FOREWORD

Welcome to this edition of Grim's Amazing D100 Tables.

If you're running any kind of post apocalyptic themed game then you'll know that survival is at the top of the agenda, and that means a great deal of time will be spent searching for food in the wastelands.

We have devised this set of charts and tables to help randomise that for the busy GM. This list is no means comprehensive, but gives a nice all round idea of what kind of preserved foods might still survive in an edible fashion after the end times. It is left for the GM to decide how many items might be found in one area, but a rough rule of thumb, things like personal backpacks etc, will contain up to D6, Cupboards, boxes, Cars and so on 3D6. Shops, supply stores, stashes and bigger areas may contain more (GM's discretion)

Also contained here are further tables to determine if the said found items are suitable for human consumption. On the Roll of D6 for each item, a score of 1-4 deems that the said provision is assumed safe to eat, while 5-6 would refer to the appropriate tables to see how soiled and potentially deadly it would be to consume such foods. Again this is all optional and GM's have the option to choose the outcome to suit their game.

Happy Hunting!
