the option to sneak in or attempt to buy the item from the auction house

Part 3 The Vault Level. If the adventurers attempt to sneak their way to the item, they must navigate their way through a trapped corridor to the vault and attempt to escape through the guardians of the vault. If they bought their way to victory, the adventurers must navigate the way to the vault as a test of their worth to the Facilitator.

Adventure Hooks

Adventure Hook 1. One of the adventures could have been trapped on this level of the nine hells and look to this as a way to escape.

Adventure Hook 2. The adventurers may wish to curry favor with the Baalzebul by aiding his forces.

Adventure Flowchart

This section provides a basic understanding of not only the flow of the adventure, but also the outline of the different paths that your players may take in reaching their stated objective.

Part 1: A Simple Job

Estimated Duration: 15 minutes

Call to Action

The adventurers are approached by several members of the Gravelfoot Brigade and brought to a simple outpost on the outskirts of the city of Grenpoli.

Your group is escorted through a maze of troop tents and you can see Zulkir Aktern ious devils in different states of battle readiness. Eventually, your group is led into a command tent in the center of the encampment. A tired looking Horned Devil is hunched over a large table looking at a slowly rotating illusionary projection of a building. The horned devil slowly turns and dismisses your escort with a wave of the hand. "Thank you all for accepting my request. I have a time and politically sensitive task for you."

The Horned Devil introduces himself as Spyknok (Spy-Knock) a leader of the Gravelfoot Brigade. He relays the following information to the adventurers:

- Three days ago, with the help of a group of adventurers, the brigade was able to eliminate an undead mind flayer who had been abducting hundreds of citizens of the city of Malagard. However, it was discovered that the mind flayer was also a lich and it's phylactery wasn't recovered.
- Through a stroke of good luck, the brigade's network of spies discovered that an auction house in the city of Grenpoli is planning to sell a powerful spell scroll that can locate the phylactery of any lich (So long as you have a piece of the lich's body). The sale will be happening in the next 12 hours. However, the Gravelfoot Brigade holds no authority within the city.
- He explains that the brigade attempted to buy the scroll but were outbid by 2 other interested parties: the Red Wizards of Thay and a group of yuan-ti loyal to a yuan-ti sorcerer named Ras Nsi. Both groups are at the Auction House awaiting the final bidding.

- Spyknok impresses upon the adventurers the need to acquire this artifact as a means to eliminate the mind flayer lich.
- The Auction house is run by an Archmage who had been exiled to this city from the world of Toril that calls himself: The Facilitator
- Spyknok also explains that Grenpoli is unlike anywhere else in the nine hells. There are ancient wards within the city that prevent all spells and effects that inflict damage from working. Also the fiends and devils that live there have increased the protections so that if anyone even touches a weapon, that weapon is instantly transported to the Gravelfoot Brigade.
- He informs the adventurers that, through their network of spies, they have a detailed layout of the auction house (He gestures to the illusionary projection) but not the vault level. He adds that they have no clue where the vault is or if it is even within the city.
- Spyknok asks the adventurers to infiltrate the auction and acquire the scroll.
- He offers appropriate payment as well as a pair of powerful spell scrolls for their services. He also says that service of this caliber will allow him to grant them freedom from this level of the nine hells.

When the adventurers agree, Spyknok nods his head in approval and says that they can use the tent to plan. Proceed to Part 2.

DM's Note:

The wards of City of Grenpoli prevent any spell or effect that does direct damage to hit points and ability scores (like Fireball, Lightning Bolt, Paladin Smite, Etc.). However, spells that create hazards that can cause damage (Example: Cloud of daggers, Spike Growth, etc), spells that create things that can be used to damage opponents (Biggy's Hand, Spiritual Weapon, etc.) or spells that can manipulate their environment to cause damage (Telekinesis, Animate Objects, etc.), will work within the city walls. Also summoning spells and rituals only produce a single, tremendously smelly lump of mud. As for weapons, no permanent magic weapons of any kind can be touched without having it vanish into the hands of the Gravelfoot Brigade. The following weapons can be used: Club, Javelin, dagger, or any item that has its use as a weapon as a secondary effect. The spell lists and stat blocks of all creatures in this module have been altered to reflect these restrictions.

Part 2: The Auction House

After the adventurers have their plan, it is a simple matter to enter the city and locate the auction house.

Scene A: The Auction House's Exterior.

The simple and clean building stands out from the rest of the city by the presence of armed guards at the main entrance.

Area Information

The area has the following features.

Terrain. The area around the Auction House is cluttered with buildings. There are 2 alleyways going alongside the building. The Auction house is the only 2 story building with 60ft of the building. The building is 80ft by 80 ft.

Lighting. The light is dim-lighting due to the nature of this Layer of the Nine Hells.

Doors. There are 2 main doors (One in the front and One in the back) and no windows. A DC:13 investigation/perception check reveals both of these doors are locked (DC:18 to unlock).

Guards. There are 2 guards at the front entrance and 1 guard at the back entrance. The guards are suits of animated armor with a flying sword strapped to their sides. Each of the guards have 2 contingency spells on them that both trigger if they are attacked. One spell casting is a sending spell to The Facilitator telling him that the guard is under attack and his location and the other spell casts Hold Monster (DC 17) on the attacker. These types of guards also patrol the interior. The adventurers can attempt to bluff their way past by guards with a DC 15 Deception check.

Scene B: The Auction House's Interior (1st Floor)

Once the adventurers have made it inside, they must locate the door to vault level.

Area Information

The area has the following features.

Terrain. The house has marble floors with plush pale blue carpet in the living quarters.

Lighting. The light is standard lighting due to several lamps of continual flame.

Room A. This is the main display hall. There are two stairways on either side of the gallery that lead up to the two guest chambers. There is a central stage in the center flanked by two silver columns. Two hallways lead from this room to the back entrance as well as the front entrance. The walls of this room are lined with bookshelves.

Room B. This room is the living quarters for The Facilitator, the Archmage who runs the Auction House. There is a chance he is in this room resting (25% chance) and researching new acquisitions (75% Chance) up until the time of the auction. In addition to Archmage, the archmage's shield guardian (which has a 4th level Hold Person Spell stored within it) is also in the room as well as three tapestries (which are disguised Rugs of Smothering). All of which attack anyone except The Facilitator who is seen attempting to access The Facilitator's desk. Accessing The Facilitator's desk requires a DC 25 Thieves' tools check. Inside the desk are several love notes to a woman named: Linnea. There are a few notes about a collection of objects that a chain devil on the third layer wants to sell and is reaching out to the Facilitator to help.

Guard Patrol. There are 3 pairs of guards that patrol room A. The guards are suits of animated armor with a flying sword strapped to each of their sides. Each of the guards have 2 Contingency spells on them that trigger if attacked. One spell casting is a sending spell to the Facilitator telling him that the guard is under attack and his location and the other spell casts Hold Monster (DC 17) on the attacker. Any signs or sounds of violence will cause them to enter and investigate.

If the adventurers attempt to approach The Facilitator, he will be willing to hear out the adventurers. A DC 25 persuasion check will convince him to part with scroll. However, the adventurers must match the bids of both interested parties (a total of 15,000 gp as well as 3 scrolls of 6th level (or higher) or three (Very Rare or Legendary) potions). If the adventurer's pay the cost, the Facilitator will immediately teleport the adventurers to the vault level. A successful attempt to intimidate or deceive The Facilitator (DC 30) will cause the archmage to reveal the location of the entrance to vault level but in either instance he will not reveal any other information about vault level.

Scene C: The Auction House's Interior (2nd Floor)

Area Information

The area (Map A) has the following features.

Terrain. The house has marble floors with plush pale blue carpet in the living quarters.

Lighting. The light is standard lighting due to several lamps of Continual Flame.

Room A. This room contains the representatives of the Red Wizards of Thay consisting of Zulkir Aktern (Ak-Turn), a Lich. A DC 20 investigation or perception check reveals a secret room with a teleportation glyph on the floor which is the entrance to the vault.

Room B. This room contains the representatives of Ras Nsi consisting of Malth (Mal-Th), a Spirit Naga and his bodyguards, a trio of Yuan-ti Anathemas. A DC 20 investigation/perception check reveals a secret room with a teleportation glyph on the floor which is the entrance to the vault floor.

Guard Patrol. There are three pairs of guards that patrol the stairwell that connect the two rooms to the main display hall. The guards are suits of animated armor with a flying sword strapped to each of their sides. Each of the guards have 2 Contingency spells on them that both will trigger if attacked. One spell will cast a sending spell to the Facilitator telling him that the guard is under attack and his location and the other spell casts Hold Monster (DC 17) on the attacker. Any signs or sounds of violence will cause them to enter and investigate.

Creature Information

If the adventurers attempt to approach either of the two competitors, they will be willing to hear out the adventurers (DC 15 Persuasion, Deception, or Intimidation check)

Objectives & Goals. Malth, while here representing Ras Nsi, actually works for Acererak and will happily allow the adventurers to attempt to steal the scroll and will covertly aid if his bodyguards attempt to stop the adventurer's efforts. Zulkir Aktern wants to study the spell in order to replicate it and use it to kill all of the other Zulkirs and claim Thay as his own domain. Aktern will aid the characters under the condition they allow him to study the scroll before it is used and observe it being used.

What Do They Know? Neither Malth or Aktern know where the vault is and have no means of determining where it is.

Once the adventurers have made it to vault level, proceed to Part 3. If the adventurers allow one of the competitors to acquire the scroll, proceed to part 3, Scene E.

Part 3: The Vault Level

Scene A: The “Welcoming Room”

You appear in a small room with 2 large doors and 4 tapestries hanging on the walls. There is a fancy chandelier hanging from the ceiling.

Area Information

The area has the following features.

Terrain. The room is 40ft by 40ft with a 40ft high ceiling. A DC 15 Investigation/Perception check reveals a secret door being covered by one of the other “doors”.

Lighting. The room is brightly lit by the hanging chandelier.

Room Occupants: The two “doors” are Mimics and the four tapestries are disguised Rugs of Smothering. They attack anyone who isn’t the archmage.

Adjusting The Scene:

Very Weak: Remove 2 Rugs of Smothering

Weak: Remove 1 Rug of Smothering

Strong: Add 1 Rug of Smothering

Very Strong: Add 2 Rugs of Smothering

Once the adventurers defeat the room’s occupants and discover the secret door, they continue into the gravity room.

Scene B: The Gravity Room

The door opens on a massively long and high corridor with glowing pearly white walls.

Area Information

The area has the following features.

Terrain. The corridor is 30ft wide and 80ft long with a 200ft ceiling. There is a upside down stone door attached to the ceiling.

Lighting. The room is brightly lit by the glowing walls

Gravity Trap. Once the door that the adventurers enter through shuts, the gravity in the room shifts and the adventurers begin to fall towards the ceiling. (DC 20 Athletics/Acrobatics or take 20d6 Bludgeoning damage, half on a successful check). After the players have landed on the ceiling, all movement within the room is halved due to the increased gravity of the room. If the door the players entered the room through is opened again, the gravity returns to normal.

Trapped Glyphs. There are two glyphs of Counterspell (3rd level, +5 on contested checks) on the door that are programmed to activate if anyone but the Archmage casts any of the following spells within the room: Feather Fall, Fly, or Levitate.

Scene C: The Vault Room

The door opens on a large silver domed room with a row of silver columns. There is a door at the far end of the hall with no handle and four names written in Abyssal: Linnea, Lily, Lavender and Lotus. Set into the wall around the door across from you are four gem encrusted skulls. On the western end of the room is a statue of a larged, winged, female lion.

As the adventurers approach the door, the skulls begin to speak in unison:

“Touch the title of your beloved to enter...”

Area Information

The area has the following features.

Terrain. The room is a domed room 60ft in diameter with 5ft in diameter columns forming a pair of parallel lines across the center of the room. A DC 20 Perception check notices glyphs on the columns. If the adventurers attempt to dispel them, it is a DC19 check to dispel them. If all 10 are dispelled, the Exhaustion Wave trap is disabled.

Lighting. The room is brightly lit by unseen lights.

Exhaustion Wave Trap: If the adventurers touch the name: Linnea, the door opens. However if they touch any of the others or attempt to force the door open (DC 30 Athletics), the trap goes off. If the trap goes off, any creature that isn't an undead or a construct must succeed a DC18 CON save or gain 1 level of exhaustion.

Trapped Vault Room: Once the vault door is opened, the adventurers see the scroll sitting on a white marble block in a 10ft by 10ft room. A DC 15 investigation check finds that there is a small keyhole in front of the scroll and that the scroll itself is sitting on a small stone plate. If the adventurers do not have the key, a DC 25 Thieves' Tools check is needed to bypass the trap. If the adventurers fail the check or pick up the scroll without using the key first, have them roll initiative. On initiative count 15 (losing ties), the door closes and the air vanishes from the vault room causing every creature in the vault to suffocate (see pg. 183 in PHB for rules).

Scene D: Sore Loser

As you turn to leave, the door you came through vanishes. The four skulls ignite and begin to float as the statue begins to move towards you. The voice of The Facilitator booms in the domed room.

If the adventurers encounter the Facilitator and negotiated with him, they hear the following:

"Your group has intrigued me. This is one final challenge to prove your worth. If you all survive..."

If the adventurers attempted to intimidate The Facilitator or snuck down without encountering The Facilitator, they hear the following:

"No one crosses me! Farewell trespassers"

The group in front of the adventurers consists of four Will-o'-Wisp and a Gynosphinx. Both fight until dead.

Adjusting The Scene:

Very Weak: Remove 2 Will-o'-Wisp and Remove the Gynosphinx's Lair Actions

Weak: Remove 2 Will-o'-Wisp

Strong/Very Strong: Add 2 Will-o'-Wisp

After the adventurers eliminate all of the enemies, the Facilitator's voice speaks up.

"Well done, you may take the scroll and may I never see any of you again"

There is a flash of light and the group finds themselves outside the city gates with the bodies of those that the adventurers defeated (even if they were defeated before they reached the vault).

Treasure

When the adventurers arrive outside the city, there is a wand inside the scroll tube. This is a Wand of Paralysis

Scene E: Highway Robbery

If the adventurers allow one of the competitors to acquire the scroll, the Yuan-ti delegation wins and can be ambushed outside the city as they will not give it up willingly. However once the Yuan-ti Anathemas die, the Spirit Naga surrenders the scroll to avoid death.

Adjusting The Scene:

Very Weak: Remove 2 Yuan-ti Anathemas

Weak: Remove 1 Yuan-ti Anathema

Strong/Very Strong: Add 1 Yuan-ti Anathemas

Wrap-Up

Once the players have recovered the scroll and returned to the camp, they are greeted by Spyknok who gives the adventurers two scrolls (Drawmij's Instant Summons and Guards and Wards) in addition to their payment. After paying them, Spyknok makes good on his promise to liberate the adventurers from this level of the Nine Hells with the stipulation that they never return.

Rewards

At the end of the session, the characters receive rewards based upon their accomplishments.

Character Rewards

The characters earn the following rewards:

Advancement

Upon completing this adventure, each character gains a level. At their discretion, they may choose to decline advancement. Dungeon Master Rewards

For running this adventure, you gain a DM Reward. This reward can be redeemed for levels, magic items, and other season-themed things. See the Adventurers League DM Rewards document for more info.

Regeneration. The shield guardian regains 10 hit points at the start of its turn if it has at least 1 hit point.

Spell Storing. A spellcaster who wears the shield guardian's amulet can cause the guardian to store one spell of 4th level or lower. To do so, the wearer must cast the spell on the guardian. The spell has no effect but is stored within the guardian. When commanded to do so by the wearer or when a situation arises that was predefined by the spellcaster, the guardian casts the stored spell with any parameters set by the original caster, requiring no components. When the spell is cast or a new spell is stored, any previously stored spell is lost.

Wand of Paralysis

Wand, rare (requires attunement by a spellcaster)

This wand has 7 charges. While holding it, you can use an action to expend 1 of its charges to cause a thin blue ray to streak from the tip toward a creature you can see within 60 feet of you. Make a ranged attack roll against that creature using your spell attack bonus. On a hit, the target is paralyzed for 1 minute. At the end of each of the target's turns, it can repeat the saving throw, ending the effect on itself on a success.

The wand regains 1d6 + 1 expended charges daily at dawn. If you expend the wand's last charge, roll a d20. On a 1, the wand crumbles into ashes and is destroyed.

The item is durable and has Dwarven runes worked into its design.

This item can be found on Magic Item Table G

Appendix C: Dungeon Master Tips

To DM an adventure, you must have 3 to 7 players—each with their own character within the adventure’s level range (see Adventure Primer). Characters playing in a hardcover adventure may continue to play to but if they play a different hardcover adventure, they can’t return to the first if outside its level range.

New to the Annual Storyline?

<http://dnd.wizards.com/story/waterdeep>

Preparing the Adventure

Before you start play, consider the following:

Read through the adventure, taking notes of anything you’d like to highlight or remind yourself of while running the adventure, such as a way you’d like to portray an NPC or a tactic you’d like to use in combat. Familiar yourself with the adventure’s appendices and handouts.

Gather any resources you’d like to use to aid you in running this adventure—such as notecards, a DM screen, miniatures, and battlemaps.

Ask the players to provide you with relevant character information, such as name, race, class, and level; passive Wisdom (Perception), and anything specified as notable by the adventure (such as backgrounds, traits, flaws, etc.)

Players can play an adventure they previously played as a Player or Dungeon Master but may only play it once with a given character. Ensure each player has their character’s adventure logsheet (if not, get one from the organizer) with their starting values for advancement and treasure checkpoints, downtime days, and renown. These are updated at the conclusion of the session. The adventure information and your information is added at the end of the adventure session—whether they completed the adventure or not.

Each player is responsible for maintaining an accurate logsheet. If you have time, you can do a quick scan of a player’s character sheet to ensure that nothing looks out of order. If you see magic items of very high rarities or strange arrays of ability scores, you can ask players to provide documentation for the irregularities. If they cannot, feel free to restrict item use or ask them to use a standard ability score array.

Point players to the D&D Adventurers League Players Guide for reference. If players wish to spend downtime days and it’s the beginning of an adventure or episode, they can declare their activity and spend the days now, or they can do so at the end of the adventure or episode. Players should select their characters’ spells and other daily options prior to the start of the adventure, unless the adventure specifies otherwise. Feel free to reread the adventure description to help give players hints about what they might face.

Adjusting This Adventure

To determine whether you should consider adjusting the adventure, add up the total levels of all the characters and divide the result by the number of characters (rounding .5 or greater up; .4 or less down). This is the group’s average party level (APL). To approximate the party strength for the adventure, consult the table below.

Determining Party Strength

Party Composition	Party Strength

3-4 characters, APL equivalent	Weak
