

KENT DAVID KELLY

ONLY THE FINEST WORKS OF FANTASY

O S R

Back again, eh, I see? No matter, once the portcullis pit is operational, the guardian juggernaut will ...

Welcome. Welcome to you and yours, mortal princeling! It has been too long. Too long by half, say I, and quite: You must have found my “map” of the thousand upper chambers most delightful, yes, if you’ve lived so long as to revel in your grand adventures up there, and now to tell me all about them!

Well. I did appreciate this visit, and I am sad to see you go.

What? There was no agreement, there was merely a series of insinuations. How grand is it then, to be misunderstood by one so bold and sagacious as your righteous self? How darkly blessed am I, sweet princeling, hmm?

Very well. Fine as flints. Fine, I say. Here it is. Yes, the grandiloquent lord of the nether of Castle Oldskull, Groohlz-Drakha, has found you worthy of his penultimate map of the nether: Herein you will find 1,000 more of the Rooms of Chaos, those of the Dungeons Deep this time, direct from the most secret lore of Darkseraphim’s own Castle Oldskull. But here in this codex, which I now grant you, lieth only the names of the rooms, mind.

What lurks in each chamber within? You as Game Master will imagine up the descriptions, the tricks, the treasures, the traps, and the monsters lairing within each Room of Chaos on your own.

And why is that? Because you are the Game Master, and I merely the jester who leers over your creations. For this resource is intended to spark your imagination when you run out of ideas to fuel the horrors which rise to mind, which your bold adventures must face as they brave the deeps.

Using my blank map, time and again, you will conjure up something STRANGER, something ever more riddling and DISTRUBING, something that will make your players sit up and think and say, WHAT FRESH EVERLASTING $#@% IS THIS. Are you weary of crafting room keys which read “10 orcs, 100 gp,” “10’x10’ room, no special features,” “stairs, locked treasure chest, map to level 2,” or the ever-dreaded “stone statue in middle of room, animates when approached”?

Bah. You can do better than that. And five minutes from now, you will.

For this is the secret lore of Groohlz-Drahka. All hail Groohlz-Drahka the Immortal Troll King, the Ever-Replenishing Jester, Devourer of Maiden

Flesh. Welcome to the second gathering of 1,000 rooms of Chaos ever immortal, in excelsis.

And now, fare thee well and true. The Old Guard Kobolds wiped out the Deep One incursion, which is wonderful, I'm afraid. The Dokkalfar meanwhile were content with the total chaos of bloodshed between those two aforementioned factions, reptilian and ichthyoid, yes, and left agrin.

What? Well, in all the batrachian and squamous tumult the little runts gained too much treasure, too much bloodlusty glory, too much ... spirit. They're too crafty by half, now, and I need to metamorphose some few of them into Breath Stealers ... and sneak them into children's nightmares before they gain delusions of grandeur and celebrate by overpopulating.

Such a bother.

So begone, if you please! See yourselves out, and don't dare look behind ... there's a serpentine medusa there. The Baroness Invidiosa. My new courtesan, if you really must wonder so. Why, with all those silver serpentine tongues she's bartering for more venomous arrows, you see, and truly I am oversharing and you will find out soon enough if you keep dig, dig, digging into my precious dungeons as you and the Scarlet Tabards are wont to do. No rest for the wicked, say I.

Make haste! Another 1,000 rooms for you to delve! Say hoi to the merry werespider for me.

Eh? Of course the room names are genuine. It's just the contents you can't depend upon. One chamber after another, it's a present that keeps on giving. What is life but a series of happy surprises, ere the greatest surprise of all?

I thought you'd see it my way. Alas, if only all your followers were fine listeners like you are! I told your merry menfolk not to look behind, and see what your halfling burglar has done to himself now? Hope there wasn't a contract of familial recompense. Not to worry, I'll keep him safe as a doorstop until you return with some petrification reversal charm. Then, we can truly barter.

Eh? Because I'm doing you two favors! Ta, mortal. Be sweet and somewhat merciful to all my horrors, will you?

Salute me not, mortal. Though you may laugh.

* * * * *

So. The adventurers open the door at last, into the dread reach of the dungeon which you have not had time to design yet. And there, to their ultimate bafflement, they discover ... what?

Roll D1000 to find out.

This resource will always help you, and energize your own ideas, whenever you need a new room concept for any dungeon, enchanted stronghold, or subterranean locale.

You can also use this compendium to create an entire dungeon in just a few minutes. Keep rolling to key any existing map (whether it be online, of your own design, whatever), or just pick a room name that appeals to you and design an encounter concept around it. If any of the details provided here don't seem to fit, drop a word and substitute one of your own. It's really that fast, and that simple.

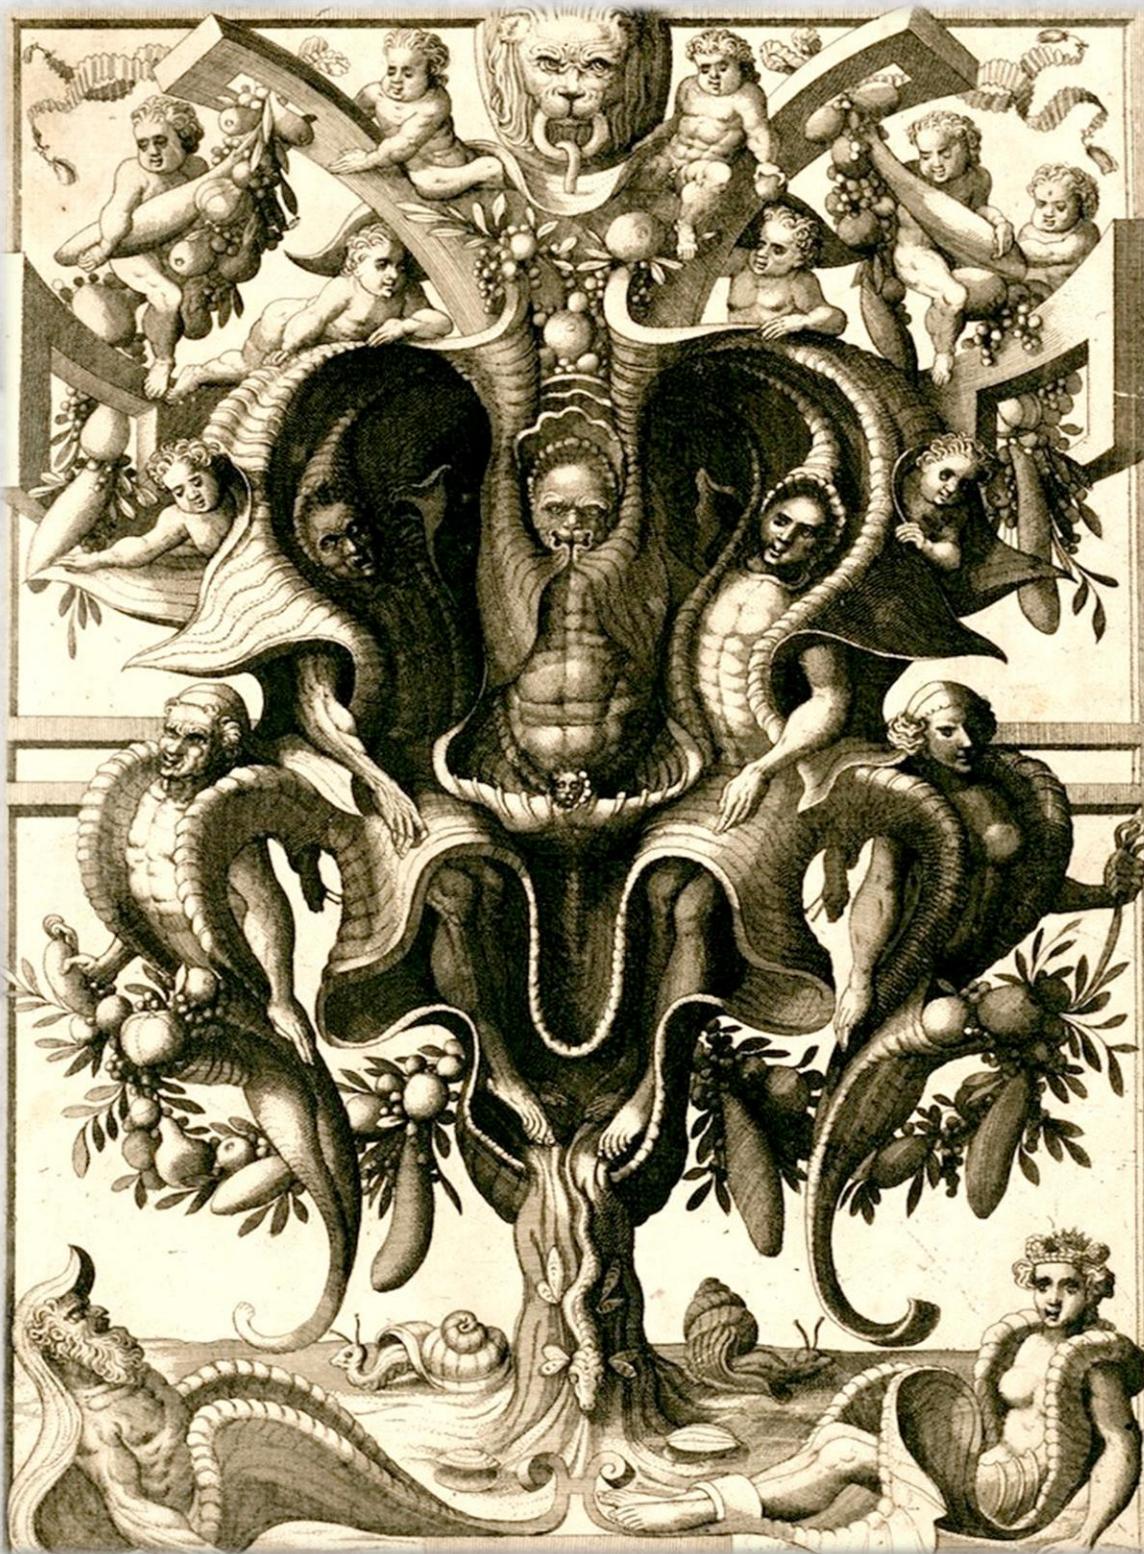

(You may want to utilize resources such as dictionary.com, or Wikipedia, to track down the meanings of obscure words and room types. Google Books can be helpful as well, due to a fair selection of old architectural dictionaries that I used.)

Happy gaming! Have fun with your next (and completely unpredictable) dungeon design. And remember: If you blithely decide that any one entry herein makes 100% sense, right off the bat and without any creative thought or input of your own? Then you're not doing it right. ☺ Use these entries to spark your own ideas, and then improve the initial concept with imagination.

Have fun. May you give these ideas dark wings of your own design!

Roll 1D1000 and consult the table hereafter.
