HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

A tabletop role-playing game gamemaster can never have too many resources at hand. The intention of this book is to provide a range of options for all gamemasters and dungeon masters and to cut down their session prep time.

To that end, this book can be used in a number of ways.

1. The cities, towns, and villages can be simply used as written to fill holes or gaps in any RPG campaign world. Just take them as they are and use them in your game when you need them.
2. Use a city map for an existing city in your campaign and disregard the description in this book.
3. Use a city description but disregard the map or use your own map.
4. Mine a map and the description for useful bits to flesh out cities or towns you've partially created for your campaign.
5. Use all of the cities and towns as a campaign world for your games.
6. Mix and match maps and descriptions as you like.
7. Simply take the adventure ideas and disregard the description and the map.

And, of course, creative gamemasters will find even more ways to use this book.

Each town has a description and several key pieces of information to help you craft your sessions. There is a bit of history, government structure, economy information, imports and exports, population, demographics, businesses, attractions or landmarks, and three adventure ideas.

Equipped with all of these tools, you have everything you need to quickly add a town to your campaign or session.

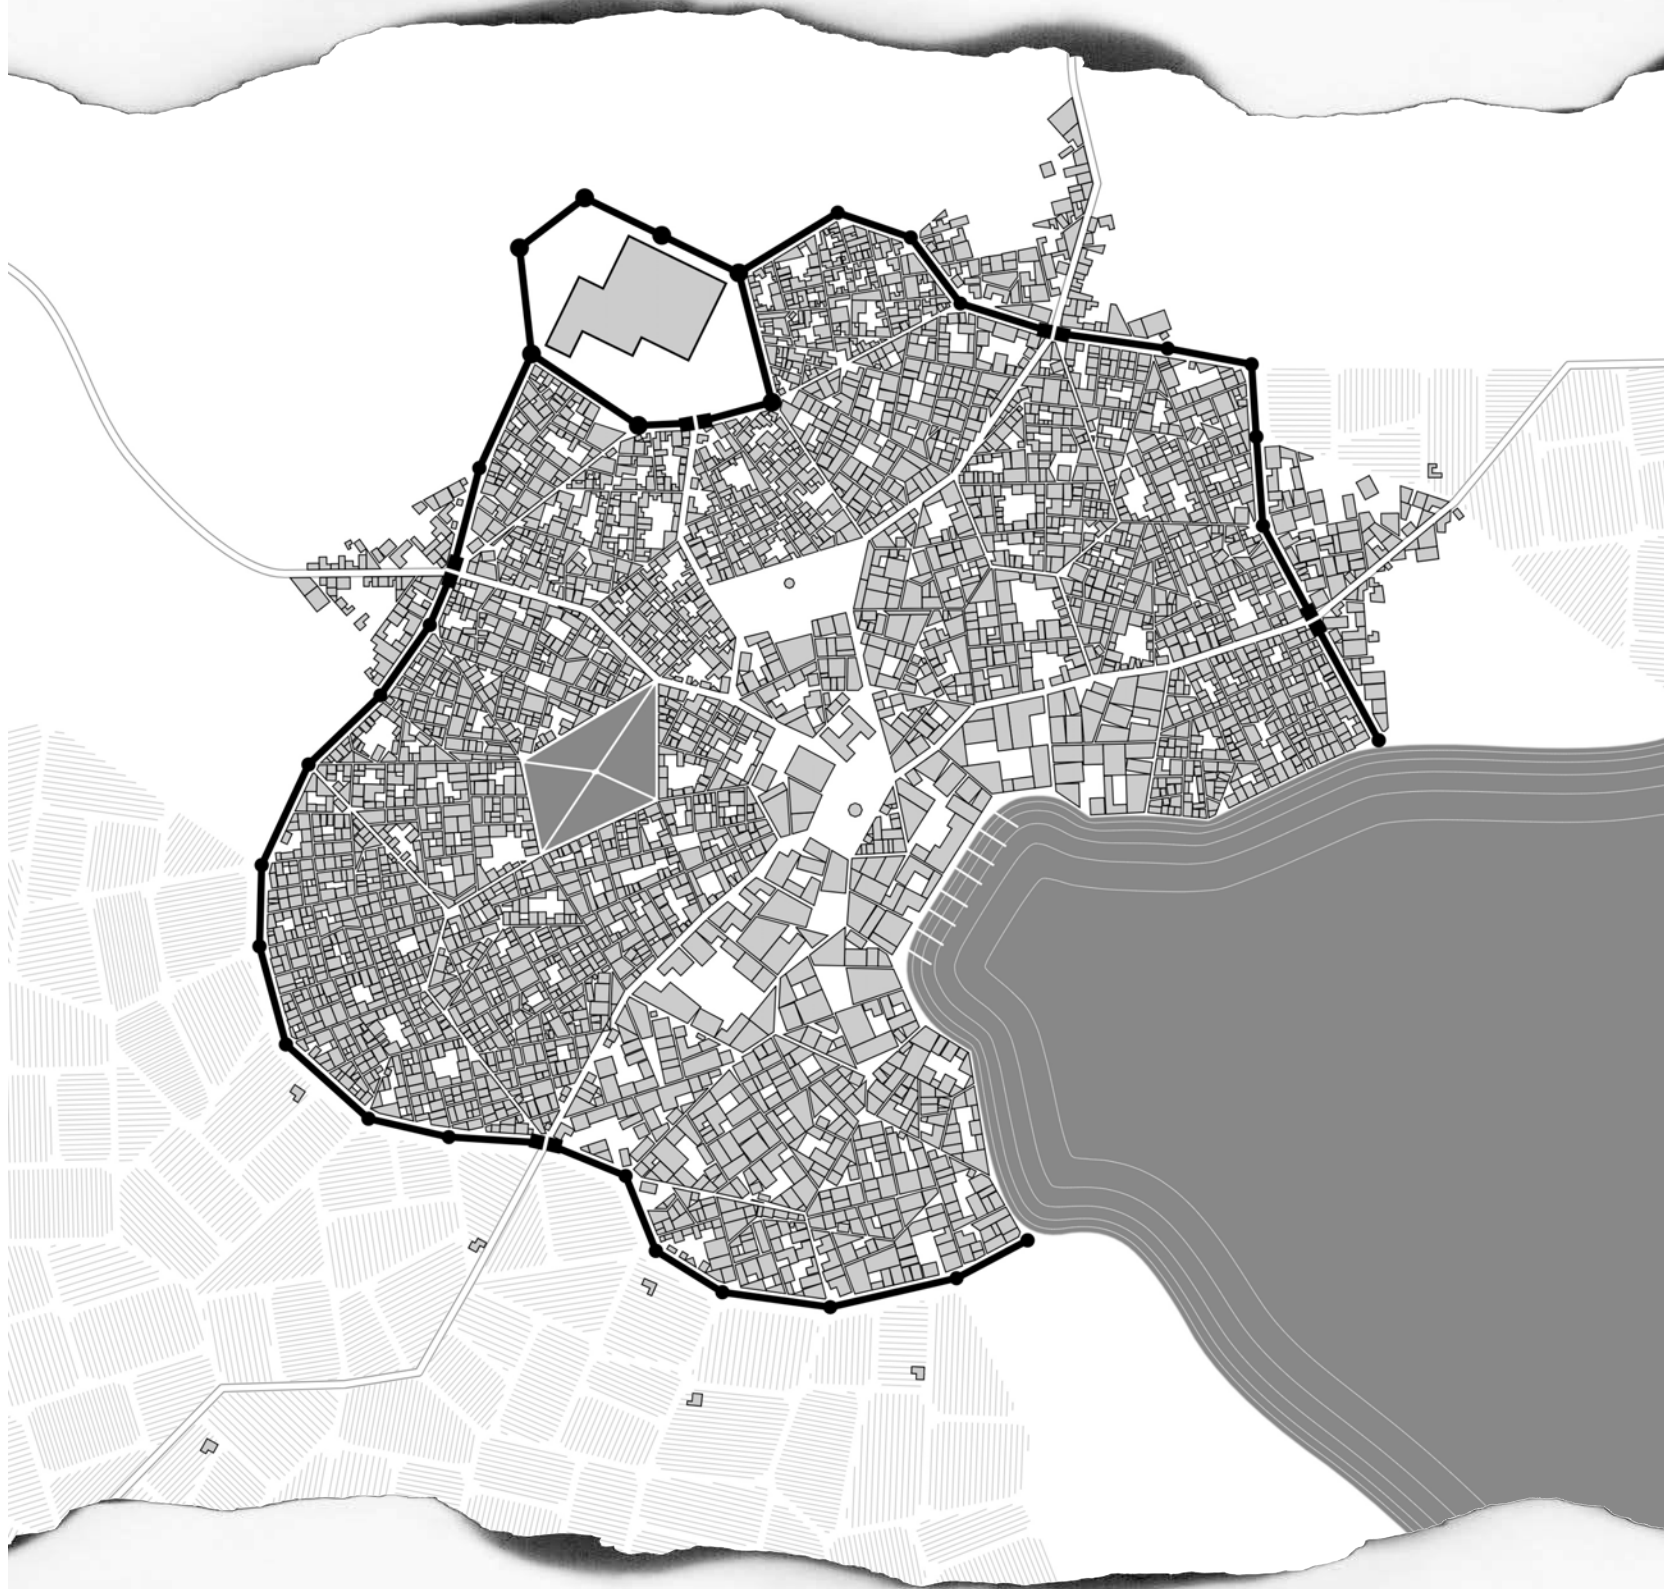

Be ready when your players leave the beaten track because adventure awaits in every marketplace, alley, inn, and backroom.

BRIME

Founded as a halfling seaport and trading center seven centuries ago, the town prospered and the people removed power from the monarchy because of abuses. The architecture is simple and homey using wood as the primary building material. The city walls are the only main structure crafted from stone.

Government

Crowned Republic - King/Queen, Legislative Assembly - Lead Alderman

Economy

The agriculture-based economy has seen little growth in the past few decades.

Businesses

Quayside Inn
Mofton's Mushroom Farm

Attractions

The King's Stone - Located in the town square, this large stone is where the last absolute monarch signed away his power after being abandoned by his few remaining supporters.

The Everthorn Tree - An ancient gnarled tree that produces wicked thorns every four months.

Population

5,000

Imports

Iron
Various stones
Longbottom Leaf
Cotton
Tea
Coffee

Demographics

Dwarf 9%
Elf 2%
Gnome 12%
Halfling 61%
Human 16%

Exports

Beef
Mutton
Wool
Mushrooms

Adventure Ideas

A halfling merchant is hiring guards for a caravan. The caravan is only traveling to the next town and there shouldn't be any trouble, however, none of the locals seem willing to hire on.

A ship is ready to sail and could use some more hands. The plan is to follow the coastline for a few months exploring and trading, then to be back in Brime to winter. Easy money as they say.

Old chalk tunnels were recently discovered. A local businesswoman purchased the property but would like the tunnels explored before she begins mining.

CHARWELTON

Founded as the personal estate of a wealthy Baron on a hill overlooking a gentle river. The city's buildings resemble farmers cottages with stone foundations. The recent influx of elves is waking up this sleepy country town.

Government

City State, Monarchy - Baron/Baroness

Economy

The once stagnant economy is now growing due to the immigration of elves.

Businesses

The Thorn and Branch Inn

Attractions

The Statue of Himmelwaif - A marble statue of the queen who awarded the barony to the founders of the town.

Adventure Ideas

A bucket sealed with pitch was found in the river. It contained an ancient book written in a language unknown to anyone in the town. The Baroness seeks to hire a trustworthy party to take it to an elven scholar she knows in a distant city.

An elf mint farmer is hiring hands to work the fields during an abundant harvest. Quick money since the harvest only lasts a week.

A group of travelers arrive and report they were robbed on the road into town. The Baron offers a reward for anyone to find the robbers.

Population

2,000

Imports

Wine
Spices
Tea

Demographics

COLSTON BASSET

Founded by a band of runaway slaves nearly four centuries ago, the city has often been a haven for those on the run. Cedar, pine, and oak are the main building materials.

Government

City State, Monarchy - King/Queen

Economy

For a hundred years the town has served as a hub for the timber and lumber trade.

Businesses

The Browersburg Inn
Timna's Lumber Company
The Colston Timber Company
Grindner's Sawmill

Attractions

Freedom Rock - The rock where the founders' boat landed which has now become a monument.

Kelvin's Maritime Museum - A small museum concerning maritime trade and ships. The entry fee is two coppers per person. A guided tour is provided for four coppers.

The Falcon Throne - Carved from beautiful dark wood. The throne resembles a giant falcon. The throne was a gift to the king from another town several generations ago.

Population

8,000

Imports

Spices
Iron
Copper
Gold

Demographics

Dwarf 21%
Elf 7%
Gnome 1%
Halfling 17%
Human 54%

Exports

Garlic
Tobacco
Timber
Lumber

Adventure Ideas

Kelvin's Maritime Museum was burglarized. All that was taken was a gold lapel pin with several strange symbols on it. It was worn by a famous sea captain who was well known to the city. Kelvin is offering a reward.

Someone is looking to hire a group with certain skills. All the group needs to do is sneak into the throne room and search the Falcon Throne for a secret compartment. The compartment should be located along the bottom in the back. Then simply bring the contents of the compartment back to the individual who hired them. However, the throne room is the most guarded and protected building in town.

Timna's Lumber Company needs help breaking a logjam upriver. They are hiring at a fair wage. However, this logjam is odd. Several of the workers insist the logs hit something in the river that wasn't there before.

CRATENDUNE

Built on a hill overlooking a river valley, it seems there has always been a town in this location. An intermingling of stone and wood construction gives the city a haphazard appearance.

Government

City State, Monarchy - King/Queen

Economy

Steady but not growing. Mainly based on agriculture.

Businesses

Talon's Mill
The Sparrow Mint Co.
The Lost Key Inn
The Watchful Owl Inn

Attractions

The Pillar of Daralis - A memorial built to honor a local heroine. Made of imported granite, the pillar stands 28 feet tall and sports an interwoven line pattern carved along the surface. It is located in one of the main city squares.

The Cave Tomb - The supposed resting place of the first settlers or the founders of the city. Legends and stories have sprung up over the years concerning the tomb. Once per year a great festival is held in the city which culminates in the laying of flowers at the entrance.

The Everburning Flame - In the other main city square is an eternal flame. It is tended by a sect of clerics and monks that hold it sacred. The flame is generally three feet high and about a foot around. A stonework dais and platform have been erected around it.

Population

15,000

Imports

Dwarf 1%
Elf 10%
Gnome <1%
Halfling <1%
Human 88%

Exports

Iron
Wheat
Tarragon
Mint

Adventure Ideas

The Everburning Flame is dying or at least shrinking. At this stage it would be difficult for the casual observer to notice, but the clerics and the monks know. The sect is terrified since a prophecy says the city will fall when the flame goes out. They are secretly looking for a group to investigate the myriad of tunnels beneath the flame's platform.

There was a fire at The Lost Key Inn two nights ago. Fortunately, the blaze was put out quickly and no one was injured. It seems accidental and most folks have moved on. However, the innkeeper suspects arson and is offering a reward for any information.

A worker disappeared while doing some routine stonework near the entrance to the Cave Tomb. Festival begins in less than a week. The town authorities want the matter investigated quietly without starting a panic. Is it possible to hire a group of adventurers who could do the job?

CUMBRIA

The town of Cumbria has grown up around the Black Lion Inn. Placed on a popular trade and travel route the inn serves a large and constant clientele. The owner of the Inn has become the de facto leader of the town. The Black Lion Inn is the largest building in the town and sports an airy courtyard.

Government

Plutocracy, Dictatorship - Innkeeper

Economy

The economy serves the Black Lion Inn and caters to travelers.

Businesses

The Black Lion Inn

Attractions

The Black Lion Inn - A large four-story wood and stone structure with a beautiful courtyard. Travelers look forward to their stay at The Black Lion Inn where the service is second to none.

The New Bridge - Construction was recently completed on a new stone bridge. The bridge now connects the town proper to farms on the other side of the river.

Population

Pork

2279302003

Adventure Ideas

The New Bridge cost the ferryman his livelihood. He publicly vowed revenge upon the innkeeper and the bridge builders then disappeared. The innkeeper wants him found before he can cause trouble and is offering a reward.

A mysterious traveler was found dead in his room at the Black Lion Inn last night. It appears like natural causes, but the Innkeeper would still like an investigation to determine his identity so the next of kin can be notified. The Innkeeper is able to pay a willing party a modest fee for any help. The first step is to examine the body and belongings.

A couple of traveling parties were robbed as they approached the town. The Innkeeper cannot have this and is offering a reward for the robbers capture or death.

DARTMOOR

The city served as a trading center for rich farmlands until diamonds were discovered. The old city is mostly stone buildings and arched colonnades. The new construction is hasty and mainly wooden.

Government

Aristocracy, Noocracy - Prime Thinker

Economy

The discovery of diamonds has spurred incredible growth.

Businesses

Ebba Diamond Exchange
The Gaines Dairy Farm
The Babbling Brook Inn
The Three Coppers Inn

Attractions

Various Philosophical Schools - The old city is a hotbed for philosophers. Great minds attract students and followers, so there are many schools and lecture halls where one can learn the latest schools of thought.

The Star of Mymor - To this date the largest diamond near Dartmoor. Cut it is 57.3 carats.

Population

36,000

Imports

Adventure Ideas

A diamond prospector is being threatened by claim jumpers and is looking for help.

The Star of Mymor has been stolen. No one is allowed to enter or leave the city walls until the diamond is found. A hefty reward is being offered for the location of the diamond, and the thief or thieves face death.

A small gang is planning a diamond heist. A few extra hands would be a great help. They are targeting a mule caravan as it returns from the diamond fields.

DRAYCOTT

The elves have had a city here and have cultivated the land since beyond human memory. The curved wooden buildings reflect the elves love of nature and natural shapes.

Government

City State, Monarchy - King/Queen

Economy

The economy is agriculturally based and moves at a glacial pace.

Businesses

The Handsome Inn
The Leaf and Stream Inn
Aelothia Winery

Attractions

The Draycottian Library - Over the centuries the elves have compiled an impressive collection of rare and eclectic books. Scholars and wizards often travel here to pour over the ancient books.

Aelothia Winery - A marvel of wine production and storage that produces highly prized vintages. There is also a restaurant on site that is renowned for its cuisine.

Draycott College - A school of magic arts and the arcane for which the city has become known.

Population

6,000

Human 75%

Exports

Gold
Sunflower Seeds
Safflower Seeds
Lead
Beef

Adventure Ideas

The party needs to see a book in the Alden Library. However, the owner wants something before he allows them access. It seems an old rival stole a special nugget of gold from him years ago. He wants it back, then the party can consult all the books they like.

A gold merchant is hiring security to guard a shipment of gold from her shop to a ship in port. Should be an easy job. A gold shipment hasn't been robbed in a year or so.

The Duchess has a delicate family matter she needs help with. Her son needs a wife and the only problem is that he is an awkward shy boy. She has arranged a series of events where he can meet potential candidates. However, she would like him to be more bold and outgoing. She would like a group of adventurers to take him along on an adventure where he can learn survival skills first.

FLAUNDEN

Situated on a large hill, the city has enjoyed peace for generations. The marble buildings and streets weave an atmosphere of serenity and contemplation. At almost any time of the day, there is a debate in the great forum.

Government

City State, Geniocracy - Genius

Economy

The thriving textile industry is fueling a surge in economic growth.

Businesses

Unwin's Taylor Shoppe
Flaunden Textile Company

Halfling 4%
Human 81%

Exports

Rice
Cotton
Textiles
Wool

Adventure Ideas

The party must retrieve a relic to save the life of a young girl. They have to convince the town leadership to allow them to enter the tomb of the first Genius where the relic is located. It will require open debate in the forum and proving they are sincere.

A hatch was discovered on the Great Bridge. No records seem to mention it. The Genius would like an intrepid group to explore it.

A textile merchant needs guards for a caravan. It's an easy run to the next city, but it pays to be careful.

FLEET MARSTON

The home of gnomes from untold centuries. The Great Hall is where all city business is conducted by the reigning Fixer and their cabinet. The wooden houses painted white, green, and yellow spawn a lovely almost fairylike town nestled in a peaceful river valley.

Government

City State, Meritocracy - Fixer

Economy

The inhabitants seem to be happy with a slow-moving economy focused on the crafting of tools and the manufacture of rope.

Businesses

Buckley's Oddments
The Roasted Hen Inn
The Marston Rope Company
Cornan Tool Company

Attractions

The Great Hall - The place where all town business is conducted. It is a huge building with five stories and a rotunda.

Adventure Ideas

The party must find a specific item or trinket. It is said to be located in one of the many oddity shops in town. The problem is that the party doesn't know which shop; it could be in any of the 30 or so shops in town. Additionally, they do not know how much it will cost.

A rash of burglaries plagues the south section of town. The Fixer is offering a reward for the capture of the thief or thieves. Some previous victims may have a few clues.

The Roasted Hen Inn's best milking cow was stolen. The owner just wants the animal returned.

GARENDON

Garendon is the walled manor of a prominent dwarven family. Simple stone architecture is punctuated with ingenious iron gates and doors.

Government

Monarchy - Lord/Lady

Economy

The manor is self-sufficient, yet the economy is struggling.

Businesses

Hamfist's Smithy
The Iron Ring Inn

Attractions

Adventure Ideas

The owner of the Iron Ring Inn would like someone to gather a special type of wood from the nearby forest. He's paying well but none of the locals seem interested.

A group of rangers has been gathering nightly at the inn. Townsfolk are whispering that trouble is afoot. If so, the rangers may need help.

The town leadership is looking for some brave souls to investigate a possible incident of piracy just down the river.

GREAT MUNDEN

In addition to being a hub of coffee and tea exports, Great Munden has grown into a seat of magical knowledge in the world. It is home to the Munden University and its many colleges. For more than two centuries the head of the university has also been the ruler of the city. Ancient arch-lined streets lead to shaded courtyards where students and masters savor sumptuous coffees and teas. Stone spires capped with private studies and observatories pepper the skyline.

Government

City State Magocracy - Archmage

Economy

Sea trade and numerous schools keep fueling growth.

Businesses

Safford's Bookbinding
Ordway Coffee Exports

Parchment

The Edlyn Tower - A mysterious tower constructed by a reclusive wizard. No one has entered or exited in decades, perhaps even a century? Or at least that's what the rumors say.

Munden University - Or sometimes just called The University. It is the largest center for magical and non-magical learning in the known world.

Adventure Ideas

Experiment gone awry! There are three inch long micro-dragons swarming in one section of the town. The danger of fire has everyone terrified. How can the micro-dragons be stopped?

A previously unknown doorway was discovered on Athelstan's Tomb. It has a uniquely shaped keyhole. A short rhyme carved in the door indicates the key may be found in the Cathedral of Books.

There are rumors that Claibourne's spirit has been walking the streets at night near his statue. The rumors also say he is lamenting an unfinished quest of some kind.

GRIMSTON HILL

Built on a natural rise, the town is located near several large sand deposits. Glass blowing is a widely practiced trade. Most of the buildings in the town have glass windows set it apart from other cities.

Government

Plutocracy - Mayor

Economy

Stable largely because of the glassworks.

Businesses

Grimston Glassworks
The Jumping Donkey Inn

Attractions

The Grimston Glass Spire - A metal and glass structure that is about five stories tall. It was built to draw tourists and help raise awareness about the glass trade.

Population

Adventure Ideas

Someone has climbed to the top of the spire and is threatening to jump. How can this disturbed person be saved?

The party acquired a glass orb. They were told if the orb is placed on the top of the spire at sunrise a map to an ancient library will appear. However, the town leadership is not allowing anyone up in the spire at the moment. Can they be convinced or can the keys be stolen?

The owner of the Jumping Donkey Inn found a note in the wine cellar. It was left by the previous owner and said there is a hidden door in the inn that leads to treasure. The current owner has searched everywhere, but can't find it. They are looking for help, but don't want word getting around town. If only a group of travelers were just passing through.

HAINSTONE

Founded to move diamonds from the interior to other towns and cities, Hainstone's history stretches back more than five centuries. The city is a hodgepodge of stone and wood structures.

Government

City State, Aristocracy - Baron/Baroness

Economy

The seaport and the diamonds keep the city growing, but there hasn't been much innovation in some time.

Businesses

Warburton's Jewelry
The Smoke and Fire Inn
The Friendly Nag Inn
Elvina's Potions
Claiborne Shipbuilding Company

Attractions

The Star of Hainstone - The largest diamond that the town has kept. It is 37.4 carats.

Adventure Ideas

The party needs to consult the Tome of Delwyn. They can either gain permission or sneak in.

The current lord or lady is looking for someone to help the town grow. They are offering rewards for people willing to explore the nearby countryside and woods. They are looking for resources they can exploit.

The owner of the Playful Unicorn is looking for a buyer. He only has one interested person, but they cannot afford it.

HAUGHTON

The inhabitants threw off a despotic ruler a decade ago, but the rebels then shattered into factions. Now the groups compete for power and the town suffers because of it. Burned-out and abandoned buildings can be seen on nearly every street. Some neighborhoods have become fortified compounds.

Government

Anocracy - Warlord/Warlordy

Economy

In turmoil because of the squabbling factions. The economy is also shrinking since people are leaving. However, Haughton is becoming known for its black market and contraband sales.

Businesses

The Hind's Heart Inn

Attractions

The Hind's Heart Inn - The inn is nearly a fortress now. However, it still caters quite well to travelers.

The Black Market - If you are looking for illegal goods, you can probably find them in the many back alleys and gang hideouts.

Population

Adventure Ideas

The Lost Key Inn is so called because of a key that was lost there. The key is said to open a strange wooden box that the owner keeps in a private room. He is offering a reward to anyone who finds the key. Many have searched for the key, but none have found it.

Upon entering the Restful Inn the party is treated to a chaotic scene. The owners and clientele are fighting a group of Kobolds that are surging out of the cellar.

During the construction of a new house, a large natural cave was discovered. The owner is offering a small sum to any who will explore it.

WYKEHAM

The city is built upon the mounds of an ancient city of an unknown civilization. Tombs and grave sites dot the area. The mounds give an uneven appearance to the city as buildings are perched every which way around them and on them.
