

RAGING SWAN PRESS

GM'S MISCELLANY: URBAN DRESSING

A SYSTEM NEUTRAL RESOURCE

EVERYTHING

is better with tentacles

GM'S MISCELLANY: URBAN DRESSING

Tired of your towns and cities being boring, bland places in which your PCs show little or no interest? Want to bring your towns and cities alive with cool, interesting features of note? Then GM's Miscellany: Urban Dressing is for you! Presenting tons of cool, interesting features for common urban fixture such as shops, stalls, thieves and so on, GM's Miscellany: Urban Dressing provides the harried GM the tools to quickly and easily bring such features to life.

CREDITS

Design: Ben Armitage, Creighton Broadhurst, Brian Fitzpatrick, James Graham, Richard Green, Brian Liberge, Brian Wiborg Mønster, Julian Neale, Marc Radle, Brian J. Ratcliff, Liz Smith, Jacob Trier, Josh Vogt and Daron Woodson.

Development: Creighton Broadhurst and Thilo Graf

Interior Art: Paul Daly, Pawet Dobosz (The Forge Studios), Jeff Freels, Rick Hershey, Garth Jones, Bradley K. McDevitt, William McAusland, Brittany Michel, Matt Morrow, Kay Neilsen, Dave Peterson, Claudio Pozas, Jeff Preston, Howard Pyle, Arthur Rackham, Marc Radle, V Shane, Elizabeth Shippengreen, Frank Walls and Maciej Zagorski (The Forge Studios). Some artwork copyright William McAusland, used with permission, Some artwork from Fantasy Filler Art copyright Rick Hershey, All Rights Reserved. Some artwork copyright Paul Daly, used with permission. Rick Hershey, Standard Stock Art: Issue 1 by Small Niche Games. Some artwork by Claudio Pozas, copyright Expeditious Retreat Press, used with permission. Franks Walls Standard Stock Art: Issue 1 by Empty Room Studios Publishing. Some images copyright Erisian Entertainment, used with permission.

SYSTEM NEUTRAL EDITION

Welcome to this Raging Swan Press System Neutral Edition. Herein you'll find evocative, inspiring text designed to help you—the busy GM—run better, quicker and easier games.

This book is compatible with most fantasy roleplaying games. It's impossible to create a truly system neutral book, though, and some generic game terms—wizard, fighter, human, elf and so on—may yet lurk within. These generic terms are easily modified to the GM's system of choice.

If you enjoyed this book, please consider leaving a review.

If you didn't enjoy this book, did you know Raging Swan Press offers a money back guarantee?

©Raging Swan Press 2016.

The material presented in this product first appeared in GM's Miscellany: Urban Dressing

The moral right of Ben Armitage, Creighton Broadhurst, Brian Fitzpatrick, James Graham, Richard Green, Brian Liberge, Brian Wiborg Mønster, Julian Neale, Marc Radle, Brian J. Ratcliff, Liz Smith, Jacob Trier, Josh Vogt and Daron Woodson to be identified as the authors of this work has been asserted in accordance with the Copyright Designs and Patents Act 1988.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system or transmitted, in any form or by any means, without the prior permission in writing of Raging Swan Press or as expressly permitted by law.

ragingswan.com
gatekeeper@ragingswan.com

CONTENTS

Credits.....	1
System Neutral Edition	1
Contents	2

DRESSING

Naming Locations	8
Naming Locations: Table A (Descriptive)	9
Naming Locations: Table B (Creatures)	10
Naming Locations: Table C (People)	11
Naming Locations: Table D (Objects).....	12
Naming Locations: Table E (Other)	13
Alleyways: Appearance.....	14
Alleyways: Names.....	16
Alleyways: Hooks, Complications & Opportunities	17
Alleyways: Encounters.....	17
Alleyways: Associated NPCs	18
Docks: Characteristics and Appearance.....	22
Docks: Docked Ships.....	24
Docks: Hooks, Complications and Opportunities	25
Docks: Sights & Sounds.....	26
Docks: NPCs.....	28
Graveyards: Characteristics & Appearance	30
Graveyards: Grave Markings	32
Graveyards: Associated NPCs	34
Graveyards: Hooks, Complications & Opportunities	36
Guildhalls: Types of Guilds.....	38
Guildhalls: Guildhalls	40
Guildhalls: Initiation, Motivations and Rumours	42
Guildhalls: Associated NPCS	44
Market Stalls: Characteristics & Appearance	46

Market Stalls: What's For Sale?.....	48
Market Stalls: Hooks, Complications & Opportunities	49
Market Stalls: Associated NPCs	50
Parks: Characteristics and Appearance	54
Parks: Things to Stumble Upon	56
Parks: Hooks, Complications and Opportunities	57
Parks: Associated NPCs	58
Ruined Buildings: Characteristics & Appearance	60
Ruined Buildings: Dressing	62
Ruined Buildings: Hooks, Complications & Opportunities	63
Ruined Buildings: Legends & Rumours.....	64
Sages: Characteristics & Appearance	66
Sages: Whispers & Rumours.....	68
Sages: Hooks, Complications & Opportunities	69
Sages: Sample Sages.....	70
Shrines: Characteristics and Appearance	72
Shrines: Object of Veneration	74
Shrines: Hooks, Complications and Opportunities	75
Shrines: Associated NPCs	76
Statues & Monuments: Characteristics & Appearance	80
Statues & Monuments: Dressing.....	82
Statues & Monuments: Hooks, Complications & Opportunities	84
Statues & Monuments: Legends & Rumours	85
Temples: Characteristics and Appearance	86
Temples: Domain Features.....	88
Temples: Donations, Tithings and Sacrifices	90
Temples: Events, Festivals and Rites	91
Temples: Clergy in a Hurry	92
Theatres: Characteristics & Appearance (External).....	94
Theatres: Characteristics & Appearance (Internal)	96

Theatres: Hooks, Complications & Opportunities	97
Theatres: Sights & Sounds	98
Theatres: Associated NPCs	99
Thieves: Pick Pockets & Confidence Tricksters	102
Thieves: Thugs & Bashers	104
Thieves: Skilled Thieves	106
Thieves: Specialists	108
Thieves: Hooks, Complications & Opportunities	110
Traders & Craftsmen: Characteristics & Appearance	112
Traders & Craftsmen: Selling	114
Traders & Craftsmen: Hooks, Complications & Opportunities	115
Traders & Craftsmen: Associated NPCs	116
Watch, the: Rank & File	118
Watch, the: Experts & Specialists	120
Watch, the: Informers & Watchers	121
Watch, the: Sergeants & Captains & Specialists	122
Watch, the: Hooks, Complications & Opportunities	124
Wizard's Tower: Characteristics & Appearance	126
Wizard's Tower: Dressing	128
Wizard's Tower: Hooks, Complications & Opportunities	130
Wizard's Tower: Legends & Rumours	131

TAVERNS

Table A: Tavern Name (Descriptor)	134
Table B: Tavern Name (Subject)	135
Interesting Tavern Features	136
Sample Customers	138
Sample Staff	140
Food & Drink	142
Taproom Events	144
Taproom Entertainment	146

Sample Tavern Songs	147
Games To Play	148
Games to Play: Dragon and the Thief	150
Games to Play: Events	152
Games to Play: Players	153
Barroom Brawls: Running a Brawl	154
Barroom Brawls: Brawl Triggers	155
Barroom Brawls: Brawl Events	156
Barroom Brawls: Aftermath	157
Sample Taverns	158
Sample Tavern: Cock and Bull, the	159
Sample Tavern: Crossed Axes, the	160
Sample Tavern: Dancing Satyr, the	161
Sample Tavern: Dirty Weasel, the	162
Sample Tavern: Hammer and Tongs, the	163
Sample Tavern: Huntsman's Rest, the	164
Sample Tavern: Lady Luck's	165
Sample Tavern: Laughing Gull, the	166
Sample Tavern: Lazy Badger, the	167
Sample Tavern: Lucky Catch, the	168
Sample Tavern: Merry Mermaid, the	169
Sample Tavern: Pilgrim's Respite, the	170
Sample Tavern: Royal Swan, the	171
Sample Tavern: Saucy Sylph, the	172
Sample Tavern: Silver Unicorn, the	173
Sample Tavern: Wand and Scroll, the	174
Sample Tavern: Warm Welcome Inn, the	175
Sample Tavern: Weary Camel, the	176
Sample Tavern: Wily Fox, the	177
Sample Tavern: Wyvern's Head Inn, the	178

ABOUT THE DESIGNERS

Ben Armitage's long hiatus before his return to gaming will inevitably be triumphant. Well, in his mind anyway. Ben started in role-playing games by forcing his younger brother to play while trapped on long car rides en route to family vacations. Obscure Tolkien and Marvel knockoffs comprised the initial offerings before playing HeroQuest with friends until the box fell apart. When another friend put together an AD&D 2nd Edition game, it was love at first sight. Well, not really, but what a good time! His long break from gaming came after a TPK in Ravenloft and about 15 years of life...

Now, a patent attorney and small business owner, Ben enjoys reading, writing, gaming, sports and any activity with his wife and three young children. He also brews beer while pretending to use his chemistry degrees. Ben currently plays Pathfinder in a small family game and writes for Raging Swan Press, Open Design and a few other upcoming projects.

Creighton Broadhurst is a keen gamer who passionately believes in the Open Gaming License and is dedicated to making his games as fun and easy to enjoy as possible for all participants. Reducing or removing entry barriers, simplifying pre-game prep and easing the GM's workload are the key underpinning principles of the products he releases through Raging Swan Press.

Over the last 11 years, Creighton has worked with Expeditious Press, Paizo and Wizards of the Coast. He now releases his own products through Raging Swan Press. You can read his thoughts on game design at raging-swan.livejournal.com.

Creighton lives in Torquay, England where, apparently, the palm trees are plastic and the weather is warm. He shares a ramshackle old mansion with his two children ("Genghis" and "Khan") and his patient wife. Famed for his unending love affair with booze and pizza he is an enduring GREYHAWK fan.

Brian "Fitz" Fitzpatrick lives with his family in beautiful Colorado trying desperately to avoid a gruesome death by low-flying soccer ball. Though he spends his days as a code monkey, he lives for the time he spends with his family, gaming or thinking about gaming throughout the week. When not pondering what's next for his own writing projects (moebiusadventures.com), he enjoys playing with his wife and daughters, his dogs, or with his friends in their latest campaigns. He's been playing some form of RPG since discovering D&D in 1982 and has explored worlds of horror, science fiction, super heroes, spies, and swords & sorcery (his favorite) ever since.

James F.D. Graham is an aspiring RPG writer/designer who is working hard to break into the business of RPGs. He caught the bug after participating in the 2009 RPG Superstar Contest by Paizo Publishing and blushingly admits he made it into the top 8. He is currently juggling his duties as a stay-at-home dad with endless tinkering of house rules and producing his own content, as well as leading and playing several campaigns with friends.

James has a B.A. in History with an interest in piracy (the original kind, not electronic!). He resides in Halifax, Nova Scotia along with his impish nine-month old son and his roguish, and utterly supportive, wife.

Richard Green has been playing RPGs since 1980, and has enjoyed running D&D in all four editions. Previous freelance design credits include "A Blight on the Land", a Forgotten Realms adventure written for Dungeon #38 way back in 1992, and contributions to the "Iron Gazetteer" for Open Design. More recently, he has been working on the forthcoming 4th Edition Bestiary for Open Design's Midgard campaign setting.

He is currently running two regular 4th edition D&D campaigns set in the city and wider world of Parsantium, the first campaign setting he created since his teenage years. Check out his blog, At the Sign of the Green Man (<http://richgreen01.livejournal.com/>) to learn more about the Parsantium campaign setting and to read other posts about fantasy RPG gaming. Richard lives in London with his wife Kate and two cats. When he's not playing and writing D&D stuff, he likes to watch Crystal Palace FC try to win football matches.

Julian began his interest in roleplaying games with the classic "red box" in the early 1980s, then quickly progressed onto 1e AD&D when buying the Player's Handbook from none other than Ian Livingstone and Steve Jackson - of Fighting Fantasy and Games Workshop fame - at a convention in London.

Brian Liberge is a father of one, living in Boston, MA. Introduced to AD&D at an early age, he's continued to update with the editions and dives into new systems. He loves home-brewed ideas, is honest to a fault, and thinks mechanics should absolutely be shared between systems. Check out his previous work with StufferShack.com, the RPG Circus Podcast, The Gamer Assembly and Kobold Press.

Brian Wiborg Mønster hails from Denmark the ancient Viking kingdom, where he lives with his overbearing wife and two young sons, whom he trains to be wizards, although it seems that a bard and a barbarian is most likely result of his manipulation. He has played RPGs since 1990 and has tried a variety from AD&D, Call of Cthulhu, TMNT, and Star Wars, the old D6 version mind you, not the modern D20. Today it is Pathfinder he mainly plys his evil trade in.

He started gm'ing mainly because he thought the dungeons he explored were built by kind-hearted souls, he was convinced that a trap should aim to kill or at least seriously maim, because why else would you bother with using the trap to protect yours precious dungeon? This idea was sparked by his exposure to Grimtooth the Troll and his magnificent traps. He has been called an evil GM but he usually just replies "I am a realistic GM, and you take 65 points of damage, so roll up a new character!” Apart from rpgs he also enjoys everything Sword and Sorcery be it books, comics, RPGs, or movies, especially Conan.

Julian Neale has run and played in many games and game systems over the years, and likes writing game stuff for fun. He has contributed to Dragon magazine and the Kingmaker Adventure Path for Paizo, and is excited to work with Raging Swan Press.

Julian currently lives in the north of England, but plans to relocate further south in the future.

Marc Radle is a professional graphic artist and designer by trade. He is married and has three kids (one teenaged son and two very spoiled cats).

He started playing D&D in the late 70’s – good old First Edition AD&D! He also played many other RPGs back then... Marvel Superheroes, Champions, Elfquest, FASA’s Star Trek, Star Frontiers, the list goes on...but it always came back to AD&D! Marc faded out of gaming sometime after 2nd Edition came out – partially because 2nd Edition just didn’t quite do it for him but also because his gaming friends turned into grownups, got real lives and moved away when Marc wasn’t looking!

Third Edition D&D really pulled Marc back into the hobby and he has since become a HUGE fan of the Pathfinder RPG! He is absolutely thrilled with what Paizo has done for gamers everywhere and is even more thrilled that he can still enjoy playing (and contributing to) the game he loves. Thanks Paizo!

Marc has written and/or illustrated for a number of great game companies, including Kobold Quarterly, Open Design, Super Genius Games, Last Unicorn Games (back in the day), Headless Hydra Games, Jon Brazer Enterprises, Tricky Owlbear Publishing, Louis Porter, Jr Design and Raging Swan Press.

Brian J. Ratcliff was born and raised in south-central Texas, where he lived for 18 years before moving to Arizona, meeting his first gaming group, and being introduced to the video game Neverwinter Nights and through it to D&D 3.5 in 2003. He has since relocated to Chattanooga, Tennessee, where he works as a member of an accounting firm; by nights he tinkers with Pathfinder gaming ideas and homebrew setting and resources, and works his way toward completing a vast array of fiction stories. When not gaming, working on gaming projects, writing, or brainstorming with his co-author, he enjoys reading fantasy, sci-fi, and/or anything that blends the two, playing video games (primarily console JRPGs), and spending time with his family’s five dogs.

Liz Smith was introduced to RPGs at the age of 14 and has been involved with them ever since, most notably in the long-running Joe Wood Commoner Campaign. Quiet, observant and an avid reader, she mostly finds herself pushed into the GM seat for games and somehow manages to fit a lot of things into a 24-hour day, becoming a full-time writer in 2002. She is now a published poet, non-fiction writer and novelist, and is proud to be able to add RPG work to the list at last. She currently lives in the UK but prefers world-hopping to dull reality.

Jacob Trier has been a book-worm since before he could walk. Growing up, the library was one of his favorite places, and his love of fantasy and role-playing games was kindled by Sword and Sorcery pick-your-path books and Dragonlance novels. At age ten, he got his hands on the AD&D 2nd edition Players Handbook, and he has been a gamer ever since. His singular claim to fame was an unsuccessful run at the title of RPG Superstar in 2012.

When he isn’t slaying trolls or guiding his players towards certain death and dismemberment, he’s busy playing the roles of father and husband. He and his lovely wife are the proud parents of two lively sons, both future gamers if their dad has anything to say about it. Trained as a journalist, he pays the bills handling communication at a local Social and Health Care College. He lives near Aarhus, Denmark.

Josh Vogt is a full-time freelance writer and editor. He works with a variety of RPG developers and publishers and has sold fiction to Paizo’s Pathfinder Tales, Grey Matter Press, the UFO2 & UFO3 anthologies, Intergalactic Medicine Show and Shimmer, among others. His upcoming debut fantasy novel is also with Paizo’s Pathfinder Tales. You can find him at JRVogt.com or @JRVogt. He is made out of meat.

Daron Woodson is a published (self- and otherwise) third-party author for the Pathfinder Roleplaying Game by Paizo Publishing, LLC. In addition to over six years of administrative writing experience, Daron has authored over one hundred high-rated and well-reviewed products under the trade name Abandoned Arts, and also works as a freelance author and content editor for several other third-party PFRPG publishers, and for online writing services like Scripted and Writer Access. Daron lives in Jacksonville, Florida, and spends the majority of his efforts there avoiding any direct contact with the sunlight.

DRESSING

NAMING LOCATIONS

This section comprises five tables:

- Table A: Descriptive
- Table B: Creatures
- Table C: People
- Table D: Objects
- Table E: Other

These tables can be used to generate a virtually limitless number of interesting names for shops, taverns, ships, adventuring groups and so on. The easiest way to use these tables is to simply choose any two of the five, roll once on each and apply the results in order to generate a name. In many cases, you will need to add the word 'The' or 'and' to the name as appropriate.

The GM can instead opt to roll twice on the same table. The resulting names tend to be a bit more straightforward or mundane (especially if the GM rolls twice on Table D: Objects). For example, The Book and Candle might be the perfect name for a wizard's magic shop while The Kettle and Cauldron, could be a great name for an alchemist's shop.

If the GM is more adventurous, he might decide to roll on three tables instead of two. Doing so most likely requires the GM to be a bit more open-minded and creative with the results. However, such results can be well worth it – imagine the potential story behind an inn called The Toothless Harpy's Lute!

Yet another option is to roll on one or two tables as described above. Then, roll a single die (a D10 or D20 works well) and use the number rolled as an actual word to be added to the name generated. This method results in colourful names such as The Seven Scholars or Three Angry Wenches.

It is also important to remember that a GM is always free to skip the dice altogether and simply pick words from the tables that strike his fancy or that fit his needs. The GM can even pick words simply because they have nice alliteration or roll easily off the tongue (The Treacherous Toad, Amorous Ankheg or Saucy Shepherd).

Examples: The GM decides he needs a quick name for an inn, so he rolls once on Table A: Descriptive and once on Table B: Creatures. He rolls a 2 and a 39, resulting in the words Angry and Griffon. With the addition of the word "The", the GM names the inn The Angry Griffon, surely an interesting name his players will have little trouble remembering.

The GM could have instead decided to roll on Table B: Creatures and Table D: Objects, resulting in an inn called The Badger and Bucket.

Perhaps the GM needs a quick name for a pirate ship, so he rolls once on Table B: Creatures and once on Table E: Other, resulting in The Medusa's Gaze.

Don't worry if the resulting name does not make sense at first glance. The beauty of inn names, or other similar sorts of names, is that they can be so named because of local custom, superstitions, the owner's interests or loves or simply because they sound good.

A GM can allow a nonsensical name to fuel his creativity: why is that inn called The Chaste Minstrel? What interesting story or adventure hook lies behind the name? This interesting background adds detail and depth to both the inn and the settlement in which the inn resides. This in turn helps to make the GM's campaign world really come alive!

NAMING LOCATIONS: TABLE A (DESCRIPTIVE)

D%
1	Amorous
2	Angry
3	Arrogant
4	Bashful
5	Bawdy
6	Black
7	Blue
8	Brass
9	Brave
10	Broken
11	Brown
12	Bronze
13	Burning/Burnt
14	Chanting
15	Chaste
16	Choking
17	Clever
18	Copper
19	Courageous
20	Comely
21	Cowardly
22	Creeping
23	Crooked
24	Dancing
25	Dreaming
26	Drunken
27	Dull
28	Empty
29	Flaming
30	Flying
31	Frozen
32	Graceful
33	Gasping
34	Gold/Golden
35	Grasping
36	Green
37	Grey
38	Grinning
39	Hairy
40	Happy
41	Homely
42	Honest
43	Honorable
44	Hopping
45	Hungry
46	Haunted
47	Insufferable
48	Jealous
49	Jumping
50	Laughing

51	Last
52	Lazy
53	Leaky
54	Leaning
55	Leaping
56	Leering
57	Lonely
58	Lucky
59	Lusty/Lustful
60	Mad
61	Modest
62	Mystic
63	Oily
64	Passionate
65	Patient
66	Platinum
67	Pompous
68	Prancing
69	Proud
70	Purple
71	Raging
72	Randy
73	Red
74	Rusty
75	Salty
76	Saucy
77	Scarlet
78	Silent
79	Silver
80	Singing
81	Sinking
82	Sleeping/Sleepy
83	Slippery
84	Smiling
85	Squinting
86	Stone
87	Thirsty
88	Thundering
89	Toothless
90	Treacherous
91	Tricky
92	Valorous
93	Vengeful
94	Vulgar
95	Wandering
96	Weeping
97	White
98	Wonton
99	Wounded
100	Yellow

INNS & TAVERNS

Inn names have perhaps the most flexibility when selecting tables. For the most consistently useful results, however, try one of the following selection options:

- Roll once on Table A: Descriptive and then once on Table B: Creatures, Table C: People or Table D: Objects. (Examples: The Bawdy Abbot, The Leaky Tankard).
- Roll once on any two of the following tables: Table B: Creatures, Table C: People or Table D: Objects. (Examples: The Harpy and Skull, The Bard and Bottle).
- Roll twice on any one of the following tables: Table B: Creatures, Table C: People or Table D: Objects. (Examples: The Wench and The Warrior, Axe and Crown).

D20

1	The Bawdy Abbot
2	The Leaky Tankard
3	The Wench and the Warrior
4	Axe and Crown
5	The Harpy and Skull
6	The Bard and Bottle
7	The Green Triton
8	The Lonely Snake
9	The Laughing Hydra
10	The Duck and Harpy
11	The Bucket and Cockatrice
12	The Shepherd and Lady
13	The Witch and Jester
14	The Treacherous Lady
15	The Silver Staff
16	The Cursed Wheel
17	The Bishop and Lantern
18	The Singing Crossbow
19	The Hag and Guillotine
20	The Church Inn

NAMING LOCATIONS: TABLE B (CREATURES)

D%
1	Ankheg
2	Badger
3	Banshee
4	Basilisk
5	Beetle
6	Behir
7	Boar
8	Bugbear
9	Bunyip
10	Cat
11	Centaur
12	Chimera
13	Cobra
14	Cockatrice
15	Cockroach
16	Crow
17	Cyclops
18	Derro
19	Devil
20	Dolphin
21	Dog
22	Dragon
23	Drake
24	Dryad
25	Duck
26	Eagle
27	Ettercap
28	Ettin
29	Falcon
30	Familiar
31	Fish
32	Gargoyle
33	Genie
34	Ghost
35	Giant
36	Gnoll
37	Goblin
38	Golem
39	Griffon
40	Grig
41	Grindylow
42	Gremlin
43	Hag
44	Harpy
45	Hippogriff
46	Hobgoblin
47	Horse
48	Homunculus
49	Hydra
50	Imp

51	Jabberwock
52	Kobold
53	Kraken
54	Leprechaun
55	Lich
56	Linnorm
57	Lion
58	Lizard
59	Manticore
60	Medusa
61	Mermaid
62	Minotaur
63	Naga
64	Nymph
65	Ogre
66	Orc
67	Owl
68	Otyugh
69	Owlbear
70	Peacock
71	Phoenix
72	Pixie
73	Pony
74	Rakshasa
75	Rat
76	Roper
77	Sahuagin
78	Salamander
79	Satyr
80	Scorpion
81	Serpent
82	Siren
83	Spectre
84	Sphinx
85	Spider
86	Spriggan
87	Snake
88	Stingray
89	Stirge
90	Sylph
91	Tengu
92	Titan
93	Toad
94	Treant
95	Triton
96	Troll
97	Turtle
98	Unicorn
99	Worg
100	Wyvern

SHOPS

In addition to inns, the names of many other types of shops in a town can be easily generated. For the most part, such names follow the same recommendations as inns. However, for the most consistently useful results, try one of the following selection options:

- Roll once on any two of the following tables: Table B: Creatures, Table C: People or Table D: Objects. (Examples: The Abbot and Idol, Scribe and Scroll).
- Roll twice on any one of the following tables: Table B: Creatures, Table C: People or Table D: Objects. (Examples: The Fiddle and Quill, Lute and Lyre).

D20

1	The Abbot and Idol
2	Scribe and Scroll
3	The Fiddle and Quill
4	Lute and Lyre
5	Porter's Rest
6	The Noble's Caress
7	The Slumbering Wyrm
8	The Grasping Roper
9	Arrow and Armour
10	Herbalist's Cauldron
11	Chains and Shackles
12	Hoof and Bone
13	Drum and Whistle
14	Dragon's Delve
15	The Warrior's Arm
16	The Flaming Candle
17	Heraster's Quill
18	The Anvil and Flame
19	Twin Wheels
20	The Stuffed Phoenix

NAMING LOCATIONS: TABLE C (PEOPLE)

D%
1	Abbot
2	Abjurer
3	Adept
4	Alchemist
5	Aristocrat
6	Assassin
7	Barbarian
8	Bard
9	Barrister
10	Baron
11	Beggar
12	Bishop
13	Blacksmith
14	Burglar
15	Cavalier
16	Chamberlain
17	Chancellor
18	Cleric
19	Conjurer
20	Constable
21	Cook
22	Disciple
23	Diviner
24	Druid
25	Duke/Duchess
26	Emperor
27	Enchanter
28	Evoker
29	Executioner
30	Farmer
31	Fiddler
32	Fighter
33	Fisherman
34	Fishmonger
35	Footpad
36	Friar
37	Gypsy
38	Hangman
39	Harlot
40	Hermit
41	Highwayman
42	Hooligan
43	Horseman
44	Huntsman
45	Illusionist
46	Inn Keeper
47	Inquisitor
48	Jailer
49	Jester
50	King

51	Knight
52	Lady
53	Lass
54	Lord
55	Mage
56	Magus
57	Maiden
58	Mariner
59	Miller
60	Minstrel
61	Monarch
62	Moneylender
63	Monk
64	Mystic
65	Necromancer
66	Noble
67	Oracle
68	Paladin
69	Peasant
70	Peddler
71	Pickpocket
72	Pilgrim
73	Piper
74	Plowman
75	Porter
76	Priest/Priestess
77	Prince/Princess
78	Queen
79	Ranger
80	Rogue
81	Sailor
82	Scholar
83	Scribe
84	Servant
85	Shaman
86	Shepherd
87	Sheriff
88	Soldier
89	Sorcerer
90	Spinster
91	Squire
92	Steward
93	Summoner
94	Transmuter
95	Traveller
96	Warrior
97	Wench
98	Witch
99	Wizard
100	Woodsmen

SHIPS

With a little creativity, the tables can also be used to name ships and other vessels. The Leaping Mermaid or Silver Ghost would be appropriate names for a sailing ship, while the Grinning Skull might be perfect for a pirate vessel. For the most consistently useful results when naming ships, try one of the following selection options:

- Roll once on Table A: Descriptive and then once on Table B: Creatures, Table C: People or Table D: Objects. (Examples: The Dancing Dolphin, Mad Triton).
- Roll once on Table B: Creatures or Table C: People and once on Table E: Other. (Examples: Siren's Folly, Kraken's Pride).

D20

1	The Dancing Dolphin
2	Mad Triton
3	Siren's Folly
4	Kraken's Pride
5	Drake's Glory
6	King's Revenge
7	Death's Shadow
8	Screaming Death
9	The Wrath
10	The Wailing Mermaid
11	Wavecrest
12	Ocean Rover
13	The Lioness
14	Siren of the Waves
15	The Sea Rat
16	Death's Breath
17	Vengeance
18	Repulse
19	The Acheron
20	Black Doom

NAMING LOCATIONS: TABLE D (OBJECTS)

D%
1	Arrow
2	Amulet
3	Axe
4	Barrel
5	Beard
6	Bell
7	Blade
8	Blood
9	Bolt
10	Bone
11	Book
12	Bottle
13	Bridge
14	Bucket
15	Carriage
16	Castle
17	Cauldron
18	Candle/Candlestick
19	Chain
20	Chalice
21	Claw
22	Club
23	Crossbow
24	Crown
25	Crust
26	Cup
27	Dagger
28	Drum
29	Elixir
30	Fang
31	Feather
32	Fiddle
33	Flame
34	Flagon
35	Flask
36	Gauntlet
37	Gem
38	Goblet
39	Grape
40	Guillotine
41	Hammer
42	Hand
43	Harp
44	Head
45	Helm
46	Home
47	Hoof
48	Hook
49	Horn
50	Hourglass

51	Idol
52	Jug
53	Ink Well
54	Kettle
55	Key
56	Lantern
57	Lute
58	Lyre
59	Mask
60	Moon
61	Mug
62	Noose
63	Oak
64	Pick
65	Plough
66	Prince
67	Quill
68	Quiver
69	Rock
70	Rose
71	Scabbard
72	Scarecrow
73	Scimitar
74	Scroll
75	Shackles
76	Shield
77	Shovel
78	Skull
79	Spear
80	Staff
81	Star
82	Still
83	Stone
84	Sun
85	Tabard
86	Tail
87	Talisman
88	Tankard
89	Throne
90	Tome
91	Tooth
92	Torch
93	Tower
94	Trident
95	Trowel
96	Wand
97	Wave
98	Whistle
99	Wheel
100	Whip

PLACE NAMES

The GM can also use the tables to generate location or place names for his campaign world, including mountain passes, hills, caves and so on. For the most consistently useful results, try one of the following selection options:

- Roll once on Table B: Creatures or Table C: People and once on Table E: Other. (Examples: Burglar's Roost, Hermit's End).
- Choose (or create) the name of an important, famous or legendary person in the campaign world and then roll once on Table E: Other. (Examples: Hrothgar's Leap, Grellick's Rest).

D20

1	Burglar's Roost
2	Hemrit's End
3	Hrothgar's Leap
4	Grellick's Rest
5	Baron's Folly
6	Knight's Way
7	Shepherd's Venture
8	Ranger's Depths
9	Hangman's Gate
10	Sages' Square
11	The Wailing gate
12	Death Alley
13	Squire's End
14	Horseman's Ditch
15	Slaughter Ford
16	Battle Lane
17	Mud Alley
18	Berilith's Fall
19	Bone Hill
20	The Shadowed Glen

NAMING LOCATIONS: TABLE E (OTHER)

D%
1	Ancient
2	Bane
3	Banquet
4	Bite
5	Bless
6	Breath
7	Brew
8	Brood
9	Call
10	Caress
11	Choice
12	Cold
13	Courage
14	Crazed
15	Curse
16	Dance
17	Dark
18	Deadly
19	Death
20	Deep
21	Delve
22	Depths
23	Desire
24	Dream
25	Embrace
26	End
27	Fate
28	Fiery
29	Flourish
30	Fog
31	Folly
32	Fool
33	Gambit
34	Gamble
35	Gasp
36	Gaze
37	Gift
38	Glory
39	Grace
40	Grasp
41	Grip
42	Haunt
43	Holiday
44	Honour
45	Hope
46	Howl
47	Hunt
48	Ire
49	Jest
50	Kiss

51	Laugh
52	Leap
53	Lost
54	Love
55	Luck
56	Mad
57	Masquerade
58	Menagerie
59	Mercy
60	Miracle
61	Misplaced
62	Nightmare
63	Oath
64	Path
65	Plague
66	Prayer
67	Pride
68	Promise
69	Quest
70	Rage
71	Rampage
72	Rest
73	Revenge
74	Rhyme
75	Roost
76	Scream
77	Shadow
78	Shining
79	Slumber
80	Smile
81	Song
82	Sorrow
83	Soul
84	Spirit
85	Sting
86	Storm
87	Strike
88	Stupid
89	Surprise
90	Terror
91	Triumph
92	Vengeance
93	Venture
94	Wail
95	Walk
96	Way
97	Whisper
98	Wish
99	Wrath
100	Young

ORGANISATIONS

With even more creativity, the GM can generate interesting names for adventuring bands, knightly orders, mercenary groups, mysterious cabals and the like simply by rolling on any one or two of the tables before adding words or phrases like Company, Knights, Order or Brotherhood to the result.

D20

1	The Black Wyvern Company
2	Brotherhood of the Scarlet Tome
3	Order of the White Blade
4	The Company of Dragon's Tome
5	Order of the Shining Light
6	Sisterhood of the Bloody Arrow
7	Brotherhood of the Empty Scabbard
8	The Crimson Hydra's Hand
9	Knights of Fallen Banner
10	The Ghost Fall Company
11	Band of the Cursed Wanderers
12	Men of the Radiant Starburst
13	Warriors of the Sun's Glory
14	Knights of Bloodied Axe
15	Brotherhood of the Virtuous Whisper
16	Fellowship of the Broken Shield
17	The Bone Guard
18	Sisterhood of the Ebon Destroyers
19	Guards of the Eternal Vigil
20	Blessed Fellowship of the Peacock

ALLEYWAYS: APPEARANCE

Alleyways tend to be low on upkeep; used as either unofficial storage areas or handy rubbish dump for nearby buildings. It is not unlike navigating a goblin warren or an old dungeon in many ways, as you search for your footing and peer warily around each shadowy corner. The table below first presents the width, floor type and other salient terrain features before providing a brief description of 100 alleyways.

D%	DESCRIPTIONS
1	10 ft., dirt floor, light rubble; a pile of broken wooden crates lie on one side.
2	10 ft., dirt floor, dim light; the sound of a cat mewling loudly carries into the street, though none can be seen. One side is lined with garbage bins.
3	5 ft., cobblestones in poor repair, light rubble; two men play a dice game near the far corner.
4	10 ft., cobblestone, dim light; a young girl sits as if waiting for someone.
5	10 ft., dirt floor; 3d4 youths stand about gossiping.
6	5 ft., dirt floor; charcoal graffiti marks the walls.
7	5 ft., mud floor, light rubble; smells of cattle.
8	10 ft., cobblestones, dim light; high walls on either and a clothesline with fresh linen hangs between open windows.
9	5 ft., dirt floor, patches of dim light; walls narrow at the end to no more than 3 ft. and begin twisting around corners in a labyrinthine fashion.
10	10 ft., cobblestone; a small, metal fountain, depicting various legendary figures, rests at the back of this dead end.
11	10 ft., dirt floor, dense rubble; many empty, loose barrels are haphazardly scattered about.
12	5 ft., cobblestone, dim light; high thatched roofs allow only thin shafts of sun into the alley.
13	5 ft., cobblestone; this well maintained path leads to a small, locked (standard quality lock) iron gate. A small courtyard lies beyond.
14	10 ft., cobblestone in poor repair, light rubble; an iron lamp hangs from the back of a neighbouring shop, keeping this alley lit at night.
15	5 ft., hard-packed dirt floor; remarkably empty. Knowledge of spelunking may reveal that the alley is as clean as if a gelatinous cube had moved down it.
16	10 ft., dirt floor; dozens of footprints mar the walkway, marking it as well travelled for an alley.
17	10 ft., dirt floor; a few women have gathered at one of its intersections to socialize and mend clothes.
18	5 ft., dirt floor; dried blood marks the walls in savage spray patterns.
19	5 ft., cobblestone; bits of the walls have begun to peel and flake off onto the ground, producing a chalky mist when walked through.
20	10 ft., dirt floor; several ropes hang tied from one of the neighbouring rooftops.

21	5 ft., cobblestone; an arch wrapped in ivy covers the entrance to this alley.
22	10 ft., dirt floor, dim light; vagrants huddle closely together, trying to make themselves insignificant as people pass.
23	10 ft., cobblestone; a number of the cobblestones have been carved to resemble faces in profile.
24	5 ft., dirt floor; quotes from legend have been painted along one wall. The other is bare.
25	10 ft., cobblestone; a merchant has left his wagon parked here unattended; there is just enough room to squeeze by.
26	5 ft., dirt floor; grass is struggling to grow in small patches down this alley.
27	5 ft., dirt floor; a bull's-eye has been painted on the far wall of this dead end. Different sized holes indicate people have not just been throwing darts.
28	5 ft., dirt floor, dim light; stagnant water has pooled in this alley.
29	10 ft., dirt road, light rubble; a heap of rotting produce attracts flies and other pests.
30	5 ft., dirt floor; new constructions jut into the alley at odd angles, forcing hard turns where the width reaches as few as one and a half feet.
31	10 ft., cobblestone street; only recently paved.
32	5 ft., dirt floor, dense rubble, dim light; filled with garbage piled four feet high from the neighbouring buildings.
33	5 ft., cobblestone, light rubble. One of the walls has a two-foot wide hole covered by a stretched hide. Loose stone still litter the ground nearby.
34	10 ft., cobblestone, dim light; high walls block most of the sun.
35	5 ft., dirt floor; eerie pipe music echoes from around the next bend.
36	10 ft., dirt floor; opens into a small, unofficial square where several alleys meet.
37	5 ft., dirt floor; a large mastiff sleeps at the back entrance of an adjacent shop.
38	5 ft., dirt floor, light rubble; a pile of ragged children's clothing has been abandoned here.
39	5 ft., cobblestone, dim light; bits of bone have been worked in amongst the stones in the paving.
40	5 ft., dirt floor, light rubble; scraps of metal pipe lean against one wall.
41	5 ft., cobblestone; the stone arch at the mouth of this alley is engraved with the image of the god of magic.
42	10 ft., dirt floor; rustling sounds emerge from several barrels of refuse due to rats digging around inside.
43	10 ft., dirt floor; a small wooden gate, easily jumped, stands locked at the mouth of this alley. The lock has rusted shut.
44	5 ft., dirt floor; a long old rug of red and gold has been rolled out over half the length of this alley.

45	5 ft., dirt floor; a wind chime made of empty glass bottles hangs from an adjacent roof.
46	10 ft., dirt floor; this alley slopes slowly downward.
47	5 ft., cobblestone; this alley features a steep decline that widens at the end into an intersection.
48	5 ft., dirt floor, dim light; high walls block the direct sun. A glass prism hangs from one building corner, faintly painting the air with a rainbow of colour.
49	10 ft., cobblestone in poor repair, light rubble; a hunk of meat lies rotting in the sun.
50	10 ft., uneven dirt floor, light rubble; slight incline.
51	Variable width, dense rubble. A collapsed house has created an unofficial alley between two streets.
52	5 ft., dirt floor; wooden beams have been set into the dirt to keep it traversable after heavy rains.
53	10 ft., dirt floor, dim light; wooden boards overgrown with vines serve as a fence between two adjacent buildings.
54	5 ft., dirt floor, light rubble; a man re-thatches an adjacent roof and tosses old straw into the alley.
55	5 ft., cobblestone, dim light; heavy curtains hang as doors at each end of this alley.
56	5 ft., cobblestone; dead end with a hatch at the end that leads into the sewers.
57	10 ft., dirt floor; a silver swan is set into one of the walls. Several scrapes show where people have failed to remove it forcibly.
58	5 ft., dirt floor, dim light; high walls create a powerful wind tunnel.
59	5 ft., cobblestone; slopes under the bridge of a larger street.
60	5 ft., dirt floor; an abandoned, adjacent building has no doors and is used as a shortcut.
61	10 ft., dirt floor; birds fight over scraps of food.
62	5 ft., cobblestone; a small shrine with stained glass windows depicting prophets of flame. Several of the windows are cracked and broken.
63	5 ft., dirt floor; a steep decline, then a sharp turn and a steep incline back up to another street.
64	10 ft., cobblestone, light rubble; small pots, boxes and old tools clutter the alley.
65	10 ft., dirt floor; a string of colourful handkerchiefs, tied between buildings, swings in the breeze.
66	5 ft., dirt floor; two dwarves slowly carry a large keg of ale between them.
67	5 ft., dirt floor; "No Trespassing" is painted at the entrance in large letters.
68	2 ft., dirt floor, dim light; very close walls.
69	5 ft., cobblestone; multiple engraved arches are spread over the length of this alley.
70	5 ft., dirt floor, dim light; dark strands of hair are matted in among the dirt.
71	10 ft., cobblestone; copper pipes run down from the gutters above.
72	10 ft., dirt floor; an old cloth lies over two crates, left over from a makeshift table or sales counter.

73	10 ft., dirt floor; flower baskets hang from a nearby window, filling the air with perfume.
74	5 ft., dirt floor, light rubble; two vagrants lie sleeping, wrapped in blankets.
75	5 ft., dirt floor; the smell of spoiled milk hangs in the air.
76	10 ft., dirt floor, dense rubble; a broken cart lies in the middle of the alley, partially stripped of parts.
77	5 ft., dirt floor; two old men play a game of horseshoes and are arguing about the rules.
78	5 ft., dirt floor; a troupe of alley cats has created a pile of dead birds near one back door.
79	10 ft., dirt floor; deep treads have dug into the earth from heavy wagon traffic.
80	10 ft., dirt floor; a lilac tree thrives at one corner, giving a pleasant scent with each breeze.
81	5 ft., dirt floor with the consistency of mud, light rubble, dim light; smells of manure.
82	10 ft., dirt floor; a number of stone blocks are piled to one side, giving easy access to an adjacent roof.
83	5 ft., cobblestone; a group of youths tosses rocks at passing carriages. They scatter if approached.
84	5 ft., dirt floor; inclines to the entrance of a private home.
85	5 ft., cobblestone; a locked wooden box hangs from a wall, taking anonymous donations to help the poor.
86	10 ft., dirt floor; foreign traders selling specialty wares crowd this alley.
87	5 ft., brick laid floor; dim light; high walls.
88	10 ft., cobblestone floor painted gold and silver.
89	10 ft., dirt floor; handmade flyers poster the walls advertising various services and merchants.
90	5 ft., dirt floor; a hawk sits atop one wall, watching all who enter.
91	5 ft., dirt floor; a few men lean against one wall smoking pipes.
92	5 ft., cobblestone; a dead-end at first glance. An unlocked door is set into the far wall, leading to the other end of the alley.
93	5 ft., dirt floor, light rubble; smells of salt air and fish guts. Old nets lie abandoned at one end.
94	10 ft., dirt floor; two kids duel with wooden spoons.
95	5 ft., dirt floor; a young woman tunes a lute.
96	5 ft., dirt floor, dim light; a fractured humanoid skull lies in the dirt.
97	10 ft., dirt floor; an abandoned fire burns low toward the end of the alley.
98	5 ft. widens out to 15 ft., cobblestone; once the alley widens, rosebushes line one side.
99	10 ft., cobblestone; light blue curtains fill the windows on either side.
100	5 ft., dirt floor; smells of mint and parsley.

ALLEYWAYS: NAMES

Some alleyways are so minor that they do not have an official name. Others might have more than one name – that used by the locals and the other bestowed by the town's officials.

D% ALLEYWAY NAMES

1	Access Way
2	Adage Alley
3	Apprentice Way
4	Arrow Alley
5	Bass Alley
6	Broken Horn Alley
7	Bruiser Alley
8	Caster Way
9	Cat Path
10	Char Lane
11	Cherry Lane
12	Chill Alley
13	Courtier Alley
14	Dagger Pass
15	Dander Alley
16	Demesne Alley
17	Devil's Pass
18	Distant Pass
19	Dragon Chin Alley
20	Durgin Alley
21	Dusty Walk
22	Edgar Alley
23	Elder Alley
24	Eldritch Alley

25	Everdown Alley
26	Executioner Alley
27	Extra Alley
28	Ferry Pass
29	Fey Lane
30	Fool's Errand
31	Frogman Way
32	Ghast Alley
33	Ginger Alley
34	Goblin Ear Alley
35	God Street
36	Gorgon Alley
37	Grasping Alley
38	Green Alley
39	Gremlin Passage
40	Grifter Alley
41	Halfling's Pass
42	Hammer Alley
43	Heartache Way
44	Hidden Moon Alley
45	Homely Lane
46	Inferno Alley
47	Ivy Lane
48	Jackal Lane
49	Jacob's Alley
50	Jumping Lane
51	King's Alley
52	Knight's Pass
53	Languid Lane
54	Light's Passage

55	Lover's Quarrel
56	Lucy Lane
57	Manfried Alley
58	Manger Street
59	Mikle Alley
60	Never True Lane
61	Noman Lane
62	Nunnery Alley
63	Odd Lump Pass
64	Ogre Gullet
65	Old Head Lane
66	Once Ridge Lane
67	Outland Alley
68	Pardon Alley
69	Peddler Alley
70	Pidgin Pass
71	Pilgrim Passage
72	Poison Oak Alley
73	Porter Street
74	Pumpkin Alley
75	Quiet Alley
76	Rats Passage
77	Reckless Alley
78	Redbeard Alley
79	Righty Lane
80	Rolling Alley
81	Rumpled Alley
82	Scabbard Pass
83	Shamble Street
84	Shifter Street
85	Silk Way
86	Soapmaker's Lane
87	Stagnant Alley
88	Summoner's Pass
89	Swan Lane
90	Tether Alley
91	Tremble Lane
92	Turtle Walk
93	Tuttle Passway
94	Uncle Alley
95	Vapid Alley
96	Winter's Breath Alley
97	Wolf's End
98	Yester Way
99	Youngling Lane
100	Zero Alley

ALLEYWAYS: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS & OPPORTUNITIES

Alleys are the shortcuts, backrooms and hangouts of the shady and less fortunate. Use this table to determine what opportunities or complications the PCs encounter.

D20

1	A carpentry shop is using the alley to store stock. A dirty, young boy watches over the wood.
2	A piece of parchment is tacked onto the wall near the entrance reading "Toll Road. 2 Copper". An empty clay pot sits under the sign. A thief hides nearby and tries to pickpocket those not paying.
3	Crude runes, drawn in blood cover one wall. Solid knowledge of the realms beyond may identify the demon lord the author praises.
4	A layer of smoke hangs in the air, filtering out from an open window. There is no fire, but a large gathering of merchants smoke cigars within and discuss the setting of prices for key goods.
5	A sinkhole has formed, pulling the corner of a building down and making passage tricky at best.
6	A pack of stray dogs has chased a young child up onto a stack of barrels.
7	A rope of knotted sheets hangs from an upper floor. A woman calls out looking for her missing child.
8	A young man sits behind an overturned crate trying to gather folks for a game of cards. He tries to raise the stakes after the first hand.
9	2d4 lepers lie at the end of the alley. A young priest stands over them praying loudly for a miracle.

10	An old woman frantically tries to sell a collection of masterwork weapons. She claims they belonged to her ex-husband and she can no longer bare the sight of them.
11	A low hanging, pale blue fog fills the alley, created when an absentminded alchemist tripped and dropped his reagents. Anyone who enters has nightmares for 1d4 weeks.
12	Several shepherds try to coax their sheep back onto the main thoroughfare.
13	Several gang members beat another on suspicion of being a snitch.
14	A young girl lies crying on the floor. She could be in genuine distress or a diversion for a lurking mugger.
15	An imposing figure calls to any who look battle ready, looking for competitors for an unlicensed boxing club.
16	A rogue tries to sell a bejeweled dagger to the PCs. The dagger is very distinctive and its previous owner wants it back.
17	The upper floor of an adjacent building collapsed during a recent storm, blocking the alley and burying at least one person below the wreckage.
18	A hooded kenku offers to buy, sell and trade secrets. The first secret is free.
19	A fortuneteller offers to predict the future in exchange for the memories of a day already passed.
20	Without any warning, a slum dweller throws a bucket of night soil into the alley from an upstairs window.

ALLEYWAYS: ENCOUNTERS

Alleyways can be very dangerous places. This chart contains hard to ignore threats to add combat to your alley scene.

D12 NPC

1	A dire rat digging through trash treats passerby as threats to its territory.
2	A wererat monologues its plan to rise up through the underworld to a pack of 2d6 dire rats. He orders an attack on perceived spies. The rats lair in an extensive warren below the alley.
3	An assassin vine has been transplanted here by a savage plant mage. The mage lurks nearby to see what the assassin vine catches.
4	1d6 shadows hide in the darkness of a rarely traveled alley, looking to snuff the light from the living.
5	A freelance thief looks to make money fencing magic items to adventurers. He is desperate for a sale and if the PCs seem wealthy sells their details onto his fellow thieves.

6	A drunk barbarian looks to prove his worth through combat and challenges a PC to a fist fight. If he is defeated, he (bizarrely) makes friends with the group and is an excellent drinking companion. Sadly, trouble follows him.
7	2d6 bullying never-do-wells are looking to seek vengeance against citizens of this town after the mayor publically mocked an elder of their order.
8	2d4 guards are looking to increase their total arrests by the end of the week and accuse the PCs for an imagined crime.
9	A carnivorous blob has emerged from the city sewers. Like always, it's hungry.
10	1d6 nuglub gremlins hide in the shadow looking for something to kill.
11	A tick swarm leaps off the corpse of a stray dog, seeking its next warm blooded meal.
12	A carnivorous fog lingers, attracted by an ongoing feud between noble houses.

ALLEYWAYS: ASSOCIATED NPCs

Use the NPC bios below to portray the folk encountered near the alleyway. Either determine randomly which NPC the PCs encounter or choose a suitable candidate.

D20	NPC
1	Aea
2	Namtar Elway
3	Lucky Allara
4	Leofgar Greycloak
5	Grace of Mortar
6	Cedric Bellweather
7	Siflaed Blueheart
8	Big Green Veli
9	Mara Accad
10	Lucius
11	Hilt
12	Gislin Halftall
13	Artemare Gale
14	Good Deal Gaut
15	Samanti Harbrow
16	Patza Njar
17	Emerald Green
18	Ton
19	Gin Tella
20	Enlil Westmire

A E A

CN female human apprentice rogue/bard

Appearance: Young woman with long dark hair who dresses in loose, colourful silks.

Personality: Aea plays it very cool, but internally she is calculating to the point of worry.

Mannerisms: Constantly brushes her hair back when nervous or intimidated.

Hooks: Aea is a con artist who could have retired comfortably years ago. She continues for the thrill favouring cons like “the lost princess,” “the starving peasant” and “the jilted lover.”

N A M T A R E L W A Y

NG male apprentice commoner

Appearance: Brown haired, dirty-faced man of decent build.

Personality: Namtar is kind with a cheerful outlook.

Mannerisms: Very energetic, he tends to stretch anxiously when not on the move.

Hooks: Namtar is a professional porter, usually delivering small items. He cuts through the back alleys to save time and can get into trouble just by rushing around a corner and stumbling into a seedy situation.

L U C K Y A L L A R A

N female dwarf apprentice rogue/expert

Appearance: Dirty blonde hair tied in braids; dressed in black leather.

Personality: Tries to be charming but has little patience.

Mannerisms: Sighs and shakes her head when frustrated.

Hooks: Allara runs back alley dice games and acts as a bookie for all kinds of bets. She recently took bets on whether or not the local lord would ever find a wife. He found out and the local militia has orders to arrest her.

L E O F G A R G R E Y C L O A K

NE male human apprentice rogue

Appearance: Thin face with a pointed black beard.

Personality: Leofgar is infinitely patient.

Mannerisms: He likes to keep his hand busy and is often found fingering a coin or dagger.

Hooks: Leofgar tends to lurk in alleys off mercantile streets or in the shadier parts of town. He would rather steal coin quickly and stealthily but uses violence against out-of-towners.

G R A C E O F M O R T A R

NG female halfling apprentice druid

Appearance: Grimy face and short-cropped hair; tightly tailored clothes.

Personality: Grace exudes a calm joy. She stoically takes in the bustle of the city.

Mannerisms: She is very concerned with how things smell, sniffing about wherever she goes.

Hooks: Grace is an urban druid paying attention to the balance of city life. She has noticed that the rats are disappearing and wants to know why.

C E D R I C B E L L W E A T H E R

LN male half-elf apprentice wizard

Appearance: Keeps a very clean image, with hair drawn back tightly and well kept clothes.

Personality: Cedric is curious and easily distracted.

Mannerisms: He makes chewing motions with his mouth while in thought.

Hooks: Cedric is an investigator working with the town guard. He is currently following a divination that predicted a sign of red would lead him to perpetrator behind a series of thefts. Unfortunately, one of the pieces is wearing a piece of red clothing and he starts to follow them assuming they'll either perpetrate, or become embroiled in, the next theft.

SIFLAED BLUEHEART

NG female human apprentice aristocrat

Appearance: Fair skin with smooth, gentle hands.

Personality: Siflaed is a kind, empathetic soul, though naïve.

Mannerisms: She tends to giggle when she does not understand what is going on.

Hooks: Siflaed is the daughter of a local lord. She normally does not leave her manor without an escort. She snuck out last night to explore the city on her own, but has given away all her coin and gotten lost in the back streets.

BIG GREEN VELI

LE male half-orc apprentice barbarian

Appearance: A large fellow with thinning hair who wears a yellow and red kilt.

Personality: Veli looks grim and is always judging those around him.

Mannerisms: He picks his teeth when bored.

Hooks: Veli is a bruiser for a local gang. He has been seen prowling the alleys at night looking to pick a challenging fight. He's had a bad night and is lurking in the alley in the hopes of a suitable victim wandering by on which to vent his frustrations.

MARA ACCAD

LG female human apprentice fighter

Appearance: Rough face with tied back brown hair and well-polished armour.

Personality: Mara is peaceful at heart, believing that in ideal circumstances everyone would be good.

Mannerisms: She leans slightly forward with a hand on her hip when at rest.

Hooks: Mara is in a position of authority in the town guard. When she can get away from her more bureaucratic responsibilities, she likes to walk the beat. Her mere presence stops most crimes. She may ask more questions about the PCs' activities than they like.

LUCIUS

CN male human apprentice expert

Appearance: Lucius's once fine clothes are now filthy and ragged. His beard is streaked with gray.

Personality: Very timid and unsure of himself. A coward.

Mannerisms: He stands hunched over and rarely makes eye contact.

Hooks: Lucius was once a successful merchant until he was ruined by the slander of a rival. Left with nothing he now lives off the scraps of others. He has come to believe the lies that brought him to this state and has almost no self worth.

HILT

CE female halfling apprentice rogue

Appearance: Keeps her hair tied back in a tight bun. She wears a long cloak to conceal all manner of weapons.

Personality: Hilt has a violent tick than she can only keep under control for a few days and only as long as there is the promise of fighting in her future. After that, she gets cranky.

Mannerisms: Often found clutching her own wrist. She has learned that playing with her weapons increases the likelihood of pre-emptive slaughter.

Hooks: Hilt kills people. She loves watching people go from breathing to not. If she can get paid for it, it's a bonus as she is better at killing people when she has had something to eat. She may be after one of the PCs, targeting someone the PCs need to protect, or just satisfying her need in a dark alley when the PCs come upon her.

GISLIN HALFTALL

NG male human apprentice cleric

Appearance: Short blonde hair; wears simple robes.

Personality: Gislin is very empathetic and confident of his own abilities. A good man, he uses his powers to help those in need. He is well liked by the poor.

Mannerisms: He looks up when in thought and utters short prayers when in trouble.

Hooks: Gislin is a kind hearted member of the local clergy. He wants to help everyone in need and does not understand the concept of limited resources. He has recently accused some high standing individuals of not caring for the poor, in a very public setting, which has upset members of his own order.

ARTEMARE GALE

N female elf apprentice wizard

Appearance: A youthful face with colourful robes covering a lithe frame.

Personality: Artemare is eager but easily frazzled. In turn fascinated and repulses by human cities she loves exploring their hidden reaches.

Mannerisms: She drags her feet and blinks rapidly when thinking.

Hooks: Artemare is apprenticed to a greater wizard in the city. She was sent out for reagents and when she returned she realized that the newt tails were missing. She is retracing her steps through the alleyways to find them when she encounters the PCs. If they have a wizardly-type among them, she accuses him of stealing the components.

GOOD DEAL GAUT

CN male human apprentice expert

Appearance: Balding with heavily patched clothing. He takes little care of his appearance.

Personality: Gaut is chipper and enthusiastic to the point of annoyance. He always looks on the bright side and gives people the benefit on the doubt. Specatularly unorganised, he will never be a success.

Mannerisms: He talks with his hands and speaks louder than necessary.

Hooks: Good Deal Gaut is known for offering goods at lower than average prices. To keep prices low he refuses to buy a shop or pay rent, or so he says. Instead, he sets up shop in alleyways or town squares. Other merchants would him run out of town, considering him a troublemaker and a vagrant.

SAMANTI HARBORROW

LG female human journeyman paladin

Appearance: Short brown hair with light scars across her face; wears tarnished plate.

Personality: Samanti is quite grim; jaded from a lifetime of fighting evil. She has taken it upon herself to patrol the worst of the local alleys in the hopes of stamping out local crime.

Mannerisms: She cracks her knuckles and shifts her feet when at rest.

Hooks: Samanti knows far too well what kind of people lurk in alleys. She stalks them looking for trouble, acting as judge and executioner for those caught harming innocents or with ill-gotten goods in their possession. She has heard rumours of a local cult hiding in the locality and closely questions all she encounters as to the location of their lair.

PATZA NJAR

NG male human apprentice commoner

Appearance: Heavy set with rosy cheeks.

Personality: Patza is generally cheerful but gets upset when others are disrespectful. While he doesn't love his job, he has great attention to details.

Mannerisms: He leans his cheek against the end of his broomstick when conversing with people.

Hooks: Patza has been hired by the local guilds to make his way around town and clean up the alleyways. He makes most of his money from tips, which merchants are eager to give to earn preferred attention near their shops. He has seen much, while cleaning the alleys and is a font of local information. He is well aware of the value of information and charges appropriately.

EMERALD GREEN

N female apprentice half-elf ranger

Appearance: Dirty face; wears hide armour.

Personality: Emerald is curious but lacks patience.

Mannerisms: She tends to pace and double checks her pouch's contents constantly.

Hooks: Emerald is a professional adventurer who went ahead of her party in order to deliver a parcel quickly. She expected the rest of her party to hit town two days ago. She is now growing restless, especially as her party has all the treasure.

TON

NE male human apprentice warrior

Appearance: Muscular arms; has a bit of a gut.

Personality: Ton loves drinking, gambling and hitting stuff, otherwise he's bored. He loiters in alleys in the hopes of meeting like-minded folk (or easily cowed victims).

Mannerisms: Breathes heavily and rolls his shoulders.

Hooks: Ton is a simple man who is into satisfying his immediate needs. He's tough, but not so stupid to take on several town guards at once. Ton's been sent by his boss to scare an indebted thief.

GIN TELLA

LN female human apprentice commoner

Appearance: Getting on in years with a grey jacket in need of repair.

Personality: Gin is resigned to her position in life, and is neither sullen nor overly cheerful. She has a knowing look but holds her tongue unless spoken too.

Mannerisms: She leans on her pole as she walks and whistles to herself when it gets dark.

Hooks: Gin is employed by the city as a lamplighter. She keeps her nose clean for the most part, trying to stay out of the way of shadier characters. She may be able to give clues on local criminals, if she can be convinced to talk.

ENLIL WESTMIRE

CN male human apprentice aristocrat

Appearance: Dressed in finery, though a bit dishevelled.

Personality: Enlil is a lover of life and lives in the moment.

Mannerisms: He is always smiling and willing to shake the hands of anyone he encounters, regardless of station.

Hooks: Enlil is the second son of a very well off local lord. He occasionally wanders the city, sharing his wealth with those in need. Last night he fell in with a group of gentlemen that were very thankful and they drank in celebration well into the night. He has not quite sobered up yet.

DOCKS: CHARACTERISTICS AND APPEARANCE

Docks come in many different shapes and sizes; most are used for commercial activity but others may be for the exclusive use of the navy, members of the nobility or even the local ruler.

D%	DESCRIPTIONS
1	A small dock with one pier, where an old man quietly fishes.
2	A small dock with one pier. Two wooden chairs sit empty at the end.
3	A small dock, with one ramshackle pier.
4	A small dock with one pier; rusted chains are wrapped along an outer pillar.
5	A small dock with one pier, heavily packed with crates and barrels.
6	A small dock with two piers, loaded with lobster traps.
7	A small dock with two piers, with an old dog tied to one of the pillars.
8	A small dock with two piers; the smell of decay hangs in the air.
9	A small dock with piers; an old stone stairway leads from one pier down into the water.
10	A small dock with two piers; two halflings struggle to load a large keg onto a docked ship.
11	A small dock with two piers. Vines, with pink and yellow blossoms, grow along the pillars.
12	A small dock, with two piers. Old stone foundations can be seen through the clear blue water.
13	A small dock, with two piers, speckled with barnacles after the last high tide.
14	A small dock with two piers. A small ship is unloading the day's catch.
15	A small dock with two piers; a young couple holds hands, sitting on a pair of crates.
16	A moderately sized dock, entirely manned by dwarves.
17	A moderately sized dock, reeking of urine.
18	A moderately sized dock, well-guarded by regular patrols of the city watch.
19	A moderately sized dock, busy with porters unloading several newly docked ships.
20	A moderately sized dock, smelling of spices and incense.
21	A moderately sized dock, filled with the noise of drunken quarrels.
22	A moderately sized dock covered in shadows from the city's buildings.
23	This moderately sized dock is beset with a cold northern wind.
24	A moderately sized dock. The music of a tavern is a faint counter to the dock's bustle.
25	A moderately sized dock, with colourful banners that lead to the main merchant's row.

26	A moderately sized dock, with more than its fair share of seagulls.
27	A moderately sized dock, with a lively fish market.
28	A moderately sized dock, where a large ship is unloading a long line of travelers.
29	A moderately sized dock. The smell of fresh meat pies fills the air.
30	A moderately sized dock where a small troupe of performers has moored. Acrobats flip back and forth.
31	A moderately sized dock where keen-eyed youths have gathered round a trickster displaying a simple shell game.
32	A moderately sized dock. The left side is an open port; the right is devoted entirely to the navy.
33	A moderately sized dock with a number of children scattered amongst the piers, waiting for the fishermen to finish their dealings.
34	A moderately sized dock with bits of rotten fish strewn this way and that from the kitchen windows of local inns.
35	A moderately sized dock, with harshly mismatched paints colouring the walls of its inns, residences and storehouses.
36	A moderately sized dock whose southern side has begun to sink slowly into the harbour. It has a slightly lopsided appearance.
37	A moderately sized dock with strange green and white arcane symbols carved into the foundations of each building.
38	A moderately sized dock whose planks have become fragile and rotten.
39	A moderately sized dock, kept immaculately clean by a small group of workers.
40	A moderately sized dock, filled with an erratic energy as the piers fill with foreign traders.
41	The legs of this dock are wreathed in seaweed.
42	This dock has obviously been repaired recently – new wooden beams stand in stark contrast to their old neighbours.
43	Berths on this dock are marked by large, faded whitewashed numbers painted on boards.
44	This moderately-sized dock boasts innumerable smaller piers stretching out in the harbour for quite some distance.
45	A large wooden statue of a grizzled sailor stands watch over this dock.
46	Where this dock narrows, hand rails stand to stop travellers falling into the water.
47	Several missing planks create a dangerous part of this dock. In places old crates and boxes have been placed over such areas.
48	A half-dozen fishing boats are tied up at this dock; the smell of fish pervades the air.

49	Small wooden pillars bearing the sea god's sigil stand at intervals along this dock.
50	This moderately-sized dock is in bad repair; in places the planks are rotten.
51	This moderately sized dock links several bare shards of rock together that thrust above the harbour's water.
52	This dock features fixed ladders that can be used to climb down to small, docked vessels.
53	Small watchman's huts are scattered along this moderately-sized, but long, dock.
54	This dock has four piers; one is clearly storm damaged and not in use.
55	Dozens of sea birds nest under this dock.
56	The piers of this dock are lower than the dock and are reached by slippery wooden steps.
57	This dock has long sections of covered walkways.
58	Benches are dotted along this wide, but low dock.
59	This dock has a muddle of small piers leading away from it.
60	Cargo nets hang down along this high dock; many vessel's decks are below the height of the dock.
61	The burnt out hulk of a vessel lies close to this dock; the corresponding section of dock is scorched and burnt.
62	Wooden cranes stand along this dock ready to help with loading and unloading.
63	Floating piers bob on the water surrounding this dock.
64	Flags flutter proudly from poles spaced along this long dock.
65	Warehouses cluster close by this old, but serviceable, dock.
66	The burnt remnants of an old pier stand nearby to a newly constructed dock.
67	This dock is a bizarre mix of building styles; obviously it has been built up over time.
68	A small office – the harbour master's – stands overlooking this dock.
69	A sloped walkway leads down to a network of small docks and piers.
70	The figureheads of old ships have been affixed to the end of this dock.
71	Large, but old, notice boards stand along this dock; adverts and notices of sales cover them.
72	This dock has stone legs, but a wooden walkway.
73	Gibbets – holding the rotten remains of thieves and the like – “decorate” this dock.
74	The side of this dock is daubed in a prayer to the god of storms.
75	This large dock bustles with traders and porters.
76	This large dock has a central processing warehouse to inspect for illegal goods.

77	This large dock is modelled in the style of a great seafaring nation of older days.
78	This large dock had to be expanded quickly due to demand. Many of the newest piers are made of makeshift materials, salvaged from old boats.
79	A large dock with tastes of civilization and the wild. A lower pier allows easy access to canoes to ease the trade of nearby barbarian tribes.
80	A large dock with a significant “neutral quarter” built out along the piers, that technically doesn't fall within the bounds of the city and its laws.
81	A large dock, loud with the unloading of goods.
82	This large dock has an adjoining circular pier where aquatic races can swim up and trade goods.
83	A large dock dominated by imposing naval ships.
84	A large dock in use since ancient days. Old stone buildings stand side by side to newer wooden structures.
85	A large dock strung with colourful banners and filled with the delightful smell of fresh roasted nuts.
86	Large wooden gates control access to these docks.
87	This large dock is badly damaged from where a ship crashed into it; repairs are ongoing at a frenzied pace.
88	Several small branches for much smaller craft lead away from this large, central dock.
89	A single heavily guarded vessel is docked at this large and impressive dock.
90	A section of this dock can be raised to allow ships to pass underneath.
91	The legs of this large dock are constructed from gigantic trees – in places their bark yet remains
92	A wooden archway – bearing the sigil of the sea god – stands at the dock's mouth.
93	This large dock runs parallel to the sea wall.
94	This large dock runs all the way to a fortified island dominating the bay.
95	This large dock is for the exclusive use of nobles and their pleasure craft. Guards keep the riff raff away.
96	Posts – topped with magical lights – illuminate this dock at night.
97	This large dock is a frenzied hive of activity.
98	Four large warships are berthed at this protected dock.
99	This dock is of heavy stone construction; it doubles as the sea wall.
100	Rusty, iron statues watch over this wide, busy dock.

DOCKS: DOCKED SHIPS

The most prominent feature of most docks are the ships making port there. Whether the PCs are on the docks to find a certain ship or on another matter their interests may often lead them to those floating vessels.

D%	DESCRIPTIONS
1	The Salty Bird
2	Red Storm
3	Henral
4	The Billowing Leaf
5	The Smoking Betty
6	Angry Androf
7	The Slightly Intoxicated Mermaid
8	The Young Maid
9	Cloud Chaser
10	The River Arrow
11	Black Bolt
12	The Minnow
13	The Lost Devil
14	Prestige
15	The Surly Lass
16	The Yellow Tailed Falcon
17	The Falconer's Wife
18	My Ex Wife
19	The Great Swan
20	The Ugly Gosling
21	Blue Mess
22	Dart
23	Wave Quick
24	Oak Lightning
25	The Musical Gale
26	Silence
27	The Gray Ghost
28	The Unknown
29	The Albatross
30	The Dire Ostrich
31	The Rusty Kraken
32	The Snap Crackle
33	The Red Boot
34	The Archer
35	The Abolitionist
36	The Wooden Lung
37	The Poppy Biscuit
38	The Acorn Tree
39	The Backwards Breeze
40	The Royal Care
41	The Czar
42	Haunted Limb
43	Wave Crest
44	The Greasy Shark
45	The Royal Madame
46	Sapphire of the Sea
47	The Seasoned Cannibal

48	The Island Hopper
49	The Singing Cricket
50	The Leaky Teapot
51	Honey Wicket
52	The Witches Broom
53	Gonzola
54	Leaky Barrel
55	The Visiting Vision
56	Monday's Lunch
57	The Takei
58	Father's Pride
59	The Missing Mate
60	The Trash Barge
61	The Water Wax
62	The Sea Zipper
63	Mountain's Envy
64	Green Guardian
65	The River Bride
66	The Broken Pearl
67	The Angry Peacock
68	The Shipwreck
69	The Dusty Porter
70	Goblin Breath
71	The Underhanded Barmaid
72	The Crusty Halfling
73	Slim Shot
74	Island Breeze
75	Veron Stars
76	Jumping Jerl
77	Maggot
78	The Timely Teakettle
79	The Clean Spicket
80	The Blue Monkey
81	The Fighting Crab
82	Old Lady
83	The Original Lightning
84	Lightning VII
85	Melody
86	The Once and Future
87	Aching Loganne
88	The Pirate's Niece
89	The Ugly Parrot
90	The Captain's Boyfriend
91	Albon
92	The Seaweed Cutter
93	The Spiked Dragon
94	The Trapped Muse
95	The Magic Decanter
96	Uncle Sealegs
97	The Seal
98	The Indescribable Horror
99	The Friendly Fireball
100	Pop

DOCKS: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS AND OPPORTUNITIES

Docks are often the mercantile centre of a settlement, and provide all manner of reasons to break up the daily grind of peasant life. Use this table to determine what special occurrence the PCs may encounter while passing by.

D20
1	The dock is sinking by about half a foot a day into the harbour without explanation. The townsfolk are worried the town will go next.
2	All the men in town have vanished. An old woman cries out for fear of sirens and mermaids.
3	A sailor stands in front of a moderately worn boat with a sign that says "Free to a good home."
4	Two young men are busy filling in all the empty knotholes among the piers, claiming that an infamous peg-legged pirate is rumored to make dock any day now.
5	Pier Three was completely covered in seaweed overnight.
6	A sailor loudly seeks out more crew, for a job to sail to the edge of the world.
7	A strike by the town's prostitutes is making the sailors surlier than usual.
8	All ships have been asked to stay in port due to the influence of a local cleric who claims an ocean bound, sin seeking disease will soon be set loosed upon the waves.
9	The whole town is getting ready to host the Great Sea Lane Relay, which pits the best ships in a multi-legged race.

10	A ship has recently unloaded a delivery of produce which city officials are arguing about whether they should be sold. The goods look perfectly normal, except they smell strongly of rot.
11	A band of young rebels have taken over the southern side of the docks, including two ships.
12	A ghostly vessel has been seen docking under the full moon, but none dare approach it.
13	A gang of wererats has taken up residence in planks under the docks.
14	A mysterious fiddler fills the air with music in the docks every night. Those who approach him wake up penniless outside of town.
15	Pirates have been spotted by the town watch and are sailing this way!
16	The docks are developing a serious stray cat problem. The mayor offers a sealed treasure map to whoever can catch the most felines.
17	An old sailor claims to have lost his hand to a kraken and is hell bent on get it back.
18	The town is in the midst of its annual seaweed festival, where it celebrates crafts, food and brew made of all sorts of aquatic plant-life.
19	All the town's rum has gone missing. One of the "merchant" vessels departed in the middle of the night and has quickly received the blame.
20	Mermen have swam up to the dock looking to trade, but seem only interested in items of magic.

IF

DOCKS: SIGHTS & SOUNDS

Docks are busy places; characters exploring them will no doubt hear and see many things.

D%
01-02	The air is heavy with the tang of salt and the curses of sailors.
03-04	Sea gulls and other birds wheel and turn overhead.
05-06	Boxes and barrels are stacked haphazardly at the foot of a gangplank leading to a large cog.
07-08	A large pile of vomit covers the dock; several dogs lick greedily at it.
09-10	Four drunk sailors stagger along the dock; one slips and almost falls into the water.
11-12	An old sailor sits on a box while singing a lusty sea shanty and drinking heavily.
13-14	Small children dart in and out of the press of sailors and porters.
15-16	A half-dozen porters stagger down the dock carrying matching sea chests.
17-18	Curses and shouts in a half-dozen languages fill the air.
19-20	A large splash followed by a shout announces the fall of a heavy box into the sea.
21-22	A sinister fin cuts the water near the docks.
23-24	Sea birds wheel and dart above a large ship as its cook throws food scraps into the harbour.
25-26	Children laugh and shout as they dive into the harbour from the dock.
27-28	Broken wood, scraps of food and other rubbish float on the water surrounding the dock.
29-30	A scream is followed by a loud splash as a sailor falls from the rigging of a docked ship.
31-32	A patrol of four watchmen surrounding an official of some sort push through the press.
33-34	Two mangy dogs dart through the press; one has a string of sausages in its mouth.
35-36	A waterman tries to sell his wares to thirsty sailors.
37-38	A sailor – a parrot on each shoulder and a heavy bag in each hand – walks away from a large ship.
39-40	The dock shivers as a large vessel, badly steered, thuds into its side.
41-42	A sailor charges down the dock chasing a small child who carries a small sack.
43-44	Boxes and barrels are stacked neatly along the dock.
45-46	A rowing boat bobs next to the dock and the occupant shouts before throwing the PCs a line to tie off.
47-48	The old dock creaks alarmingly as the PCs cross a certain section.

49-50	Lobster pots cover one side of the pier.
51-52	A young man, foppishly dressed and with a forlorn look upon his face, stands at the end of this dock staring off into the distance.
53-54	Two sailors snatch a minute's rest with a wine flask while swapping lies about their previous voyages.
55-56	Sailors are painting the hull of a docked ship.
57-58	A plank cracks under a PC's weight.
59-60	A peasant stands in a rowboat beneath the dock busily filling several bags with seaweed.
61-62	Several folk sit at the end of the pier, fishing rods in hand.
63-64	The smell of fresh fish is heavy in the air.
65-66	A small gang of thuggish men loiter on the dock; the threat of violence hangs over them.
67-68	A fist fight suddenly breaks out between rival crews over some imagined slight.
69-70	A seasick passenger staggers off a ship, drops to the ground and kisses the dock.
71-72	Buckets of sand – ready in case of fire – are positioned at strategic places long the docks
73-74	A sailor is busy swabbing the dock – he appears to be trying to remove a large bloodstain.
75-76	The smell of tar and paint permeate the air.
77-78	A sea captain argues loudly with a city official.
79-80	Two sailors drag an unconscious fellow down the dock. They are both drunk and laughing uncontrollably.
81-82	A pile of ballast stones almost blocks the dock.
83-84	A sailor – shouting loudly that his vessel needs new crewmen – walks up and down the dock.
85-86	Several people are swimming in the water of the harbour. Suddenly, one of them is pulled beneath the surface.
87-88	The sounds of a violent argument emanate from a docked vessel.
89-90	An artist sits sketching nearby vessels.
91-92	A performing bard strolls up and down the dock calling out the local news to new arrivals.
93-94	Four watchmen march down the dock dragging a badly beaten prisoner with them.
95-96	A sailor strolls up and down the dock shouting that his vessel is available for hire.
97-98	Sharp-eyed PCs can notice a figure lurking in the shadowy water under the dock.
99-100	Cries of alarm and fear, and the sight of smoke rising from a docked ship, spark a general panic on the dock

DOCKS: NPCs

Use the NPC bios below to portray those encountered on the docks. Either determine randomly which NPC the PCs encounter or choose a suitable candidate.

D20	NPC
1	Captain Fabius Redfeather
2	Livia Ruso
3	Devin the Shiv
4	Big Haf
5	Salsvin Everymist
6	Grifo Curran
7	Goldie Quick
8	Kufu Elderman
9	Buckey Wetfoot
10	Avina the Green

CAPTAIN FABIUS REDFEATHER

CN male human journeyman ranger/rogue

Appearance: Long curly black hair, with fine, foppish red clothing.

Personality: Always smiling, though he's not all that happy.

Mannerisms: Talks with his hands, with grand flourishes.

Hooks: Captain Fabius travels from port to port, taking odd jobs and running legs of the regular trade routes. He keeps an eye out for members of a previous crew, where he was ridiculed as a young cabin boy.

LIVIA RUso

LN female apprentice commoner

Appearance: Brown hair tied in the back; she wears simple clothes of cloth and leather.

Personality: Keeps a resolute look in her eye.

Mannerisms: Listens carefully before speaking.

Hooks: Livia is a porter and messenger, moving throughout the city, but is often found in the docks. Her position has given her access to a lot of secrets, but her own code has kept her honest. Now a group of assassins has been hired to make sure she never gets the chance to break that code.

DEVIN THE SHIV

CE male dwarf apprentice fighter/rogue

Appearance: Rough face, with a close beard, and a vest with no shirt.

Personality: Quick to anger but rarely is brought to violence except under his own terms.

Mannerisms: Laughs at inopportune moments.

Hooks: Devin is a thug, through and through. He takes pleasure in the pain of others and would do most anything for money. One thing he won't do is set foot in the water. He may be comfortable on the docks but is terrified of ever being submerged. There are squid in there, after all.

BIG HAF

N male half-orc journeyman warrior

Appearance: Thin black hair, bulging muscles and a dominating frame.

Personality: Quiet most of the time; he has a throaty chuckle when amused.

Mannerisms: Stands very still while waiting for orders.

Hooks: Big Haf acts as both a porter and member of the city watch. He's not very bright, and has been known to allow illegal activities to proceed right in front of him when given a creative excuse.

SALSVIN EVERYMIST

CG female elf apprentice druid

Appearance: A youth, with dirty blonde hair and blue-ish green robes.

Personality: Salsvin is generally happy though not overjoyed. She watches the world serenely.

Mannerisms: She always has a gentle smile on her face.

Hooks: Salsvin has a deep connection to the ocean and generally hires herself out to sailing ships as a scout, guide and occasional weather witch. She thinks she may have discovered some very old underwater ruins on her last journey and seeks companions to help her explore.

GRIFO CURRAN

CN male human apprentice bard

Appearance: A bit portly with a dignified beard, he always wears his family colours.

Personality: Good natured but a bit strange, Grifo is a very curious soul and is quick to make friends.

Mannerisms: He's always at least partially distracted by his own thoughts, making his replies sometimes puzzling nonsensical.

Hooks: Grifo is always looking for the next story to tell. He bends the ear of any and all travellers who will put up with him, regaling them with poetry and pressing them for lore and news. He doesn't scare easy or at least doesn't seem to care whose business he's asking for details about.

GOLDIE QUICK

CN female human apprentice ranger

Appearance: Bright red hair, and fine linen clothes with a well-tailored coat, and prominently hung cutlass.

Personality: Intelligent and resourceful, Goldie is always looking for the next useful thing.

Mannerisms: Her eyes are always moving and her wiggling fingers are never far from the hilt of her sword.

Hooks: Goldie is an independent merchant which means she's a smuggler and pirate. She keeps an eye out for foolish mistakes in others that can be profited from and won't hesitate to finger a possession that's been left unguarded by a PC.

KUFU ELDERMAN

N male human apprentice expert/rogue

Appearance: An older fellow with a long white beard and wide brimmed hat.

Personality: A bit passive, Kufu is content to observe while most of the world passes him by.

Mannerisms: Almost always chewing on a bit of fruit or tobacco. Possibly both.

Hooks: Kufu once served as the cook on several vessels of ill repute but has since settled down to pen his memoirs. If the captain of the guard knew who he really was he'd be strung up for piracy without trial.

BUCKEY WETFOOT

CG male halfling apprentice rogue

Appearance: Bushy brown hair with a loose white shirt and thick black belt.

Personality: Always says what's on his mind in quite a rude manner.

Mannerisms: Paces about when bored.

Hooks: Buckey is a professional sailor who makes home in every port. He's got a girl in town who is carrying his child and has yet to commit to a proper marriage. The pressure is building from the girl's father who also happens to be one of town priests.

AVINA THE GREEN

NE female human apprentice bard/rogue

Appearance: Dark hair with an almost red skin and loose fitting clothes decorated with jewels.

Personality: Deceptive, constantly keeping a knowing smile on her face.

Mannerisms: Gets close to speak, making gentle physical contact.

Hooks: Avina is a skilled con artist and plant for the thieves guild. She poses as a simple trader, selling charms on the docks. She watches for lone travellers, or those easily separated from their friends to capture and send to the underground slave market.

GRAVEYARDS: CHARACTERISTICS & APPEARANCE

A graveyard is any location set aside for long-term burial of the dead. For our purposes, it is land set aside for burial within, or directly above the earth. For most people, it conjures a mental image of a graveyard: a plot of land with green grass and rows of headstones. Many urban adventures take place in and around graveyards.

BURIAL MOUND

Also known as a tumulus, these large mounds of earth cover the remains of the deceased. These are generally found outside urban areas though small ones may stand within a cemetery, especially if the local culture has a stigma for against placing the deceased below the earth.

CATACOMB/CRYPT

Crypts and catacombs are interchangeable terms for an underground structure in which the dead are interred. Crypts are often associated with being beneath a church, though mausoleums may also have crypts. Catacombs are generally more expansive structures comprising several passages.

CEMETERY

A cemetery is a public place for burial of the masses. They may be un-owned and community operated, or property of the ruler or state religion. Even if a cemetery is considered community property, that doesn't mean there are no rules. Woe be to the adventurer who decides to go poking around a public cemetery in the middle of the night only to be met by an angry mob intent on punishing the would-be grave robber.

COLUMBARIUM

Similar to a mausoleum, a columbarium houses urns. It may be part of a mausoleum or a temple. Unlike mausoleums they generally hold far more of the deceased and may be public structures that hold those whose only common link is death.

GRAVEYARD

The titular burial ground, graveyards are normally owned and operated by a temple. They're often adjacent to the attendant temple.

If there are multiple temples in the city there may be multiple graveyards, or the temple most associated with the dead may handle all burials.

Temples may have crypts in addition to graveyards. When this is the case, space in the crypt is often reserved for clergy and wealthy patrons.

MAUSOLEUM

A mausoleum is a free-standing structure that holds the dead above ground. They vary in size but often comprise but one room. Most are one-storey affairs.

Mausoleums most often hold multiple bodies and may be owned by families or prosperous organizations. Many are ostentatiously decorated

HALLOWED GROUND

Many graveyards have been blessed with divine magic. Hallowed ground has the following effects:

- Warded against intrusion by the forces of darkness.
- Increases the potency of the divine powers of clerics of the deity.
- Any dead body interred in a hallowed site cannot be turned into an undead creature.
- A selection of protective spells can be woven into the defensive enchantments of hallowed ground for further protection and solace.

UNHALLOWED GROUND

Graveyards may become unhallowed ground when under the influence of an evil church, necromancers, vampires or any group who use undead as a resource or needs sanctuary from the truly good. Unhallowed ground has the following effects:

- Warded against intrusion by the servants of good.
- Increases the potency of the foul powers of unlife.
- A selection of offensive, penalizing spells can be woven into the defensive enchantments of unhallowed ground, making wounds bleed and unnerving even the most stalwart of veterans.

AREA FEATURES

Graveyards have the following features:

Location: Whether a graveyard is within or outside an urban area is often a factor of population size. There's a limited amount of space within city walls and sooner or later you run out of place to bury new corpses.

Graveyards within city walls are often associated with the rapid spread of disease, which tends to correlate with dense, rising populations.

Walls (Low): Graveyards near a village or town are often surrounded by a small stone wall to mark its boundaries. Moderately agile PCs can leap the wall. Low walls provide partial cover.

Walls (Tall): Taller walls of iron bars or stone blocks are popular in population centres for aesthetic reasons, to restrict access hours and sometimes to keep creatures in (and grave robbers out). Taller walls can be scaled by PC versed in the basics of climbing. They provide partial or total cover, depending on their height.

Headstone: The most common grave marking. Headstones are generally made of stone, stand two to four feet tall and are engraved to denote who is buried beneath. Moderately agile PCs can leap on a headstone. Headstones generally only provide partial cover.

Sarcophagus: A box-like container for a corpse. They can be buried like a coffin, but also set above ground in place of a grave. Agile PCs can leap on a sarcophagus. They provide partial to total cover.

MINOR EVENTS

Graveyards are often surprisingly busy places during the day.

D6	MINOR EVENTS
1	Two labourers are digging a new grave. A pile of moist earth stands to one side.
2	A mourner kneels in front of a grave, sobbing.
3	An interment ceremony is taking place. Mourners stand about a grave as a priest reads from a holy book.
4	A furtive, pale-skinned man skulks among the graves studying their markings.
5	A gardener tends the graveyard's grass, flowers or trees. He has encyclopaedic knowledge of the surrounding graves.
6	A couple – or couple with children – stroll through the graveyard, flowers in hand.

GRAVEYARD DESCRIPTIONS

Use the table below, to add a trait to a graveyard:

D20	GRAVEYARD CHARACTERISTICS
1	A small cemetery with markers placed at random.
2	A small graveyard surrounded by a low iron fence wreathed in ivy.
3	A small, dusty cemetery where no grass grows.
4	A small graveyard surrounded by a fieldstone wall.
5	A small cemetery founded among large fir trees that screen it from casual view.
6	A small graveyard, completely flat with perfectly even rows of grave markers. The oldest – least visited graves – are in the centre of the graveyard.
7	A small cemetery where white posies grow over each grave. A small team of gardeners tends the perfectly maintained grounds.
8	A moderately-sized graveyard with paths lined with small smooth stones. The paths meander through the graves, which are haphazardly placed.
9	A moderately-sized cemetery lit all night by oil lanterns hung from high iron poles.
10	A moderately-sized graveyard where a cold wind blows from the east.
11	A moderately-sized cemetery features rust coloured grass in the oldest section, as if stained with dried blood.
12	A moderately-sized graveyard. Two statues of armoured knights flank the entrance. A stone wall surrounds the cemetery.
13	A moderately-sized cemetery with a small stream running through the east corner. Thick hedges surround the whole area.
14	A moderately-sized graveyard featuring a stone shack in the corner for the caretaker. A special furnace rests outside for cremation services.
15	A moderately-sized cemetery where all the carving depict skeletal visages.
16	A moderately sized graveyard with rows of well-tended tulips.
17	A large cemetery dotted with ruins of an ancient settlement or building.
18	A large graveyard with graves sprawled across several small hills. It includes several small shrines.
19	A large cemetery set about a white marble fountain at its centre. Wooden benches surround the fountain.
20	A large graveyard studded with apple trees throughout the grounds. Visitors are free to pick the apples.

GRAVEYARDS: GRAVE MARKINGS

The grave markers of a cemetery are as unique as the people buried within. At a minimum, most such markers name the person buried within, but they have many other characteristics. Use the tables below to generate interesting grave markers.

D20	GRAVE MARKINGS
1	Unmarked
2	Small raised mound
3	A wooden cross
4	A metal cross
5	A stacked pile of stones
6-7	A flat, stone name plate
8-11	A small headstone
12-16	A large headstone
17-18	Sarcophagus
19	Mausoleum
20	Columbarium

HEADSTONES

D20	HEADSTONES
1	A marble headstone with a rounded top.
2	A limestone headstone with squared off corners.
3	A marble headstone covered in cobwebs.
4	A sandstone headstone with a large crack down the left side.
5	A granite headstone with a slanted top.
6	A marble headstone splattered with bird droppings.
7	A limestone headstone overgrown with ivy.
8	A sandstone headstone of a strange purple hue.
9	A white marble headstone that seems to glow in the moonlight.
10	A limestone headstone that's fallen onto its side.
11	A granite headstone with the image of a praying child engraved at the top.
12	A granite headstone with a small door carved into the base.
13	A marble headstone topped with an angel, arms outstretched.
14	A sandstone headstone topped with a stooped gargoyle.
15	A marble headstone leaning far to the right.
16	A granite headstone whose lettering has been inlaid with gold leaf.
17	A marble headstone engraved with the image of a whale.
18	A limestone headstone flanked by small rose bushes.
19	A granite headstone half sunk into the ground.
20	A marble headstone topped with an ornate stone sun.

SARCOPHAGI

D20	SARCOPHAGI
1	The weather-worn image of a man with his hands crossed adorns the lid.
2	Engraved all along the sides of the box is a battle between man and minotaur.
3	Carvings of cavorting imps cover each of the sarcophagi's corners.
4	The lid is smooth and painted with an iconographic lineage.
5	The lid depicts two lovers in bed entwined around one another.
6	Several gods are carved into the sides of the box with small kings kneeling at their feet.
7	A montage of the important rites of a local temple, from birth to burial, is engraved along the sides of the box.
8	A serpent-like dragon wraps across three sides of the box. The dragon is very life-like. Observant PCs may note that pressing both of its eyes opens the sarcophagus.
9	The lid is carved with the image of a hundred, crawling beetles.
10	An elderly bald man is carved into each side of the box. He has a different facial expression in each carving.
11	The sarcophagus is plain except a single eye carved into the lid.
12	The runes along one side of this sarcophagus are the instructions for how to construct a catapult.
13	Blue-green moss grows all over the sarcophagi, obscuring any engraving. The moss is dry, almost desiccated and if disturbed fills the air with dust.
14	There is no lid yet the insides are bathed in shadow.
15	The sides are all carved with flame and a single clawed hand adorns the lid.
16	The statue of an angel with sword outstretched, towers over this sarcophagus.
17	The ballad of Rose Peak is engraved across the lid in beautiful flowing carved handwriting.
18	The lid is slightly ajar and has been crudely sealed with plaster.
19	The statuette of an elderly man, sitting with a book, rests atop the lid. The statuette is hollow and holds the key to the sarcophagi.
20	An engraved lantern burns at each of the sarcophagus' corners. Enchanted with everlasting flames, they fill the surrounds with light.

MAUSOLEUMS

D20	MAUSOLEUMS
1	A one-room square building of stone, with four columns at the entrance.
2	A rounded granite structure with a red dome. The dome's paint has started to fade.
3	A two-storey marble building. The second floor is lined with columns.
4	A simple stone structure with a heavy iron door. The door has four separate locks.
5	A limestone building; statues of tiefling mages stand in place of columns. Each mage holds a different set of spell components.
6	A brick structure that was once a small temple. One of the stain glass windows is broken.
7	A crumbling stone building with a heavy stone door. The door's lintel has shifted, making it very hard to open.
8	A square structure with a slanted red slate roof. An old oak shades the structure.
9	A large marble building. Statues of angels stand on the roof above the entrance, their axes crossed. Several have been vandalised.
10	A small structure set back away from the other graves amongst a copse of trees.
11	A simple building of wood with a slanted roof and a sliding steel door. The wood is as hard as stone and has been carved with images of clouds and flying dragons.
12	A stone wall set into a hill, with a locked gate for a door. A narrow stone-lined passageways slopes downwards into the hill.
13	An ivy covered building of white stone. Three small windows are set about eight feet above the ground.
14	A small, one-room stone building with a green slanted roof. Weeds grow in profusion around the structure.
15	A building of moderate size with soldiers carved across the exterior walls.
16	Three rows of demonic statues flank the path leading up to this small round structure.
17	A long one-storey building with several doors along the main wall.
18	A three-storey, round structure with several small parapets. The whole gives the impression of a watchtower or keep.
19	A small, square building, set atop a small hill, with stone steps leading to its doors.
20	A set of bronze doors, set into a frame of stone in the earth. Stone stairs lead to the one-room mausoleum below.

EPITAPHS

Many grave markers are inscribed with personal messages about the person or persons interred within.

D20	EPITAPHS
1	A man for all the ages.
2	The great eye sees but never touches.
3	He died as he lived. Drunk
4	Grave robber.
5	The day will come when dragons walk and halflings fly.
6	Obedient to the law, we lie.
7	Heroes have the whole earth for their tomb.
8	To die is to defy immortality.
9	Defender of Whiteforge, until he took an arrow to the knee.
10	I told you I was sick.
11	The whites of their eyes were not enough.
12	As you are now, so once was I. Prepare, therefore, to follow me.
13	Echoes of A minor.
14	A lady is only as great as her horse and her man, in that order.
15	Through demons, through devils, through horrors of afar, the swords and the axes and daggers will mar.
16	In the eyes of the gods we are but moments.
17	Trust me, if I had no money in life, I have less in death.
18	The itch of wisdom is a dangerous scratch.
19	Sing the songs of your ancestors so their spirits will know the words.
20	By his father's blade he knows his mother's presence.

GRAVEYARDS: ASSOCIATED NPCs

Use the NPC bios below to portray individuals the heroes may encounter within a graveyard.

D10	NPC
1	Delphineas Deltrey
2	Lanina Ingles
3	Elry the Elder
4	Fungus and Rotgrub
5	Refen Hammertoe
6	Elvirs Nonmen
7	Old Ilario Grandstone
8	Thunder Katzner
9	Aulus Took
10	Haf Palmerre

DELPHINEAS DELTREY

CN male half-elf journeyman rogue/sorcerer (rakshasa)

Appearance: Gaudily dressed with strips of silk, tied about his leather armour. His long, silver hair sports a purple streak.

Personality: Outlandishly social, when he sees no threat at hand he makes a point to introduce himself to all he comes across, especially young, handsome lords and ladies.

Mannerisms: Clicks his tongue when he grows impatient.

Hooks: Delphineas' family, on his father's side, are local to the area. He uses the family mausoleum as a makeshift equipment locker between adventures.

LANINA INGLIS

NG female human apprentice oracle (life)

Appearance: A gaunt, young face with thinning blonde hair.

Personality: Distant and easily distracted.

Mannerisms: Lanina walks with her fingers outstretched, letting them brush along random objects.

Hooks: Lanina suffers from a curse of malevolent hauntings, following her wherever she goes. Her strolls through graveyards are her way of calming the spirits and giving them the chance to let go.

ELRY THE ELDER

N male human apprentice adept/expert

Appearance: Bald on top with a crescent of short gray hair. He wears simple clothes and a wooden holy symbol.

Personality: Quiet and reserved at first, but bring up religion and he becomes loud and opinionated.

Mannerisms: Stoops forward with his shoulder eschew, due to an old battle injury.

Hooks: Elry is discontented with how stagnant his life has become in his old age. He patrols the graveyard looking for signs of trouble. He is immediately suspicious of the PCs.

FUNGUS AND ROTGRUB

(both) CE male halfling apprentice witch

Appearance: Slightly stout with a bald head, wearing filthy black robes. Their skin has sores from disease - perceptive PCs may note different sizes of sores.

Personality: Very curious to the point of being rude. The brothers consider the graveyard their territory, and unless funeral rites are being attended makes every presence their business to investigate.

Mannerisms: Fungus has a hacking cough and he never covers his mouth. Rotgrub picks his teeth and sores.

Hooks: Born in the graveyard, their parents were also witches. They've never travelled far from home or each other but are now in the middle of a spat. Only one appears at a time, as they're actively avoiding each other. Each blames the other for anything bad that happens to the PCs.

REFEN HAMMERTOE

NG female dwarf apprentice expert

Appearance: Wild red hair with high-cut, brown leather boots. Her nose tilts to the left from when it was flattened in a brawl.

Personality: A bit gruff but much friendlier after a pint.

Mannerisms: Snorts loudly when taken aback, upset or laughing, due to her nasal injury.

Hooks: Refen is a gravedigger. She maintains the grounds with some pride as her grandparents are both buried here. Her father left many years ago to fight in a war. She suspects his death, but he never returned in any state. She would be in debt to any who could recover the body.

ELVIARS NONMEN

NG female elf apprentice druid

Appearance: Curvy for an elf with braided brown hair. Her clothes appear to be tightly woven vines.

Personality: Flighty with little patience for off colour humour.

Mannerisms: Prone to sudden silences as if listening to distant noises.

Hooks: Elviars travels through graveyards looking for rare reagents that only grow among death.

OLD ILARIO GRANDSTONE

LG male human apprentice commoner

Appearance: Shortly trimmed gray hair with a strong build and simple dark coloured clothing.

Personality: Stoic, using as few words as needed.

Mannerisms: He crosses his arms when at rest, and presses the bridge of his nose.

Hooks: Ilario always wanted to be a paladin but couldn't break away from his family. He is suspicious of adventurers but grows helpful if he learns of their heroics.

THUNDER KATZNER

NG female half-orc apprentice ranger

Appearance: Long dark hair tied back in a pony tail. She wears hide armour and bears dual axes.

Personality: Generally in a good mood, made joyous when on the hunt.

Mannerisms: Smiles with a toothy grin; clears her throat and spits when thinking.

Hooks: Thunder is currently tracking a trio of trolls (or other foul beasts) and their trail leads through the graveyard. She welcomes companions on the hunt.

AULUS TOOK

NE male halfling journeyman fighter/rogue

Appearance: Dressed in leather patchwork armour and black cloak. His short curly hair has been dyed crimson.

Personality: Secretive and quick to violence.

Mannerisms: He hums old folk songs when he thinks he is alone.

Hooks: Aulus is a professional assassin. He takes great pride in his work and always disposes of the body. His new favourite dumping ground is burying them in freshly dug graves.

HAFL PALMERRE

LN male human apprentice aristocrat

Appearance: Beginning to show his age with salt and pepper hair, he wears fine clothes of coloured cotton.

Personality: Grieving but known for his honesty.

Mannerisms: Breaks into sobs whenever anyone mentions children or the weather.

Hooks: Hafl suspects his wife was murdered but has no proof. He's torn between paying for a resurrection or letting her rest in peace.

GRAVEYARDS: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS & OPPORTUNITIES

Graveyards are a place for the dead, and as such should only be minimally occupied by the living. Exceptions tend to create very interesting circumstances.

D20

1	A wizard seeks an ebon flower for an important ritual. It only grows in ground seeped with the flesh and blood of orcs. A small flower-cloaked burial mound in an isolated corner of the graveyard holds the bodies of a score of such raiders killed long ago.
2	The mayor of the town died in his sleep at an old age. At the funeral, which is happening as the PCs enter the area, his grieving daughter throws open the coffin to find it empty.
3	Someone has been knocking over headstones at night. The local constable sees the issue beneath him but has a few coins in his coffers to anyone who can catch the culprit.
4	A tribe of centaurs have made camp in the middle of the graveyard, claiming the land is part of an ancestral pact agreed upon by the town's founder generations ago.
5	Legend says a local wizard took the secret of destroying gods to his grave. The PCs have been tipped off that it's not just a turn of phrase and that a tome of knowledge lies in his tomb.
6	The manager of the local orphanage got drunk and buried the rent money for its own safety in the graveyard. He can't remember which headstone he buried it under.
7	A group of clerics of the god of death have gathered from all over the area to celebrate a prophet buried here. They've taken all the rooms in the inn and set up a tent city outside the graveyard gates. At night, loud chanting emanates from the graveyard.

8	A young boy claims to see the image of his dead uncle walking the graveyard at night. Superstitious peasants want to exile the boy to lay the ghost to rest.
9	Two young lovers, whose parent refuse to let them marry, have sealed themselves inside a mausoleum. When the PCs arrive, screams of terror erupt from within.
10	Large holes, signs of a bullette or ankheg, have been spotted at the centre of the cemetery. Several graves have disappeared into the creature's tunnels.
11	A necromancer has set up shop, selling his services to provide mourners a day with an undead loved one. Many of the populace disapprove of his actions, but a few recently bereaved townsfolk have hired his services.
12	A small group of vampires has the populace of a village trapped in its graveyard. The vampires seem to be repulsed by the hallowed ground.
13	A black dragon has made a mausoleum his lair, converted the entire property to unhallowed ground. Skeletons have been spotted at night by villagers who dare to go close.
14	A gravedigger has discovered an underground tunnel that bears signs of dwarven construction.
15	The sword of a knight carved into a sarcophagus lid has begun glowing blue. If a paladin of pure heart approaches the sword, the light grows more intense and the sword transforms into an actual weapon.
16	A young girl was found wandering among the headstones with no memory of how she came to be there. She is otherwise healthy.
17	All the cats in town vanished a week ago. This morning their corpses were found stacked upon the grave of the town's founder; all their eyes were gouged out.
18	A strange grey speckled mist hovers over the graveyard, whispering the words of departed loved ones. The mist is thickest in the newest part of the graveyard and seems to emanate from an as yet unfilled grave.
19	The local militia has posted a reward for the capture of grave robbers plundering the graveyard. For the last three nights, strange sounds have been heard in the cemetery at night and every morning graves were found disturbed and defaced.
20	Assassin vines have spread from the forest across the oldest parts of the graveyard. Luckily, no one has yet been taken, although several cats and dogs have disappeared.

GUILDHALLS: TYPES OF GUILDS

A guild is an association of people who practice a craft or labour, who come together to control that practise in a town or larger region. Though they often control the trade through sheer numbers and economic coordination, it was not uncommon for the guild to be granted official authority by the local ruler, making it illegal to practice without membership.

D100 GUILD TYPES

1-30	Craft Guild: This is a typical medieval guild. The craft guild comprises skilled artisans who all create items of the same type. Depending on the size of the city and economy it could be as broad as a metalworkers' guild, or as specific as a silversmith or coopers' guild.
31-45	Merchant Guild: Merchant guilds may be organized by type of product, region or trade routes. They're primarily an organization for those who sell physical products, though some regulate skilled labourers such as physicians or tinkers.
46-50	Cartel: A cartel is an organization of craftsmen and/or merchants with the specific intent to fix prices, production and/or public image. Many other guilds are also cartels or a cartel may include members of various other guilds.
51-53	Trade/Labour Union: A far less common type of guild. These unions comprised the lower skilled, or at least the less stationed, members of a craft or labour to protect their common interests and help combat the power of other guilds. These may be more common in societies with large Adventurers Guilds to help organize the many hirelings employed in such endeavours.
54-60	Religious Guild: Priests, clerics and the like have their own orders and churches. They have much of the same traits of a guild but their focus usually puts economics second to piety. Religious guilds are still common amongst laypeople, such as when all craftspeople among multiple fields come together under the banner of a common god. Like cartels, often another type of guild will also be a religious guild.
61-62	Frith Guild: A group of upstanding citizens who pass judgement on the law. These individuals are often nobles or appointed by the ruling lord. Some frith guilds are actually secret societies, with their own laws that carry out vigilante justice against those who wrong their members and escape normal justice.
63-66	Scholars'/Masters' Guild: A predecessor to universities, these are associations of masters, or their students, throughout a city. They are often from completely different fields but united by status and their love of academic study. They are centres of learning.

67-72	Adventurers' Guild: Job postings, cheap beds, good beer and the rights to legally loot abandoned structures; an adventurer's guild is a PC's second home in the city. Particularly popular in areas surrounded by ruins or towns with a weak military presence.
73-76	Arcanist Guild: Much like a masters' guild, the arcanists' guild is the foundation schools spring from. Arcanists guilds are often supported by governments as a matter of public safety, providing oversight as young mages learn the proper ways of spells and incantations.
77-80	Bardic Guild: Loremasters, jesters, storytellers, dancers, actors, playwrights and even the classic adventuring bard all belong to the bardic guild. It's the best place to find work, obtain public performance permits and swap stories.
81-83	Companion Guild: Formal organization of prostitutes, courtiers and courtesans. As a profession that needs very little to get started, practitioners organize into guilds more often in large societies with minimal laws, as a means of protection, or in heavily affluent societies where formal training is needed as a matter of course.
84-86	Thieves' Guild: A breeding ground for those who act outside of society and ignore property laws. It's the best place to find a fence, pick up speciality tools or grab a job.
87	Assassins' Guild: Much like the thieves' guild the assassins' guild generally operates outside the law, though some may be government sponsored.
88-92	Fraternity/Sorority: An organization dedicated to the development and prosperity of its members. These organizations often cross-occupational boundaries but are bound by a deep devotion to each member. While not technically economic in nature, wealth and prosperity go hand in hand.
93-96	Racial Guild: Much like a fraternity or sorority but bound by a common blood. These organizations focus on a single minority race in a society, but may also be applied to another type of guild, such as the Guild of Halfling Weavers.
97-100	Secret Society: Not all organizations flourish in the public eye. When popular culture or the law frowns upon how you wish to get things done secret societies form to provide like-minded individuals a place to do business. Cartels, thieves' guilds and assassins' guilds are often secret but any kind of guild can be secret. Some secret societies even have a public face, but keep their rites and dealings known only to members.

GUILDHALLS: GUILDHALLS

Guildhalls can be anywhere with enough space for the guild to meet, though once a guild achieves a certain level of prosperity they generally obtain a dedicated locale. Use these tables to determine the general characteristics of such a guildhall. You can also add some amenities to make guilds more tempting for players or add flavour to scenes taking place within the guild itself. Every hall at least has a meeting space even if it doubles as one of the amenity rooms.

D20 GUILDHALL QUALITY

1	A makeshift guildhall.
2	A makeshift guildhall with one amenity.
3	A makeshift guildhall with two amenities.
4	A moderate guildhall.
5	A moderate guildhall with one amenity.
6	A moderate guildhall with two amenities.
7	A moderate guildhall with three amenities.
8	A prosperous guildhall with two amenities.
9	A prosperous guildhall with three to four amenities.
10	A prosperous guildhall with five or more amenities.

D20 MAKESHIFT GUILDHALLS

1	A dank basement with mould growing on the walls.
2	The second floor apartment above the guild leader's shop.
3	A few tables pushed together in a local tavern, with members shouting to be heard over the rabble.
4	The corner table in the local tavern, after regular hours.
5	A private backroom in the local tavern with a two-drink minimum.
6	The centre of the city park, in full view of the public eye.
7	The alley between the butcher and the general goods store.
8	The front room of a general store, after business hours.
9	The backroom of a general store, crates piled high and smelling of yeast.
10	A warehouse, dimly lit by low lanterns.
11	An empty tenement, smelling of urine.
12	The common room of a small home, a fire in the hearth and children sleeping upstairs.
13	The backyard of a local manor, in the shade of a large willow tree.
14	A long table in the civic archives of the city library.
15	The local theatre before rehearsal. A partial set is on the stage, and crew casually watch from the balcony.
16	The cellar of the local temple, between aging casks of wine.
17	A small cave obscured by hanging moss, just outside town.

18	On the deck of a large fishing ship, tied up at the docks.
19	A dank overflow chamber of the city sewer.
20	A family mausoleum towards the back of the city cemetery.

D20 MODERATE GUILDHALLS

1	A white walled guildhall with paper windows and thick, heavy shutters.
2	A rustic guildhall made of notched logs topped by a thatched roof.
3	A two-storey guildhall of painted green stone set at the end of a muddy lane.
4	A musty smelling guildhall with thin wooden walls, terrible drafts and too few fireplaces.
5	A simple brick guildhall with white windows and several tall chimneys.
6	An old remodelled bakery that still smells of bread and flour.
7	This guildhall has beige stone walls on the outside and oak wood panelling within.
8	A guildhall with fieldstone walls and large open rooms.
9	A squat, brick guildhall with very few windows and a rooftop deck.
10	The outer walls of this guildhall are set on a stone foundation of an old temple. The new construction is of wood.
11	A wooden building resting on thick columns. One can only enter when the stairs are lowered.
12	A stone complex surrounded by an iron fence and small courtyard.
13	A red walled building with a large central fire pit producing thick black smoke.
14	A fieldstone building with a thick layer of moss covering its south side.
15	A wooden two-storey guildhall with ill-fitting windows.
16	A small stone tower, with a winding central staircase.
17	A squat stone guildhall of gnomish construction, extending underground through a network of low, cramped passageways and chambers.
18	An old family home with closed heavy wooden shutters and six locks on the front door.
19	A well-kept wooden structure with a pointed roof of green shingles.
20	A small stone guildhall with a large private patio in the rear for hosting social functions.

D20	PROSPEROUS GUILDHALLS
1	A large stone guildhall with great woven banners decorating the halls.
2	A white walled building with stone columns ringing the ground floor that support a promenade balcony above.
3	A looming stone building with copper embellishments along the windows and doors.
4	An old manor with two rows of statue flanking the walkway to the main entrance. Gargoyles leer down from the roof.
5	A squat stone building that leads down to a multi-layered complex of dwarven design.
6	A highly defensible complex with high outer walls, reinforced stone door and an entranceway equipped with murder holes.
7	A grand tower with pointed slate roof and stained glass windows. Deep cellars below the tower intersect with the town's sewers.
8	A sprawling manor set among well-tended grounds. Some areas are in disrepair and cluttered with thick spider webs.
9	A grand building with pink walls, red shutters and tall fountains in the front courtyard surrounded by beautifully tended formal gardens.
10	A large stone structure with walls reinforced by adamantine. Ornate cold iron gates provide a glimpse of the building beyond.
11	A three-storey great brick guildhall with a black slate roof and many chimneys.
12	Large braziers always light the great stone steps outside the entrance of this marbled walled guildhall.
13	A brick guildhall with large stone columns and with trellises covered in ivy.
14	This guildhall is an odd mix of styles, having once been four distinct buildings. Over the years they were purchased and connected to create a complex of stone and wood of many height and colours.
15	A gleaming building whose outer walls are a patchwork mosaic of onyx and jade tiles.
16	A grand stone building with cascading arches connected to support columns.
17	Large gargoyles of demonic visage guard the roof of this old fieldstone guildhall.
18	This guildhall has large echoing rooms which occasionally make conversations quite difficult.
19	A great wooden lodge with three stories and a blue shingle roof.
20	A massive oak structure with oil paintings of its members hanging throughout the halls.

AMENITIES

Many guilds offer additional services to members through common areas, and can provide unique spaces for social scenes during an adventure. These should be customized with elements relevant to the guild type.

D20	AMENITIES
1	Meeting Space: Every guild, even those who do not yet own their own building has a meeting space. It is essential to the planning and organizing of the guild. This is generally a hall with chairs or benches, but can take the form of anything from a raked theatre to a small tavern space. Members generally enter this space ready to hear news and take part in the guilds plans. Speaking within the guild meeting space makes it easier to gain information and favors.
2	Common Area/Libations: An area for relaxing, distinctly separate from where the meetings are held. This may also serve as a dining area or hall to host events. Examples are a tavern area, lounge or library. A guild member who spends an hour at rest in this area may better resist the next adversarial effect.
3	Training Area: Most members of a guild have their own space to practice their craft but even masters come together sometimes to improve. This space has everything needed to work on the trade and generally has a few members poking about to offer commentary. A guild member working here can easier pratice his craft. Members generally need to provide their own raw materials or pay for any materials used.
4	Barracks: Lodging is anything from a space by the fire to individual guest rooms. Prosperous guilds may even be willing to put up the travelling companions of their members. This is very useful when the guild has chapters in several cities. A guild with a barracks provides free lodging to its members.
5	Protection/Storage: The number one problem with a warehouse is keeping thieves out of it. A guildhall with this amenity has an area to store the possessions and goods of its members. It may also take extra measures to protect its grounds, such as high walls, complicated locks or patrolling guards.
6	Contracts/Information: This may be a message board, an archive or a lounge where the older members gather to share wisdom. Members making use of this amenity can make it easier to complete tasks relevant to the guild's purview.

GUILDHALLS: INITIATION, MOTIVATIONS AND RUMOURS

Guilds do far more than serve as a meeting place for idle talk. Their schemes can be grand and sometimes treacherous. Even joining a guild can be a dangerous endeavour. Use these tables to add adventure and mystery to a guild.

Benefits: Once gained, membership comes with several benefits. The starting attitude for a fellow guild member is generally one step more favourable than normal. Guild members generally offer a 10% discount on their goods or services to other members and have contracts set up to offer the same discount on merchandise that is common to their profession. See “Amenities” for more benefits a guild may provide.

Dues: Guilds generally also require something in return of its members. It's generally not more than a few silver a month in membership dues and being kept apprised of information relevant to the guild's interest. Adventuring members are generally excused from making monthly visits to pay dues and in return are expected to take up the occasional task for the guild leaders.

INITIATION

What a commoner or even an adventuring hero needs to do to join the guild. Many guilds have several levels of initiation, with primary membership being easy but not granting full benefits

D20	INITIATION RITES
1	A simple fee of 1d4 copper.
2	A small fee of 1d6 silver.
3	A moderate fee of 2d6 gold.
4	A letter of note from a community leader.
5	The sponsorship of an active guild member.
6	Tithe 10% of current wealth to the guild's patron temple.
7	Have recently assisted a local community member.
8	Complete a moderate test of skill in the guild's area of expertise.
9	Complete an expert test of skill in the guild's area of expertise.
10	Complete a moderate test of knowledge about the guild's history.
11	Complete a minor task for the guild, such as picking up an order from a distant member.
12	Apprentice under a full member, and earn their personal approval.
13	Travel to the capital and study under one of the guild masters.
14	Travel across the continent and learn from as many members as possible.
15	Swear a blood oath of loyalty to the guild often at the height of some esoteric ceremony.
16	Recruit a new customer for exclusive contract to the guild.

17	Recite from memory the guild charter, after a night of feasting and heavy drink.
18	Seek out a rare component of the guild's craft and present it to the guild leaders.
19	Defeat a member of a rival guild in a public contest of skill.
20	Kill an existing member, earning their place.

MOTIVATION

Most guild members join because learning the trade and getting work outside the trade is far more difficult, but what is the guild striving towards in the greater sense? Economic domination is the simple answer, but guild leaders may have something else in mind. (Normal guild members may not know of this additional goal).

D20	MOTIVATIONS
1	Destroy a rival guild.
2	Make a similar industry obsolete.
3	To please their god.
4	To gain respect in court for the guild leaders.
5	To increase their land holdings.
6	To gain the respect of the community.
7	To never go hungry again.
8	To become untouchable by the local militia.
9	To secretly smuggle illegal goods.
10	To fund a secret (possibly illegal or reviled) faith or church.
11	To protect their members where the government has failed.
12	To educate the masses perhaps through formal schooling, scholarships or similar initiatives.
13	To advance society and to provide charitable works such as fountains, pools and wells usable by the masses.
14	For the glory of their lord.
15	To become greater than their foreign rival by producing better products, destroying their rivals trading network and so on.
16	To reclaim glory after having fallen from favour (perhaps due to some terrible crime or failing of the guild).
17	To ensure their craft is never forgotten and always held in high regard.
18	To control the town or city through wealth and bribery.
19	To know divinity through perfection of their craft.
20	To win the love of a highborn lady or lord.

RUMOURS

Guilds are very important to the everyday life of an urban society. Even to non-members they often have influence over trade, politics and festivals. People are bound to talk. How much truth can be had in idle gossip is at the GM's discretion.

D20	RUMOURS
1	The guild is secretly controlled by the church.
2	The guild master's daughter is secretly dating her father's apprentice.
3	The guild has been working with the thieves' guild to sabotage a rival's business.
4	The guild waters down its wine at meetings.
5	The guildhall is built upon the ruins of an ancient vault.
6	The guild has a secret wing where the true decisions are made.
7	The guild was responsible for the last king's death.
8	The guild keeps a private brothel for the exclusive use of its members.
9	The guild only pretends to be in competition with its rival. It's a carefully controlled show to discourage any real competitors.

10	The guild master is rarely in town. Instead he investigates old dungeons as an adventurer.
11	The guild keeps its prices cheap by using undead or slave labour.
12	The guild has fixed its books to pay less taxes. May local magistrates and tax collectors are paid off or blackmailed into silence.
13	The guild purchases ill-gotten goods from pirates and uses the profits to fund its members' lavish lifestyles.
14	The guild practices minor sacrifices to gain the favour of its long dead founders.
15	The guild's founder is still running things as a reclusive vampire.
16	The mayor is secretly in the guild's pocket and is on its payroll.
17	The guild has been training its members to fight, in order to end a rivalry through force of arms.
18	The guild does new product testing at the local orphanage.
19	The guild is heavily in debt to foreign investors and desperate for a solution.
20	The guild moves its goods at night through a series of secret tunnels.

GUILDHALLS: ASSOCIATED NPCS

Use the NPCs below to portray individuals the PCs encounter at a guildhall. Either determine randomly which NPC the PCs encounter or choose a suitable candidate. Most descriptions do not indicate rank or position within the guild, keeping them open to all manner of uses.

D10	NPC
1	Gaius Getha
2	Old Hat Catherty
3	Ilasual Frostruin
4	Evelyn Foster
5	Aelius Boson
6	GilosKells
7	MarraClearwater
8	Mit Umbridge
9	Glassjaw Yvens
10	Mister X

GAIUS GETHA

CN male human apprentice expert/rogue

Appearance: Clean cut with salt and pepper hair and a trim moustache he wears a black leather vest.

Personality: Very likeable, he intently listens and rarely gives advice that's not requested.

Mannerisms: Gaius always has a smile on his face, and sticks his thumbs in the cuffs of his vest.

Hooks: He's recently added a bit of sleight of hand to his business, keeping people distracted while altering contracts slightly or lifting small purses. While he feels guilty, he needs the money to pay of large gambling debts.

OLD HAT CATHERTY

N female human apprentice expert

Appearance: Thinning gray hair and a constantly furrowed brow. Her clothes are always practical.

Personality: Cantankerous when bothered but at ease when left to herself.

Mannerisms: She rocks gently while at work and rarely looks people in the eye when bothering with conversation.

Hooks: Catherty has been at her trade for a very long time and her skill is considerable, yet she is never satisfied with her own work. If a PC displays talent that may surpass her own she does what she can to sabotage them out of spite. If a PC publically derides her skills she sets out to destroy his reputation.

ILASUAL FROSTRUIN

CG male elf apprentice expert/sorcerer (draconic)

Appearance: Receding hairline and wears well-kept clothes, contrasted with old leather bracers.

Personality: A bit haughty, but friendly once you get to know him. Enjoys the finer things in life and showing off his (minor) magical powers. Has no intention of every becoming an adventurer.

Mannerisms: Ilasual expects others to keep up, and he sometimes switches to Elven mid-sentence, if he can't be bothered to remember a phrase in Common.

Hooks: Ilasual supplements his craft with some innate magical talent. He secretly pines for another to study under to extend the range of his arcane abilities but can't find anyone who he feels is his better.

EVELYN FOSTER

NG female human apprentice bard

Appearance: The local beauty with wavy red hair, who keeps her clothes flattering, yet practical.

Personality: Evelyn is a joyous individual, often singing while going about her work.

Mannerisms: Evelyn thinks it is hilarious to feign anger at the actions of others and can crack herself up just by putting her hands on her hips.

Hooks: Evelyn is far more talented than the average peasant but doesn't seem to understand her true potential. If given the opportunity she could become a major figure in local politics or a skilled adventurer. A PC investing in her talent by setting her up in her own workshop could reap great rewards in the future.

AELIUS BOSON

LG male half-orc apprentice ex-barbarian/expert

Appearance: Heavily built, Aelius wears simple clothes. He generally has a pipe in his mouth.

Personality: Aelius finds peace in his work and is generally easy going. Insinuate that he may not be very bright or insult his craft and he flies into a violent rage.

Mannerisms: Aelius's favourite action in any activity is puffing his pipe, and carefully filling it back up. He smokes all the time, even when it is inappropriate to do so.

Hooks: Aelius feels very guilty after a bout of violence and tries to avoid fighting. The guild uses him for intimidation without him realizing it, simply by inviting him to certain meetings and events.

GILOS KELLS

NG male human apprentice commoner

Appearance: Gilos wears large brown boots and has a dirty, sweaty face.

Personality: A little absentminded and often stressed, he is also very gullible.

Mannerisms: Rubs his hands into the folds of his shirt.

Hooks: Gilos is a young member of the guild and takes orders from the others. He is always running this way or that and seems very much in need of a good night's sleep before he collapses.

MARRA CLEARWATERS

CN female halfling apprentice expert

Appearance: Short brown hair bound into two thin braids.

Personality: Irrational, she's always thinking ahead and can't seem to grasp the moment at hand. Marra is very friendly and enjoys a good meal with friends.

Mannerisms: Twitches her nose as if about to sneeze. She never sneezes, but always carries many handkerchiefs about her person.

Hooks: Marra is said to be a mad genius. Most of her work is sub-par, but the piece that gained her initial membership to the guild surpassed even the guild master's skill. If only they could get her to do it again!

MIT UMBRIDGE

LE male half-elf apprentice expert

Appearance: Always well dressed, Mit hides a slim dagger in his inside vest pocket. He has a slender moustache and long flowing blond hair.

Personality: Pretends to be interested in others but eventually just stops listening. Obsessed with himself and his own advancement.

Mannerisms: Always keeps his back to a wall if he can help it and hates to go to places he does not know well. He never seems to relax and is always on edge.

Hooks: Mit can't stand to listen to others. He seeks to control the guild and the town if he can help it, and the PCs may just be the tools he needs to do so. He is merciless in his use of tools, but generous to those who prove useful to him.

GLASSJAW YVENS

NG female dwarf journeyman fighter/expert

Appearance: With dark black hair and a long scar along her left jaw, Glassjaw always wears heavy steel gauntlets.

Personality: Sternly judges those who speak and never quite seems satisfied. A stickler for standards, she strives for perfection in her craft.

Mannerisms: Taps her fingers into her palm when growing impatient. When she gets really angry, she has been known to slap the person responsible for her mood.

Hooks: Glassjaw takes her nickname not just from the visible wound she carries from her brief adventuring career but her favourite way of ending an argument. Anyone who gets out of line gets a solid punch to the face even if she has to first wrestle them to the ground to reach.

MISTER X

N male human journeyman rogue/sorcerer

Appearance: Tall and slender, Mister X is always seen wearing a long black cape and a simple silver full face mask.

Personality: Quiet and reserved. He listens before speaking and uses only a few words to express his interest. He speaks quietly, but forcefully.

Mannerisms: Mister X stands very still when speaking and it is said no one has ever seen his hands.

Hooks: Mister X is shrouded in mystery. He is known only to guild members as one of their great patrons and attends most meetings silently.

Contradicting rumours have him as a noble who wishes to remain anonymous or a being from another plane whose presence would spark controversy within the guild's ranks. Whatever the truth, he is fabulously wealthy and so few clients question his origins too closely.

MARKET STALLS: CHARACTERISTICS & APPEARANCE

Every market stall should have a distinctive appearance. Use this table to generate such interesting characteristics and features. Some features may be inappropriate based on your set up or what the PCs have encountered. Ignore such results and simply re-roll.

D%
1	A simple wooden handcart that has seen some wear but is still in working order serves as this mobile stall.
2	The bark remains on this roughly-made, oaken handcart, granting it a rustic appeal.
3	An old, wooden wheelbarrow, far past its prime, is piled high with merchandise. Its single wheel swivels this way and that when pushed.
4	This iron cart creaks on four oversized wheels. Dwarven runes adorn each side telling of the founding of the legendary dwarven stronghold Thor-Dilak.
5	An enslaved bugbear, heavily burdened by several saddlebags, acts as his master's mobile stall. Its fur is matted with dirt and dried blood and it looks thoroughly downtrodden.
6	A covered wagon, sporting a foreign flag, sells its wares directly from the back.
7	A huge, muzzled brown bear pulls an uncovered wagon of heavy oak.
8	A modest wooden cart distinguishes itself with a hand painted canvas sign that hangs off one side.
9	This cart of bronze has jade decorations and smells of incense.
10	A quartet of young children carries baskets on their heads.
11	An old mule pulls a rickety cart whose missing planks have been hastily patched with hides.
12	An elephant carries a small stall upon its back. Patrons can gain access one at a time by climbing a rope ladder lowered down one side.
13	This small stall comprises a small handcart made of bamboo tied together with vines.
14	This stall comprises a heavy wooden cart that features a large bust of a ram at its front.
15	A team of porters have lifted a small raft into the market place, laden with wares.
16	Three camels (or horses) carry goods in hand-woven baskets. Each basket is covered with a colourful cloth.
17	This wooden cart smells of cinnamon, though it holds none.
18	The broken foundation of an old tower forms the boundary of this stall. Weeds grow thickly on the remaining walls.
19	A rowboat set with wheels serves as a makeshift cart.

20	This horse-drawn carriage has heavy curtains so patrons can view its wares in private. Customers are only admitted one at a time and the merchant within rarely reveals himself.
21	This wooden stall is topped with billowing exotic silks of yellow, red and white.
22	This handsome stall looks quite new and features a red slate roof.
23	A few barrels topped with an old door serve as a makeshift stall. The old door is heavily stained and pitted.
24	Several large chests set around a carpet of red and gold serve as this merchant's stall.
25	A steel stall marked with engravings of giant eyes catches the sun's reflection.
26	This stall built of piled driftwood still smells of salt and the ocean.
27	This iron stall is adorned with totems to the local thunder god.
28	This open tent is made from imitation dragonhide.
29	This tent is made from interwoven multi-coloured silks. Colourful guide ropes hold it to the ground.
30	A stall that was originally a stack of crates has been patched and reinforced so many times that it has been made permanent.
31	The frame of this stall is made from the jaw bone and skull of a giant serpent (complete with fangs).
32	This stall is constructed of salvaged wood from wrecked ships; fishing nets serve as its roof.
33	The base of this stall is made from cut sandstone set without mortar.
34	This wooden stall has ivy growing up its columns and along its canvas roof. Within it is cool, but musty.
35	A simple wooden stall has living leaves sprouting from one of its posts.
36	The base of this stall is set with finely cut stones.
37	One side of this stall has a large hole from which rats scurry back and forth.
38	A large mastiff snores loudly under this wooden stall.
39	The base of this stall is made of large rocks, fitted expertly with smaller rocks to form a solid counter.
40	A dried monkey hand hangs from one of this stall's wooden posts.
41	Four bronze spears hold up a roof comprising the faded flag of a legendary kingdom.
42	This stall made of finely crafted darkwood features carved druidic runes in each of its posts.
43	This simple wooden stall has a painted sign hanging in front warning "No halflings."

44	A carving of a flying dragon serves as a sign set high above this stall's merchandise.
45	The wood of this stall is charred black and still smells of smoke, having been salvaged from ruined buildings.
46	This wooden stall features a series of mismatched drawers along its front.
47	Wind chimes all along the awning of this stall tinkle in the breeze.
48	The wood of this stall has begun to rot; tiny insects crawl all about.
49	Green shingles cover the base of this stall under a slate roof.
50	This stall is constructed of shining, polished bone.
51	Numerous delicately balanced pots hold this stall's wares.
52	Four walls of beads, strung from wooden posts, obscure this stall's interior.
53	The stuffed head of a fox, mouth agape, serves as this stall's sign.
54	An old wagon with no wheels, set atop crates, displays this stall's wares.
55	Two white stone columns, remnants of an old shrine, mark the entrance of this stall.
56	Stone statues of local gods serve as the pillars that hold this stall's hide roof aloft.
57	This wooden stall has red ribbon tied to its posts.
58	This oaken cart has three brand new wheels.
59	Faces of old men decorate this steel stall.
60	This red stall has yellow linen curtains.
61	This stall features a brick base finished with scrap wood.
62	This stall is nothing more than a burlap tent that smells of wet cat.
63	This stall keeps a small wooden torch lit even at midday as a tribute to the fire goddess.
64	A small boy sits in front of this simple stall, playing a tin whistle.
65	Two vendors share the same small stall, constantly bickering over space.
66	A small sign above this stall offers a free haircut with any purchase.
67	Old glass bottles set in plaster form the counter of this stall.
68	"Guaranteed Not Stolen" promises the sign hanging above this stall.
69	A small, trained monkey offers wares to passers-by and dances for a copper piece.
70	A bloodied butcher knife, used to deter thieves, hangs on display on one of the stall's posts.
71	A glass counter reveals finer goods locked within the front counter of this stall.
72	This green painted stall has a string of bells hanging between its two main posts.
73	A merchant sits atop a pile of merchandise, but makes no effort to attract buyers.

74	Garlands of faded flowers decorate this wooden cart.
75	A small portrait of a famous holy man hangs from one pole of this stall.
76	Old bookcases, crammed with merchandise, form a back-wall for this stall.
77	The front of this stall is painted in a dizzying array of colours.
78	Four trees form a natural canopy over this stall.
79	This stand is formed from wet sand, dried in the sun and adorned with starfish.
80	The front of this stall is only a foot and a half in height; it caters to smaller patrons.
81	This wooden stall displays no wares. Prices are debated up front and then the goods are delivered from a secret warehouse.
82	The merchant displays the first copper piece he ever earned in a small glass jar. He views it as his lucky charm and will not part with it.
83	The counter of this stall is made of a large wooden crate, wrapped with chains as if trying to keep something trapped within.
84	This wooden cart is painted silver with small engravings to appear as worked metal.
85	A cage of small birds sits behind this stall filling the air with chirps and tweets.
86	This stall has a smooth, polished marble counter.
87	Curtains of leaves, sewn with gold thread, form the walls of this stall.
88	Piled lobster traps with a counter top of plywood form the front of this stall.
89	The roof of this stall is draped in black fabric decorated with silver star beads.
90	An oversized wool tent that seems unusually drafty serves as a makeshift stall.
91	A wooden board is missing from this stall revealing a flickering light within.
92	This old iron stall is covered in rust.
93	This wooden stall has a large spider-web between its posts. A large spider lurks within.
94	This blue-grey stall is marked by a silhouette of a mermaid on its sign.
95	This steel and copper push cart has visible turning gears.
96	A brand new stall of pine. The wood is still sticky with sap and smells pungently.
97	Decorations for the Summer Solstice decorate this stall, weathered from being left up for extended periods.
98	This faded green stall has half circles carved out of the front.
99	The splintering wooden frame of this stall has been hastily covered by an old curtain.
100	Wares are stacked and spread across this stall using no containers or any sense of organization.

MARKET STALLS: WHAT'S FOR SALE?

Market stalls sell an incredible variety of things. Use this table to determine what a randomly visited stall is selling.

D%
1	Dried fruit
2	Fresh local fruit
3	Exotic fruit from neighbouring kingdoms
4	Local produce
5	Butchered animals
6	Live poultry
7	Fresh bread
8	Fanciful pastries
9	Coffee and tea
10	Roasted meat on wooden sticks
11	Green bubbling beverages that ease aches
12	Fresh flowers
13	Cheap jewellery fashioned with garnets and pearls
14	Raw gemstones
15	Fine jewellery in a range of prices
16	Grains
17	Small trained animals
18	Horses/Camels
19	Exotic mounts
20	Leather and hide armour
21	Steel armour and shields
22	Iron weapons
23	Iron cooking supplies
24	Lanterns and oil
25	Ropes and nets
26	Woven baskets
27	Clay pots and pitchers
28	Second hand furniture
29	Wooden carvings
30	Silver holy symbols and idols
31	Fish
32	Crabs, clams and oysters
33	Cooking oils
34	Animal feed
35	Fertilizer
36	Banners of different guilds, adventuring parties and noble houses
37	Jars of honey
38	Spices
39	Jams and preserves
40	Bows and arrows
41	Kegs of ale
42	Candles
43	Cheese and mil
44	Wool
45	Reams of cloth
46	Patched clothing
47	Fine clothes

48	Travel clothes and hats
49	Farm tools
50	Barrels and crates
51	Fine instruments of copper
52	Glass bottles and bowls
53	Healing herbs
54	Odd arcane reagents
55	Painted holy idols
56	Paper, ink and scroll cases
57	Leather and canvas bags
58	Dyes
59	Furs
60	Money changing
61	Potions and oils
62	Minor enchantments
63	Wooden staffs and simple weapons
64	Fortune teller
65	Lace and embroidery
66	Books and scrolls
67	Locks and keys
68	Small cages and hunting traps
69	Blacksmithing
70	Cobbler
71	Fine perfume
72	Scribe services
73	Silversmith
74	Soap
75	Rugs
76	Woven tapestries
77	Taxidermy
78	Holy water
79	Fine knives
80	Wooden toys
81	Wheels and rods for carts
82	Information
83	Poison
84	Acids and solvent
85	Eggs
86	Nuts
87	Chains and manacles
88	Carts and wagons
89	Random pieces of used armour
90	Seeds
91	Slaves
92	Religious guidance
93	Water clocks
94	Tobacco and smoking weed
95	Cattle, pigs and goats
96	Instruments
97	Travel gear
98	Alchemical items
99	Makeup
100	Messenger services

MARKET STALLS: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS & OPPORTUNITIES

Although the PCs may simply want to walk up to a stall and buy something, sometimes fate intervenes. Use this table to determine what opportunities or complications the PCs may encounter while trying to make their purchase.

D20

1	Goats have gotten loose in the area and several try to eat merchandise within reach.
2	An angry noble with several members of the town guard are trying to seize the property over past due rent.
3	A wailing haunt loudly bemoans her lost love.
4	An irate young man complains that he was almost killed by his last purchase. When pressed he explains ludicrous extraordinary circumstances.
5	The last due shipment of goods is late by a week and there is no news as to when it will arrive.
6	A handful of young nobles are belittling the owner due to unfashionable décor.
7	A religious group pickets the stall over a perceived slight towards their god in the way the merchant prepares his goods.
8	The ground below the stall has collapsed into a sewer; most of the stall's goods are lost in the fetid waste below.
9	The salesman is clearly prejudiced against elves and fey serving them last and refusing to make eye contact.
10	A burly looking man and his friends are demanding "free samples" and look like they mean to take them with or without permission.
11	A middle aged couple in front of the stall, both drunk, are having a screaming match and trying to get others to take their side.

12	The merchant's daughter left last night to make a delivery and hasn't returned since. The merchant desperately tries to hire the heroes, not worried for his daughter's safety but rather that she has run off with his rival's son.
13	The owner has been disfigured by a hag's curse and offers deep discounts to whomever can bring in her head.
14	The merchant offers to purchase cursed items at full value but refuses to give his reasons why.
15	Strange moans come from the rear of this stall that the owner blames on the wind. Investigation reveals several animate zombie heads in a chest that the owner claims no knowledge of.
16	A bard harasses any attractive individual who enters. When the owner is questioned he confesses that he is in debt to the bard and cannot bring himself to kick him out.
17	A fellow patron confronts any religious PC and begs to speak with them in private. If granted an audience he admits to being a murderer before drawing a dagger and trying to slay the PC.
18	A rare item was delivered without the key to its superior lock. The merchant is paranoid of magic and needs someone to either pick the lock or locate the key.
19	A team of orphans begs outside while another pickpocket those distracted.
20	A clever rogue moves about the stalls stealthily pulling tricks on customers. He won't leave without a refund and an apology from the stall owner.

MARKET STALLS: ASSOCIATED NPCs

Use the NPC bios below to portray the folk encountered near the market stall. Either randomly determine which NPC the PCs encounter or choose a suitable candidate from the table below.

D20	NPC
1	Ellara Peel
2	Jammen Downburrow
3	Rimbar
4	Hal Grithel
5	Bellis Beewetter
6	Fauntal Everleaf
7	Hela the Brat
8	Vanviral
9	Job Gwyer
10	Grod
11	Scythe
12	Len Dender
13	Doran Darkglint
14	Hanrik the Hand
15	Ismith
16	Alaquin of Dreyamore
17	Hesk Eyepopper
18	Maldrid
19	Georgel Lowland
20	Steflively Greenbillow

ELLARA PEEL

LG female human apprentice aristocrat/expert

Appearance: Young and thin with fair skin and soft features. She wears a silver signet ring of a minor noble house.

Personality: Ellara is optimistic and full of life. She is always ready to try to fill a strange custom order.

Mannerisms: She is very quick to laugh with a high-pitched giggle, even when a joke is unintended. When her ability is questioned she assumes the person doesn't know better and reasserts herself quickly.

Hooks: The stall was acquired by her wealthy father when the previous owner could not pay his loans. She has over promised on some custom orders recently and needs adventurers to secure some hard to find items.

The previous owners are upset that their shop was taken and look to discredit Ellara in the eyes of her father.

JAMMEN DOWNBURROW

N male halfling apprentice expert

Appearance: Wide with a mop of curly brown hair and nose that leans to the left.

Personality: Gives a general air of confusion as if lost in thought.

Mannerisms: He's easily distracted and tends to stare off into space.

Hooks: Jammen is under the sway of an imp who whispers to him while invisible. What interest could the infernal hells have in such a simple salesman?

RIMBAR

LN male dwarf apprentice fighter/rogue

Appearance: A tangled brown beard and great, bushy eyebrows. The top of his left ear is missing.

Personality: He always seems tired and a bit grumpy.

Mannerisms: Rubs his hip whenever fighting is mentioned.

Hooks: A veteran of war, Rimbar has a particular interest in news of battle and is willing to make deals or part with personal items in exchange for news from his home region.

HAL GRITHEL

CN male human apprentice commoner

Appearance: Reddish orange hair with a wicked grin.

Personality: Morose.

Mannerisms: Pulls on bits of his hair while talking.

Hooks: Hal used to have ties with the alchemists' guild (he was a servant there) but blames them for the death of his wife. They fear he knows their secrets and want him to return to serve the guild or die.

BELLIS BEEWETTER

N female halfling apprentice expert

Appearance: Long dirty blonde hair, tied back. She always wears a brown leather vest over her clothes.

Personality: Serious and down to business.

Mannerisms: She speaks in short direct sentences, never wasting any time.

Hooks: Bellis accidentally insulted the mayor's assistant with her direct attitude and now tariffs are being raised across the city.

FAUNTAL EVERLEAF

CG female elf apprentice wizard (enchanter)

Appearance: Pale blonde hair adorned with bits of ribbon and coloured glass. Her robes are of strong, vibrant colours.

Personality: Very happy with bursts of hysteria.

Mannerisms: Compulsively sorts things by colour and radiance.

Hooks: Needs someone to travel to the Hedgeroot forest to meet with the druid there under the next full moon, in order to acquire the reagents needed for her next enchantment.

HELA THE BRAT

CN female human journeyman aristocrat/rogue

Appearance: Stunningly beautiful with clothing that is always in the latest style and the highest quality.

Personality: Aggressively egotistical.

Mannerisms: Rarely makes eye contact except when she believes you are the only one that can give her something she wants.

Hooks: Last of a noble line, Hela has squandered most of her fortune but still manages to keep her lifestyle. She has acquired a few items that would be in poor taste to sell and wants the party to contact a particular necromancer to arrange a meeting.

VANVIRAL

LN male tiefling apprentice expert/bard

Appearance: Handsome with a black, thin beard, two curling horns and pale red skin.

Personality: Calm and pleasant even when insulted.

Mannerisms: He always smiles when he is speaking with someone. When he enters a room, his eyes dart about nervously.

Hooks: Vanviral is in the pocket of the local thieves' guild and warns them of items of interest when new folks come to town. He has had one too many narrow escapes and will consider going straight if presented with a way out.

JOB GWYER

NE male human apprentice commoner

Appearance: Tall and balding with well-toned arms.

Personality: Job seems good-natured at first but once he has the upper hand reveals a bitter and vengeful side.

Mannerisms: Keeps a hammer on his belt and rests one hand there. His right eyebrow rises up slightly when he lies.

Hooks: Insanely jealous, Job Gwyer has recently had too much competition in the market. Over the last two weeks, three different merchants have got ill and died. Each one sold wares that were similar to Job's own.

GROD

CN male half-orc apprentice barbarian

Appearance: Two large teeth protrude from Grod's lower lip, one has a good hunk chipped off. He has a long scar across his right cheek.

Personality: Distrustful at first, he laughs loudly at all jokes made by someone he has grown to like.

Mannerisms: Licks his top row of teeth when thinking.

Hooks: Grod's tribe is nomadic. He only comes into town to trade when the beasts are nearby but something has been thinning the herd in the dead of night.

SCYTHE

N female half-elf apprentice expert

Appearance: White hair with a red streak down the middle and uncommonly pale skin.

Personality: Fun loving and always looking for a party.

Mannerisms: Clucks her tongue when bored.

Hooks: Business is just a job to Scythe, a job that she happens to be good at. At night she can get a little wild, however, and the captain of the guard suspects that she has been influencing his daughter. He is looking for any excuse to lock her up or drive her out of town.

LEN DENDER

N male halfling apprentice commoner

Appearance: A bit round in the belly with curly dark brown hair and a clean face.

Personality: Keeps to himself and tries not to draw much attention.

Mannerisms: Blushes brightly whenever anyone talks about gender or relationships.

Hooks: Len was not always a man. She purchased a cursed girdle unwittingly from wandering gypsies. A few moments after trying it on, she became a man. Len lives in shame but her fiancé still dwells in town, hoping that one day his love will reappear.

DORAN DARKGLINT

LN female dwarf apprentice expert

Appearance: Earthy brown hair with a dirty face and fur trimmed boots.

Personality: Always willing to hear someone out but she is not easily impressed.

Mannerisms: Keeps her hands busy or stuffed deep in her pockets, with her feet shuffling against the floor.

Hooks: A new series of tunnels have been discovered in a mine outside the city and Doran is looking for assistance so that the miners can work there in safety.

HANRIK THE HAND

CN male human apprentice bard/rogue

Appearance: A lean, stubbly face under a wide brimmed hat.

Personality: Good natured and fun, but is constantly scheming.

Mannerisms: He talks with his hands and does everything with extra flare.

Hooks: Hanrik has a business on the side where he sells information though sometimes his embellishments get the better of him.

He plans to turn himself in to the town guard after his exaggerations angered a particularly fearsome client but he is really just looking for a safe place to stay for a little while. Once a better solution presents itself, he'll grab it with open arms.

ISMITH

NG female aasimar apprentice oracle (life)

Appearance: Blonde and silver hair with simple brown robes and the wooden symbol of her god.

Personality: Quiet and kind.

Mannerisms: Always looks people directly in the eye and waits for someone to be completely finished before speaking.

Hooks: Ismith was orphaned at a young age and has only recently learned her father is a slave owner a few villages away. She would be grateful for an escort.

ALAQVIN OF DREYMORE

CG male human apprentice commoner

Appearance: Thin with ratty black hair and a floppy red hat.

Personality: Always has a positive outlook.

Mannerisms: Sticks his hands in his pockets and drags his feet. Alaquin has a terrible posture, has rounded shoulders and always slouches.

Hooks: Back in Dreymore, Alaquin stole to survive. Having stolen from the wrong man, he fled losing what he stole in the process. If he could recover the lost treasure, he could try to clear his name back home.

HESK EYEPOPPER

N male dwarf apprentice fighter/expert

Appearance: Completely hairless and always barefoot.

Personality: Stern at work, he loves a good story but hates a braggart.

Mannerisms: Cracks his knuckles and spits.

Hooks: Hesk has a reputation as a exceptional fighter due to a very lucky shot against a dragon when he was young. He is sick of the embellishment surrounding his skill and wants to stage a fight against a hero where he's publicly, badly beaten.

MALDRID

CN male elf class apprentice aristocrat/expert

Appearance: Luscious brown hair tied back with a ribbon. He often compliments his outfits with silk patterned capes.

Personality: Haughty and indifferent, Maldrid is accustomed to the finer things in life. He looks down on those he sees as coarse or unrefined.

Mannerisms: Keeps his chin up when he moves and tends to sniff the air while other people are talking.

Hooks: Maldrid's business does well enough but his opulence seems to have increased dramatically over the last two years. Rumours fly wildly about where the money is coming from; black market deals to secret cult backers are the current favourite theories.

GEORGE LOWLAND

LN male human apprentice commoner/warrior

Appearance: Red greasy hair, freckles and a muscular build.

Personality: Trusting and hopeful, Georgel sees the best in people. Although popular, he feels lonely after a series of disastrous relationships.

Mannerisms: Constantly stretching, as if the whole world makes him feel cramped.

Hooks: Georgel used to be part of the town guard but did not have the heart for it. He is still friends with men of the guard, however, and is concerned that a few did not return from their last patrols. He's hoping to find some brave fellows to investigate the disappearances. Sadly, he has no great store of money and can offer only his thanks.

STEFLLIVELY GREENBILLOW

N female gnome apprentice sorcerer (destined)

Appearance: Green and purple hair, braided tightly into place. Her clothes are reminiscent of fireworks.

Personality: Curious with little personal boundaries. She has no concept of privacy and happily shares even the most intimate facets of her life with friends. She is offended when they do not reciprocate.

Mannerisms: Steflively is always moving, and her eyes dart back and forth if she has to stay still.

Hooks: Steflively has only recently discovered her arcane powers and does not have full control of them yet. She keeps charming people by accident causing embarrassing trysts in the marketplace.

PARKS: CHARACTERISTICS AND APPEARANCE

What we think of today as an urban park is often very different from what existed in medieval times. Parks began as private hunting grounds, often walled, for use exclusively by its noble owner. To restrict such a parcel of land often could only be accomplished with the blessing of the king, which could get expensive. Thus, they were not public meeting grounds, but exclusive status symbols.

Later came the heavily landscaped parks attached to mansions and other properties. These were originally private as well but were made public as cities became more heavily populated. There are several kinds of park:

- Common: Area intended for general use, including the grazing of livestock and the harvesting of wood. It's often not actually public property but owned by a lord and set aside for specific use by his tenants.
- Deer Park: A private hunting ground, owned by a noble or clergyman. It's often walled, to keep trespassers out and animals in.
- Garden: A well-landscaped area of carefully tended flowers, trees, hedges and other plants.
- Public Park: An area of natural land set aside within a city, the primary purpose of which is recreation. It may be tended for aesthetics or allowed to grow wild.

100 PARKS

D%	PARK CHARACTERISTICS
1	A small common, set off a manor estate, littered with sheep and the occasional shepherd.
2	A small common, set off a manor estate, dotted with rocky outcroppings.
3	A small common, set off a manor estate. An old wooden fence keeps a handful of goats from wandering.
4	A small common, set off a manor estate, comprising a pasture with cattle and a forest between two hills.
5	A small common, set off a manor estate, where sheep drink from a stream.
6	A large common, set off a manor estate, surrounded by a fieldstone wall.
7	A large common, set off a manor estate, featuring a small, murky pond at its centre.
8	A large common, set off a manor estate, with sweet-smelling, blue-green grass.
9	A large common, set off a manor estate; several men are chopping up a felled tree.
10	A large common, set off a manor estate, with birch trees growing in small stands.
11	A large common, set off a manor estate, with a few apple trees and a wandering cow.

12	A large common, set off a manor estate. A large oak tree sits at its centre; great roots emerge from the earth all around.
13	A large common, set off a manor estate; only a few towering pine trees remain from when this land was heavily forested.
14	A large common, set off a manor estate, dominated by several herds of cattle.
15	A large common, set off a manor estate; large boulders dot its fields.
16	A small public common, set on the side of a grassy hill.
17	A small public common; a murder of ravens watch from the limbs of an old willow.
18	A small public common filled with wild flowers.
19	A small public common, with a large oak tree. A cut rope, the remnants of a past execution, hangs from a large branch.
20	A small public common, surrounded by a crumbling fieldstone wall.
21	A large public common. The foundations of an old manor house are overgrown with weeds at its north end.
22	A large public common, with small rolling hills and cobblestone paths.
23	A large public common, where a small herd of goats is feasting on a bed of tulips.
24	A large public common, with a small shrine to a nature god in one corner.
25	A large public common, only recently made public. A team of youths are breaking down a series of fieldstone walls.
26	A deer park, packed thickly with oak threaded with game trails.
27	A small deer park, with sparse birch trees. It seems mostly untouched, unused by its lordly owners.
28	A deer park, filled with the loud chirpings of many birds.
29	A deer park, with a fast river rushing through it. The walls pass right over the river; grates allow the water to pass through.
30	A deer park, with many brambly bushes and a few wild boar.
31	A deer park set right up against a cliff face for the nesting of great birds.
32	A deer park, with very rocky soil that breaks the trees into small stretches of woodland.
33	A deer park, with a thick canopy and mossy ground.
34	A deer park, overgrown with weeds.
35	A deer park, filled with holly trees and exotic beetles.
36	A deer park, once an orchard of cheery trees, is now prowled by deer, boar and displacer beasts.

37	A deer park, surrounded by a stone 20-foot high wall topped with spikes.
38	A deer park; the smell of wild onion drifts on the air between ash trees.
39	A deer park, built into hilly terrain and once home to an owlbear.
40	A deer park, thick with oak trees and spider webs.
41	A boggy deer park, with sagging walls due to the marshy ground.
42	A deer park, with sparse trees and the smells of sweet herbs.
43	A deer park, with hickory trees and wild flowers.
44	A deer park; old foundations are set among the shadows beneath the dark trees.
45	A deer park, filled with deer and featuring a small pond stocked with salmon.
46	A deer park, filled with sequoia trees and elk.
47	A deer park, with tall grass and bison.
48	A deer park, thick with pine tree and caribou.
49	A deer park, featuring exotic birds and a trickling brook.
50	A deer park, filled with dogwood and dire weasels.
51	A hedge garden with white stone benches.
52	A garden of hedges and violets replete with iron benches.
53	A garden of peach trees and lush green hedges.
54	A garden with walkways lined with small white stones.
55	A garden where all the flowerbeds are surrounded by tiny wrought iron fences.
56	A small garden with a collection of statues depicting wild beasts.
57	A small garden with very tall hedges.
58	A small garden featuring trellis arcs of climbing roses.
59	A small garden centred on a white marble fountain.
60	A small garden with blue gravel paths.
61	A small garden surrounded by a brick wall, topped with white stones.
62	A small garden, with displays of intricately raked pebbles.
63	A small garden with two large stone chimera flanking the entrance.
64	A small garden with bushes trimmed to resemble stars.
65	A small garden of white rose bushes.
66	A large garden with a lily pond and several recreational rowboats.
67	A large garden filled with statues of ancient soldiers.
68	A large garden divided into four quadrants, one devoted to each season.
69	A large garden with a river running through the middle crossed by two small pedestrian bridges.

70	A large garden centred on a massive water clock.
71	A large garden with empty stone pedestals.
72	A large garden with beds of multicoloured tulips.
73	A large garden centred on a massive bronze statue of a warrior on horseback.
74	A large garden with elaborate jade benches.
75	A large garden with clockwork statues that occasionally move and greet passersby.
76	A small public park shaded by a large oak tree.
77	A small public park featuring statues of famous wizards.
78	A small public park centred on a white gazebo.
79	A small public park with several plum trees.
80	A small public park with high stone walls.
81	A public park; wind chimes hang from the trees.
82	A public park with sweet smelling grass and blueberry bushes.
83	A public park with hickory trees and wild lilacs.
84	A public park with a stone lookout tower offering views of the city.
85	An almost perfectly flat public park surrounded by a wrought iron fence.
86	A public park replete with scorched and twisted trees. It once served as a mage's test field.
87	A public park with marshy ground and leafy bushes.
88	A public park filled by trees with bright orange and red leaves.
89	A public park with small public shrines hidden among its many paths.
90	A public park in its natural state, filled with pine trees and large boulders.
91	A large public park with gentle rolling hills.
92	A large public park with a man-made pond.
93	A large public park with a fenced in area of personal garden plots.
94	A large public park featuring a series of ornate fountains flanking its main walkway.
95	A large public park centred on a cathedral of the local nature goddess.
96	A large public park with wide walkways frequented by carriages.
97	A large public park with a stone outdoor amphitheatre.
98	A large public park with many caves frequented by the city's residents when the summer heat grows too great.
99	A large public park built into the side of a steep hill and featuring hundreds of stone steps.
100	A massive public park taking up an entire quarter of a metropolis. Some of the city's more nature inclined citizens have even taken up residence in its trees and caverns.

PARKS: THINGS TO STUMBLE UPON

Parks tend to be well trod by man and beast. Such areas are full of distractions and personal affects often get misplaced.

D%	THINGS TO STUMBLE UPON
1	A silver pocket watch
2	A wet rag doll
3	A stray orange cat
4	An ancient-looking gold piece
5	Two human teeth
6	A half empty wine bottle
7	A lace handkerchief
8	A steel dagger stained with blood
9	The claw of a bear
10	A busted wagon wheel
11	Four copper pieces
12	A silver slipper
13	An empty backpack with a hole in the bottom
14	A dead cat
15	A wooden bucket
16	A fresh apple
17	A bit of mouldy cheese
18	A torn bodice
19	The deed to a local estate
20	A cane topped with bronze
21	A sealed jar of honey
22	A feather quill
23	A love letter, stained with tears
24	A baby chick
25	A sleeping youth
26	A lidless bucket of red paint
27	An elven arrow
28	A coil of rope
29	A shard of mirror
30	A soiled white glove
31	A letter of marque from a foreign lord
32	A written contract for the delivery of livestock
33	A small iron lockbox
34	A simple copper key
35	A purple silk scarf
36	A glass eye
37	A broken clay jug
38	A rusted lantern
39	A silver ring
40	A few white feathers
41	A small pouch of hazelnuts
42	A white lace umbrella
43	A horseshoe
44	The footprints of a peg-legged individual
45	A wineskin
46	A torn strip of red cloth
47	Acorns stacked into a pyramid
48	A tarnished emerald

49	A bit of foxglove
50	Bits of fine tobacco
51	A simple leather sling
52	A bouquet of wild flowers
53	A compass carved from jade
54	An empty water skin
55	A wolf pelt
56	The carcass of a giant eagle
57	The epaulets of an officer
58	A ten-foot deep hole
59	An ivory statuette of the war god
60	A bent lock pick
61	Three identical sapphires (1,000 gp each)
62	A stepping stool
63	An everburning torch
64	A 10 ft. long steel chain peppered with barnacles
65	A watermelon
66	A wooden mallet
67	A folded flag
68	A noble's outfit, neatly folded, with a fine pair of leather boots nearby
69	A cloth tent
70	A deer antler
71	An old red sled
72	A long red and white striped hat
73	The image of a human brain drawn in the dust
74	A felled pine tree with part of the trunk removed
75	A white wooden crate
76	A bronze star
77	A toothpick jammed into a tree
78	A horsehair brush
79	A tin horn
80	A green and red lute
81	A wagon wheel
82	A silver bell
83	A punctured leather ball
84	A silk, green tie
85	A dog stuck up a tree
86	A pincushion stuck with several steel pins
87	Scattered bits of cotton
88	A dream journal
89	A steel razor with a pearl handle
90	A pint of beer half buried in the dirt
91	A bushel of corn
92	A wooden ladder
93	A wet rolled up rug
94	A pair of bear skin slippers
95	An egg shaped pink crystal
96	An orange scarf
97	A yeti skin, draped over a statue
98	A headstone
99	A map of the realm
100	A treasure map protected dangerous runes

PARKS: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS AND OPPORTUNITIES

Parks are rife with opportunities for adventure.

D20

1	A bullette has burrowed into the park leaving large holes all around.
2	A druid has conjured a massive wall of lethal thorns around the park to keep a rare plant safe.

AREA FEATURES

Parks often have many features a canny adventurer can use to his advantage. Some basic features appear below, but particularly in public parks the GM should customise these descriptions to include flowers, rare tended plants and so on.

Walls: Urban Parks are often surrounded by walls. It helps keep the private parks exclusive, marks boundaries and can help keep some of the city activity outside.

Moderately agile PCs can leap a small boundary wall.

Taller walls of iron bars, stone blocks or brick can be climbed by PCs. They also provide partial cover.

Some deer park walls curve inward and feature small ramps on the outside to both help animals enter easily and make it nearly impossible for those animals to escape. It is easy to jump the wall from the outside ramp, but it is a very hard climbing task to get over the wall from the inside.

Hedge (Narrow): Narrow hedges are obstacles comprising neatly tended bushes.

Trying to cross a narrow hedge cost takes some time and it provides cover.

Hedge (Wide): Wide hedges are 5 ft. tall and fill an entire square.

It takes time to squeeze through such a hedge, but PCs versed in climbing may halve this time Wide hedges provide total cover.

Tree (Normal): A creature standing in the same square as a tree (moderate difficulty to climb) gains partial cover.

Trees (Massive): Huge trees (moderate difficulty to climb) fill an entire square. They provide cover.

Flowerbeds: Small colourful plants cover the ground, increasing making sneaking and acrobatic tricks slightly harder. It takes a little time to move through flowerbeds.

Undergrowth (Heavy): Dense bushes and other tangled growths make movement through these areas extremely difficult.

It is hard to pass through such a dense undergrowth. It is impossible to run and charge through a square containing heavy undergrowth. Characters in heavy undergrowth gain concealment can dive for cover and easily hide from foes.

3	The statue of one of the city's founders has begun to speak, claiming to be possessed by the founder's spirit.
4	A finely dressed woman yells loudly that her diamond ring has gone missing.
5	A food vendor sells kabobs, claiming them to be made of dire rat.
6	The city's sewers are backed up, making the park's grass soggy and pungent.
7	Amidst withering plants a foreign druid offers to end the dry spell for the low price of 20,000 gold.
8	A bunch of kids are digging holes throughout the park. If pressured they admit to overhearing a thief say he stashed a cache of jewels there.
9	City guards have barricaded the park until they find the "vicious animal" that has left several dead with bite and claw wounds.
10	A series of sporting contests are being held to celebrate The Feast of the White Stag.
11	Three panicking gardeners hurry to paint all the red roses white before the local ruler arrives to survey the grounds.
12	A sculptor surrounded by guards carves a statue of an unpopular nobleman. Nearby folk seem less than happy about the addition.
13	The river and pond has dried up in a heat wave revealing several veins of silvery metal.
14	The park is filled with families and vendors in celebration of a local festival.
15	Men line two sides of a field, armed with wooden swords, to recreate a famous battle. The man who was to play the legendary giant has broken his leg.
16	A contingent of soldiers is aggressively recruiting for the local lord's army. They offer free beer, great pay and a signing bonus; several have already taken up their offer.
17	A loud dwarf tries to round up competitors for a drinking contest; 2 copper a head, winner takes all.
18	All of the squirrels have mysteriously disappeared from the park.
19	Three treants are squatting in the park due to deforestation by neighbouring orc tribes. They do not leave until the orcs are driven from their forest home.
20	A homeless man tries to prevent anyone from entering the park claiming the trees are plotting a revolution. He is clearly mad.

PARKS: ASSOCIATED NPCs

Use the NPC bios below to portray individuals the PCs encounter within a park. Either determine randomly which NPC the PCs encounter or choose a suitable candidate.

D10	NPC
1	Orila Nikal
2	Indra Schoolsmith
3	Belryn Toisel
4	Devel Cynderfall
5	Brokel MalNit
6	Audri Fellswing
7	Hippo
8	Halen Honeywell
9	Elrin Dermot
10	Yelda Nosebiter

ORILA NIKAL

NG male human apprentice commoner

Appearance: Simple peasant clothes with well-worn knees.

Personality: A very friendly fellow who takes to new people in town and tries to make them feel welcome.

Mannerisms: He lifts his cap and rubs his scalp.

Hooks: Orila owes money his wife borrowed from a local gang before she mysteriously disappeared. He intends to pay it back somehow but doesn't dare ask for help. His predicament is a very juicy bit of town gossip at the moment.

INDRA SCHOOLSMITH

LN female half-elf apprentice expert

Appearance: A youth in her teens with twin long ponytails. She cares little for fashion but keeps a very neat appearance.

Personality: Indra questions everything said to her, rarely taking any statement at face value.

Mannerisms: Indra sighs when people around her seem foolish or slow.

Hooks: She's an apprentice scribe and has made a huge mistake, spilling ink over a page she has already transcribed. She reluctantly seeks help from those who may know the original text.

BELRYN TOISEL

CN male halfling apprentice commoner

Appearance: Wears clothes of earth coloured tones, rough leather shoes and a tight vest.

Personality: Belryn always seems to be in a rush and is often curt with strangers.

Mannerisms: Belryn speaks very quickly and tends to look around while others are talking.

Hooks: He's currently trying to manage relationships with two separate women, without either finding out. One is a barrister's daughter and he's paranoid he may end up being cast into a dungeon.

DEVEL CYNDERFALL

CN male elf apprentice adept

Appearance: A little bit wild with fur clothing with feather accents.

Personality: Devel keeps to himself mainly paying little regard to the others in the park.

Mannerisms: He can be difficult to hear at times, speaking in a very quiet tone.

Hooks: Devel is concerned the plants in the park are weakening and this may be a sign of greater trouble. He communes with nature and looks for a sign.

BROKEL MALNIT

CN female human apprentice aristocrat

Appearance: Garish dresses of gold silk with elaborate hairstyling one might expect to see at a ball. She is never without a prop such as an umbrella, fan or large bag.

Personality: She thinks herself better than most and terribly clever, when in reality she can be quite thick at times.

Mannerisms: Brokel has a nasal laugh and loves to make a large show of using whatever prop she has on hand.

Hooks: Brokel has become terribly bored with urban life. She wants to know more about the party if only to pass the time. Should the PCs stick around she tries to show them off about town. If they lose her favour she uses her money and influence to make things difficult for them.

AUDRI FELLSWING

N female dwarf apprentice fighter

Appearance: An elderly woman with thinning long white hair but a strong build.

Personality: Audri is loud and boisterously quick to make friends and put people in their place.

Mannerisms: She stares intently at people when they speak to her.

Hooks: Audri gave her axe to her eldest son who died in battle against giants. She would give most anything to have it – and his remains – returned to her family.

HIPPO

CN male halfling apprentice bard

Appearance: Colourful clothing that seems mismatched and ill-fitting.

Personality: Hippo seems jolly at first, telling jokes and doing tricks but he is also very intrusive, asking personal questions.

Mannerisms: He does not respect personal space and freely touches others and their things.

Hooks: Hippo decides with enthusiasm he wants to chronicle the exploits of one of the PCs. He does not seek permission, instead following them around, recording their deeds and asking annoying questions.

HALEN HONEYWELL

N female elf apprentice expert

Appearance: Halen's clothes are filthy as is her face and hair.

Personality: She holds herself in a restful manner and seems at peace among the bustling city.

Mannerisms: Halen looks down at her feet when in conversation with others.

Hooks: Halen works as an herbalist and grounds keeper. She was recently working with an herb that causes temporary memory loss, but she can't remember which one.

ELRIN DERMOT

LN male dwarf apprentice paladin

Appearance: Fully armoured in shining plate with a heavy warhammer and steel shield.

Personality: A bit gruff, he doesn't possess much social tact.

Mannerisms: Elrin drums the inside of his shield with his fingers.

Hooks: Elrin has fallen for one of the vendors who frequents the park but has had little luck expressing his feelings. He comes to the park each day but is too scared to speak with the object of his affections.

YELDA NOSEBITER

NG female human apprentice rogue

Appearance: Beautiful red hair with form-fitting clothes and tall boots.

Personality: Yelda is very chatty, happy to give news of the town's goings on and hear news from afar.

Mannerisms: Her red hair tends to slide down in front of her face; when it does so she flings it back with a whip of her neck.

Hooks: Yelda has a criminal background as a thief and a con artist. She's quite smart and knows how to take the money she has to make even more money. She's moved onto to a new town, and while she doesn't know how to keep a low profile she'd like to leave her past dealings behind her.

RUINED BUILDINGS: CHARACTERISTICS & APPEARANCE

Even in the most up-to-date of cities, there are always homes, buildings or districts that have been worn and weathered by time and the elements, or the misfortunes of their inhabitants.

D%
1	A small three-room house. Its doors and windows are boarded shut.
2	A small family house. Piles of wood lie in the yard where the window shutters have fallen off.
3	This house lists slightly to one side, its lawn strewn with debris. A tiny pet-sized graveyard hides in the house's north shadow.
4	A house with a sunken roof. Shingles occasionally clatter loose inside as the wreckage settles.
5	An overgrown house, wrapped in briars and ivy.
6	A house with sunken foundations. Its windows are level with the ground outside.
7	A blackened, soot-strewn house. Choking dust fills the air inside, and the property smells of ash.
8	A once-flooded house. Mouldy discolouration runs rampant inside and out.
9	A house with a smashed-in door. The smell of mange, dog fur and urine is overpowering.
10	A house with a large patio or porch, covered by a collapsed roof. Shattered windows and a rusty, stubborn back door are the only entrances.
11	A small shop. Broken glass and fallen shelves litter the floor, along with a few bricks.
12	This smithy still smells of slag, though its half-melted furnace is black and cold.
13	This winery's uneven, spongy floor is slick and wet, and smells sharply of vinegar.
14	A bakery, dusty and stripped bare. Squeaks and scratches all around herald rats in the walls.
15	An alchemy shop with the door ripped from its hinges and windows shattered. Strong fumes remain, and the building is slightly hazy.
16	A shop. A bloodstained carpet conceals a trapdoor locked from the inside.
17	A large but decaying shop that shows recent traffic. Interior doors are locked or barred.
18	A shop filled with rusty armour on mannequins.
19	A butcher's shop. The walls and windows are slightly green and smell of rancid meat.
20	This shop is spotless despite being abandoned for years. Squelching sounds can be heard inside.
21	A tavern. Its door and sign hang askew, and its tables and chairs are broken and scattered.
22	A once two-storey inn. The top floor has fallen into the ground floor.
23	A blackened husk of a tavern. Ashes drift out of a hole in the roof when the wind gusts.
24	An inn with a large hole in the wall and floor of its upper rooms.

25	A large abandoned inn and tavern. Blankets and tents inside form a small shantytown.
26	An old inn. Trees grow out through the windows.
27	A once-high-class inn. Tattered tapestries billow in drafts, giving a sense of haunted movement.
28	A fine inn. Faux-gold décor is now riddled with rust, and orange powder covers everything.
29	This inn is creaky, dusty and filled with termites.
30	The remains of this inn are blasted with a myriad strange colours, and the walls are desiccated.
31	A small schoolhouse. Its windows and door are gone, and its desks rotten.
32	A shop. It leans heavily on a buckling western wall, and half the roof has slid off.
33	A three-room house. The hedges around it have been left to grow into a wild wall.
34	A flooded shop. The rooms are filled to the windows with silt, mud and debris.
35	A tenement. The halls are open and occupied by homeless people, but the rooms and offices are boarded shut and locked with rusty bolts.
36	A large warehouse. Collapsed hallways block access to storerooms.
37	A large college, blackened with ash. A wall and part of the roof have crumbled and fallen.
38	The remains of a church. A large breach cuts through its centre erratically, leaving only rubble and scattered earth behind.
39	A university. Its tapestries are tattered, its windows shattered and its rooms ransacked.
40	A university, long abandoned. Its musty halls are now home to squatters.
41	A collapsed stable. Stale hay and splintered wood litter its surroundings.
42	A stable. One door and its wall have been smashed outward; the rest show signs of abuse.
43	A carriage depot. The ruined carriages lie parked, dusty with age and blackened by fire.
44	This carriage depot and its stable have collapsed into one another, leaving two sloped roofs over a tumble of splintered wood and broken glass.
45	A dock-master's stand. The building lists dangerously toward a ruined pier.
46	What's left of this dock office huddles around the wreckage of a small ship that crashed into it.
47	This blackened office smells of ashes and alcohol. Its roof is full of burn holes.
48	Rats have taken over this skeletal harbour-side warehouse. Its roof creaks off time with the tide.
49	A flooded sea-side way-station. It smells of mould and salt, and the walls are pitted with rot.
50	This way-station's roof lies crumpled by its neighbour after being torn away by a windstorm.
51	A crumbling watchtower. Loose bricks pile at its base from gaping holes in the top levels.

52	A hole in this tower's skeletal roof and blackened upper half evidence a stormy fate.
53	A small shrine. Its altar is broken in two.
54	Bloodstains, broken windows and lost or broken weapons tell a story of mutiny in this barracks.
55	Collapsed rubble and a makeshift barricade block off the west end of this old barracks.
56	This old prison is missing several cell walls.
57	This prison has been torn in half by an earthquake; the two halves remain standing, but the walls close to the break have collapsed.
58	A watch house, its front walls blasted by an old fire. Broken glass and overturned tables are scattered inside, and the rear door is torn off.
59	The roof of this flooded building is bloated and sagging. Fungus covers the floor.
60	This old military training building has weathered walls and boarded windows. Strange noises echo within, and bizarre lights move inside at night.
61	An abandoned barracks. It has been picked clean, leaving behind only bare bed frames and empty storerooms with broken doors.
62	A shrine. Tattered curtains and scattered incense cover the floor.
63	Blackened and melted candelabras are stuck to the floor of this burned-out shrine. Parts of the slag have been scraped or chipped off.
64	Part of this shrine's wall has been torn out, and its broken altar is covered in occult graffiti.
65	An old temple to a dead or forgotten god. Years of neglect have left the curtains and carpets faded and the windows broken
66	The attic and roof of this musty, dusty temple are crowded with flocks of pigeons.
67	The side wings of this temple are barely standing. The main shrine has several broken pews but is otherwise in fair condition.
68	Shattered stained glass drowns this run-down cathedral in a bizarre array of coloured light.
69	A column of sunlight falls through a hole in the roof of this ivy-ridden cathedral.
70	This church's floor has collapsed, creating a maze of wall-tops over its rubble-strewn crypt.
71	This old wizard's tower teeters slightly to the east. Its roof is strewn with nests.
72	A room-sized brass statue hangs halfway out of a broken wall at the top of this mage's tower.
73	The door has been torn off this mage tower's entrance. The equipment inside has been thoroughly destroyed and scattered.
74	This burned-out tower smells of sulphur, liquid metal and rotten incense.
75	This lichen-covered wizard's tower is sealed with rusty chains and heavy locks.
76	An ominous rumbling like an enormous heart fills the air around this worn, empty mage's tower.
77	Faded glyphs decorate the walls of this crumbling tower. The dusty air smells of ozone.

78	Sealed by boards and chains, this warehouse reeks of yeast and vinegar.
79	There is nothing left of this mage's tower except its foundation. Piles of broken, burnt stones and twisted metal fill the ruin.
80	This wizard's tower is sunk halfway into marshy ground.
81	A large mansion. Several wings have been ravaged by fire, and much of the roof is gone.
82	This mansion is lost in a forest of overgrown hedges, rampant ivy and myriad fungi.
83	A large sinkhole has devoured the west wing of this mansion. The rest of the building leans slightly toward its missing side.
84	This is a classic haunted mansion featuring boarded doors and windows, tattered tapestries and curtains waving in draughts and creaks and groans echoing through it at odd hours.
85	All the windows in this mansion have been broken outward. Ruined furniture litters the grounds and clogs a smashed fountain.
86	Rust and rot have set in on the exterior of this manor. Bricks and boards crumble with age.
87	Once a fine palace, this crumbling building has lost four rooms and is now filled with vagabonds, the homeless and stray animals.
88	This building has partially fallen into a dried up pond. Cobwebs choke the rest of the building.
89	The upper levels of this mansion have collapsed, filling lower levels with piles of silt and debris.
90	Brackish, foul-smelling water fills this partially-sunken mansion's basement and ground floor.
91	This warehouse has been picked clean by looters, leaving an empty shell with smashed doors.
92	The upper level of this wizard's tower appears to have been pulled inward by a powerful force. The exterior seems otherwise undamaged.
93	Though its doors and windows are boarded shut, birds and rodents flock to this warehouse through its skeletal roof.
94	A riot of fungus covers this building's roof.
95	Though it hasn't collapsed yet, this warehouse's walls are buckling. Rushed patch jobs strain against the weight of the crumbling frame.
96	A livestock stockade. Splintered walls and barricades evidence a stampede; the building creaks and sways ominously in the slightest wind.
97	A publican's office. A smashed safe lies in the middle of the lobby, and the cabinets are broken.
98	This office has dented shelves and walls, broken windows and bloodstains on the floor.
99	This shop still has its broken-free door lying in the middle of the floor. The inside is ransacked, but the exterior only looks worn and faded.
100	A grave-keeper's hut. Its door hangs askew and its contents are scattered about the cemetery.

RUINED BUILDINGS: DRESSING

Use this table to provide interesting details about the state of a ruined building, along with particular damages or signs of decay. Some may be inappropriate based on the locale's set up; ignore such results and simply re-roll.

D%
1	Broken windows
2	Broken door
3	Missing door
4	Missing sign
5	Defaced sign
6	Broken or missing knocker
7	Missing doorknob
8	Missing window bolt
9	Splitting wood
10	Shattered wood
11	Missing beams or supports
12	Chipped or crumbling bricks
13	Missing bricks
14	Rusty gate or fence
15	Broken or missing gate door
16	Overgrown lawn
17	Overgrown hedges
18	Ivy or vine overgrowth
19	Brier overgrowth
20	Overgrown tree
21	Fallen tree
22	Rotten fruit
23	Rodent nests, burrows or warrens
24	Bird nests or warrens
25	Stray warrens
26	Fire damage (minor, exterior)
27	Fire damage (minor, interior)
28	Fire damage (major)
29	Flood damage
30	Standing water
31	Widespread mould
32	Rotting structures
33	Termite infestation damage
34	Wasp bolt-hole
35	Rust infestation
36	Combat damage
37	Destroyed furniture
38	Broken interior walls
39	Crumbling ceiling
40	Collapsed ceiling
41	Spongy floors
42	Holes in floor
43	Collapsed floor
44	Fallen chandelier
45	Tattered curtains
46	Faded tapestries
47	Rotten rugs

48	Burned rugs
49	Waterlogged rugs
50	Interior plant overgrowth
51	Fungal growth
52	Persistent draught
53	Howling draught
54	Flooded cellar
55	Layer of mud on floor and/or walls
56	Silt deposits
57	Faded silhouettes of stolen objects
58	Defaced paintings/portraits
59	Blood stains
60	Corpse or skeleton
61	Scrap metal
62	Metal slag
63	Scattered glass
64	Spilled chemicals
65	Persistent water leak
66	Building sways with the wind
67	Building lists toward one direction
68	Collapsed room
69	Collapsed chimney and/or fireplace
70	Collapsed level/story
71	Boarded windows
72	Boarded doorways
73	Chained doorways
74	Recent footprints (humanoid)
75	Recent footprints (animal)
76	Squatters (beggars)
77	Squatters (hostile)
78	Squatters (indifferent/oblivious)
79	Graffiti
80	Lingering scent (ash/smoke)
81	Lingering scent (vinegar)
82	Lingering scent (ozone)
83	Lingering scent (animal musk/refuse)
84	Lingering scent (sulphur)
85	Lingering scent (rotten/rotting food)
86	Fallen or missing shingles
87	Fallen wall
88	Entire wing is missing
89	Sunken roof
90	Hole(s) in roof
91	Collapsed roof
92	Sunken foundations
93	Cracked or crumbling foundations
94	Fallen tower
95	Ruined magical/alchemy equipment
96	Imploded wall
97	Explosion imprint
98	Burned silhouettes on walls
99	Bizarre lights and/or movement
100	Lingering wild magic field

RUINED BUILDINGS: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS & OPPORTUNITIES

Although the PCs may simply want to examine or pass by the remnants of an abandoned building, sometimes fate intervenes. Use this table to determine what opportunities or complications the PCs encounter.

D20

1	A pack of fiercely territorial dogs attacks anything that comes within a few feet of the building.
2	A sudden gust of wind sends a pile of bricks or shingles toppling toward the nearest PC.
3	The ruined building and its property are the backdrop for a stand-off between nobles and watchmen and a large gang of squatters. The nobles want the property cleared; the squatters are refusing to leave their "home."
4	The crumbling building is infested with a gang of pugwampi gremlins, who arrange accidents and take glee in trapping or killing people investigating the ruin.
5	The basement of this abandoned building is now the headquarters of a murderous cult.
6	Though it appears abandoned, this old and deteriorating house is actually the temporary residence of a vagrant priestess who serves as a silent benefactor to the city's poor.
7	Ghostly music echoes from within this collapsing shop, drifting up from somewhere below.
8	Recently dug pits and mounds fill the lawn of this property, as if someone has been digging for buried treasure here over the past few days.
9	Despite the rest of the building being in various states of decay, one room – an enormous library behind a locked metal door (superior lock) – is in pristine condition.
10	This flooded building is said to be home to an enormous man-eating snake. It's half true – a couatl has taken up residence, but she lives on rodents, sewer fish and strays.
11	The chemicals from this dilapidated alchemist's laboratory have seeped into the ground and water, causing strange mutations in local flora and fauna.
12	Though their home is in wretched shape, it's still inhabited by a friendly old couple who don't seem to notice the decay around them, and eagerly welcome visitors.
13	The teetering clock tower hasn't seen use in years, but recently people have spotted tiny constructs skittering to and fro around it.
14	The local watch has barred and chained this rickety tower shut; the wizard who owns it, however, is making a very public display of his disappointment, without harming anyone... yet.
15	A small group of druids have begun treating this foliage-choked property as a meeting place and sanctuary when they must visit the city.

16	Rumoured to be haunted, this old manor is a favourite place for dares, challenges and clandestine meetings for the city's youth. A few accidents and vanishings only add to its mystique.
17	A few displays, faded and tattered with age, remain in this abandoned taxidermist's. The shop is actually a front, disguising the hidden (and guarded) entrance to a local thieves' guild.
18	A distraught poor family scrabbles at a collapsed room of their rotting house, screaming for help from anyone passing by to dig out their trapped son.
19	No matter what anyone tries to do, this scorched building and its immediate surroundings always seem to catch fire again within a few days to a week after the last blaze is put out. How it hasn't collapsed to ashes is anyone's guess.
20	This ancient ruin is haunted. Not by undead, however; rather, by a quasit that lurks here and preys on the souls of those stupid enough to investigate the building.

RUINED BUILDINGS: LEGENDS & RUMOURS

Legends and rumours are often associated with certain buildings. Use this table to determine what the PCs may learn about the building in question.

D20

1	This building was once the home or headquarters of a notorious thief. Surely his ill-gotten gains must still be hidden here somewhere. But what traps has he set to protect his ill-gotten loot?
2	Though it's a wreck now, this building was in good condition when it was seized and boarded up by the local government years ago. No one knows why they did that, but some say the place was the centre of devil worship.
3	Animals – be they stray pets, local vermin, or even wildlife from outside the city limits – always seem to be drawn to this place. What, or who, is calling them here? And why?
4	Its old owner, a wealthy heiress who was buried alive when the roof collapsed after a heavy rainstorm, haunts this building. She can't move on until her inheritance is returned to her, and no one can repair or tend the building while she's there.
5	Though the weathering here looks natural, it was actually a case of clever and efficient sabotage. This used to be the front for a local thieves' guild, until it got done in by a rival.
6	This abandoned building is silent during the day, but occasional noises and a flickering light at night reveal a vampire lairs here and stalks the hallways in the dark hours.
7	The lawn of this overgrown building seems to spread and grow with uncanny speed. And sometimes, when no one is watching, the trees move. Perhaps strange plant creatures or a deranged druid lives within.
8	Even before it was condemned, this building was notorious for accidents. Most people who try to investigate the remains have something unpleasant happen to them once they get inside. It's like the building itself doesn't want visitors.
9	This ruin has become a sort of spiritual focal point for the poor people in its district. Small offerings of food, wine, coins and trinkets are left within, and are always gone by morning. But nobody ever sees anyone take them. Perhaps tunnels beneath the ruin link up with the sewers or the cellars of other nearby buildings.
10	A strange and savage cult once performed sacrifices here. Whatever fell masters they served, they and their minions (and, perhaps, the uneasy dead of the sacrificial victims) still lurk in this ruined place. This supposed taint has left the building abandoned. No one wants to repair the ruined structure for fear of what they might find.

11	The man who owned this place before it started falling apart demanded he be buried on his own property when he died. Since then, no one has been able to live or work here more than a few weeks, so the building was abandoned.
12	There was clearly some sort of magical or alchemical accident that made this place uninhabitable. Even now, passers-by swear they see movement and odd lights, hear voices and sounds and smell sharp chemical scents wafting out of the rubble and dust.
13	Rather than retire to a large villa in the country or a mansion in the city, a notable soldier instead elected to move into this unassuming place. Long years have passed and she's gone or dead now, but certainly there has to be a reason someone of such significance chose this unimportant place as home.
14	This ancient building is only still standing because it was built by dwarves. Somewhere deep within its cellars and basements is a hidden tunnel, leading to hidden riches in mines deep beneath the city.
15	Mould and fungus in the remnants of this building has absorbed or developed a magical taint. When the wind blows through the draughty remains of the property, it scatters fungal spores which cause hallucinogenic visions or prophetic dreams for people living nearby.
16	The strange lights and sounds that come from this place at night are assumed to be caused by a haunting. But some don't think it is. It's rumoured to be just a cover for something more mundane, like smuggling. Whatever the cause, there is a distinct lack of beggars on the surrounding streets.
17	The rampant ivy and briars choking the crumbling remnants of this building actually originate from inside, growing from a central mother or core plant. It might have magical powers.
18	Tragedy has befallen this place because the local wizards use it as a sort of experiment zone for their spells. The city lets them get away with it because of the "mage tax" they pay.
19	The bitter metallic scent and taste in the air around this building is caused by cold iron, which was used in part of the construction. But why hasn't anyone dug through the walls of the crumbling building to take the rare and useful metal? Was it meant to be there for something more important, like keeping something out (or in)?
20	When the spellcaster who once lived here was driven out of town, he left something behind: a powerful monster he bound, summoned or created. It's only a matter of time before it wakes up, breaks free and wreaks havoc. The local authorities don't seem to care but nearby residents are trying to hire adventurers to explore the ruin.

SAGES: CHARACTERISTICS & APPEARANCE

Every sage's place of business should have a distinctive appearance. Use these tables to generate their interesting characteristics and features. Some features may be inappropriate based on your set up or what the PCs have encountered. Ignore such results and simply re-roll.

EXTERIOR

D%
01-02	A stone gargoyle hangs menacingly over the outer door.
03-04	The door knocker resembles a snarling beast.
05-06	A lonely bench rests just outside the door for visitors to wait for their appointed time.
07-08	A small bell hangs outside the door for visitors to announce their presence.
09-10	The building has a small moat, drawbridge and gate.
11-12	Crumpled up papers with blotched ink and strange symbols lie on the ground.
13-14	Half-full food and water bowls are set to the side of the doorway.
15-16	The carcass of a small bird or rodent has been carefully set before the door.
17-18	Several man-high scratch marks mar the door.
19-20	A wall sconce by the door holds a torch burning with a strange colour and a stranger odour.
21-22	A nearly empty bowl of milk sits near the door.
23-24	To get to the front door visitors must push through a veritable forest of overgrown trees and shrubbery.
25-26	A small vegetable garden has been neatly planted and maintained about the building. Its plants are heavy with produce.
27-28	Two red banners hang listlessly from upper floor windows.
29-30	A bronze statue of the god of knowledge stands prominently by the building's door.
31-32	The flag of a far off kingdom flies from the building's roof.
33-34	Visitors see a tapping at a window near the door and see someone who may be the sage's spouse beckoning them in.
35-36	The door appears to be older than the house and is made of incredibly hard, black wood.
37-38	The road to the sage's home has been long neglected and become overgrown.
39-40	The smell of fresh bread and fresh flowers emanates from the building.
41-42	The once beautiful garden has gone to seed.
43-44	The ground surrounding the sage's cottage is brown and withered with blight.
45-46	A porch swing sways gently in the breeze, on a squeaky chain.

47-48	A strange odour emanates from the building.
49-50	Stones in the walkway leading to the front door are covered in raised arcane symbols.
51-52	All along the outside of the building are passages hastily painted in an ancient language.
53-54	Sampling any fruit or vegetables from the garden leaves a strange taste in a visitor's mouth.
55-56	A windowsill holds an odd smelling pie that looks delicious.
57-58	Bells line the walkway to the front door ringing gently in the breeze.
59-60	Each stone in the walkway is set at a different height, making following the path treacherous.
61-62	Visitors hear small metal strips banging the walls in the wind to keep animals off the roof.
63-64	Out of the corner of their eyes, visitors notice a menagerie of small animals watching closely as they approach the door.
65-66	The smell of ozone permeates the air about the building and is particularly heavy at the door.
67-68	A fire burns what must have been a small pile of pages and scrolls as you approach.
69-70	A tall tree standing in front of the building is decorated by hundreds of small ornaments, each with a single rune of an ancient language.
71-72	A wrought iron gate surrounds the property. Mystic symbols decorate the weathered metal.
73-74	A worn-looking rocking chair rests on the porch.
75-76	The odour of putrescence wafts from a nearby pit containing rotting corpses of small animals.
77-78	A tired-looking messenger arrives at the sage's door moments before the party.
79-80	A murder of crows rests on a low stone wall surrounding the property.
81-82	The door to the sage's home stands wide open and hangs from one hinge.
83-84	A number of small holes have been dug in the ground around the building.
85-86	A dozen statues depicting ancient mythological creatures stand atop the building's roof.
87-88	Three rickety steps lead up to the front door. Each creaks and groans loudly when stepped on.
89-90	A small shrine pierces the low stone wall lining the property.
91-92	A front window features a beautiful stained glass treatment of a local legendary figure.
93-94	The front yard features numerous small bird feeders; many beautiful perch within.
95-96	An ancient stone has been incorporated into the building's external wall.
97-98	A dangerously leaning chimney set in the roof's peak spews smoke into the sky.
99-100	A small child waits patiently on the steps outside the sage's house.

INTERIOR

D%
01-02	Two racks of scrolls, clearly labelled "Arcane" and "Mundane" are neatly stored upon a shelf.
03-04	Loose papers on every conceivable subject litter the desk; each contains hastily scrawled notes in red ink.
05-06	A large black rock (a meteorite) serves as a paperweight.
07-08	Three small crystal skulls sit staring at the desk from a nearby bookshelf.
09-10	The sage sits upon a small three-legged stool, choosing to leave a large padded chair for potential clients.
11-12	A small vase full of freshly cut flowers and herbs fills the office with an aromatic bouquet.
13-14	The light from a nearby window shines upon the portrait of a famous scholar of antiquity.
15-16	A plaque mounted on the wall features a quote from a famous contemporary.
17-18	Resting beneath the sage's desk is a large, old (and flatulent) hunting dog.
19-20	Hanging on a wall hook rests a bright red, cowled cloak.
21-22	A name plate on the front of the desk has a different name to the sage sitting at the desk.
23-24	A small porcelain bust of a famous scholar rests on the desk.
25-26	Several rolled-up maps lay upon the desk with a pile of hastily written notes.
27-28	A deep blue dried ink stain mars the sage's desk.
29-30	A pair of beautiful feather pens stands in two different inkwells.
31-32	A long-haired cat sits lazily on the desk. It eyes all visitors with contempt.
33-34	Hung on the wall is a beautifully painted family portrait of the sage, his wife and children.
35-36	The sage's calendar is left open on the desk with the word "Interruption" hastily written in red ink on today's date.
37-38	A huge chalkboard fills one wall of the room, covered with esoteric symbols and words.
39-40	The sage's huge desk is bolted to the floor in such a way as to stop a trapdoor beneath it being opened.
41-42	A half-full beer stein stands atop a pile of papers.
43-44	A collection of empty flagons clusters precariously at one corner of the desk.
45-46	Four old candles have dripped wax down each of the desk's corners.
47-48	Beneath a pile of papers half-hidden words are scratched into the desk's top.
49-50	A complex mechanical device rotates slowly in the centre of the desk showing the sun, planet(s) and moon(s) (based on current scientific knowledge).

51-52	Piled on a bookshelf are displayed cases containing every known insect in the country.
53-54	A collection of crystals of a variety of sizes, colours and types covers the desk.
55-56	Vials in a rack bubble and sizzle with unknown energies along a workbench.
57-58	Several jars containing grotesque samples line crowded bookshelves.
59-60	A small mirror rests on the desk, angled towards the sage in the chair.
61-62	Unfolded on the desk is a letter with the words "Help me..." scrawled in horrible handwriting.
63-64	In a room with no windows and no breeze, papers suddenly tumble through the air before covering the floor.,
65-66	Resting across a stack of papers is a fantastic weapon of ancient design wrought with strange glowing runes.
67-68	The inside of the door to the sage's office is heavily scratched.
69-70	Curtains embroidered with a flower pattern adorn the single window in the office.
71-72	In the centre of the sage's office are two chairs set facing each other. There is no other furniture.
73-74	Ancient, faded tapestries depicting various legendary events cover one wall.
75-76	In addition to the papers and books crowding the desk a spread of tarot cards depicts someone's impending death.
77-78	Sitting quietly in a cage in the corner is a large bird. It glares menacingly at all visitors.
79-80	The floor of the room is littered with papers torn into small pieces.
81-82	Sounds echo strangely in this room.
83-84	A headless statue stands in one corner of the room holding a sceptre in one hand and a book in the other.
85-86	The door to this room sticks in the jamb and must be forced open.
87-88	A primitive drum rests along one wall with a small three-legged stool.
89-90	Along one wall rests a table filled with glass vials, tubing, jars and bottles arranged in a complex construction.
91-92	The window is open and three small birds sit singing merrily on the sill.
93-94	The sound of running water echoes through the building. Its source remains hidden.
95-96	A small cot stands against one wall of the room. A bulging bag of clothes stands nearby.
97-98	Hung on a series of hooks are many different hats of every conceivable design.
99-100	A strange tower of small marked stones all the same size has been partially built on the desk.

SAGES: WHISPERS & RUMOURS

As scholars and learned folk, whispers and rumours often swirl about sages and their researched. Their association with adventurers and the like often give rise to rumours of forbidden knowledge, lost treasure maps and the like.

D20

1	The sage has a map to a buried treasure or lost wonder hidden in their office.
2	Strange noises have been noticed coming from the sage's office. Local officials are concerned but haven't yet investigated.
3	A local sage, once young and hale, has suddenly become thin and sickly. He denies anything is wrong.
4	The sage has an addiction to a rare type of tobacco or other plant not grown or found locally. He goes to great lengths to acquire a supply.
5	The sage is locked in a bitter dispute with a rival over a piece of esoteric lore. Their public arguments – which few can follow – are the stuff of legend.
6	The sage's office is haunted.
7	Years ago the sage was thought to be involved in the theft of a magical tome. The book has never come to light, even though his home has been secretly searched several times.

8	The sage loves the colour blue.
9	The sage has a collection of priceless religious artifacts from a long-dead cult hidden somewhere.
10	More than one group of adventurers seeking this sage's help have never been seen again.
11	The sage is afraid of the dark.
12	A strange figure looking a lot like the sage has been spotted digging up bodies in a local graveyard.
13	Though retired to a quiet life now, the sage was once a famed adventurer. He is thought to have a soft spot for such folk.
14	The sage has written poetry under a pseudonym.
15	The sage has sired a few children out-of-wedlock. He pays handsomely every month to keep the matter quiet.
16	Two of the sage's former students have been prosecuted for the theft of arcane artifacts.
17	The sage keeps a troubled child locked in a room in his house.
18	The sage recently suffered a strange accident and is now horribly disfigured. He rarely leaves the house and never goes out during the day.
19	The sage has a secret lair hidden deep beneath his house.
20	The sage is not the race she claims to be.

SAGES: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS & OPPORTUNITIES

Although the PCs may simply want to engage a sage to answer a specific question, sometimes fate intervenes. Use this table to determine what opportunities or complications the PCs may encounter while trying to make their purchase.

D20

1	A revered local sage recently passed away and an auction has been arranged to dispose of his worldly possessions. Rumoured to be among those items are several maps, journals and sketches of an area far from civilization the sage investigated when he was younger. A number of agents of sages across the known world are seeking his notes and may use force if they cannot acquire them legally.
2	A young sage has announced a big discovery in the area of decoding lost languages and arranged a talk at a local fine tavern. A group of sages has formed to stop him from revealing anything that might damage their livelihood. The sage is seeking protection.
3	The sage was recently visited by three men in dark robes decorated with strange symbols. He was visibly shaken afterwards and does not willingly entertain strangers any more.
4	The sage has been asking around town to determine if anyone has seen a particular rune, symbol or figure in any local ruins.
5	A local investigator the sage has used to check out new clients has turned up missing recently. His fate remains questionable.
6	A local sage needs some adventuring work done and will barter a favour with the PCs in return for answering their question.
7	A member of the sage's family has been kidnapped and is being held ransom. He needs the PCs' help to retrieving a lost artifact to ransom her back.
8	The sage has been seen in the surrounding towns and villages speaking secretly to innkeepers and tavern masters.
9	The very sage the PCs need to speak to has been missing for a few days after venturing into the nearby woods to research local fauna (a hobby of his).
10	The sage has had a long-standing friendship with a local cleric who has gone missing. He is seeking heroes to locate his missing friend.
11	The sage needs a brave party to gather a rare plant that only grows near the lair of a known monstrous beast. She would prefer the monster not be harmed in the process.
12	A group of particularly vociferous monks has a major philosophical difference of opinion with the sage and has been spreading rumours and lies about the veracity of the sage's wisdom.

13	An entire murder of crows has taken up residence on the local sage's property. Though the authorities have no proof, they believe someone is dead or near death at the home.
14	The local sage recently got married, but her spouse has been accused of sorcery and witchcraft. She seeks heroes to find evidence to clear her spouse's good name.
15	A strange blue light has been seen floating in the air near the sage's house. Nobody has come close to seeing what it is, but it has everyone in the area worried and afraid to visit.
16	A new priest has been souring the populace against the heretical views of the sage who has lived there all his life. He asks the PCs to find out why.
17	The sage has locked herself into her office for days working on some strange new project. She won't speak to anyone who comes to the door and the townsfolk are concerned.
18	Dogs have gathered near the sage's house a few times this week. Their howling lasts much of the night.
19	A strong smell of sulphur has recently wafted from the sage's house. She has not been seen since.
20	Livestock in the area have recently become sick and the townspeople accuse the sage of making compacts with dark forces.

BUSY?

Of course, sometimes sages are busy and cannot start work immediately on an adventurer's query. Use this table to determine a sage's availability.

D6

1	Available. The sage can start immediately.
2	Available. The sage can start immediately, but was planning a few days off. He demands an extra 25% of normal price to begin work.
3	Start Tomorrow. The sage will start work tomorrow.
4	Already Working. The sage is already working for another client and the work will take 1d2 days to complete.
5	Already Working. The sage is already working for another client and the work will take 1d2 weeks to complete.
6	Unavailable. The sage is engaged in a personal project of great complexity. He is unavailable to work for the PCs for 1d4 weeks.

SAGES: SAMPLE SAGES

Use the NPC bios below to portray sages the PCs encounter. Either determine randomly which NPC the PCs encounter or choose a suitable candidate.

D10	NPC
1	Juul Zur
2	Kabbi Dux
3	Laxxa Tozi
4	Mayn Worst
5	Nor Xay
6	Pezzin Yebs
7	Robal Tuckle
8	Spyr Rokk
9	Tup Migo
10	Vaggan Roe

JUUL ZUR

NE male human apprentice expert/bard (detective)

Appearance: Zur always arrives in food-stained clothing. He is the epitome of the messy chef.

Personality: Juul is an obsessive cook. Bubbly and excited to share his latest recipe or research find with anyone who comes to see him. Unfortunately many of those recipes deal with cannibalism, extinct species and ritual food preparation.

Mannerisms: Juul speaks with his hands and constantly uses broad gestures. This makes him a scary individual when he is holding knives.

Hooks: He seeks a recipe book rumoured to have been seen in a nearby town a few days ago.

KABBI DUX

NG male dwarf apprentice expert/adept

Appearance: Dux is a distinguished-looking dwarf who keeps a classic look of dark robes and a finely groomed beard when meeting with clients.

Personality: Brusque, he always seems like he's in a hurry to be somewhere else. He prefers direct questions, not leading ones, and quickly redirect the conversation back to the topic at hand.

Mannerisms: His pipe is always lit. The rich smell of fine tobacco hangs in his office like a pregnant cloud. As he gets more agitated, his pipe puffing increases in frequency and if he's comfortable in the conversation the frequency decreases.

Hooks: One of his dwarven brethren was waylaid on a trip. Dux seeks knowledge of his whereabouts and his safe return.

LAXXA TOZI

CE female halfling apprentice bard/expert

Appearance: Tozi dresses in the style of her people with brash colours, decorative jewellery and tattoos. Each decorative element tells a story and she often weaves those tales into her scholarly recitations for clients.

Personality: Where some scholars simply recite things in a dry monotone, Laxxa prefers a more theatrical approach as if she were telling a story around a campfire.

Mannerisms: Tozi was a respected witch doctor for her tribe until she was banished for leading an uprising against her chief. Since then she uses her unconventional point of view and folk wisdom to steer clients towards mutually beneficial outcomes.

Hooks: Some old tribe members have come to her seeking help with a nearby tribe of orcs causing trouble. She can't go herself, but is looking for a party to act in her stead.

MAYNE WORST

CG female halfling apprentice expert

Appearance: Myne is pale and withdrawn, keeping to the shadows and preferring dark coloured clothes and safe corners.

Personality: Paranoid and skittish, she has trouble sitting still for too long. She constantly checks the windows and doors at her home are locked.

Mannerisms: Mayne hasn't left her home in years and lives with blacked-out windows and triply-locked doors. Refuses to use names in public conversations, giving her clients new "code names" each time they come to see her.

Hooks: This conspiracy theorist has heard an assassin's guild is after her for getting too close to the truth about their organization. She seeks protectors to spirit her away to a safe location.

NOR XAY

CG female halfling apprentice wizard (diviner)

Appearance: This older lady has a wrinkled face and a kind smile. She wears a floor-length simple robe with frayed gold thread in a decorative pattern.

Personality: Always ready to help, Nor is quick to tell you her latest troubles. She is optimistic despite many setbacks in her life.

Mannerisms: A jolly laugh often erupts from her small frame as she listens intently before climbing the ladders of her extensive in-home library to search out her patron's answer.

Hooks: Her husband, Lum, passed away recently and requested a small box of items be returned to his family estate some distance away. Though Nor cannot travel herself, she would gladly pay the PCs to deliver the items for her.

PEZZIN YEBS

NE male human apprentice expert

Appearance: Fat and gray, Pezzin looks older than he actually is, but his rotundity is only matched by his love for food.

Personality: Overbearing and presumptive, Pezzin is known for being very free with his information. Ask a question and you may never get him to be quiet again.

Mannerisms: Pezzin comes across as nervous and sweaty. He drools constantly.

Hooks: Pezzin recently steered a group in the wrong direction, resulting in the death of a party member. He has been receiving more and more dire threats against his life and is seeking help dealing with the angry party.

ROBAL TUCKLE

NG male gnome apprentice wizard (illusionist)

Appearance: Short and rotund, Robal is a sad man suffering from the recent death of his only son. His unkempt and unwashed self has fallen upon hard times.

Personality: When engaged by a problem and distracted from his personal woes, he can be quite insightful and offer solid ideas and information for any group asking questions. He speaks in bursts, with long pauses between as he considers his words.

Mannerisms: It can be difficult to get and keep Robal's attention, as he is distracted easily. He brightens briefly if you bring him a toy to add to the growing posthumous collection in his child's room.

Hooks: Robal's wife has gone missing. She left the house one day and never came back. He wishes to know she is safe even if she never comes home.

SPYR ROKK

LN gnome male apprentice rogue (investigator)

Appearance: Spyr is a level-headed gnome of middle years who wears brightly coloured cloaks in a regular pattern throughout the week: red, followed by orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, and violet.

Personality: Staid and calm, Spyr is recognized as a leader in his field. He listens intently and asks many questions before rendering an opinion.

Mannerisms: Spyr's monotone voice comes out as squeaky despite his attempts to lower it, making any long conversations rise and fall as he loses control.

Hooks: An adventuring party went to his office to consult on the background of a nearby ruin and asked a question that reduced the gnome to tears. Nobody can remember Spyr getting upset before and the party has not yet returned.

TUP MIGO

CG female human apprentice expert

Appearance: Tup Migo is a beautiful woman with knowledge far beyond her years. She prefers to use her beauty as a tool to keep clients off balance or at ease depending on her mood.

Personality: She is friends with everybody and connected in the most unexpected ways. Easygoing and pleasant to be around, she can influence those around her with a kind word and an emotive glance.

Mannerisms: Because she is so connected, she always needs a bit of extra time to consult with her network of sources on every new job. She is always apologetic for any delays, but makes sure to build them into every negotiation from the start.

Hooks: Several members of her network of sources have disappeared recently. One or two isn't unusual, as the makeup of the network changes frequently, but she has lost five contacts in recent weeks and wants to know what's going on.

VAGGAN ROE

NG female human apprentice aristocrat/expert

Appearance: Vaggan is a stately, beautiful woman in her middle-years. She proudly bears her family crest on a bright red sash she wears while in public.

Personality: Perpetually vociferous, she has a tendency to say exactly what's on her mind despite the consequences.

Mannerisms: She thinks out loud whenever working, causing no end of grief to those around her.

Hooks: Lately a small group of thieves have taken it upon themselves to set upon any rich client of Roe's immediately after they leave her residence. They simply stay within earshot and when a particularly affluent or influential client walks away, they are robbed and told to stay away. With a quickly dwindling list of clients, she needs the PC's help to take care of the thieves discretely to save her business.

SHRINES: CHARACTERISTICS AND APPEARANCE

A shrine is a site of veneration for a deity, personage or ideal. They range in composition and size. Use the tables below to generate a shrine's basic details.

D20	TYPE
1-12	Personal
13-19	Public
20	Major

- Personal: Often not more than a shelf in a home or business. Personal shrines are small, containing 1-3 pieces of minor veneration. They may be private or intended for humble public display. Some even bundle up for easy transportation.
- Public: Small to large shrines are meant to be accessible to the greater population. Found often in parks, squares and graveyards, they may have a single piece of minor veneration or quite a deal more.
- Major: Other shrines develop because they hold something so unique that others amongst the faithful travel from the surrounding countryside or even farther for the chance to worship before it. Such places of veneration are often grander in scope, and may have temples built up around them.

D%	PERSONAL
1-4	A simple shelf of repurposed wood.
5-8	A well-polished shelf of oak.
9-11	A shelf of jade with black detail work.
12-14	A shelf of pine engraved with images of clouds.
15-17	A marble shelf flanked by candles.
18-20	An old bookshelf, stained with ink.
21-23	A simple shelf covered by a small white cloth.
24-26	A large wooden shelf, with built in dividers.
27-30	A shelf of birch, the bark still intact.
31-33	A shelf of white quartz with a green cloth runner.
34-36	Three small, square stone alcoves.
37-39	An old wooden cabinet with glass doors.
40-42	An open wooden cabinet with a rounded top.
43-45	A small square wooden cabinet with blue doors.
46-48	A musty, yellow cabinet that has doors with empty glass panes.
49-51	A pale blue cabinet decorated with colour paper.
52-54	A bleached white wooden cabinet decorated with sea shells.
55-57	Three grey stone shelves set in a column.
58-60	A small red cabinet with engraved doors.
61-63	An open wooden cabinet with circular alcoves.
64-66	A copper cabinet with multi-hinged doors.
67-69	An open cabinet of white stones carved to look like a small temple.
70-72	A frame of wood atop a single drawer.
73-75	A frame of mouldy dried sand, set into the shape of a castle.

76-78	A hung wooden crate, missing the outward side.
79-81	A small wooden end table with a green cloth.
82-84	An old crate covered with a worn blanket.
85-87	A small, unfinished wooden box, laid on its side.
88-89	A large, circular pine cabinet hanging by chains.
90	An old bone cabinet with no doors.
91	A stone cabinet designed to look like a temple when the doors are closed.
92	A wooden cabinet, whose insides are hidden by red, silk curtains.
93	A cabinet of oak, lined with bronze.
94	A steel open cabinet with a leather lining.
95	A small square of silver, with a white linen covering the inside bottom.
96	A large, white wooden cabinet with stained glass doors.
97	A shelf of glass, resting on a large double-headed, warhammer.
98	An adamantine box, with clear glass lid.
99	A small, banged up tin, crudely painted with iconography.
100	An old handkerchief, rolled with the object of veneration and laid flat when needed.

D%	PUBLIC
1-4	A stone dais, about four feet tall.
5-8	A small stone alcove in the shape of a shell.
9-11	A wooden gazebo with heavy curtains.
12-14	A large, red wooden archway with a small altar.
15-17	Stone steps, leading to a simple altar.
18-20	A stone torii, overgrown with moss and vines.
21-23	A series of small tables, draped with brightly coloured fabric.
24-26	A small stone fountain with shelves in its base.
27-30	A flagstone archway with small alcove beneath.
31-33	A large wooden cabinet, painted gold, which is shaped like a statue when closed.
34-36	A rock garden with several large boulders.
37-39	A pair of trees, with interwoven branches shading several stone benches.
40-42	A wooden archway overgrown with ivy.
43-45	A stone semi-sphere, with a small granite altar.
46-48	A short wooden pyramid, covered in offerings.
49-51	A fieldstone wall, with small metal shelves.
52-54	Four steel poles holding up a slanted slate roof over an old rug.
55-57	A small bronze altar set before a stone wall painted with the image of a divine realm.
58-60	A small metal plaque featuring scores of names, set into a base of stone.
61-63	A small wooden dais with a roof of loose planks and woven flowers.
64-66	An old foundation surrounding a small alcove with a simple stone table.

67-69	A green, wooden bower with a built in shelf.
70-72	The remains of an old stone wall protects two small alcoves.
73-75	A small stone table set in the centre of a large red quilt.
76-78	A large wooden building with columns for walls and coral coloured roof.
79-81	A large torii of felled logs.
82-84	A stone column engraved with ancient scripture.
85-87	A small stone alcove with a pointed roof and circular base.
88-89	A small wooden hut, featuring a simple table and some pillows for kneeling.
90	An alcove built of human skulls set over a metal basin.
91	A small stone pavilion marked with jade columns.
92	A small stone dais featuring mini arches of bronze and an outer wall of tall, orange flowers.
93	Several large oval stone tablets marked with runes, bounding a clearing.
94	Four bronze statues turned inward toward a small stone altar.
95	Wooden columns with a net roof and walls keeps several birds within the shrine.
96	Several large, moss covered columns standing in a circle.
97	A series of stones rise out of a pond, each with its own small altar.
98	A small stone building with no door hides beneath the roots of a very large tree.
99	A squared stone archway beneath a roof of tarnished copper piping.
100	A small circle of gigantic mushrooms has a small pool in the centre.
D%	MAJOR
1-4	A terraced, wooden dais decorated with silks.
5-8	A golden casket set behind a wall of glass.
9-11	A large altar, surrounded by shelves of candles.
12-14	A large red torii, decorated with copper and jade.
15-17	A ceremonial maze of high hedges built around a contemplation pool.
18-20	Four ceremonial gates set at the cardinal compass points.
21-23	A large stone alcove, lit by torches and filled with dancing shadows.
24-26	A large oak tree festooned with coloured ribbons and votive offerings.
27-30	An ancient fallen tree; thousands of coins have been hammered into its trunk.
31-33	Crumbling stone ruins surround an immaculate altar of silver.
34-36	Exotic flowers climb the columns of an ivory gazebo.
37-39	A large iron statue standing on a terraced stone base.

40-42	A series of bleached white columns, connected by pointed archways and flanked by statues.
43-45	A golden awning set into a marble base.
46-48	A gate of copper bars protects this quarter dais set with precious gems.
49-51	A multi-levelled pagoda set with red and green stonework.
52-54	A small stone alcove covered in a complicated glass mosaic.
55-57	The statue of a robed man with beatific expression on his face.
58-60	A lovingly tended garden filled with flowers.
61-63	A bridge with prayer niches built into its walls.
64-66	An ornately carved mausoleum dedicated to a fallen heroine.
67-69	A lofty tower empty but for a staircase that leads to the roof.
70-72	A statue of a stunning beautiful woman petting a unicorn.
73-75	A circular pool fed by an underground spring; niches in its wall contain sacred objects.
76-78	A golden picture box draped with heavy black curtains.
79-81	An intricately engraved adamantine box, set onto poles but chained to the ground.
82-84	A large mirror set into a silver frame engraved with the image of roses and crowns set into a base of sandstone.
85-87	A long, rough stone wall covered in a riot of colourful wild flowers.
88-89	A mausoleum covered in intricate carvings of devils and demons holds the bones of a blessed paladin.
90	The bones of a gigantic dragon lie draped across a ruined tower.
91	The statues of a warrior king and his entourage festooned with brightly coloured silken scarves.
92	A tall, ancient set of gallows has an iron cage with the weather-worn skeleton of a tyrant within.
93	Five stone statues depicting dancing maidens set in a circle about a clear pool.
94	A series of stone buttresses leading to a central point, above a large fountain.
95	An infinity pool, of ancient construction, with an altar rising from the centre.
96	A small white stone building, domed in gold, with many small alcoves within.
97	A large metal plaque featuring hundreds of names, set into a base of polished marble.
98	A glass coffin holds the bones of a saint or other notable figure.
99	A stone tomb encased in huge tree roots; a gigantic tree grows atop it.
100	A gigantic fourteen-foot long bronze horn set upon iron supports.

SHRINES: OBJECT OF VENERATION

The most prominent features of any shrine is linked to veneration. Some of the items may seem mundane, but are important when linked to the power worshipped.

D%	ITEM
1	A small white candle
2	A large brightly coloured candle
3	A small wood carving of an animal
4	A small humanoid wooden statue
5	A tattered tapestry
6	A woven family tree
7	A small, painted wooden icon
8	A block of wood carved with a religious scene
9	A small stone tablet, covered in writing
10	A dried, pressed flower
11	A metal statuette
12	A series of candles
13	Incense burning in a small metal pot
14	A set of finger cymbals
15	A stone basin of water
16	A small pouch of sand
17	A large wooden icon that's beginning to fade
18	A hanging stained glass window
19	Several small scrolls
20	An open book of scripture
21	A lit lamp
22	A small tin of consecrated oil
23	Dried blood
24	A long white feather
25	A metal disc engraved with labyrinthine patterns
26	A knotted rope
27	A folded ceremonial cloth
28	A curved dagger
29	An unrolled scroll written in an ancient script
30	Three garnets and a pearl
31	A riding crop
32	An empty basket
33	A stone coffin
34	A bronze gong
35	A thin metal circlet
36	A black, tri-cornered hat
37	Fragments of rotted wood
38	Two small ivory tusks carved with runes
39	A pair of well-worn sandals
40	Bloodstained robes
41	A fringed coil of rope
42	A small metal begging bowl
43	A bronze bust
44	An old set of scales
45	A marble statue
46	A flower pot, filled with rich soil
47	A wind chime
48	A glass cylinder of water

49	A small brazier of flame
50	A corpse
51	A wax figure of an important humanoid
52	A burial shroud
53	A clay cup
54	A bronze goblet
55	A gold chalice engraved with gems
56	A set of plate mail
57	An old, rusty sword
58	A beautifully crafted, ceremonial sabre
59	A large, stone warhammer
60	A broken arrow
61	A glass eye
62	A peg leg
63	A locket of hair
64	A knuckle bone
65	A humanoid skull
66	A handful of teeth
67	An old scarf
68	An eye-patch
69	An hourglass
70	The hilt of a sword with no blade
71	A silver holy symbol with a broken chain
72	A set of manacles
73	A singed rope, frayed at one end
74	A set of thieves' picks
75	A single, glass shoe
76	A shattered monocle
77	Two simple silver rings
78	A wooden holy symbol covered in lichen
79	A crown of wire
80	A preserved eye, floating in a jar of pink liquid
81	A necklace of gold coins
82	A leather bound, musty tome
83	A bronze coffin with a glass lid, showing the perfectly preserved corpse of a young woman
84	A locked reliquary
85	A mummified hand
86	A silver circlet set with a ruby
87	A phoenix feather
88	A petrified tongue
89	The head of an axe set into a stone block
90	Pieces of a silver sword
91	A dragon's tooth
92	An oversized, cracked diamond
93	A crystal skull
94	Golden shackles
95	A large fang
96	A humanoid skeleton with angelic wings
97	A beating heart, in an enchanted wooden box
98	A vial of water from the River Styx
99	The horns of a demon
100	A vial of blue blood

SHRINES: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS AND OPPORTUNITIES

Shrines are often important places in people's lives, providing a break from the daily grind of peasant life. Use this table, to determine what special occurrence the PCs encounter.

D20

1	Someone has stolen the object of veneration. The shrine keeper has no resources to recover/replace the object.
2	A new object has been placed at the shrine, linked to a popular legend. Hundreds gather for the chance to look upon it and offer their prayers.
3	The spirit of the last shrine keeper is lingering until a proper replacement is found. No one seems to want to tend a haunted shrine.
4	A tribe of unarmed lizardfolk have occupied the shrine and refuse to leave. They claim the shrine is stolen and rightfully belongs to them.
5	The shrine has begun to glow with a purple light. Divination reveals a single, strong lingering aura, but its purpose and source is unknown.
6	The local baron is about to seize the building the shrine is in if the back rent is not paid.
7	A paladin has been found dead in front of the shrine. Her body bore no wounds or sign of struggle.
8	The shrine keeper is concerned he is about to be the target of a rival group. He asks the party to secretly transport the object of veneration to a member of his order in a foreign land.
9	The shrine is permanently invisible. People can still feel that it is there, but feel uncomfortable venerating what they can't see.

10	Zombies have begun appearing near the shrine as if drawn to it. Each one was a follower in life, and does not attack those brandishing a holy symbol of the relevant faith.
11	The shrine has been closed for an annual maintenance ritual.
12	A charlatan has set up shop near the shrine's entrance, charging an admittance fee.
13	A local sage has declared the shrine a historical site and, much to the annoyance of the shrine keeper, is trying to preserve it by preventing worship.
14	The shrine has recently changed hands between churches. Tradesmen make subtle changes in the design to reflect its new focus.
15	The shrine has become a hangout for children in the early afternoon.
16	The earth around the shrine has given way, plunging it and the object of veneration into an underground cave.
17	A cassian angel has taken up residence and quotes scriptures at all hours of the day.
18	The shrine keeper here only burns a special kind of incense and has almost run out. He looks for adventurers to find out why his supplier hasn't made his last delivery.
19	Drunken revelers came through the area of the shrine last night leaving trash everywhere.
20	A shooting star was seen flying directly over the shrine and crashing in a nearby forest. Local elders argue whether it is a blessing or a curse.

SHRINES: ASSOCIATED NPCs

Use the NPC bios below to portray the keeper of the shrine. Either determine randomly which NPC the PCs encounter or choose a suitable candidate.

D20	NPC
1	Allie Blake
2	Paekad Burr
3	Elmur Tintapper
4	Aldan Warrow
5	Geen Forester
6	Natir the Lame
7	Ves Maroth
8	Jezebel Uasa
9	Hardrad Narrowcart
10	Gahn
11	Cursed Livia
12	Hesper Magpie
13	Helden Pernit
14	Jekel
15	Orthunk the Axe
16	Gussy Macgrod
17	Katla Ellana
18	Nassir Oldud
19	Rami Farfate
20	Kyst the Wet

ALLIE BLAKE

NG female human apprentice expert

Appearance: Young with short black hair.

Personality: Normally shy, she opens up if someone shows an interest in religion.

Mannerisms: She's very tidy, and stops what she's doing to straighten something that is out of place.

Hooks: Allie has learned everything she knows about spirits and gods listening to stories outside the window of the local tavern. She secretly yearns for adventure and tries to apprentice to someone who shows kindness and a knowledge of lore.

PAEKAD BURR

LN male human apprentice aristocrat/expert

Appearance: Tall and thin, with tanned skin. He dresses in well-kept, fine robes.

Personality: Paekad is diligent and a steadfast learner.

Mannerisms: Taps the end of his feather pen when thinking.

Hooks: Paekad is the son of the lord's Keeper of the Coin, but grew weary of his accountant studies at a young age. Technically his position of shrine keeper is just a hobby, but he spends more time here than anywhere else. Foreign agents plan to kidnap him and hold him for ransom.

ELMUR TINTAPPER

CN male halfling apprentice commoner

Appearance: Scruffy brown hair with a dirty face and holes in his shirt.

Personality: Always chipper with a persistent smile that seems to cure any gray day.

Mannerisms: Constantly scratching his hair.

Hooks: Several townsfolk take advantage of Elmur's good nature sending him on tasks with the promise of pay and no intention of making good. He keeps a secret ledger, and is owed 217 gold pieces by the innkeeper alone. He will have his revenge.

ALDAN WARROW

LN male dwarf apprentice cleric

Appearance: Bald head with a dark brown beard. He's always wears his shiny breastplate.

Personality: A dwarf out of his element, Aldan is looked up to as a community leader, but comes off as awkward; he doesn't feel part of the community.

Mannerisms: Stumbles over his words and paces when forced to make a decision.

Hooks: Aldan was assigned the position of shrine keeper when an unfortunate accident took the life of the last keeper. He hails from a neighbouring clan of dwarves and views his exile as a punishment for an unknown slight.

GEEN FORESTER

CG female human apprentice commoner/expert

Appearance: Long strawberry blonde hair in a tangled mess. She wears earthy colours and a leather apron.

Personality: Self-assured and confident, Geen holds her head high and is quick to act.

Mannerisms: Bounces on her toes when waiting to begin a new task.

Hooks: Geen has been spending lots of time in the woods outside the city and has attracted the attention of a travelling satyr. She's considering running away with him but worries about what will happen to the shrine.

NATIR THE LAME

LN male human apprentice fighter

Appearance: Balding in front with long black hair at the back and a scar running down the right side of his face.

Personality: Natir is grizzled and without humour. He takes everything as seriously as possible and does not suffer fools.

Mannerisms: One of his legs has been replaced by a wooden peg and he favours it heavily, causing a rhythmic thud wherever he goes.

Hooks: Natir was part of the city militia and lost his leg defending the shrine from pillaging bandits. If you think he looks bad, you should see the bandit who got away. Natir would like to see him dead, and pays gold to any killing the bandit.

VES MAROTH

CN female elf apprentice aristocrat/sorcerer

Appearance: Braided white hair with loose silken robes.

Personality: Weak-willed and easily bored. She agrees to most requests, especially if she can avoid labour, blame or violence.

Mannerisms: Rests her chin on her bent wrist when standing.

Hooks: Ves is gifted with arcane magic. It is part of her blood and everyone knows it. Now the local thieves guild is pressuring her into charming some ogres into their ranks, and she's agreed (only she is not actually powerful enough to pull it off).

JEZEBEL UASA

LG female half-elf apprentice commoner

Appearance: Thin of frame she has orange hair.

Personality: Genuinely optimistic.

Mannerisms: Slides her hair out of her face with a shake of her head.

Hooks: Jezebel tries to do as much good with the little resources she has as possible. She's promised new toys to some poor local children in celebration of the new harvest, but is down to her last copper.

HARDRAD NARROWCART

LN male human apprentice monk/aristocrat

Appearance: Short and stout but all muscle. He wears a belt of beads over simple robes.

Personality: Stoic, always listening to the words of others carefully.

Mannerisms: Steeples his fingers together when making a point or listening to an argument.

Hooks: Hardrad was a noble before he went into hiding amongst an order of monks. He has adopted their ways and found a new home, but his family would like to make sure he never returns.

GAHN

N female dwarf apprentice expert

Appearance: White hair in braided rows, with a large gut. She wears a tin tankard on her belt.

Personality: Jolly and flamboyant.

Mannerisms: She bangs her tankard against nearby surfaces when she hears something pleasing.

Hooks: Gahn makes poor decisions in the name of good drink. It is rumoured she is responsible for Farmer Elthor's son going missing.

CURSED LIVIA

N female human apprentice druid

Appearance: Cursed Livia has sunken eyes, thinning hair and wears dirty peasant's clothes.

Personality: Glum.

Mannerisms: Drags her feet and keeps her head down.

Hooks: A series of unfortunate accidents including a fire, parasitic infestation and localized earthquake has led Livia and the townsfolk to believe she's been cursed.

HESPER MAGPIE

CN female human apprentice rogue

Appearance: Shoulder length brown hair, immaculate skin, white shirt and a feathered cap.

Personality: Chipper and opportunistic.

Mannerisms: Talks fast with an excitable voice.

Hooks: Hesper loves a good rumour and knows of a nearby abandoned temple that might have a few artifacts for the shrine and riches for questing adventurers.

HELDEN PERT

N male human apprentice commoner

Appearance: Broad shouldered Helden wears simple clothes of cloth and leather.

Personality: Mild mannered, Helden takes life as it comes.

Mannerisms: Shrugs his shoulders and does not look people in the eye.

Hooks: Helden is a local leatherworker. He tends the shrine because no one else does. He wouldn't mind passing the duties on to someone with more passion.

JEKEL

NE male human apprentice warrior

Appearance: Wears his hair in a pony tail and has a well crafted leather vest.

Personality: Egotistical and greedy.

Mannerisms: Smiles at his own jokes and picks at his elbows.

Hooks: Jekel may not be kind but he keeps up the profile of a halfway decent man. He then murders innocent travellers on the road after they've left town.

ORTHUNK THE AXE

CN male half-orc apprentice barbarian/expert

Appearance: Large of frame, Orthunk has two protruding tusks. He wears furs.

Personality: Generally kind until insulted, then aggressive.

Mannerisms: Cracks his knuckles and other joints.

Hooks: Orthunk was part of a larger tribe but most was killed by giants. He has a reputation as a brute but can actually be quite insightful on the nature of spirits and the use of herbalism in healing.

GUSSY MACGROD

CN female human apprentice bard

Appearance: Gussy wears colourful silk dresses and is never without her pipe.

Personality: Nosey and quick with a joke.

Mannerisms: Pats her lap when she sits down as if she wants you to sit on her lap.

Hooks: She does not want you to sit on her lap, however the baker's son began to do so as a joke. Now there's rumours they are romantically involved (against the baker's wishes).

KATLA ELLANA

LG female human journeyman paladin

Appearance: Young-looking with black hair (featuring blonde roots) and a strong frame.

Personality: Very serious though well meaning.

Mannerisms: Keeps her left hand up as if holding a shield.

Hooks: Katla is a retired adventurer but still keeps up to date with her old companions. She has a letter she'd like delivered to an inn in the capital that she would rather not hand to a simple messenger.

NASSIR OLDUD

N male human apprentice commoner

Appearance: Old and thin with a ring of gray hair and a tuft beard on his chin.

Personality: Doesn't trust strangers.

Mannerisms: He walks very slowly and grunts at those who grow impatient.

Hooks: Nassir has been here his whole life and has little knowledge of the world outside the city walls. He was warned trolls are gathering for an attack but hasn't told anyone as he doesn't believe they exist.

RAMI FARFATE

LN female human apprentice expert

Appearance: Clean cut, Rami wears simple scholar's robes.

Personality: Rami believes he has all the right answers and isn't afraid to tell anyone how wrong they are.

Mannerisms: Always clears his throat before articulating a new thought.

Hooks: Rami isn't as knowledgeable as he thinks he is. His tips has been leading to bad crops and bad investments and the town just needs a small nudge to realize whose fault it really is.

KYST THE WET

NG female halfling apprentice cleric

Appearance: Long brown hair, which is usually wet.

Personality: Eager and passionate about life.

Mannerisms: Wrings her hair out with her hands.

Hooks: Kyst loves the water and spends much of her time diving in the river. On her last dive she found what looked like a stone door amongst the rocks that she never noticed before.

STATUES & MONUMENTS: CHARACTERISTICS & APPEARANCE

Use this table to generate the appearance of the statue or monument. Ignore such results and simply re-roll.

D%
1	A statue of a rugged looking man and a wolf looking off into the distance.
2	A polished wall engraved with the names of fallen soldiers.
3	This statue is of a bald woman sitting cross-legged, as if meditating.
4	A large boulder has been engraved with a memorial to the miners who died in a cave-in.
5	A holy symbol and vestments clearly indicate this statue is of a man of faith.
6	At the top of this pedestal burns a bright orange flame.
7	This carved statue of an elderly woman, surrounded by many different animals of the forest.
8	A large, iron-wrought sundial.
9	This statue is of a resplendent knight, with his sword held high and a holy symbol emblazoned on his shield.
10	A collection of small ceramic mushrooms in a circle, complete with tiny statues of faerie-like creatures.
11	This statue is of a young woman dancing amongst flames, her hands wreathed in fire.
12	A public fountain with a centrepiece depicting a multitude of fish and other aquatic life.
13	This statue depicts a dwarven warrior with an axe and shield.
14	A plaque fixed to the ground indicates the spot a famous adventurer was murdered.
15	Three magical, grey stones orbit the head of this statue of a woman carrying a staff and large tome.
16	A dull metal placard dedicates this small garden to a dearly departed spouse.
17	A statue of a laughing halfling male, playing the lute before a captivated audience.
18	A large, free standing triumphal arch carved with an intricate pattern.
19	This sculpture is of a half-elven woman kneeling in front of a chest picking the lock.
20	A small standing stone sits next to a tavern with a sign that claims a now famous adventuring party first met inside.
21	An immense statue of half a dozen orcish savages; all in the throes of a bloody frenzy.
22	A solemn cenotaph for an unknown soldier.
23	A series of obelisks at the university are each engraved with the school motto and a list of alumni.

24	A blackened tree stump has been carved to resemble a weeping dryad.
25	A statue of a large cornucopia, overflowing with harvest vegetables.
26	This ancient and non-functioning trebuchet now serves as a commemoration of the war in which it was broken.
27	A statue of a large butterfly, engraved with a pattern, rests on top of a flower.
28	A large anchor stands in remembrance to all those lost at sea.
29	A crashing wave, stands upon a base carved to resemble a beach.
30	Affixed to the side of an ancient building is a plaque declaring its construction date.
31	This statue is of a smiling woman reaching out to aid a destitute man at her feet.
32	A monument to the abolition of slavery features two large hands holding a broken chain.
33	A large statue of a blindfolded man in a plain robe. He holds aloft a perfectly balanced scale.
34	A bust of the reigning monarch.
35	This statue depicts a local philanthropist. At its base is a list of his numerous acts of charity.
36	At the foot of the bridge stands a marker erected to those who died during its construction.
37	A towering statue of a despotic ruler.
38	A large statue of an elf and dwarf shaking hands. Engraved in its base is the date, time and place a peace treaty between two kingdoms was signed.
39	A local noblewoman had this statue of herself commissioned in order to serve her vanity.
40	A damaged figurehead from a ship stands as a testament to the shipwreck it came from.
41	This statue is of a madcap jester in the act of revelry.
42	The many laws and edicts of the city are engraved on this enormous monolith.
43	A large statue of a decorated soldier leading her troops in a charge.
44	A large statue of a holy symbol stands on a base in the centre of a courtyard.
45	This statue depicts a scythe wielding skeleton in a long robe.
46	Two long columns of free standing pillars demonstrate the opulent wealth of the area.
47	This imposing statue is of a powerful demon with outstretched wings and razor sharp claws.
48	At the beginning of a small community garden, a plaque lists those who aided in its creation.
49	One side of a large inn has been carved into a relief depicting a full and rowdy tavern scene.
50	A large corroded sculpture of intertwining spirals of copper, silver and bronze represents an alliance between three city states.

51	A statue of a city guardsman stands outside the main garrison as a testament to their vigilance and dedication.
52	A dozen small alcoves adorn all sides of this polished column. Each sports an eternal flame, creating a flickering pillar of light.
53	This statue is in the rough shape of a blacksmith forging a sword with a hammer and anvil.
54	This old building is covered in classic gothic style gargoyles.
55	This statue of a sleeping peasant lies in a nearby park.
56	A scene from a tremendous battle between two armies is etched into the gates of a fort.
57	This statue is of a famous bard.
58	A grand water clock with twelve basins, each held by a statue of a marid. As water fills each basin every hour, a set of chimes rings.
59	A huge statue of an ancient red dragon.
60	This statue is of a cheerful gnome. Anyone who walks too close sets off a magical message that advertises a nearby potion shop.
61	A life-sized statue of a war horse.
62	This fountain is decorated with cherubs frolicking in the water.
63	A statue of a regal griffon, depicted soaring in flight its wing spread wide.
64	This statue is of a medusa recoiling from its reflection in a full-length mirror.
65	A statue of a lion in mid-pounce.
66	This statue of intertwined lovers borders on the obscene.
67	A statue of an angry swan, its wings raised in a menacing fashion.
68	A statue of a chariot driven by a fierce warrior and pulled by two large boar.
69	This statue of a mermaid has been carved from driftwood.
70	A boulder carved into the shape of a slain giant's head has a halfling warrior standing triumphantly on top.
71	A statue of an elderly man hunched over a cane.
72	A statue of a satyr playing the pipes, surrounded by fawning nymphs.
73	Scattered about the area are a number of statues of children playing.
74	A relief of noblemen engaged in a fox hunt has been fixed to the side of a nearby building.
75	At the end of a pier stands a detailed carving of a three-mast sailing ship.
76	The tomb of an important noble family is covered with delicate, hand carved embellishments.
77	Rough hewed stones stacked in a crude humanoid shape.

78	A small religious shrine incorporates a beautiful mosaic of stained glass.
79	This statue of a full-sized carriage includes a driver, a team of horses and passengers.
80	Set into the ground is a large chessboard, complete with movable pieces.
81	A statue of a scurvy looking sailor, complete with peg leg and eye patch.
82	This large compass rose accurately points north.
83	Set in a large brass bowl, volcanic rock has been carved to resemble a raging fire.
84	All the surrounding shrubbery has been pruned into the shapes of fierce looking animals.
85	Layers of sandstone and other sedimentary rock make up this decorative monument.
86	A literal "key to the city" hangs above the doors of this town hall.
87	Expertly carved, this large statue is of a series of flowing waterfalls.
88	A piece of onyx carved into a perfect sphere and polished to a mirror-like sheen.
89	This statue is of two men walking in a windstorm. Their hair and clothing whips about them in an unseen gale.
90	Easily fifty feet in height, this massive statue depicts an ancient king.
91	A collection of odd geometric shapes on a single, wide and low plinth.
92	On a warehouse at the docks hangs a large relief of a ship at sea during a terrible storm.
93	This large statue is of an elegant longsword standing on its point.
94	On the cornerstone of a nearby building's foundation is a plaque displaying the date it was laid.
95	Nothing remains of this statue except the lower part of its legs.
96	A statue of a guardian angel, praying over the bodies of fallen warriors.
97	An elaborate statue of a tree, complete with bark, knots and branches.
98	This monument celebrates the founding of the city with a collection of bells.
99	This statue is of a famous explorer examining the horizon through a spyglass.
100	This solid, plain marker has no sign or indication of its purpose or meaning.

STATUES & MONUMENTS: DRESSING

Use this table to provide interesting points of note about the statue or monument. Some may be inappropriate based on the locale's set up; ignore such results and simply re-roll.

D%
1	Covered from top to bottom in bird droppings.
2	Has been overgrown with a thick blanket of green moss.
3	Centuries of exposure to the elements has worn away almost all of the detail.
4	Has a number of moisture stains and other signs of water damage.
5	Thin vines of creeping ivy grow up one side. They have even begun to cause damage by sprouting through cracks in the statue.
6	Has a single, large fissure that runs right through the middle.
7	Has a significant portion corroded by rust.
8	Surrounded by a permanent aura of harmless green, flickering flames
9	Painted with a variety of slurs and other vulgar graffiti.
10	Someone has scratched their initials into the statue with some manner of makeshift tool.
11	Surrounded by wreaths and bouquets of freshly cut flowers.
12	At its base is a small water basin or wishing well filled with copper pieces and the occasional silver coin.
13	Part of a shrine filled with candles lit as part of a vigil ceremony.
14	Has a brazier built in, filled with smouldering incense that fills the air with a pleasant scent.
15	Is singed or blackened by fire but is otherwise undamaged.
16	In an act of spiteful vandalism, a crucial or prominent piece has been chipped or broken off.
17	The statue is unusually, even suspiciously, clean.
18	Draped with a tangled mess of numerous, brightly coloured ribbons.
19	Wrapped loosely in thick chains that seem to serve no purpose.
20	Affixed with numerous scrolls and other parchment. Each one has someone's prayers written on them.
21	Currently serving as a perch for a large flock of small birds. The statue is stained with their excrement.
22	Shows signs of obvious acid damage.
23	Has become a shelter for a few panhandling vagabonds. Anyone who comes too close is mobbed for spare change.
24	Has been beautifully painted by an artist with exceptional talent.

25	Surrounded by scaffolding and supplies needed for cleaning and repair.
26	Spotted with salt stains.
27	Draped in decorative flags bearing the crests of many noble houses.
28	Home to a nest of rats who scurry about the cracks in its base.
29	Surrounded by bowls of fruit, bottles of wine and other offerings of food and drink.
30	Has obviously been repaired recently. The work is of poor quality and needs to be redone.
31	Engraved at the base is the trademark signature of a famous sculptor.
32	Whatever plaque or sign was once attached is now obviously missing. Only pieces of the broken fixtures remain.
33	Surrounded by a group of angry protestors who stand firmly against its meaning or subject.
34	Lies shattered into dozens of pieces all over the ground.
35	Appears to be partially melted even though a casual touch confirms it is still quite solid.
36	Somehow, the statue is dressed in a complete set of real clothes of an appropriate theme.
37	Its style and design is of a completely different theme than all the other architecture in its surroundings.
38	Currently being used as a pulpit for a cleric preaching a sermon to a small crowd.
39	Pinned to its base are a number of job offers, notices and other postings both old and new.
40	Standing on it is a frantic looking madman, shouting nonsense theories at all those who walk past.
41	Infested with large, but harmless, spiders. Webs hang between every available surface.
42	Full of small, perfectly round holes that have actually bored all the way through.
43	Stands as the centrepiece of a small playground for children.
44	Magically animated to change its position every day at dawn though it can never leave its plinth.
45	Actually an integral part of the structural supports for a bridge that passes overhead.
46	An open entrance in its base leads down into an underground shop or tavern.
47	Has no actual base. It has been enchanted to levitate a few feet off the ground. A few chains keep it secured to its current location.
48	Is not real. It is actually an permanent illusion. Occasionally, it shifts position for no obvious reason.
49	Protected by a small contingent of city guard. The guards stand perfectly still and do not engage in conversation.

50	The statue is inexplicably warm, but not uncomfortably or dangerously so, to the touch.
51	Is in the middle of being taken down and disassembled by a group of workers.
52	Is in the middle of being assembled and then raised by a group of workers.
53	The statue is inexplicably cold to the touch. Frost lingers upon pieces of it out of direct sunlight.
54	At first glance, it appears to be made of one material but a close inspection reveals it is actually another – made to look like the first. Examples include wood painted to look like stone or brass tinted to resemble gold.
55	Is made from a precious material such as gold, mithril or adamantite.
56	Has fallen over and is lying unbroken on its side.
57	Has been painted with garish, clashing or otherwise ugly colours.
58	Covered completely by tiny golden particles, as if coated by glittering fey dust.
59	The statue is hollow.
60	The plaque on its base has its writing repeated many times, in many different languages.
61	Has been expertly restored to its former glory.
62	Is a smaller replica of a famous piece located elsewhere.
63	The eyes of this statue seem to be looking at you no matter which way you travel.
64	Is shaped in such a way as to make a ghastly howling sound when a strong wind blows.
65	Has been incorporated into the construction of a gallows, complete with swinging noose.
66	Its base contains an elaborate locking mechanism. Once it is disengaged, the statue can be swivelled to face a different direction.
67	Contains a gem-shaped depression just above arms reach.
68	Has been crafted with a glaring error or other imperfection, such as a statue with two left hands or an obelisk with uneven sides.
69	Stands slightly crooked on an ivy-wreathed plinth.
70	One of the words engraved in its base has been spelled incorrectly.
71	Is currently wrapped up under a tarpaulin and cannot be seen.
72	Has a number of deep claw marks scratched into its surface.
73	Has been smeared with tar that has long since dried and covered with feathers that have almost worn off.
74	Is actually a working part of a nearby building's chimney and occasionally bellows clouds of thick grey smoke.
75	Has been engraved with a delicate pattern to make it appear as though it was covered in a layer of frost.

76	Stands very near a public road and has been splattered with dirt and mud from passing wagons.
77	Has one very large, dark red bloodstain that someone has attempted to clean, to no avail.
78	Reeks of urine and waste though no obvious source can be found.
79	Is encrusted with beautiful, but ultimately worthless, gems.
80	Broken crossbow bolts litter the ground nearby, as if someone had used it for target practice.
81	Surrounded by a fence. On each side, a small wooden sign that plainly says, "No Trespassing" has been posted.
82	Is being used as a hitching post for horses and other mounts by a nearby tavern.
83	A large bird's nest, with three eggs inside, has been built at the very top.
84	Has a small pond at its base filled with small fish.
85	Has been decorated with small piles of bleached humanoid skulls.
86	Is half buried beneath a hill or mound of earth. Only some parts are still sticking up out of the ground.
87	Made of an unusual material such as crystal, bone or ceramic.
88	Has been decorated with a variety of colourful seashells.
89	Is hidden within a large tent. By the entrance is a man running an admission booth for those who wish to see.
90	Attached at the very top is a working weather vane with a thematically similar appearance.
91	Has been enchanted to produce soft, light-hearted music whenever touched.
92	Casts a shadow whose shape looks completely different from itself.
93	Is covered in long boughs of garland and holly. Some are faded and withered, while others are obviously new.
94	Is actually a very ornate, but fully functioning, ballista in disguise.
95	Covered in large vines sprouting plump, juicy grapes.
96	Has been inscribed with a glowing arcane symbol and other magical sigils.
97	A metal cage, large enough for a Medium-sized humanoid, has been built into the middle.
98	The language engraved in its base is completely unknown and defies magical translation.
99	Also serves as a guard post. An alarm bell and sentry box have been incorporated into the construction.
100	Is eerily, even suspiciously lifelike.

STATUES & MONUMENTS: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS & OPPORTUNITIES

Although the PCs may simply want to examine or pass by the statue or monument, sometimes fate intervenes. Use this table, to determine what opportunities or complications the PCs encounter.

D20
1	Rumours persist that one of the statues around town is actually made of gold or has some other kind of treasure hidden inside. Gangs of vandals roam the streets at night, smashing every piece of decorative masonry in sight and fighting with each other in a race to find it before the others.
2	A mimic has moved into the area and begun hunting people. It disguises itself as smaller statues and monuments to effectively hide in plain sight. The authorities are hiring adventurers to examine every statue in town.
3	A nobleman wants to know why his fallen son's name does not appear on a memorial cenotaph alongside the other soldiers from the same squad, all of whom died in a recent battle. He will pay handsomely for such information.
4	When the statues of the city weep blood, doom is sure to follow for everyone dwelling within its walls. One statue starts to weep blood as the PCs walk passed.
5	A city, known for its aqueducts and ancient architecture has become infested by a flock of gargoyles that terrorize the populace constantly.
6	A new religious cult has risen. They are fanatic followers of a doctrine that opposes the worship of gods through idols. No longer content with tearing down and destroying religious statuary, they have begun to attack and even kill any sculptor who creates them.
7	An unfortunate accident, such as a runaway wagon or falling crate, severely damages a local statue. No one is hurt, but during its repair a skeleton wearing fine clothes is discovered embedded inside. Several well-to-do families claim the remains.
8	High quality fakes of a famous sculptor's work have begun to flood the artisan's market. Naturally, the sculptor and the growing number of fraud victims want the culprit caught.
9	During broad daylight, a large and heavy statue from the middle of the market square vanishes. No one saw what happened and city officials want to know who stole the statue, why they did it and most importantly – how.
10	One morning, a finely made gravestone appears in the centre of town. Carved into it are a long list of names of various citizens. The only thing they seem to have in common is that they are all still alive. Is the event a joke, or the first step in a madman's sinister plan?
11	A ranger reports something has been petrifying the woodland animals of a nearby forest. The road is a major trade route and everyone fears it is only a matter of time before a traveller is turned to stone.
12	A wizard suffers under a powerful curse; each day he transforms into a statue from dawn to dusk. He is looking for anyone who is willing to help him break free of this affliction.
13	A dignitary from a foreign nation has arrived with a large diplomatic force. She is demanding the return of a monument she claims is a stolen national treasure. If it is not found and returned within one week, her kingdom will declare war.
14	A caravan of gnomish pilgrims has begun a quest to find and reclaim their ancestral home. Their only means of finding it is an ancient map that only references old stone monuments as its guide points. The pilgrims require someone to help decipher the map and escort them home.
15	A rash of daring and well executed robberies have baffled the city authorities. All that is known about this master thief is the small silver figurine of a butterfly he leaves as a calling card. The figurine is an exact duplicate (in miniature) of a famed local statue.
16	A sorcerer seeks to hire a team to help him track down and acquire an eye of a medusa, a fang from a basilisk, the beak of a cockatrice and a horn from a gorgon. The purpose of these reagents is a secret and he is willing to pay extra for adventurers who don't ask questions.
17	A strange magical effect has swept over the city and surrounding area. No magic pertaining to stone functions within the area as if it were in a dead magic zone. No one can determine the cause of the effect, nor can they dispel it but mystics have determined it originates from a monument erected at a stone quarry.
18	Overnight, bizarre obelisks appear all over the city. The quality of work surpasses even the greatest stone cutters and they are made of an unknown type of stone that is seemingly indestructible.
19	During a routine demolition of an aged and decrepit monument, an entrance to a vast underground labyrinth is discovered.
20	A terrible warlord is running rampant across the countryside, claiming the entire territory as her own. It is her control over an army of animated statues that makes her nigh unstoppable and it is only a matter of time before she attacks the city.

STATUES & MONUMENTS: LEGENDS & RUMOURS

Legends and rumours are often associated with certain statue or monument. Use this table, to determine what the PCs learn.

D20

1	They say the statue of the general on horseback at the garrison is actually mounted on the very same stone horse he rode into combat. Magic has been used to keep its aura from being detected and the command word used to activate it was lost when its owner died on the battlefield.
2	Legend states that if the city should ever truly be on the brink of destruction, all the statues on the perimeter wall will come to life. Known as the Stone Sentinels, they will not stop until every attacker has been slain and the city is safe.
3	A priceless jade idol of a dancing woman is cursed. Every person who has owned the figurine has had a life of misery and loss and has met with an untimely end. The curse only ends when the statue hears the very same music the artist had his model dance to when he carved the idol.
4	One of the omens that signal the coming of a great evil will be when all the statues begin crying tears of blood. A small cult of supposed madmen watch the statues so that they might have warning of evil's approach.
5	Six different cemeteries spread across the kingdom all claim to be the final resting place of the legendary hero depicted by the statue. Each has a mausoleum dedicated to the fallen hero and the clergy tending each locale fiercely contest the other's claims.
6	People say the local war memorial is haunted. Many attest that late at night, they have seen the ghost of a soldier who died. Some claim the spirit is trying to return to the wife and family he left behind.
7	A wizard reportedly claims to have developed an arcane ritual that can take the soul and consciousness of a person and transfer it into specially enchanted statue. He willingly offers this chance at immortality to anyone who can afford his price.
8	Hidden deep in the mountains is a shrine containing a legendary artifact; a crown carved from solid granite that grants the wearer the ability to animate any stone statue within sight, regardless of its creator's commands. The local lord greatly desires the crown and will pay handsomely for its delivery.
9	Gossip amongst the artists and stone masons says that, after centuries of perfecting the art, a dwarven sculptor is now searching for an apprentice to teach but only the one he feels is worthy will be chosen.

10	According to prophecy, if the flame at the base of the Queen's monument ever goes out, the kingdom will fall into ruin within half a year.
11	Parishioners claim that kissing the feet of their patron saint's statue cures the sick and heals the wounded. Crowds have begun to flock to the church to see if the rumours are true.
12	Local folklore states the old wishing well outside town will grant your wish, but only if erect a new statue at its centre. Several times every year, the current statue is torn down and a new one erected.
13	People whisper that late at night, if you listen carefully, you can hear the statues of a local cemetery crying.
14	It is a widespread belief that no soldier from town will ever die in battle so long as his or her blood stains the war monument. It has now become a local tradition for those who join the army to travel to the monument and smear a drop of their blood across its surface.
15	There is a myth of a great colossus that stares at the location of a lost city. To see where it is, one must find and climb the giant statue until they reach its eyes and then determine exactly where it is looking.
16	Every salty old sailor knows the myth about the statue of a sea captain down by the piers. As the story goes, there is a map hidden on it somewhere. A map that leads to the sunken wreck of a ship filled with treasure.
17	Ever since she lost her favourite tools, a local sculptor has stopped producing art despite having other sets. This only fuels the rumours that she bargained with the fey for her original tools, and it was their enchantment that gave her the talent.
18	Every streetwise criminal in the city knows the story about the cache of potions and scrolls hidden behind the relief of a landscape on the side of the library. What no one can agree on, however, is what part of the relief is secretly the switch to make it open.
19	No one likes to talk about it openly, but the reason construction of the archmage's monument keeps being delayed is because so many workers keep dying in "mysterious accidents."
20	Local superstition says that bad luck befalls anyone who doesn't hold their breath as they walk in the shadow of a certain monstrously huge statue. Even today, normal folk go out of their way to avoid the shadow.

TEMPLES: CHARACTERISTICS AND APPEARANCE

Much of a temple's features are independent of the god(s) worshipped within. Use this chart to get a general description of the building.

D%	NAMES
1	A small building of cut stone.
2	A small draft-riddled building of fieldstone.
3	A quaint building of cut stone, with a hearth at the back.
4	A grand building with jutting towers and large buttresses.
5	An awe-inspiring structure filled with statues and stained glass windows.
6	A simple stone building that radiates a divine aura, having been blessed directly by the gods.
7	A cavernous structure of stone with a high roof that throw a long, deep shadow.
8	A very basic building of wood with wax paper windows.
9	An extravagant building decorated with fine tapestries and gold statuettes.
10	A homely stone structure, small and ill-kept.
11	A rundown, wooden building, much used but underfunded.
12	A wooden building that smells of human sweat.
13	A cold stone building of moderate size.
14	A large structure of cut stone with a thunderous echo.
15	A tall, impressive building of quality stonework.
16	A simple and clean building of cut stone.
17	A massive structure with a large, airy sanctuary and several wings.
18	An accurate, but smaller, recreation of a cathedral located in the capital.
19	A sturdy stone building reinforced with steel beams.
20	A simple wooden building recently rededicated to a different god. Several effigies have simply been turned around.
21	A door-less wooden building that widens to a gaping sanctuary.
22	A large brick building with tall glass windows.
23	A stone building with dazzling jewelled engravings set into the wall.
24	A cheap wooden structure whose trimmings all appear to be second-hand and low quality.
25	A small, temporary wooden building, used while a permanent structure is being completed.
26	A delicate wooden structure that shifts in the wind.
27	A carefully constructed structure of wood and stone that offers excellent acoustics.
28	A large stone structure built on the highest point in the city, with nothing but sky beyond.

29	An intricately detailed stone building with verses of scripture engraved throughout.
30	A wooden building with a winding shape, designed to be harmonious with the surrounding environment.
31	A small wooden structure painted pale blue.
32	A stone building with a shop selling wares crafted by the priests.
33	A large stone structure with a very deep entrance through thick walls.
34	A small stone building, designed as a miniature replica of a legendary cathedral.
35	This large stone building, with no roof, is always open to the heavens.
36	An ancient stone structure built by a past lord in an antiquated style.
37	A small stone building with an inner portcullis, where strangers can be questioned before admittance.
38	A stone building with narrow doors and no windows.
39	A very clean and efficiently constructed wooden structure built precisely to divine instruction.
40	A building of cut stone, matching the same architectural style of the surrounding buildings.
41	A stone structure that has two sets of front doors.
42	An enormous stone building with a massive sanctuary and several graceful towers.
43	A small, tidy fieldstone building where everything seems in its place.
44	A large set of open, welcoming double doors are the focal point of this stone building.
45	A pathetic wooden building with rotted walls and sagging roof.
46	A simple stone building; completely empty of furnishings.
47	A charming field stone building with a homely carpet running down the main aisle.
48	A large stone structure with pointed towers and frightening gargoyles hanging from the gutters.
49	A mundane stone square, previously a warehouse.
50	A moderate wooden building, well appointed with high quality furniture.
51	A fine stone structure with a private box, favoured by the local lord.
52	A well-defended compound, with an outer wall set around the main temple.
53	A stone building built around an ancient keep.
54	A gaudy stone structure inlaid with false gems and gold plated statuettes.
55	A wooden building with wide metal doors.
56	A milky-coloured wooden structure with black trim.

57	This large stone building has iron supports and large gears set along the walls to power a basic clock.
58	An old stone building, mostly empty.
59	A new stone building, recently completed. The work crew is still taking down the wooden scaffolding.
60	An efficiently designed wooden building with many small cabinets built into the walls.
61	A ragged stone structure with tattered tapestries and hole-riddled roof.
62	A yellow wooden building with ivy-covered roof.
63	A broad, but short, stone building with an arched roof.
64	A splendid stone building with clean floors and rose scented air.
65	A dusty wooden structure, that almost seems abandoned.
66	A domineering stone building that casts long shadows over the neighbourhood.
67	A small stone building, set tightly between two older buildings.
68	A tasteless stone building featuring huge stone statues of saints, engaged in gruesome deeds.
69	A square building of pale cut stone with a flat roof.
70	A squat stone building with large stairs, leading to a grand sanctuary deep below the city.
71	A simple stone building with large windows filling the sanctuary with bright light.
72	A spotless wooden structure, with well-polished wooden pews.
73	A tan wooden building with a small graveyard to one side.
74	A large stone building known for its vast cellars, used for various purposes over the years.
75	A solid stone building whose walls block out the outside noise.
76	A stone building that smells of mildew and is infested with rats.
77	A small stone building decorated with precious mithral engravings.
78	A dreary stone building with grey walls and a leaky roof.
79	A crooked wooden structure featuring bizarre, artistic furnishing.
80	A majestic stone building with subtle gold engravings and purple wall hangings.
81	An enchanting, small wooden structure with a stone foundation, surrounded by a small grove.
82	A small stone building, busy with the coming and going of local folks.
83	A rambling stone structure with a key support all leaning precariously westward.
84	A stone structure with unfinished masonry giving it a near natural look.

85	A small wooden building in the shadow of a much larger stone temple.
86	A stone building with finely wrought metal doors, open only to worshippers.
87	A gigantic stone structure with minarets of green crystal.
88	A stone building featuring an elegant sanctuary with long thin floor runners and silver candlestick holders set on the walls.
89	A long stone building with a messy sanctuary, littered with stacks of dogmatic writing and abandoned personal possessions.
90	A simple stone exterior with a brightly coloured interior.
91	An astonishing stone structure with statuary so detailed they seem lifelike.
92	A sturdy wooden building lined with finely wrought stone benches.
93	A crimson wooden building with a slanted roof of slate.
94	A cool stone structure with flat black roof. A bell tower emerges from the very centre of the structure.
95	A little brick building surrounded by bushes.
96	A typical stone temple with one tall steeple.
97	A wooden building with two long, sharp steeples.
98	This building is built half of stone and half of wood.
99	A massive stone structure with arcing buttresses, large stained glass windows and glorious towers that appear to stretch to the heavens.
100	Roll twice and combine features of both results.

TEMPLES: DOMAIN FEATURES

The most prominent features of any temple interior are those linked to the worship performed within. Roll on this chart multiple times and combine the results with a general description from the previous table to create countless, unique locales. Alternatively, choose the characteristics most linked to the religion in question.

D%	DESCRIPTIONS
1	Air: Panels on the roof slide back to allow fresh air to enter the sanctuary.
2	Cloud: A minor wondrous item produces a stream of fog along the floor, but the fog is only 2 feet high.
3	Wind: Upper windows are left open to provide a breeze for hanging chimes.
4	Animal: The bones of great beasts hang in areas of prominence.
5	Feather: A curtain of feathers separates the vestibule from the main sanctuary.
6	Fur: The hide of a great bear hangs behind the altar.
7	Artifice: Clear tubes of coloured liquid run along the far wall.
8	Construct: Swinging mechanical arms adorn the altar space, keeping sacraments within reach.
9	Toil: Scrapes mark the floor around the altar where rites have been repeated for decades.
10	Chaos: Benches and pews have been replaced with chairs of varying shapes and sizes.
11	Demon: Abyssal runes are painted along the walls in blood.
12	Entropy: Furnishings go unrepaired and surfaces uncleaned.
13	Whimsy: Paint is spattered across the room at random.
14	Charm: Large mirrors rest on opposite walls.
15	Love: A wooden archway, seeded with roses, rests above the altar.
16	Lust: Long, silken scarves hang down from the ceiling along the walls.
17	Community: The history of the settlement is painted in murals along one wall.
18	Family: Statues of grouped families line the outside of the sanctuary.
19	Darkness: Wall candles are dimmed with wax paper hoods.
20	Loss: A small stone basin, filled with cloudy water rests in the foyer.
21	Moon: A series of small mirrors reflect the light from a single skylight.
22	Night: Heavy black curtains cover the windows during the day.
23	Death: Bones are laid into stone columns.
24	Murder: The altar and floor are blood-stained.

25	Undead: Rotting heads line a shelf on the far wall.
26	Destruction: The stone altar is broken in half.
27	Catastrophe: Stained glass windows show the falls of past nations.
28	Rage: Sacks, stuffed with feather down, are tied to several columns.
29	Torture: Brands and pokers lie next to a deep hearth.
30	Earth: The floor is packed dirt.
31	Caves: The inside walls are rough, untouched by masons.
32	Metal: Engravings of copper, steel and other metals line the walls.
33	Evil: Black spikes jut from the end of each pew.
34	Daemon: Statues of the four horsemen loom near the altar.
35	Devil: One wall is engraved with infernal laws.
36	Fear: A great yellow eye is painted upon the far wall.
37	Fire: Brass braziers burn with bright, high flames.
38	Ash: Embers burn low in a great hearth.
39	Smoke: Wisps of thin smoke rise from small lamps.
40	Glory: The banners of nations, warriors and lords past hang from the rafters.
41	Heroism: Statues of legendary figures stand around the sanctuary.
42	Honour: A tapestry hangs, embroidered with a knightly code.
43	Good: A basket of provisions rests in the foyer, free for the taking.
44	Agathion: Paintings of Nirvana adorn the walls.
45	Friendship: Different architectural styles come together in unison in the main sanctuary.
46	Healing: Anointed oil rests on table in the foyer.
47	Restoration: A multitude of canes sit abandoned in one corner.
48	Knowledge: Several shelves of bookcases line one wall, serving as a public library.
49	Memory: A large sand timer is set above the altar.
50	Thought: A small stone basin, filled with pristine water rests in the foyer.
51	Law: A wooden pulpit is raised above the rest of the sanctuary.
52	Archon: Circular glass lanterns hang from rafters.
53	Inevitable: The edge of each pew is lined with brass gears.
54	Loyalty: Stone arches, with engravings of overlaid hands, connect the sanctuary's columns.
55	Slavery: Chains hang from the sides of the altar.
56	Tyranny: Iron bars and sparking jewels adorn the pulpit.

57	Liberation: Broken chains hang from the sides of the altar.
58	Freedom: There is no pulpit.
59	Revolution: The local nation's flag hangs with its colours inverted.
60	Luck: Scratches run along the bottom of several walls from years of dice games.
61	Curse: A silted eye is engraved into each pew.
62	Fate: Golden threads are strung between different engravings.
63	Madness: The floor is painted to look like the night sky and the roof interior is cobblestone.
64	Insanity: The pews are well cushioned.
65	Magic: A case of scrolls is set near the altar.
66	Arcane: Small lanterns pattern the air with purple wisps of smoke.
67	Divine: A skylight lets in a single beam of light that bathes the altar.
68	Nobility: Tapestries hang on the walls showing the lines of several noble houses.
69	Leadership: The pulpit is set centre, behind the altar, and raised up.
70	Martyr: Statues along the outside of the sanctuary depict saints at the moment of their death.
71	Plant: Vines hang down the interior walls.
72	Decay: Dead flowers hang from the columns.
73	Growth: The floor is a bed of grass and weeds.
74	Protection: The walls are reinforced with iron.
75	Defence: A stone wall is set outside the church with iron gates.
76	Purity: Silver bowls of spring water sit in the vestibule.
77	Ancestors: Stone coffins lie flanking the altar in small alcoves.
78	Rune: Eldritch runes are engraved along the edge of the altar.
79	Language: Banners hang from the rafters, displaying the church tenants in a multitude of tongues.
80	Scalykind: Two stone fangs form part of the main entryway.

81	Dragon: A large stone dragon head hangs from the peak of the temple roof.
82	Strength: Training weights lie in the courtyard.
83	Sun: Crystals reflect sunlight all around the sanctuary, from a high window.
84	Light: A single lit lantern hangs above the altar.
85	Travel: The floor of the sanctuary features a mural of the surrounding region.
86	Exploration: A public (but supervised) library of maps sits in the foyer.
87	Trade: Curtains hang off ropes at regular intervals, separating the sanctuary into small stalls during market hours.
88	Trickery: The main door leads to solid stone. The real entrance is hidden along the east wall.
89	Thievery: Everything of value is locked down.
90	Void: The walls and ceiling are painted black.
91	Stars: Specks of gold paint form constellations across the ceiling.
92	War: The foyer contains a rack of donated armour and weapons.
93	Blood: A small stone basin, filled with blood, rests in the foyer.
94	Tactics: A case of miniatures and maps rests near the altar.
95	Water: Small stone fountains rest in each corner.
96	Ice: The trim of the roof is a frosty blue.
97	Oceans: Whales, sharks and other aquatic animals make up a majority of the engravings.
98	Weather: Several holes in the roof go unrepaired.
99	Seasons: The sanctuary is divided into quarters, each painted with a seasonal colour scheme.
100	Storms: Thin metal sheets hang near upper windows, creating a thunderous echo when the wind blows.

TEMPLES: DONATIONS, TITHINGS AND SACRIFICES

Different gods make different demands upon their worshippers and temples often stand as the middlemen of these exchanges. There is more to tithing than just donating a tenth of your last haul.

D20	GOOD DONATIONS
1	A day spent assisting the infirm
2	A spell of healing freely cast
3	The head of an evil creature
4	A prayer for the soul of an enemy
5	An oath to protect the innocent
6	A confession of past transgressions
7	The horns of a demon
8	Food for the hungry
9	Clothes for the needy
10	A scale from a red dragon
11	A repentant soul
12	Warm blankets
13	Lost scripture
14	The tongue of an imp
15	A day of self reflection
16	Training for the weak
17	A broken phylactery
18	The ashes of defeated undead
19	Holy water
20	A share (10-100%) of your current wealth

D20	NEUTRAL TITHINGS
1	A recovered art object
2	A vial of pure water
3	A fatted calf
4	Soil from a foreign land
5	The writings of a great philosopher
6	Seeds of a rare plant
7	Hides
8	Good wine
9	The ear of a giant
10	Precious gem stones
11	Artefacts of a lost age
12	A freshly killed beast
13	A week of watch on the city walls
14	A bound elemental
15	A day of hard labour
16	Weapons
17	Iconography
18	Treasures of an enemy kingdom
19	A tale of wonder
20	A share (5-25%) of your current wealth

D20	EVIL SACRIFICES
1	The heart of an innocent
2	The finger of a stranger
3	Deeds to land, gained through lies
4	The feathers of an angel
5	An infant
6	A treasure heirloom
7	The holy symbol of an enemy priest
8	The true name of a devil
9	The hair of an aasimar
10	A scale from a gold dragon
11	The horn of an archon
12	The blood of your parents
13	The ash of a destroyed shrine
14	Poison
15	A live prisoner
16	Bread stolen from the poor
17	Treasures of a foreign nation
18	Slaves
19	A turned soul
20	A stolen coin

TEMPLES: EVENTS, FESTIVALS AND RITES

Temples are often the centre of culture for a settlement, and provide all manner of reasons to break up the daily grind of peasant life. Use this table to determine what special occurrence the PCs encounter while visiting or passing by the temple.

SERVICE COMPONENTS

Religious services can have many elements beyond simple worship. These can include:

- Singing
- Prayer
- Sacrifice
- Preaching
- Object lessons

FIXTURES & FITTINGS

Temples are sacred places and are normally well appointed with the objects required to worship the deity in question. Commonly encountered fixtures and fittings in a temple include:

- Instruments: Bells, chime, gong, bell, drum, pipes, organ, whistles.
- Furniture: Altar, pews, font, lectern, throne.
- Decorations: Mosaics, carvings, statues, flower displays, shields, paintings, displays of religious objects or relics, frescoes, tapestries, patterned carpets or rugs.
- Other: Idol, statues, lamps, prayer rugs.

AREAS IN A TEMPLE

Several different kinds of room can be found in most temples:

- Aisle
- Ambry
- Belfry
- Chancel
- Crypt
- Nave
- Prayer room
- Sanctuary
- Shrine
- Undercroft
- Vestry

To these can be added living quarters, treasuries, storage areas and so on depending on the size of the building, how many resident clergy dwell there and so on.

D20

1	Birth: Shrill cries fill the air as young babes are processed into the temple for ritual blessings.
2	Death: A funeral train processes towards the temple.
3	Harvest: A large bonfire marks the centre of town, where the farmers have gathered for fun and communal shucking.
4	Marriage: White flowers are woven over the temple doors as the steeple bells ring in celebration.
5	Ascension: A new lord is to be crowned. People dress in their best as they gather to give thanks.
6	Battle: Warriors gather solemnly near the temple doors for blessings on their soul and weapons.
7	Miracle: A boon of gold has miraculously appeared on the temple altar at its hour of greatest need. Locals line up to offer prayers for their own needs.
8	Feast Day: In honour of a hero slaying a great serpent centuries ago, worshippers are gathering for a communal meal.
9	Day of the Living Dead: The spirits of those who have died rise again on this day. Townsfolk wear masks of ghoulish nature when traveling after dark.
10	Birth of a God: It is on this day that the local deity sprang forth from an elder god. All toil may only be done in reverence to the gods.
11	Summer Solstice: A festival of dancing and music to commemorate the longest day of the year.
12	Winter Solstice: A grim gathering of drinking and storytelling to help pass one of the shortest and coldest days of the year.
13	Changing of the Leaves: Colourful lanterns are raised in the main streets and the local bakers compete in making the tastiest sweets.
14	First Frost: Local clergy walk the fields with incense chanting prayers for a short winter.
15	Sacrifice: Prisoners, sinners and slaves have their blood spilled to gain the god's favour. They may or may not survive the service.
16	All Gods: A day of reverence for the deities not generally worshipped in town. It has become a point of contention for the stubbornly pious.
17	Saint Day: Saint Eltherburt made grain spring from a rock in stories of legend and so on this day the townsfolk engage in wrestling competitions.
18	Forgiveness: A day when all debts and transgressions are forgiven. The day before can get violent as debts are forcibly collected.
19	Freedom: No man must work on this day. Much dancing and drinking are had by all.
20	Remembrance: A day for the telling of tales and reverence for one's ancestors. Lilies are traditionally placed before gravestones.

TEMPLES: CLERGY IN A HURRY

Use the tables below to quickly create the details of the clergy the PCs encounter in the temple.

D%	GENDER
1-49	Female
50-100	Male

D20	MALE NAMES
1	Henrik Hammerfall
2	Garfeild of the Downs
3	Aaro Hemcatch
4	Gyric the Tall
5	Census
6	Umrbrige Yensel
7	Sauli Pansu
8	Etor Agrariate
9	Fausta Getha
10	Fargrim Thornekept
11	Uther the Dark
12	Lucian Right
13	Oak
14	Malfese
15	Quarry
16	Grimdeer Father
17	Skuti Talton
18	Ember of Ink
19	Excelsor
20	Adjo Warpwood

D20	FEMALE NAMES
1	Ati Safaga
2	Helga Kochel
3	Aenor Fosi
4	Heva
5	Auda Ubi
6	Rica Omer
7	Ibon Sais
8	Gdya the Lame
9	Pia Outila
10	Hella
11	Saeith Stone
12	Kaylee of Right Bend
13	Leia Grall
14	Eadburgh Alston
15	Persephone
16	Asta of New Founding
17	Anu Isin
18	Urbau Zaltose
19	Glaustein
20	Asharru Erech

D20	RACES
1-10	Human
11-13	Dwarf
14-16	Elf
17-19	Halfling
20	Roll on Races 2 (Uncommon)

D20	RACES 2 (UNCOMMON)
1	Half-Orc
2	Half-Elf
3	Gnome
4	Aasimar
5	Tiefling
6	Goblin
7	Kobold
8	Orc
9	Tengu
10	Gnoll
11	Drow
12	Minotaur
13	Centaur
14	Catfolk
15	Lizardfolk
16	Ifrit
17	Orcead
18	Ratfolk
19	Sylph
20	Undine

D20	POSITION
1-3	Laity (volunteer, accountant, etc.)
4	Acolyte
5	In discernment
6-11	Priest(ess)
12	Bishop
13-15	Monk/nun
16-18	Cleric
19	Paladin
20	Oracle

RELIGIOUS TITLES

Acolyte, adept, priest (priestess), cleric, curate, patriarch, matriarch, high priest (high priestess), canon, initiate, aspirant, ovate, oracle, minister, pastor, father, mother, deacon (deaconess), abbot (abbess), bishop, archbishop, elder, primate, chaplain, cardinal, vicar, prior, monk, nun, brother, sister, archdeacon (arch deaconess), novice, saint.

D20 CLOTHING

1	Simple robes with a rope belt
2	Common peasant attire
3	Traditional liturgical vestments
4	Well kept, quality clothing
5	Shambled vestments
6	Long dark robes with a full hood
7	Leather armour
8	Chainmail
9	Full plate and shield
10	A light woven gown
11	Silk vestments with jewels
12	Brightly dyed robes
13	Travelling gear
14	High leather boots, with a bright sash
15	Loosely tied robes leaving shoulders and back bare
16	A long heavy cloak with a high collar
17	Breastplate with kilt
18	A large girth under heavy robes
19	Wimple with long robes
20	Ornate ceremonial robes

D20 ACCESSORIES

1	Ink stains
2	Tight braids
3	An old cane
4	Divine tomes
5	A large gaudy holy symbol
6	A full coin purse
7	A spear
8	A coil of rope over one shoulder
9	An obviously full bag
10	A ceremonial dagger
11	Facial tattoos
12	Food stains
13	Scroll cases
14	A thurible of incense
15	Prayer beads
16	A mace
17	A missing tooth
18	A streak of gray hair
19	A lute
20	Calloused hands

D20 MANNERISMS

1	Exhales through teeth
2	Wipes nose on sleeve
3	Give a high pitched laugh
4	Scratches neck
5	Fiddles with a pen
6	Rolls shoulder
7	Favours right leg
8	Pull on beard
9	Clears mucus from throat regularly
10	Lays hand on others shoulders
11	A very close talker
12	Readjusts clothes
13	Licks teeth with tongue
14	Twirls loose hair
15	Looks down their nose at people
16	Rolls eyes
17	Cracks knuckles
18	Picks at finger nails
19	Whispers
20	Thinks out loud

D20 RUMOURS

1	Is courting the mayor's daughter
2	Worships another god in secret
3	Never received formal training
4	Killed the last priest
5	Is lecherous
6	Used to be a blacksmith
7	Is a royal in hiding
8	Has gold buried under the temple
9	Knows the location of a dead saint
10	Mints counterfeit money
11	Has a secret patron
12	Waters down the holy wine
13	Uses old bath water as holy water
14	Is part of a thieves' guild
15	Is a disgraced soldier
16	Knows Draconic and Abyssal
17	Sells indulgences
18	Former lover of the king
19	Was born in an enemy kingdom
20	Former adventurer

THEATRES: CHARACTERISTICS & APPEARANCE (EXTERNAL)

Every theatre has a distinctive appearance. Use this table to generate its basic appearance. Some features may be inappropriate based on the locale's set up. Ignore such results and simply re-roll.

D%
01-02	A red and yellow hand puppet theatre set on a busy street corner. Tinkling music plays from somewhere unseen.
03-04	A lurid purple-pink hand puppet theatre sized for a gnome lying on its side by the road.
05-06	A folded marionette theatre leaning against an alley wall, with a tangled, splintered pile of puppets beside it. The alley reeks of blood and vomit.
07-08	A pretty marionette theatre covered with carvings of tiny flowers and animals, and set next to an equally carved puppet box.
09-10	A miniature stage with burgundy curtains and a puppet dancing beside it to the clipped telekinetic orders of its owner.
11-12	A square foot of yellowed cloth stretched over a frame and flanked by two beggars offering a shadow puppet show.
13-14	An open wagon with a pair of clog dancers performing on its floor, while a drummer keeps time.
15-16	A scrubbed but battered open wagon used as a mobile stage for a troupe of shabby actors, two of whom are arguing beside it.
17-18	A gaudy pink and gold coloured wagon with a side that drops down to make a stage, driven by a fat red-haired human.
19-20	A dark green covered wagon with a side that drops down to make a stage, and the owner's name painted on the side.
21-22	A folding stage stacked onto a red wagon, parked beside an inn, and guarded by a small white dog.
23-24	A filthy folding stage half-sliding off a wobbly handcart, pushed by a half-orc and a goblin.
25-26	A shimmering silver tent with illusory trees around it.
27-28	A sober blue and grey peaked tent with a board outside showing the times and name of the show.
29-30	A small, run-down, unremarkable, house with a dwarf bawling the show times and title outside.
31-32	A bright red and blue big top with a clown dancing around the entrance.
33-34	A red velveteen tent with a roped off entrance.
35-36	A shabby dance hall with faded, peeling gilt on the doors and roof edge.
37-38	An old music hall, with a sagging roof, and walls painted with dancing satyrs and nymphs.

39-40	A small opera house, threadbare and fading. Flecks of paint linger around the door and walls, outlining a grove of trees.
41-42	A brash amphitheatre, shouldering above the buildings on either side; calls and shouts echo from inside.
43-44	A well cared for house in a moderately well-off area. A discreet sign with the show name hangs from thatched eaves.
45-46	A large balcony above a bawdyhouse with a single figure posed like a slowly moving statue on it and a hefty bouncer on the door below.
47-48	A lovingly restored music hall with lacquered black doors, clearly rescued from a larger building, wedged between sturdy log walls.
49-50	An inn yard transformed into an open-air theatre with a central stage and bare, lime-washed, walls.
51-52	A gothic peaked and painted hall with a plump elf guarding the door in top hat and tails.
53-54	A small, prinked up, opera house with sandwich-board apprentices spread out in the surrounding streets calling out the shows.
55-56	A grand amphitheatre wedged between a bard's guildhouse and a magic academy. Thickly plastered posters proclaim music, magic and dance displays.
57-58	A roll of wrapped cloth rests in a trestle frame in an inn yard while at the front of the inn a gaunt young half-orc encourages people to come and see a shadow puppet show.
59-60	A grand dance hall covered in flowering vines that nod at the slightest breeze.
61-62	A well-kept concert hall built of dark stone polished almost as smooth as glass.
63-64	A butter-yellow playhouse surrounded with a jostling stream of actors and patrons.
65-66	A circular hall with a domed roof of glass panels lit from within by coloured lamps.
67-68	A circular, open-roofed theatre made from 12 wattle and daub panels, each painted with a different animal.
69-70	An archway, shaped like a pair of silver and gold trees, apparently leading to nowhere (though the gnome standing beside it assures patrons otherwise).
71-72	A grandiose opera house, open doors leading into an oak-panelled, red-carpeted lobby. It is cool and dim within.
73-74	A roped off teleportation circle set just on the edge of a noisy market hall. Twin happy and sad masks are inset into the centre of the circle.
75-76	An austere auditorium in solemn red brick. Peeling laughter wafts out of an entrance flanked by two masked and cloaked humans.

77-78	A glittering white ballroom attended by liveried footmen. Violin music drifts from an open window.
79-80	An oval amphitheatre in red-veined marble, used equally for acting and creature racing. The smell of smoke and dung drifts from the attached stables.
81-82	A stage constructed of heavy cloth and wire, stretched rigid between three trees.
83-84	A circle of tightly fitted wooden slabs, hammered into the ground. A woven sling chair hangs from a high pole, just visible over the top of the slabs.
85-86	A wide and shallow hollow in the ground, about chin high to a dwarf. A circle of red bricks inset in the ground marks the centre.
87-88	An archway carved into a cliff face and roped off with a silken ribbon. The rock around the arch displays intricate carvings of the deities of music and love.
89	An open door in a limestone wall, with a tapestry hanging just inside to block the view. The tapestry shows a set of bagpipes playing without a musician's hand to guide them.
90	A high, narrow theatre wedged between two larger ones, its windows outlined in tiny mother-of-pearl tiles. A magical message murmurs the show titles to anyone approaching the entrance.
91	An oak trapdoor, embossed with brass studs and poker worked with stars and musical notes. Under it, stairs lead down into darkness.
92	A colonnaded combined ballroom and concert hall, plastered and painted with ivy, butterflies and tiny birds. The sound of bird song fills the air, but falling bird excrement is a common danger here for visitors.
93	The edifice of this theatre is festooned with intricate carvings depicting scenes from famous plays and operas. When the theatre puts on special events the owner hires illusionists to bring the carvings to life.
94	This colonnaded building is faced with white marble. A sweeping set of steps leads up to the main entrance.
95	Many-hued everburning torches in black cast-iron sconces are set above the windows of this theatre. They bathe the street in a bizarre mishmash of colours.
96	The skulls of large monsters – dragons, giants, manticores and so on – are set into the wall about this theatre's main entrance.
97	The flags of many different nations flutter from the roof of this theatre. One flagpole is conspicuously unused.
98	A huge, ornate banner hangs down from the roof of this theatre. The banner advertises the upcoming appearance of a famous bard performing a recently discovered play by a famous playwright.

99	A stone platform, set on a low ridge of ground, and surrounded by trees trained to grow in the shape of seats.
100	An unobtrusive side door tucked away in a wall niche. Engraved above the heart shaped handle are the words "My heart opens only to music. Sing to me."

THEATRES: CHARACTERISTICS & APPEARANCE (INTERNAL)

Inside, every theatre is different. Use this table, to make the interior of the theatre interesting. Some features may be inappropriate based on the locale's set up. Ignore such results and simply re-roll.

D%
01-02	A grandfather clock in the entrance hall hides a secret door (moderately difficult to spot) to the backstage passages.
03-04	Diaphanous golden curtains divide the audience area into sections radiating out from the stage at one side of the tent.
05-06	Warped, but well-scrubbed, pine boards cover the floor.
07-08	A vaulted stone ceiling bears carved bosses of famous heroes and villains.
09-10	Simple swirls of yellowed plaster grace the walls and ceiling of the music hall.
11-12	Trestles and bench boards sit stacked in a pile beside the battered stage with a length of stained canvas stretched above them.
13-14	Weathered boards form a crude stage. A streak of something smelling strongly of rotten vegetables runs diagonally down the wall behind the stage.
15-16	An illusion forms the stage backdrop, displaying fields of ripe grain.
17-18	A small shrine to the music gods flanks the stage.
19-20	The intricately carved walls of the concert hall make even the worst players produce a sweeter sound, facilitating performances
21-22	Instead of scenery, wands used to provide illusory sound and stages are racked beside the stage.
23-24	Silvery cloth covers the walls and comfortable couches face the stage.
25-26	A musicians' gallery high on the right-hand wall overlooks the stage.
27-28	A sloped floor offers standing room for the audience. There are no seats or barriers.
29-30	Boxes of disturbingly life-like marionettes line the walls of the puppet theatre.
31-32	Two rope trick pocket dimensions form a pair of ultra-discrete boxes in the auditorium.
33-34	Each of the torch sconces lining the theatre walls is modelled on a different songbird.
35-36	Pieces of partly painted scenery lie scattered either side of the stage.
37-38	Every room of the dancehall contains at least two clocks; none tell exactly the same time.
39-40	A harp almost twice the height of a human stands in the very centre of the stage.
41-42	A bank of dark wooden pigeonholes for letters line the entrance wall.

43-44	Curtains, gaudily stitched with bawdy jokes in a flowing foreign script, frame an alcove.
45-46	Dried leaves cover the floor.
47-48	An incense burner fills the air with a spicy scent.
49-50	The inside of the amphitheatre smells of smoke, blood and old sweat.
51-52	Layers of rushes cover uneven stone flags.
53-54	Paintings of musicians and scantily clad dancers cover the plastered walls.
55-56	A geometric mosaic marks the path from outer entrance to main auditorium.
57-58	Ropes hang against all the walls, with one end vanishing up through the ceiling and out of sight.
59-60	Muffled thumps and laughing voices echo from behind a row of closed doors.
61-62	Flute music starts playing from nowhere as soon as anyone steps through the inner door.
63-64	The room boasts a shifting colour scheme that automatically changes to match the clothing of each person who steps onto the centre stage.
65-66	A sloping auditorium surrounds the large central stage.
67-68	A basket of withered fruit and vegetables is on sale for a few coppers apiece.
69-70	A half-eaten apple bounces down a flight of steps as if just dropped.
71-72	A motley collection of rugs in different colours covers the floor.
73-74	Clashing, overlapping curtains cover the walls.
75-76	An underground chamber, chiselled in deep steps for seats, slopes down to a tiny stage.
77-78	Five staircases spiral off in different directions with no indication of what leads where.
79-80	Paint and padding makes the room resemble a dragon's open mouth, with the tongue as a ramp leading up to the throat and a black door.
81-82	Tiny twisting galleries lead off from the foyer, each painted in a different shade of the rainbow.
83-84	A blazing light overhangs the stage
85-86	A light hangs from the centre point of the ceiling, like a miniature moon.
87-88	A whisper of sound like heavy breathing comes from everywhere and nowhere.
89-90	Drumming fills the air, making even the floor and walls seem to vibrate in time.
91-92	Flowers cram the area, filling the air with an overpowering, cloyingly sweet scent.
93-94	This room appears to be an open glade in a moonlit forest, complete with trees and flowers.
95-96	A red-lit sauna set up ready for use with a firepit, water, stones for heating and low stone seats.
97-98	Glittering glass crystals stud the walls.
99-100	This room's walls are as black as obsidian.

THEATRES: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS & OPPORTUNITIES

Although the PCs may simply want to visit the theatre, or view a show, sometimes fate intervenes. Use this table to determine the opportunities or complications the PCs encounter.

D20

1	Three pickpockets working the audience target the PCs. They flee if detected, using the crowd as cover to get away.
2	Two dogs chase a cat through a crowded entranceway, oblivious to the people in the way.
3	A local noble has hired the theatre company to put on derogatory plays, slandering and defaming one of his rivals. The slandered noble has just discovered he has been slandered and is making a grand scene in front of the theatre.
4	The theatre is really a living dropbox for a group of spies and saboteurs. As they, the audience, and the actors mingle, coded letters slip from one person to another. The PCs must intercept a message unseen. Alternatively, a perceptive PC spots the exchange and might wonder what is going on or a PC receives a message through mistaken identity.
5	Calamity strikes during the performance. Perhaps a large piece of scenery collapses or the stage suddenly gives way. This might simply be a random act of misfortune or the culminations of a sinister plot against the theatre or a specific performer.
6	A child starts to cry during the performance – scared by some aspect of the play or show. After a few minutes, the child’s parents lead him outside where they can be heard scolding him loudly.
7	One of the actors is a local aristocrat’s runaway child, and the aristocrat has filled the audience with loyal retainers to recapture him, but Cammy has taken the actor’s shape.
8	The PCs are mistaken for a local notable and retinue, and plied with extras, bonuses and offers in hopes of a reward.
9	The PCs are mistaken for an infamous local notable and retinue, and the company calls all hands to drive them away from the theatre.
10	Political rivals both try to woo the theatre company over to their side, for the propaganda value, resulting in constant one-upping of gifts and favours poured into the theatre and company.
11	An assassin mingles with the crowd, waiting for the show’s climax to strike his target.
12	The stage manager decides one of the PCs is perfect for a role in the next performance and tries to recruit the PC on a temporary basis.
13	During the performance, a couple begin to row about something seemingly inconsequential. As it continues their voices get louder and louder. Soon, their argument threatens to disrupt the performance all together.

14	The crowd goes wild and throws the performers out of the theatre.
15	The crowd goes wild and mobs the performers with delight.
16	Tokens of appreciation are thrown at the stage during the performance. One hits the star performer in the head and stuns him. A replacement is urgently sought.
17	Tokens of disgust are thrown at the stage during the performance. One of the performers is injured.
18	The stage manager is desperately hunting for an unusual stage prop and offers a reward to the PCs if they can provide it.
19	Someone swaps the theatres illusion-crafting wands for evocation wands, causing a deadly “scene-changing” moment.
20	The theatre catches fire in mid-performance, causing panic and a frantic rush for everyone to escape, or deal with the fire.

SHOWS

Theatres generally have 1d4-1 shows running at any one time. Use the table below to generate show titles for the theatre. Some may be inappropriate, depending on the type of theatre desired. Ignore such results and simply reroll.

D20

1	Mrs Vansome Dances
2	Cyanide and Supple Silks
3	Three-handed Frikke and the Greedy Dragon
4	The Magician and the Mousetrap
5	Foxy Lady
6	Journey into Knight
7	Mystical Magic
8	Across the Blue Yonder
9	Willem Do Tell
10	Pretty Pretty Please
11	Butterfly Heart
12	Queen Midnight and the Iron Cobra
13	A Bachelor’s Bacchanalia
14	Soliloquy No. 3
15	All Gingered Up
16	Fugue in A-minor For Flute and Harp
17	Valtyra
18	Who Took the Raw Maiden?
19	Imaginary Happiness
20	Lost Rainbow

THEATRES: SIGHTS & SOUNDS

D%
01-02	An illusory, scantily clad man (or woman) beckons patrons inside.
03-04	The sound of a large argument – on the merits of different acting styles – is easily audible.
05-06	A cat stares haughtily down from halfway up a spiral staircase.
07-08	Apprentices practise tumbling in the yard
09-10	Actors are rehearsing their lines on and off stage, in multiple small clusters.
11-12	A drunk picks a fight with another patron or a bouncer after being thrown out.
13-14	Two people carry a length of scenery along a hallway.
15-16	A man tries to wheedle his way in without paying so he can visit one of the actors.
17-18	A woman tries to wheedle her way in without paying so she can see one of the dancers.
19-20	A child tries to creep in unseen and watch the show without paying.
21-22	Musicians rehearse in a side room, still tuning up with each other.
23-24	A mage argues loudly with the stage manager about the merits and ease of the desired scenery illusions.
25-26	Three actresses practise a stage fight across the floor, while a surprised visitor tries to break them up.
27-28	A writer scribbles alterations to a script hung on the wall beside the stage.
29-30	An instructor drills the chorus in a long, complicated dance, which they do badly.
31-32	An instructor drills the chorus in a long, complicated dance, which they do well.
33-34	A gnome with a tray of pies patrols by the theatre, calling his wares loudly.
35-36	A child actor runs up with a script and demands the PCs hear the child's lines for the next play.
37-38	A scantily clad man or woman beckons patrons inside.
39-40	A loud thump echoes from within the theatre.
41-42	A uniformed usher moves back and forth, leading people to their seats.
43-44	A painter is hastily finishing scenery.
45-46	A cat runs through a toppled paint pot, and then up a piece of scenery, leaving paw prints behind.
47-48	A dog runs into a piece of scenery, knocking it down into a pool of paint.
49-50	An actor argues with the stage manager, before storming out of the theatre.
51-52	A patron proposes marriage to one of the dancers, and a crowd gathers to watch the reply.
53-54	A handful of performers stand on stools while a dresser scurries around fitting costumes to them.

55-56	A crowd of patrons pours out of the theatre, excitedly discussing the show they have just seen.
57-58	A cook sprints out the door with a pan on fire, and thrusts it into the nearest water source.
59-60	Someone has polished the wooden theatre floors to a high gleam with the side effect that the floor is nearly as slippery as ice.
61-62	A female elf has four identical dogs lined up and is teaching them to bark on note on command.
63-64	A pair of singers rehearses, repeating the same few phrases repeatedly.
65-66	A trapdoor in the stage comes loose and an actor drops through unexpectedly.
67-68	A supporting rope comes loose, dropping a piece of scenery flat on the stage.
69-70	A gale takes a stretch of tiles off the roof, turning the show's storm scene into something much realer and wetter.
71-72	A clerk shoos patrons into a neat line for tickets, then takes a long time with each one.
73-74	The star of the show gets stuck out of sight, and the rest of the company try to free him without letting the audience know anything is wrong.
75-76	A mage tests out illusory scenery for effect.
77-78	A little old man briskly sweeps the theatre foyer, ignored by the patrons.
79-80	A clock chimes, and then sticks and keeps chiming without stopping.
81-82	Political rivals use the theatre as a neutral venue to meet and discuss problems, a discussion that quickly turns icy.
83-84	The theatre's cat takes a liking to the PCs and winds around their ankles, purring.
85-86	A halfling with a tray of drinks and snacks patrols the inside of the theatre, cheerfully crying his wares between acts.
87-88	A strand of ivy wriggles through a window and grows happily in the internal warmth.
89-90	A shower of rain sweeps across the theatre drumming loudly on the roof and drowning out the show temporarily.
91-92	A cluster of children build a small replica theatre next to it, and play there using half-remembered scripts.
93-94	Someone catches a cutpurse in the act and beats them half to death before anyone can interfere.
95-96	The town guard arrives looking for an escaped criminal.
97-98	An alchemy stage trick goes horribly wrong, with a loud explosion and huge amounts of multi-coloured smoke.
99-100	A patron propositions one of the dancers and is immediately slapped for it.

THEATRES: ASSOCIATED NPCs

Use the NPC bios below to portray the folk encountered in the theatre. Either determine randomly which NPC the PCs encounter or choose a suitable candidate.).

D20	NPC
1	Avrey Fitzodem
2	Erotaisytu 'Cammy' Aenusoch
3	Grippa Saltbeard
4	Gulan ap Matham
5	Jean Pierrot
6	Laverne Dunstan
7	Leif Hallard
8	Leona Crystalnails
9	Lorenzo Larksong
10	Mayra
11	Orthida Twitterpate
12	Pascale Pariel
13	Sautha
14	Skat
15	Starlyre
16	Tahinoll Calmstar
17	Tamika Salas
18	Ty Silverson
19	Ullari
20	Zarky Halfpint

AVREY FITZODEM

N male human apprentice wizard(illusionist)

Appearance: Dark hair threaded with gray, dark, lined skin, immaculately dressed in deep crimson and russet.

Personality: Jealous, obsessive, falls quickly in and out of love at any excuse.

Mannerisms: Sniffs quickly at everything he comes across. Stares meaningfully at his latest flame.

Hooks: Fell in love with Leona, then out when she chased him. Last week smelt an unknown perfume lingering in his workroom, and wants to know who entered.

EROTAISYTU 'CAMMY'

AENUSOCH

N doppelganger apprentice ranger

Appearance: Variable, sometimes whichever minor role was last played, sometimes a half-elven child with dusky-brown skin, hair and eyes.

Personality: Mischievous, commonly laughing or smiling off-stage, and prone to shift shape for pranks and jokes.

Mannerisms: Rubs ankle with toe of other foot. Folds hands over belt and opens eyes wide and innocent.

Hooks: Secretly helps Zarky pin down secrets. Recently dyed Pascale on Zarky's request, while wearing Gulan's shape.

GRIPPA SALTBEARD

CN female dwarf journeyman fighter

Appearance: Red hair in a sailor's pigtail, wide hands, dark gray clothes streaked with paint and dust, slight limp.

Personality: Sharp-tongued, practical and pragmatic. Quickly exasperated by slower people.

Mannerisms: Rubs shoulder slowly when thinking. Flips pigtail over shoulder with a toss of her head.

Hooks: Planning to drop stage weight on Lorenzo after he spite-killed her wife.

GULAN AP MATHAM

LN male half-orc apprentice adept

Appearance: Gray-brown skin, yellow eyes, white robe with lilac embroidery around the collar.

Personality: Super-enthusiastic about latest fad, discards others. Changes every few weeks, only steadfast to his god.

Mannerisms: Slides the heel of one shoe up and down the side of the other shoe.

Hooks: Accidentally imparted information about poison to Lorenzo during that fad, giving enough knowledge to poison a dwarf. Worried dwarf's partner will take revenge.

JEAN PIERROT

LG male human apprentice wizard (universalist)

Appearance: Rat-like nose, tiny dark eyes, shabby red robe, slight hunch.

Personality: Darts rapidly from subject to subject. Has an answer to everything. Cocky.

Mannerisms: Shoots head forward to look at people. Runs thumbs along inside belt.

Hooks: Belt is a money belt, after losing spell component pouch with valuable materials to a cutpurse, he doesn't want to lose anything else. Would also like his pouch back, if possible.

LAVERNE DUNSTAN

CG male human apprentice cleric

Appearance: Dark blond hair and beard. One blue eye, one gray. Patched, motley, layers of gray and brown clothing.

Personality: Thrown out of his temple for gambling, he swings from upbeat and cheery to morose depending how his luck runs.

Mannerisms: Twists strands of beard in his fingers when listening.

Hooks: Won big, wants to invest it into the company without anyone knowing; needs a front person.

LEIF HALLARD

LN male human journeyman rogue

Appearance: Looks much younger than actually is, blond hair, gray eyes. Immaculate but nondescript clothes.

Personality: Suave, charming, ruthless. Leader of the local pick pockets.

Mannerisms: Purses lower lip in thought. Picks 'dust' off sleeve or knee.

Hooks: Hunting the members of a spy group muscling in on his turf, so he can get rid of them.

LEONA CRYSTALNAILS

LN female human apprentice wizard (diviner)

Appearance: Mousy curls and skin, gray eyes, bitten nails alternately painted white and red and decorated with tiny chips of crystal of the opposite colour. Grubby lace spills over her tight red dress.

Personality: Intensely curious. Collects books and scrolls of all types, with a particular focus on history.

Mannerisms: Constantly fidgeting, chewing nails, picking at the lace of her collar and cuffs, drumming fingers on the nearest wall.

Hooks: Wants to know why Avrey is so flighty around her. Someone stole a rare book she had only just acquired, and she wants it found, no questions asked

LORENZO LARKSONG

NE male human journeyman bard

Appearance: Scrawny in black and silver, aiming for elegant. Black hair, pale skin, hazel eyes.

Personality: Superficially charming, spiteful and manipulative underneath.

Mannerisms: Folds arms, hidden fingers tap impatiently on ribs. Lays one finger along jaw.

Hooks: Wants a letter quietly delivered to Orthida, spinning a sob-story of how Zarky is blackmailing him.

MAYRA

CN female human apprentice sorcerer (destined)

Appearance: Almost albino except for striking blue eyes. Faded blue shirt and breeches, scarf over her hair.

Personality: Wary, uneasy, often mistaken for shy. Talks very little off-stage, and when she does, her accent betrays her distant origins.

Mannerisms: Ducks her head and looks a little sideways at people. Tugs at the frayed cuff of her shirt.

Hooks: Mayra killed a noble by accident and fled, seeking training for her wild magic. She made a new life for herself, but the noble's heir has sent assassins after her in revenge.

ORTHIDA TWITTERPATE

NG female gnome apprentice cleric

Appearance: Blue hair, braided and coiled like a birdnest. Navy skin, lots of pink freckles. Wears silver shirt, black skirt and shoes.

Personality: Flits from one topic to another, easily distracted, adores birds and children. Eternal optimist.

Mannerisms: Tilts head on one side like a bird. Picks absently at eyebrows.

Hooks: Wants to rescue and redeem Lorenzo without spoiling the wonderful theatre shows.

PASCALE PARIEL

LN male halfling apprentice rogue

Appearance: Fair haired, freckled skin, brown eyes. Severe black coat and breeches over a plain white shirt.

Personality: Cold, haughty and very precise about his speech and actions.

Mannerisms: Purses lips and puckers face as if about to sneeze. Smooths a hand down his coat.

Hooks: Someone recently tipped dye into Pascale's bath after he fell asleep, leaving him streaked and mottled with lurid colours. Furious, Pascale wants the culprit found.

SAUTHA

CN female lizardfolk apprentice aristocrat

Appearance: Polished green scales, yellow eyes, yellow frill. Simple beige tunic, belt with pen case and rapier.

Personality: Once happy-go-lucky human, reincarnated after dying defending a druid, now testy and unhappy.

Mannerisms: Tugs tunic down, smooths out invisible wrinkles. Goes to run fingers through hair, then changes to tug frill.

Hooks: Seeking a method of becoming human again; asks for help from the PCs.

SKAT

NE female goblin apprentice expert

Appearance: Green skin with blue tattoos instead of hair. Enveloping yellow apron covered in pockets and tools.

Personality: Jumpy, nervous, always running somewhere. Prefers to work alone but takes pride in her ability to make anything needed at short notice.

Mannerisms: Mutters under her breath as she works. Constantly pats her pockets as if looking for a tool.

Hooks: Managed to set fire to a set of stage backdrop and loved the sight and smell of the conflagration. Awed, and looking to repeat the effect.

STARLYRE

LN female elf apprentice druid

Appearance: Ankle length hair dyed in leaf-patterns, gold skin and eyes, leather armour and twin daggers. A scar lifts the left corner of her mouth.

Personality: Patient with children and animals, less so with adults. Propositions receive a knife or fist to the face.

Mannerisms: Always works clockwise around any area, from room to plate of food. Cleans her nails with the point of a dagger.

Hooks: She is teaching a hound chorus, but is short one animal; can the PCs find one that barks the right note?

TAHINOLL CALMSTAR

LG male elf apprentice bard

Appearance: Copper hair and skin, blue-green eyes, dozens of clashing earrings up long ears, plain brown clothing.

Personality: Dreamy, easygoing and easily trusting, yet firm in his wishes, even forceful.

Mannerisms: Blinks rapidly when spoken to. Runs fingers up the line of earrings.

Hooks: Entered Avrey's workroom by accident, saw a beautiful stone there, wants it for a new earring, but unsure how to broach the subject.

TAMIKA SALAS

CN female human journeyman rogue

Appearance: Gold-skin, dark-green eyes, wispy white hair streaked with ink, low-cut top hides leather armour.

Personality: Chatterbox, spinning stories as easily as true anecdotes, but always with her eye to the money or the opportunity.

Mannerisms: Runs her fingers through her hair while writing, sometimes forgets to put the pen down first.

Hooks: Annoyed a noble with a story, left town in a hurry, but circuit is now taking her back there. Needs someone to check if he remembers her.

TY SILVERSON

LN male human apprentice monk

Appearance: Blue-black skin, iron-gray stubble, scarred knuckles, broken nose. Maroon tunic over loose gold breeches and boots.

Personality: Cheerfully dutiful in all circumstances, terse-spoken but probing, careful and accurate in action.

Mannerisms: Runs a hand over his head. Adopts fight-ready foot-stance whenever daydreaming.

Hooks: Looking for a sparring partner to keep his skills sharp.

ULLARI

LE female orc apprentice fighter

Appearance: Long black hair, dull gray skin, broken nose and tusks, armour glamourised into a fashionable green dress.

Personality: Friendly, but aloof and vengeful. Very interested in fashion, almost dandyish.

Mannerisms: Taps a finger on her left tusk when she thinks.

Hooks: Hears of a place where she can be star performer instead of playing only minor roles and asks PCs to investigate and report back.

ZARKY HALFPINT

NG male halfling apprentice witch

Appearance: Short even for halflings. Sun-streaked brown hair, hazel eyes. Purple shirt, black breeches. Tabby cat familiar.

Personality: Sharp-eyed, studious, catches secrets from everyone.

Mannerisms: Constant running commentary on everything under breath.

Hooks: Uses Lorenzo's secrets to keep him from wrecking the company. Keeps an eye on him all the same.

THIEVES: PICK POCKETS & CONFIDENCE TRICKSTERS

They're the hand slipped into your pocket. They're the ones scampering through the crowds with your coin purse. The ones willing to break windows and snatch food from market stalls for the merest copper—or just to survive. No theft is too small, no trinket worthless enough not to lift.

D%
01-04	Toggly Bellast (N male gnome expert) keeps his purple-black hair cut short and twitches like a magpie, unable to resist the allure of any shiny thing in someone else's possession. He wears many pouches – all stuffed full with the many mundane items he has recently lifted.
05-08	Phaedri Lothwin (CN female elf expert) often prowls the rooftops, studying potential targets from above. Then she drops down beside them to make the snatch and run before they realize what's happening. Her lithe form is perfect for crouching among the shingles and chimneys.
09-12	Ulumt Umult (N male human expert) is forever juggling items in his calloused hands, brown eyes gleaming with delight at his talent. Rocks, daggers, coins...he creates intricate patterns of items in the air to distract his victims so he can pluck from their pockets as they watch.
13-16	Avrit Ogglestent (N male halfling expert) has a spotty record as a pickpocket, and the scars on his cheeks are evidence of victims lashing out with blades or fingernails as they try to capture or dispatch him. Knob-kneed, he runs with a bumpy gait. He is nervous and hates the threat of violence; he doesn't target obvious warriors and is a bit of a coward.
17-20	"Ripples" Dernstle (CN female halfling adept/expert) uses her over-large feet to trample others' toes when darting off with snatched goods. She wears a manic grin even when being chased, and loves causing a good bit of chaos in a crowd to cover her escape.
21-24	Tholosa Ervia (CG female half-elf bard) possesses a lovely voice, almost as fair as her face. She tends to target merchants in marketplaces, and the few who know her well say she drops off a portion of everything she steals at a nearby orphanage. She sings lullabies to herself every night until she falls asleep in whatever hole she's tucked into.
25-28	Laya Falto (CE female human wizard/rogue) employs her meagre magical skill to make people's attention slide away from her until she's gotten close enough for a snatch. Then, once ducked around a corner with the bounty, she muddles her plain, blocky features and changes the colour of her hair to avoid being singled out as the culprit.

29-31	Oma Ger (N female human rogue) is constantly popping her huge knuckles as she scans the crowds for a target. Despite her oversized hands, she's deft enough in lifting coin purses, and you can always tell when she's made a steal because she'll be grinning from ear to ear, revealing teeth that would put a horse to shame.
32-33	Fidst Huntle (CN male gnome rogue) has a collection of pet rats, each as grimy and stringy-looking as him. He always keeps one about his person, and slips into posh eating establishments, where he'll set it loose in the common area. As the patrons react predictably to the rodent, he works through their midst, lifting coin and silverware alike.
34-36	Elbius Ollory (CG male halfling expert) has been hanging around kitchens, bakeries and inns long enough that most cooks in the city recognize his rumpled black hair and squinty blue eyes. And they know to hide any baked goods until he's gone, otherwise the delicacies will vanish into his stomach the moment their back is turned.
37-39	Quili Wendst (LN male half-elf rogue) often sets up tripwires in alleys and around tight corners, and then slips his thin figure into a nearby nook until a victim comes along and tumbles face-first to the cobbles. Then he pounces on them and grabs what he can, sprinting off before they can recover.
40-42	Pol Jupple (N male elf sorcerer/rogue) goes about wrapped in a concealing robe and hood. No one can recall what he looks like, even if they have a long conversation. As he moves through the crowded streets, people find their purses and possessions suddenly missing, even if they were standing across the way from Pol. He has no real friends and lurks in the forgotten cellar below a ramshackle tavern.
43-45	Ryun Zer (N male human rogue) has only one hand and ear, the others cut off as punishment for being caught stealing. This hasn't slowed him down from still trying to prove himself a master thief. At this rate, though, he soon won't be much more than a scrap of flesh, bumping his way through crowded markets or begging on the side of the road. Occasionally, he masquerades as a beggar.
46-48	Obles Numon (CN male human commoner) likes to shamble around marketplaces, finding unsuspecting targets and getting right in front of them. If his stink doesn't make them turn away (giving him a first opportunity to dip their pockets), he'll thrust his left hand in their faces—the sight of the mangled, fingerless stump inevitably causes them to recoil in disgust, and he'll make his snatch during the distraction.

49-51	Hada Lilifoot (CN female gnome expert) has been blind since birth, but that hasn't stopped her from robbing others blind. In fact, her heightened sense of smell and hearing gives her an edge in getting in and out of a steal unseen. She walks hesitantly in public (but can dash about when needed), tapping her way with a stick she uses to whack away unwanted touches.
52-54	Bomi Takora (CE female human expert) has always found it's easier to steal from those who pity you. So she's disguised her fair skin with mud and her healthy body with bandages and sits on a beggar's mat most days...until she find a compassionate soul who tosses a silver into her bowl, rather than a copper. Those, she follows home.
55-57	Dita Fens (CG female gnome rogue) believes in a thief deity, and so considers it her form of worship to slip into the temples of other gods and snatch from their coffers. She often enters as a patron seeking prayers and blessings, and leaves with her robes heavy laden with holy coin.
58-60	Noral Opalskein (N female dwarf expert/rogue) runs a jewellery stall in the market; most of her items are fakes. But when people stop to inspect her wares, she deftly switches their real items with convincing mock-ups while helping them try on various pieces. Nobody suspects the dwarf with the gleaming blonde hair and shining smile.
61-63	Teppit Crundle (CE male human rogue) has a snivelling air and nose that never stops twitching. He makes it his business to know most other thieves in the city, so if he's ever caught, he's got plenty of snatch material to offer up in exchange for his being let go.
64-66	Sagis Rudibar (CN male half-elf commoner) hobbles along on a crutch, one leg tied up behind him to look like a cripple, all rags and tragedy. His crutch has a hollow compartment where he conceals any small valuables he filches from others. He likes to sing and whistle when at work.
67-69	Athele Delera (N female gnome expert) steals from the poor to give to...well...herself. Beggars of all sorts are her primary target, and her teal eyes gain a vicious glint whenever a well-meaning soul tosses a heavy handful of coin into the nearest alms bowl.
70-72	Suna Donown (N female human adept) wears a dirty priestess robe that's seen years of wear and tear. Her hair hangs bedraggled and as filthy as her outfit. She mutters blessings and curses as she wanders the back streets, stealing what food and coin she can. She promises to cast powerful spells for money, but just runs off when she's got the coin.

73-75	Hassar Junth (N female human adept/expert) loves the idea of thievery, but suffers from a terrible malady—a conscience. Short and stocky, she's developed some talent; but even when she is successful, she often feels so guilty about the theft, she anonymously returns the stolen items.
76-78	Vand Munet (LE male human expert/warrior) loves picking pockets, but it's a serious wound to his pride when he's caught. As such, if anyone tries to grab him before he gets away, they're likely to get a finger (or whole hand) lopped off by the meat cleaver he carries.
79-81	Plunk Erregard (CG male dwarf warrior/rogue) has only been forced to steal in order to pay for the healing tinctures that keep a vicious lung infection from killing him in a matter of days. His black beard is speckled with crusted blood from his constant hacking, which has made it harder for him to steal as the disease progresses.
82-84	Olstrum Havarrer (CG male gnome adept/expert) may be old for a gnome, wrinkled and starting to grey, but his hands haven't lost the dexterity decades of working quill and parchment have gifted him. Now that business has dried up, thieving is the only income he has to keep his family from starving.
85-87	Xellar Vul (N male elf aristocrat/rogue) lost his family's fortune to a band of conmen. In seeking them out for revenge, he learned many of thieving skills and funds his search in this manner. He retains a fierce pride, and walks with a regal air.
88-90	Onnock Lodestar (N female dwarf expert) had been taught to use her hands and tools in a smithy—but found it faster to use those same tools to break into buildings and safes. Quick with a joke, her brown eyes hold a constant wariness.
91-93	Pockle Dockle (CN male gnome expert) wanted to be a great magician, but lacked any significant magical skill. So he taught himself sleight-of-hand and set about earning his keep by tricking others' senses, most of the times without their realizing any trick had occurred.
94-96	Juti Thims (CN female halfling adept) developed a formula for flash powder that she tosses in a target's face. The resulting dazzling light leaves them dazed long enough for the skinny halfling to riffle through their clothes and dash off.
97-100	Guruj Kollum (NE male half-orc rogue) loves to eavesdrop on adventurers in taverns, catching word of what treasure they might've rescued from a nearby dungeon lately. Then he'll attempt to slip into their rooms later in the night and make off with whole chests of goods.

THIEVES: THUGS & BASHERS

Subtlety, tact, discretion and cunning; some thieves lack all four of these qualities. These are the thugs who lurk in alleyways, naked blade in hand.

D%
01-07	Dredge (CE male human warrior) doesn't wander far from the river. A hulk of a man, his nose always sniffing and dribbling, he eyes passersby as if they're a slice of mutton. He robs others by grabbing a victim's face in one of his huge hands and threatening to tear it off unless they pass over everything of value.
08-15	Dengle Wreste (N male half-elf fighter/rogue) once made good money in a fighting ring, until his sponsor discovered he threw bouts for gold. Now he employs his chokeholds on unfortunates who walk down the wrong alleys and bump into a scraggly half-elf with a fighter's grimace.
16-22	Kellen Ostole (CE male human fighter/rogue) has the philosophy of "What you don't know and can't see will definitely hurt you." As such, this handsome young man prefers to bludgeon his victims from behind and leave them bereft of all personal possessions by the time they wake.
23-29	Munda "Toll" Racit (CE female human rogue) has set herself up as a "toll collector" in seedier areas of town. If you see this muscled, glowering woman watching over a doorway or alley you need to go through, you might as well find another way. She won't let you pass unless you pay a "admittance fee" or resort to violence.
30-37	Frothle Unnagun (NE male half-orc rogue) is missing one eye in his scarred face, but that doesn't stop him from picking out wealthy targets who need a lightening of their load. His method is simple. Stab. Steal. Walk away.
38-45	Gollick Tym (CN male half-orc warrior) doesn't like things getting in between him and money (especially other people). With broad shoulders and simple wit, his habit is to simply break down doors and windows of empty homes, walking straight in and out with whatever he can carry.
46-53	Rundah Pinth (LE female half-orc rogue) takes great pleasure in throttling her targets until they pass out. Then she takes her time sorting through their goods. Anyone crossing her path while she's looting joins the passed-out patsies.
54-60	Tobian Erun (N male elf warrior) has a growing armoury stashed in a cellar, thanks to his habit of stealing weapons. From the tiniest dagger to the largest warhammer, this muscular elf loves to liberate well-crafted weapons from the hands of the unskilled. He has a particular preference for enchanted arms.

61-66	Argunt Cromost (NE male half-orc warrior) is rarely sober, and when he is, he only enjoys stealing one thing—alcohol. Any vintage or brew he can lay his hands on, even if he has to snatch it straight out of a tavern-goer's hands and chug it down before they can respond. He is skinny for a half-orc and has blunted tusks.
67-73	Schona Ammoon (NE female half-orc warrior/expert) is a mute that moves about quietly for all her bulk, and the beads woven into her hair make a quiet clatter. If anyone ever spots her face during a steal, the worse for them. She'll find them later and cut out their tongue to keep them from identifying her as the thief.
74-80	Vopen Font (N male dwarf fighter) is a young dwarf who has a keen talent with slings. Wiry for a dwarf, he'll line up a pebble with a target and let fly, producing a sharp sting or dazing hit to the skull. As the person recovers, that's his opportunity to trundle by and say he saw the urchin that threw the stone, and will point them out for a small fee.
81-85	Hool Unnagun (NE female half-orc warrior/expert) watches over a ragtag gang of pickpockets, making sure they always deliver a cut to her in the evening, in exchange for a safe place to sleep under her watch. Her gray eyes are surprisingly kind, but her tusked smile can turn cruel.
86-92	Cajira Filis (NE female elf expert/warrior) believes the most valuable thing she can steal is another's life. Trim and with a coiled strength, she holds a harsh beauty with a sadistic gleam to her golden eyes. If she's ever caught in the middle of a theft, she gives up trying to rob and simply turns to killing her target. She'll leave the loot behind in these instances.
93-96	Jundo Munst (CN male human warrior) knows his ugly, lumpy face marks him as little more than the thug he is. He doesn't try any fancy tricks, but prefers to rob victims with the tried-and-true tactic of cornering them in an alley with a dagger to their throat. A strategy that has kept him in the coin for now.
97-100	Lipswit Naer (LE male halfling adept/expert) possesses strong hands and nimble feet, allowing him to clamber up most walls or other vertical surfaces. Many a sleeper has woken to find a small, masked face leaning over them and a dagger to their throats. Their survival depends on how quickly they lead him to their valuables.

THIEVES: SKILLED THIEVES

There are thieves...and then there are those who put pickpockets and back-alley muggers to shame. These are the ones that get a real rush out of performing the perfect con or daring heist. Quick of wit, eye and blade, they'll leave you coinless, yet none the wiser for your sudden poverty.

D%
01-03	Dalo Wumple (CE female halfling bard) loves to throw her voice into odd corners, distracting victims, or even causing arguments between two innocents that she can use as a distraction to acquire their goods.
04-06	Undra Sozonk (CG female half-orc rogue/fighter) often disguises herself and gets jobs guarding banks or other financial establishments. Then she learns the layout and routine, biding her time until she can empty the place in a single night while she's on shift.
07-09	Gerb Lerries (NE male human bard) possesses a perfect memory for maps. He uses this to memorize building layouts for infiltration, as well as plot escape routes through the city. Loves discovering hidden doors and tunnels.
10-12	Yelf Thungerd (NE male dwarf rogue) has a fondness for dirt and darkness, and has turned this passion into tunnelling under the city which he does almost nonstop. These tunnels connect with countless cellars and back rooms, which he uses to slip in and out unseen, making off with whatever he wishes.
13-15	Dok Anuk (CN male half-orc rogue/fighter) has an easy, if toothy grin. Maybe it's because his favourite method of robbing another is sidling up to them and whispering incredibly creative threats, detailing all the terrible things he'll do if they don't hand over the coin. And if they balk, he backs those threats up.
16-18	Tibby Arzoli (CN female gnome rogue) has disproportionately long legs and toes, and she uses these to good effect, having learned to pick pockets with her nearly prehensile toes. Gangly, with bright yellow hair and eyes, she gets vicious if anyone dares call her a "monkey."
19-21	Pedge Vickers (LE male human rogue) leaves notes behind every time he makes off with household valuables, thanking the previous owners for their "donation." Effeminate handwriting and a penchant for floral language is the only thing known about him.
22-24	Erzen Molo (LE male human fighter/rogue) must have some sort of fierce blackmail on the local watch. Anytime he gets caught thieving and hauled off, he's out on the streets within a day, smirking and blowing kisses to the ladies. He never even pays a fine.

25-27	Atherli Blestein (CE male human aristocrat/rogue) comes from a wealthy family, and financial responsibility was drilled into his head from a young age. Now, this red-headed, freckle-faced man steals all the coin he can to keep it safe from those who would otherwise squander it on ill-thought investments or base pleasures. It's for their own good, really.
28-30	Cisa Holze (CE female human wizard [enchanter]) is a slender, doe-eyed young woman who got kicked out of a school of mages for kleptomania. Now she employs her magic charms to temporarily persuade targets to hand over their goods and then forget she was there.
31-33	Jogo Ligrump (N male dwarf fighter/rogue) likes to snatch items from folks in plain sight and dare them to try and take it back. With rock-hard fists and a harder forehead, he fights like a demon to keep what he's taken. Plenty of victims have decided it's not worth the effort to confront him.
34-36	Erbent Mikash (N male dwarf rogue) enjoys stealing from folks in a more legal manner—gambling. He always ensures the games he offers looks good on the surface, with odds subtly rigged in his favour. His swarthy complexion and affable nature often charms people into playing when they really should know better.
37-39	Xiga Naggles (N female half-orc barbarian/rogue) has a stride that could outrun a horse. Even if she is spotted, with her grey-green skin and orange hair making her easy to pick out, the guards have never succeeded in catching her once she's made a snatch. She guests in low-class taverns and is always moving about.
40-42	Jonly Timmons (CN male halfling rogue) has a stash of jewellery he keeps in his hidey-hole, where he goes and prances about, adorned with dozens of rings and other finery. His thick hair hides large, blue eyes that widen at the sight of a particularly fine bauble.
43-45	Quon Derler (LE male half-elf rogue) lets his victims do the work for him. He'll break into a noble's house and wait for the owner to come home—helping himself to the larder in the meantime. When the owner returns, he greets them with a blade and has them direct him to the hidden safe.
46-48	Wottle Jergen (N male human fighter/rogue) has found easy pickings in getting himself hired as a caravan guard. His spic-and-span armour and clean-shaven demeanour gives him an official air that merchants find refreshing. Not so refreshing, though, when they wake up one morning to find him gone with their most valuable goods.

49-51	Rin Damans (NE female gnome rogue) feigns a wounded leg, or perhaps a foot trampled by a passing ox and cart. When someone responds to her wails, she asks to be carried to the nearest healing house. Along the way, she uses the excuse of clinging to them to relieve them of what goods may be on their person.
52-54	Rickles Semerson (NE male halfling rogue) disguises himself to look like a child and gets himself in an orphanage, where he doctors the books to be adopted by the next wealthy couple to come by. Then, after enjoying the hospitality of his new “parents” for a few days, he makes off with all household valuables and repeats the ploy with another disguise.
55-57	Olgben Nottle (CE female half-orc rogue/expert) is a popular fence who works with most of the city’s criminal factions. Her steely gaze is as heavy as her tongue, and she always ensures the best prices—both for her and her clients.
58-60	Prots Rangle (N male human rogue) only possesses two fingers on either hand, but uses them effectively to pinch every coin out of the nearest pocket. To relax, he works as a bartender in a popular tavern, entertaining guests by his two-fingered pouring and serving tricks.
61-63	Coorman Legrum (CN male human fighter/rogue) is a strapping lad with a shock of long white hair. In order to negate any guilt he feels for his thievery, he donates a full tenth of his earnings to various charities around the city.
64-66	Betsel Bregund (CE male human rogue) will enter a shop during the day and find a way to secret himself away in a closet, barrel or other hidey-hole. Then he emerges at night after the merchant has closed shop, and helps himself to any goods lying about.
67-69	Evoll Drasterfort (N male elf aristocrat/rogue) wanted a challenge in life, no longer finding his noble lifestyle satisfying. So he hired several master thieves to teach him the shadowy arts and took to stealing simply for amusement’s sake. Black-haired and purple-eyed, he is forever looking down on those around him, no matter how tall they truly stand.
70-72	Dinny Opet (LN female half-elf aristocrat/bard) always wanted to be part of the nobility; but since no prince would marry her, she’s settled for masquerading as a minor baroness at parties and thieving valuables from the guests. She employs her natural beauty and cultured manners to just such an end, and few have thus far pierced her facade.
73-75	Abay Urian (N female halfling rogue) is skeletally thin, and uses her spare frame to slip through cracks and barely open windows. She often targets churches and temples, stealing holy relics and gilded decorations to pawn.

76-78	Grensh Kunch (N female half-orc fighter/rogue) has filed her nails to fine points, and uses these to prick and puncture various nerve endings in her targets, inducing paralysis. Then this otherwise short and stout half-orc takes what she wishes while grinning into her victim’s frozen eyes.
79-81	Eta Vickles (N female gnome fighter/rogue) uses her natural height to an advantage by hiding under barrels and crates, waiting to hamstring targets that walk by. As they fall and bleed out, she loots them, promising to send the guards quickly if they don’t struggle. Bright red hair and golden eyes give her a fiery appearance.
82-84	Losheck Hurms (CG male human sorcerer/rogue) prematurely ended his apprenticeship to a wizard when he stole a scroll of levitation and vanished into the night. Having since committed the spell to memory, he uses his magic to levitate items of value out of their owners’ pockets, purses and homes.
85-87	Cholos Denner (N male half-elf rogue) never goes anywhere without his mask, and many wonder what it and his soft voice hides. He’s often hired to steal objects of personal, rather than actual material value from highly secured estates, and he has yet to fail such a contract.
88-90	Raman Onnz (N male human rogue/wizard [illusionist]) is a dark-eyed, pot-bellied man who inspires little thought of the usual thieving type. However, his ability to conjure illusionary walls gives him a mean of camouflage and escape that has enable his ongoing exploits.
91-93	Clinst Flather (CN male human rogue) owns a variety of dens and boltholes around town that he “rents” out to his fellow thieves—offering them temporary anonymity and security for a hefty cut of their latest haul.
94-96	Zoola Forrow (CE female human rogue) runs an expansive thieves gang, made up of the toughest crooks in the city. How she keeps the rabble in line is unknown. She keeps herself shaved, revealing lines of ugly scarring along her skull.
97-100	Nadel Kormean (CG female elf aristocrat/rogue) runs a gang that works on the city outskirts, robbing from any caravan foolish enough to pass through their neck of the woods. She then disperses the wealth she accrues to the poor and needy – minus what’s needed to keep her gang clothed and fed. A fat monk is her second-in-command. She often wears outfits all in verdant green.

THIEVES: SPECIALISTS

Sometimes a specialist thief is called for. Able to climb any wall or open any lock, they are the stuff of nightmares to the wealthy.

D%
01-07	Durolf Allamay (CN male human rogue) is a thin, balding man who can slice purse strings so finely, you won't notice it's missing until the next time you reach for it. Always has daggers tucked up his sleeves.
08-15	Adorai Klept (N female human rogue) has mastered every sort of lock and latch in existence, and she's even grown bored of lesser challenges. Her long, spider-like fingers often wander to the pick set she keeps concealed.
16-22	Aggel Ock (CE male half-orc rogue) was given a puzzlebox as a child and opened it by breaking it open over another playmate's head. Since then, he's learned to crack all manner of latches, lockboxes and safes. In fact, any sort of lock is a personal affront to him that must be eliminated.
23-29	Therian Loust (CE male elf rogue/fighter) employs superb acrobatic skills to walk rooftops and leap through open windows, whereupon he relieves the inhabitants of their valuables. He also is practically untouchable in a fight, as he tumbles and dodges every blow. Sandy-brown hair dusts over green eyes that are filled with mirth. Several women are smitten by the rogue, but would be terrified if they learnt what lurks in his heart.
30-37	Pheruth Dewson (CN male half-elf bard) was raised in the theatre and now employs his talents to take on countless personas at a moment's notice. He can talk his way into almost anyone's confidence, and talk his way out again with their valuables. Not to mention his skill with stage makeup. He is wildly egotistical and loves being the centre of attention. He sulks if ignored.
38-45	Vally Gumont (CG female gnome rogue) often climbs the highest structures in the city, moving up walls almost spider-like to peer down over what she considers her domain. There, she studies patterns in the crowds below until she divines an easy mark. She loves feeding the birds of the city – and several of them eagerly come to her outstretched hand.
46-53	Zala Manlot (CE female elf bard/rogue) is a master of disguise and can make herself look like a male or female of various races. She's often pulling off wicked cons that involve romantic triangles and high society scandals, in which she is actually at least two corners of the triangle. Her true hair colour is brown, but anything beyond that is unconfirmed.

54-60	"Uncle Shade" (CN male halfling rogue) is a grey-eyed, grey-skinned, grey-haired halfling with a singular talent for hiding in shadows. He can remain unseen in the smallest patch of darkness, and can slip from one shadow to another without detection, even if others are watching for him.
61-66	Rollo Cench (LN male human bard) is able to play almost any musical instrument he touches. As such, he's often hired to provide entertainment at upscale parties...where he then whisks away jewellery, silverware and other goods and stashes the takings in his instruments.
67-73	Staloea Phillerese (CN female human expert/rogue) is obsessed with art and has a remarkable talent for painting forgeries. She then slips into galleries and private collections, where she swaps out the forgeries for the originals, and either sells them off or keeps them for her own growing collection.
74-80	Sucor Sumlonay (CG female human fighter/rogue) strides about clad in thick armour, yet somehow does so in complete silence. Her bulk belies a cunning mind and the ability to plot out daring infiltration routes that would make most thieves balk.
81-85	Jerosh (NE male human fighter/rogue) is the guild's chief basher. Violent, depraved and avaricious, he is feared by his fellow rogues. His childhood was replete with misery and pain; he does not harm children – this is his only redeeming quality.
86-92	Zerif Derg (NE male human rogue) has a blank stare that unnerves anyone who holds it too long. Perhaps he practices it on the corpses he constantly robs, digging up countless graves to salvage any valuables buried with them. His handshake is as wet and chilly as the corpse mud he's often knee-deep in.
93-96	Ferom Noglet (LN female half-elf cleric/rogue) is a priestess of the death goddess. She appropriates all grave offerings as an offering to her dark mistress. She lairs in a sunken, abandoned crypt in the oldest part of a graveyard.
97-100	Tem Logrist (N male gnome fighter/rogue) figured the easiest mark is the one that can't resist. Employing his knowledge of toxins and skill with a blowgun, this pasty-faced gnome hits his victims from a distance with a paralytic dart and then pilfers their frozen forms.

THIEVES: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS & OPPORTUNITIES

The phrase, “thick as thieves” isn’t much of an exaggeration. They seem to lurk around every corner and in every shadow, waiting for the chance to pounce on unsuspecting targets.

D%
01-02	It was supposed to be a shortcut, but the alley wound up being another chance for the PCs to donate to this dagger-wielder’s “I’ll let you live” fund.
03-04	Seeing a scoundrel run off with their goods, the PCs cry out, “Help! Thief!” The nearby guards all look at them with bored expressions, and one says, “So? Go get him then. Stop bothering us.”
05-06	Someone sneaked into the PCs’ room last night and left a parchment on their desk. It details an offer to join a thieves’ guild, if they can steal enough to pay the entrance fee.
07-08	The thief the PCs just found riffling through their possessions looks to be no more than a kid. Likely an orphan, and a hungry one at that.
09-10	A PC successfully cornered the thief who took his coin in a dead-end alley. Unfortunately, his three cronies have now blocked off the exit, trapping the PC instead.
11-12	So the barmaid’s offer to “meet behind the stables” wasn’t for a dalliance, but so her associate could give the PC their offer of “your coin or your life.”
13-14	A thief just clambered up to the rooftops and is now getting away with the PCs’ goods. Do they follow?
15-16	Echoes of the thief’s chuckling keep annoying the PCs as they search for him in an increasingly twisted maze of alleys. Dare they keep pursuing him in territory he knows so well?
17-18	Right after a PC feels his belt lighten, he sees the likely thief duck into a nearby sewer. The smells emanating from there are not encouraging.
19-20	A woman just walked past the party wearing a pendant about her neck that a PC would’ve sworn they were wearing just minutes earlier.
21-22	After a short chase the two thieves pursued by the PCs split up at a fork in the street. Which one do they chase?
23-24	The unlocked cellar the PCs ducked into to get out of the rain wasn’t as empty as they hoped. And the plucky fellow waiting there with a blade insists they leave his den a bit poorer than when they entered.
25-26	A PC is pretty sure the blind beggar he just tossed a copper to winked back. Perhaps he’s been conned?
27-28	The PCs gave a lame man a coin yesterday. Today, they saw him duck into an alley, both legs somehow miraculously restored.

29-30	Two shady figures sitting in opposite corners of the tavern are eyeing the patrons and signalling to each other with strange gestures.
31-32	Clear as day, a PC sees a thief snatch a merchant’s coin purse and slip off. The merchant has yet to notice the loss.
33-34	The PCs are minding their own business when a heavy pouch is thrust into their hands. The person who just gave it thumbs over their shoulder, where guards can be heard shouting. “Hide that and let them search me. Once I’m clear, we’ll split the coin. Squeal, and I’ll say you’re my partner in crime.”
35-36	This fellow just marched up, grabbed a PC’s purse right off his belt, and shouted to all in earshot, “Here’s the brigand! Think you can make off with my coin, do you?”
37-38	While at the theatre, the PCs notice several unseemly sorts working through the crowd, bumping into attendees and signalling to one another. They appear to be working towards some nefarious end.
39-40	A warm body snuggles up to a PC at the bar, and a soft voice whispers salacious suggestions. At the same time, the PC senses fingers trying to undo his purse strings—and that’s not a euphemism.
41-42	Is this thief the PCs caught lightening their pockets actually just a child? Or a halfling in disguise?
43-44	Cornered, the thief claims he has no other way to get enough coin for a healing potion for his sick wife. He begs and pleads for the money – he may even be telling the truth!
45-46	It seems this thief is nothing but rags and bones. If the PCs take back what little coin she took from them, she may starve to death before even this night is out.
47-48	A friend of the PCs has boasted about this great steal he just pulled off, and he’ll split some of the profits if they help him fence the goods.
49-50	The PCs awake just as a black figure clambers through their window and fades into the shadows of the bedroom. From outside, sounds of pursuit echo through the dark streets.
51-52	The PCs’ beer has a funny smell to it and the bartender keeps nervously eyeing a few of his rough-looking friends in the tavern corner. They may be trying to drug the PCs and relieve them of their goods (or the beer may just be foul).
53-54	Passing by a noble’s estate late at night, the PCs witness a figure climb up one of the tower walls and slip into a candlelit window. The candlelight snuffs out moments later. The thief emerges ten minutes later and disappears into the night.

55-56	The PCs step into their room, glad to get some rest, when the door swings shut and latches behind them. The figure hiding there puts a blade to the PC's throat and asks, "Where's the money?"
57-58	Over a few drinks, several scoundrels invite a PC to participate in a complicated con scheme, involving a wealthy merchant, a bucket of tar and a lizard.
59-60	Turns out every coin in a PCs' pouch have been swapped for counterfeit money. Who could've made the switch? When and where did the PC last leave his coin unguarded?
61-62	Half a dozen priests from a local temple are running toward the PCs, hollering "Thief! Thief!" after a man who barely has the lead on them.
63-64	A woman dodges through the marketplace towards the PCs, guards hot on her heels. Cries of "Thief!" rise above the usual hawking and haggling.
65-66	In a tavern, a drunk man totters up to the PCs' table, grabs a drink and downs it in one. With a look of smug satisfaction on his face, he totters off to the next table. A barroom brawl will inevitably ensue...
67-68	The thief the PCs have cornered lets the hood slip back from concealing their face. The visage revealed belongs to a supposed friend.
69-70	The game-runner in the marketplace offers the PCs' choice of card, dice or other gambling pleasures. Surely they couldn't be rigged, could they? He's giving good odds...
71-72	This shifty fellow offers to sell a treasure map for a mere gold coin. The wealth it could lead to will be thousands of times that!
73-74	The PCs have caught a thief red-handed, and their grip on his wrist is unbreakable. Turns out, though, this thief likes to bite anything within reach.
75-76	Unlike most thieves, when the PCs caught this one in the act, they pulled a blade and look ready to leave the PC bleeding in the gutter.
77-78	Heavy netting drops over the PCs' heads as they ducked into the alley behind a tavern. As the ropes tighten, hands pat them down for valuables. If they struggle, the thieves beat them into unconsciousness, but do not inflict lethal damage unless attacked by the same.
79-80	While enjoying a dinner party at a noble's estate, the PCs notice a pair of poorly dressed servants slipping various pieces of silverware and food into their clothes and bags. They're also plucking the odd piece of jewellery from other guests.
81-82	The thief who just bumped into the PCs and took their coin is dressed in the finery of a noble. Also, his face matches that of a well-respected member of an influential house that holds much power in the local courts and merchant circles.

83-84	The child thief the PCs just caught squirms in their grip. "Please," he says. "If I don't bring 'nuff home, my pa will beat me."
85-86	A PC is certain the guard exacting tolls at the gate is the same person he saw begging for alms in beggar's rags a few days earlier. What's going on here?
87-88	As the PCs are strolling towards a corner, they hear a whisper of, "Soon as they round 'ere, clobber 'em and get their gold." This is quickly hushed. When the PCs pause, they can hear faint, but heavy breathing.
89-90	A black-robed figure steps out of a doorway that seems to suddenly appear. He sweeps an arm out and invites the PCs to pay respects within the thieves' temple and receive a blessing from one of its priests.
91-92	A thief pops up in front of the PCs, somehow waving one of their valuables in the air. "Race you to the nearest city gate. Beat me, and I'll return it!" Then the thief dashes away.
93-94	A PC recognizes the beggar wandering the market as having once been a noble, now having fallen destitute. Then they notice him plucking food and goods from various stalls he's passing...
95-96	The thief the guards are marching down the street is a friend of the PCs and someone they'd rather not see get stuck in jail or have a hand cut off. He sees them and begs for help.
97-98	The PCs have caught the thief with their coin purse in his hands, but he claims he needs the money to help save his dying child. He begs them to come to his hovel to see the veracity of his words.
99-100	"Hello. I'm the god of thieves, and I need you to steal something for me." At least, that's what the guy in the black mask and cloak claims when he meets the PCs. Do they believe him? Well, since he just walked through a solid wall to greet them, maybe there's something to his story and request.

TRADERS & CRAFTSMEN: CHARACTERISTICS & APPEARANCE

Every shop or workshop should have a distinctive appearance. Use this table to generate interesting characteristics and features of the shops and workshops in your town or city. Some features may be inappropriate based on your set up or what the PCs have encountered. Ignore such results and simply re-roll.

D%
1	A loft, where the craftsman labours, overlooks the sales floor.
2	A stone building with a blue-green moss growing on the north wall.
3	This stone workshop is reminiscent of a miniature castle with slits for windows and a small portcullis.
4	A stone gargoyle, hopefully just a statue, overlooks each corner of this shop.
5	Green logs make up the walls of this shop, which smells vaguely of mint.
6	A finely wrought fountain sits in the corner of this shop, adorned with small angels.
7	A brick shop with a large mural painted on an outer wall depicting a young warrior fighting a dragon.
8	This stone shop was once a dwarven still and still smells of whiskey.
9	The walls of this shop are formed of well-polished marble.
10	The interior walls of this shop have been plastered smooth and painted pale blue.
11	The east wall of this shop is brand new, composed of a different wood from the rest.
12	A young girl sits in the corner of this shop playing a simple lute.
13	This shop of dark blue slate has a stale taste in the air.
14	The goods in this workshop are not labelled or organized in any clear manner.
15	This shop is favoured by local fishermen and smells of fish even when empty of patrons.
16	A small stone shop with a thatched roof.
17	A small stone shop with a leaky slate roof.
18	This large wooden building has a store in front, workshop in the back and residences on top.
19	This former manor home has been converted into an indoor marketplace, with different vendors selling from each room.
20	The base of this shop is of fieldstone, finished with pine.
21	A clay building with a dirty wood floor.
22	A fine wooden shop with a slanted copper roof.
23	This shop has fishing nets hanging from the rafters, filled with supplies and extra stock.
24	A stuffed elephant head is displayed on the wall above the hearth.

25	A fieldstone building with a blue wood shingle roof.
26	Large brass hooks line the walls of this workshop displaying extra merchandise.
27	A very homey one-room shop, with an old red rug, large fireplace and small desk in the corner.
28	This shop has a number of chairs and tables in an adjoining room, and serves refreshments as a side business.
29	A small wooden shop that smells of fresh baked bread.
30	A large stone shop with a coat of arms displayed on one wall.
31	This workshop features a spiral staircase that leads to a second floor residence.
32	The walls of this shop have been tiled and accented with false gems.
33	A small gold-plated monkey statue sits by the entrance on a stand of cherry wood.
34	A boar's tusk serves as a door handle and wolf and bear hides cover the floor.
35	A trap door behind the main counter leads to a separate storeroom where the highest quality goods are sold in private.
36	A wooden shop, painted red with a roof of tin.
37	A shop made of salvaged materials with portholes instead of windows.
38	This large shop at first appears to have a labyrinthine layout but it has been carefully arranged to make customers view as many items as possible before reaching the exit.
39	Two large men stand outside this workshop as a deterrent to troublemakers.
40	The flag of the local lord waves from the rooftop of this modest stone shop.
41	A large family tree is displayed on one wall of this shop.
42	The far end of a display table in this shop is dyed red with blood and boasts several deep cuts.
43	A grey slate shop with a simple flat roof.
44	This large stone shop has one window that cannot stay closed. It continuously bangs in even the slightest breeze.
45	A stone shop with windows of green glass.
46	A simple wooden shop with stars painted on the ceiling.
47	A stone shop with the silhouette of a red goblin painted on its door.
48	A stone shop with ivy growing heavily on one side.
49	A brick shop with a slanted tin roof.
50	This shop looks like it was built in ages past, with a sharply different design than the newer buildings around it.
51	A stone shop with windows of dyed wax paper.

52	A stone shop featuring a warm hearth in the center of the room.
53	A large wooden hall features different shops, each with their own area.
54	A two-storey wooden building with a shop on each floor.
55	A second floor shop allows access via a wooden ladder. The first floor is boarded up.
56	The wood of this shop is tinted red and smells of cherries.
57	The walls of this shop are made of whole trunks, uncut except at the corners.
58	This stone shop features an eerie echo.
59	A private shop is accessed only from the back room of a tavern, through a door marked with a black star.
60	A shack made of salvage sells its wares at the end of an alley just off the main marketplace.
61	A simple wooden building has three different doors for Large, Medium and Small patrons.
62	Over the entrance of this shop hang two curtains of fine mail in place of a door.
63	The walls of this shop are hung with the skins of animals, many of which are found only in foreign lands.
64	The front room of this shop is completely bare except for six doors. All six doors lead into a densely packed workshop.
65	The outer walls of this shop have hundreds of notes crammed into the crevices, each a prayer to a departed loved one.
66	The rug set in the middle of this store depicts an ancient battle between dwarves and creatures of shadow.
67	While a roof can be seen from the outside, the shop's ceiling has mural of the night sky upon it.
68	The outside of this shop is rundown; appearing to be abandoned, while the inside appears brand new.
69	A wooden shop whose walls have grown a thick layer of moss.
70	A wooden shop with the ceiling and upper shelves thick with spider webs.
71	A building of brick decorated with oil paintings of great military leaders.
72	An old chapel converted to a shop within.
73	The entrance to this shop features a steel cage with a locked door that serves as a secure antechamber.
74	This shop is accessed through a cellar door around the side of another shop.
75	A bright purple shop of wood with orange curtains in the windows.
76	The front of this shop is made of magically hardened glass crafted by a forgotten wizard.

77	A stone shop has a discount section in its basement.
78	A small stone tower with a shop on its first floor.
79	A large stone tower with a different shop on each floor.
80	A wooden shop with no doors providing a step stool so people can get in through the windows.
81	A wooden shop with its walls lined completely with shelves.
82	A stone shop featuring well-crafted glass display cases.
83	The arctic timbers of this shop's walls keep the sales floor chillier than outside.
84	Copper pipes line one wall of this shop making haunting music when the wind blows.
85	A large bearskin rug greets patrons.
86	Two suits of armour flank the shop's entrance.
87	This great stone room has everburning torches flickering in wall sconces.
88	A cooking fire is set in the back wall filling the shop with the smell of stew.
89	This stone building was once a guard post and features arrow slits in the walls.
90	This wooden shop has a religious symbol painted in gold on the front door.
91	This stone shop has a front door of iron featuring seven different locks.
92	This brick walled shop has a spiral staircase set in the middle leading to a second floor of goods.
93	A small storefront contains only samples with all goods stored in a back room behind a curtain of hide.
94	The insides of this shop are terribly cramped; the aisles count as difficult terrain.
95	This small stone shop has a thatched roof and smells of wet dog.
96	The air in this shop is stale leaving a foul taste in customers' mouth.
97	The walls of this shop are pink and feature paintings of famous young bards.
98	One wall of this shop features a mirror lined in silver that shows a perfect reflection of the scene three seconds ago.
99	The outside of this shop features a huge painted sign reading, "You don't want to shop here!"
100	This large wooden building features three floors, fully staffed, with a sales counter on each and a tavern in the back. Your first drink is free with any purchase (limit 1/day).

TRADERS & CRAFTSMEN: SELLING

Traders and craftsmen sell an incredible variety of things. Use this table to determine what a randomly visited shop is selling.

D%
1	Apothecary
2	Tailor
3	Grocer
4	Fletcher
5	Scribe
6	Blacksmith
7	Livery
8	Dyer
9	Tanner
10	Metalsmith
11	Cooper
12	Armourer
13	Weaponsmith
14	Candlestick maker
15	Soap maker
16	Cobbler
17	Seamstress
18	Butcher
19	Baker
20	Rope maker
21	Book binder
22	Hostel
23	Money lender
24	Tutor
25	Slaver
26	Herbalist
27	Arms trader
28	Oracle
29	Hireling's guild
30	Gem cutter
31	Appraiser
32	Storage
33	Alchemist
34	Astrologer
35	Story teller
36	Gladiatorial trainer
37	Houndsman
38	Midwife
39	Shaman
40	Tinker
41	Artificer
42	Poet
43	Locksmith
44	Courier
45	Brewer
46	Money collector
47	Mercenary services
48	Jeweller
49	Leatherworker

50	Tattoo artist
51	Stonecarver
52	Carpenter
53	Vinter
54	Thatcher
55	Weaver
56	Wheelmaker
57	Silversmith
58	Shipwright
59	Map maker
60	Potter
61	Playwright
62	Glass blower
63	Hatter
64	Haberdasher
65	Milliner
66	Porter
67	Barrister
68	Embroiderer
69	Architect
70	Barber
71	Coppersmith
72	Fence
73	Basketweaver
74	Whore
75	Cheesemaker
76	Cartwright
77	Farrier
78	Bowyer
79	Wainwright
80	Perfumemaker
81	Horse breeder
82	Mason
83	Paige
84	Scribner
85	Tax collector
86	Customs agent
87	Bricklayer
88	Painter
89	Acquisitions agent
90	Falconer
91	Tobacconist
92	Cartographer
93	Fisherman
94	Cook
95	Minstrel
96	Physician
97	Collier
98	Colporter
99	Linen-draper
100	Spicer

TRADERS & CRAFTSMEN: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS & OPPORTUNITIES

Although the PCs may simply want to walk into a shop and buy something, occasionally fate intervenes. If you desire to add an extra level of complication to their shopping trip, use this table to determine what opportunities or complications the PCs encounter while trying to make their purchase.

D20

1	The store, its owner and several customers are being quarantined due to reports of a plague. The doors are all boarded up and prominent signs spell out the danger in several languages. The sound of sobbing emanates from within.
2	A sudden fire breaks out on the bottom floor leaving several people – including the shop owner’s children – trapped on the floor above. He begs passersby for aid; those saving this family gain a friend for life.
3	The store begins to flood with sewage from the sewers below. The craftsman panics and starts to move his products to a higher shelf. An apprentice moves some of the larger items outside – at which point they are promptly stolen.
4	The craftsman’s young nephew regales loudly about how incredible the last adventurers that came through town were – they had a pet dragon! No one seems to be listening.
5	The craftsman has been taken with a strange mood. He’s locked himself away in his workshop for nearly a week, taking no visitors. Lights burn at the windows all night and occasional strange sounds emanate from within.
6	Thirteen dwarves are turning the shop upside down looking for a lost key, when the PCs arrive. They take a dim view of questions or of strangers interfering in their affairs.
7	An old man stands outside predicting the moment passersby will die. He is emaciated, wild-eyed and very loud. He predicts a dire end for the party “in a place where the fair light of the sun has never reached.”
8	The craftsman weeps over her lost love, who was taken by pirates or bandits last week. His work has not been the same quality since and customers are beginning to complain. He is thoroughly miserable.
9	Someone has snuck packets of dye in this craftsman’s last supply shipment. All his most recent wares are tainted green. He is loudly swearing vengeance against his rivals, when the PCs arrive.
10	The local lord has levied high taxes against this particular trade, doubling the price of the goods the PCs seek. The tradesman apologises, but can do nothing to reduce the price.

11	The vendor is looking for some high priced wares to add to his inventory. He is willing to reveal the location of an old tomb in exchange for a percentage of the loot. He has an old bloodstained map given him by a previous customer in part exchange for several items that shows the location of the Cairn of Whispering Darkness.
12	The craftsman has locked himself in his backroom crying that he has been bitten by an angry patron. He refuses to come out until the customer apologises, but of the customer, there is no sign. (At the GM’s discretion, the customer could be a lycanthrope and the unsuspecting craftsman is now infected).
13	A ranger’s eagle companion has gotten loose in the shop. No one can find the ranger and the bird is quite angry. It refuses to leave until its master returns; the shopkeeper is at his wits end.
14	Someone has gone through the store changing the prices listed on signage. A salesperson runs around the store frantically trying to correct the signs and stop people from making purchases.
15	A sign is posted inside the shop reading “Help Wanted. Acquisitions.”
16	Hidden amongst the various wares is a small box with two marble dice. A note inside has one word: “Lucky.”
17	A spectacular-looking sword hangs on the back wall. Expert appraisal reveals that the item is from an ancient, fallen kingdom making it worth 2,000 gp without enchantment. Knowledge of magical details reveal magical properties relevant to the PC’s level or greater. The item has a long and storied history and is the focus of a search by an ancient secret order.
18	A shelf full of wares has been toppled over. The vendor struggles to pick it all up while making sure no one walks off with any pocketed merchandise. He is distracted when the PCs arrive and asks them to return later.
19	The craftsman here cannot find his tools. He refuses to work with anything less than tools of masterwork quality and thus work has ground to a halt; he suspects thieves in the pay of his rivals to be responsible for the missing tools.
20	The craftsman here has been tasked with building the centrepiece for the upcoming festival or other celebration but a streak of bad luck has soured his view of the holiday. The piece stands half-built in the centre of the shop.

TRADERS & CRAFTSMEN: ASSOCIATED NPCs

Use the charts below to portray the folk encountered in or nearby a shop or workshop.

BASIC CHARACTERISTICS

D20	GENDER
1-10	Female
11-20	Male

D20	MALE NAME
1	Avel Ferryman
2	Nestor Longfeather
3	Darkmane Grey
4	Elric Headsplitter
5	Torg
6	Shamol Brewer
7	Ysgor
8	Danrel Grower
9	Gar the Great
10	Teeth Dinos
11	Tender Sweeney
12	Gaetir Merrygood
13	Kadal Thornbread
14	Nordstrahm
15	Heinril the Bald
16	Sweets
17	Honest Solon
18	Haf Sollis
19	One-Eyed Goodman
20	Balasi Prospect

D20	FEMALE NAME
1	Cyma Ara
2	Ellaris the Light
3	Iona May
4	Grendella
5	Goodie Laenus
6	Taris Ellbee
7	Junia Sharpe
8	Deadly Daltree
9	Agora
10	Frazelle
11	Dark Jann
12	Luta Deathknell
13	Smiling Asa
14	Caitlin Greymark
15	Cassandra Ravilla
16	Sheryl Augur
17	Restel the Yellow
18	Aelia Underbridge
19	Winter Estercrew
20	Red the Kindhearted

D20	RACES 1 (COMMON)
1-10	Human
11-13	Dwarf
14-16	Elf
17-19	Halfling
20	Roll on Races 2 (Uncommon)

D20	RACES 2 (UNCOMMON)
1	Half-Orc
2	Half-Elf
3	Gnome
4	Aasimar
5	Tiefling
6	Goblin
7	Kobold
8	Orc
9	Tengu
10	Gnoll
11	Drow
12	Minotaur
13	Centaur
14	Catfolk
15	Lizardfolk
16	Ifrit
17	Orcead
18	Ratfolk
19	Sylph
20	Undine

D20	APPEARANCE*
1	Dressed for battle with a longsword on her hip
2	Long golden locks and the latest finery
3	A large ruby rests on a chain around his neck
4	Dark wiry hair and a heavy tan
5	Leather armour and short red hair
6	A large filthy apron wrapped around a thin frame
7	A unicorn horn is tattooed on her forehead
8	Long brown hair is tied back with a red ribbon
9	Olive skin with scars along his left cheek
10	Many silver chains and piercings with minimal clothing
11	A heavy brown robe and hair cut short
12	Silk clothes in bright colors
13	Black hair in braids ending with gold beads
14	A large belly shakes when she laughs
15	A long nose and big fluffy eyebrows
16	Prominent cheekbones and dark brown eyes
17	A clear overbite
18	A large, red wart dominates his chin
19	Piercing blue eyes and a well-worn brown jacket
20	Big floppy sleeves and a bandolier across her chest

*Descriptions can apply to NPCs of either sex

D20 MANNERISMS*

1	Dodgy eyes
2	Favours the right leg
3	Cracks her knuckles
4	Scratches his chin
5	Stares off into space
6	Yawns at inappropriate times
7	Drums her fingers
8	Sniffles
9	Laughs with a throaty chuckle
10	Rolls his eyes
11	Talks far too fast
12	Does not respect personal space
13	Loops her hair about her finger
14	Punches people's shoulders in greeting
15	Drags his feet
16	Walks with hunched shoulders
17	Talks in a nasal voice
18	Is gullible and easily astounded
19	Whispers her internal monologue
20	Seems to be constantly filled with glee

*Mannerisms can apply to NPCs of either sex

RUMOURS

Use this table to determine any stories circulating about the NPC in question.

D20 RUMOURS

1	Keeps a paramour
2	Has a drinking problem
3	Is in debt
4	Part of the local thieves guild
5	Worships the old gods
6	Moved after their spouse died
7	Eats stray cats
8	Distant blood relative to the local ruler
9	Poisoned a rival
10	Comes from old money
11	Former adventurer
12	Keeps a daughter in the basement
13	Killed a man with a rusty spoon
14	Has a separate backroom business
15	Skilled card player
16	Exceptionally well read
17	Converted religions to please spouse
18	Knows where the treasure is buried
19	Secretly a changeling
20	Is having an affair with (roll a new NPC)

PURPOSE

Use this table to determine why the NPC is in the shop.

D% PURPOSE IN THE SHOP

1-30	Craftsman
31-40	Supplier
41-60	Salesman
61-87	Patron
87-90	Thief
91	Rival checking on his competition.
92	Gang member looking for the latest "protection" payment
93	Messenger with a notice from the king or other local authority
94	Child of the craftsman's ex-lover, looking for work
95	Detective looking for clues on a smuggling case
96	Wizard's apprentice picking up a special order
97	Crook laying low from the militia outside
98	Craftsman who used to own this shop, reminiscing
99	Secret admirer of the shop owner, hiding in plain sight
100	Bard trying to piece together the history of a legendary item

WATCH, THE: RANK & FILE

It takes many pairs of eyes, hands and feet to keep a town's streets and alleys safe. Even the lowliest member of the Watch plays an important role — even if that sometimes is just as fodder for the criminal elements they're trying to stamp out.

D%
1-3	Gorman Runst (LN male half-orc warrior) is notable due to by his missing arm and eye, gouged out during a patrol in the wilds. With elongated tusks and a gruff nature, he loves making people flinch before getting them to buy him a drink.
4-6	Avrys Lummons (N male human warrior) was once savaged by a pack of wild dogs, leaving him missing a left ear and much of his nose. These days, anything on four paws sets his fingers twitching for his sword, and he's always looking for an excuse to lash out at any mutt.
7-9	Oraji Hulasker (CG male half-elf warrior) is rarely seen without a liquor flask or wine jug in hand. You can tell he's around when your eyes start watering from his alcohol-saturated breath. At the same time, he's able to take quite a bit of physical punishment because he simply ignores the pain due to his constant inebriation.
10-12	Rolan Tomas (LE male human warrior) is known to be connected with a local gang lord, but no one seems to care. Fashionable and vain, he's always flush with extra coin and isn't shy about spending it to make friends.
13-15	Alain and Adain Remshire (LG male human warrior) are twin brothers—each tawny and muscled—who can only be told apart by their closest companions. They love setting up sting operations, confusing criminals with their identical features and making crooks feel like they're being pursued by a relentless hunter.
16-18	Ulost Us'laust'un (LG male human warrior) this exotic man speaks broken Common, but isn't hesitant to get his point across with a well-placed prod of his blade. A loyal bladesman, anyone who tries to mock his outlander heritage receives the instant ire of his companions.
19-21	When his wheat crop failed, Sulley Moyons (NG male human commoner) moved his family to the city in order to provide for them. Broad-shouldered and deeply tanned, he's further distinguished by his tendency to carry a hoe as his weapon of choice.
22-24	Since the Watch doesn't always pay too well, Durgen Havusroc (CG male orc warrior) works as a tavern bouncer on the side. As such, he's been in hundreds of brawls and scrapes, inuring him to levels of violence others would find shocking. He laughs uncontrollably in any fight.

25-27	You wouldn't guess it from her wiry frame and dewy eyes, but Gella Vraimont (CN female half-elf warrior) has a fierce reputation as the reigning champion of a local blood-fighting ring. She brings this same ruthlessness to her patrols.
28-30	Edgin Wulluny (NE male human warrior) may wear the Watch's badge, but everyone knows he has a tattoo of a red boar on his right heel, marking him as a loyal member of a local gang. Quick to laugh and quicker to kill, Edgin is always watching anyone nearby through the tangle of his lanky brown hair.
31-33	Quentin Nombsky (N female human warrior) has fine features, close-cropped black hair and startlingly green eyes. What none of his fellow Watchmen realize is "he" is actually a she, hiding her gender because she believes it will gain her deeper respect from her peers.
34-36	Xavin Mellonus (LG male human aristocrat) shows off the sword on his hip, etched with gold filigree — that is all that's left of his lost family fortune, thieved by a conniving ex-business partner. He constantly suspects double-crosses and hidden plots where there are none, and has a permanent squint.
37-39	Galen Selanthia (LG male elf aristocrat) puts the lie to the idea that all elves are wise beyond their years. Incredibly naive and gullible, Galen joined the Watch thinking he could help clean up the city and help everyone live in peace. He has a dancer's poise and almond-coloured eyes.
40-42	Duni Tongtongues (LN male dwarf expert) is as superstitious as they come, and his fiery red beard is knotted with charms to ward off bad luck. He is rather twitchy for a dwarf.
43-45	Berta Claggs (CN female dwarf warrior) knows every tavern in town, and it just so happens her patrols go by most of them. You can't ever quite tell if she's scowling, smirking or smiling.
46-48	Brumbles Allany (N male human warrior) always has a fierce glint in his eyes and constantly caresses his sword hilt. Truth is, though, despite his bulk and brusque nature, he's a coward at heart. He's the first to flee from a fight and always let's others engage the enemy while he watches from the side-lines.
49-51	Heavily muscled and brutish, Guntle Sornan (CE male half-orc warrior) disdains those weaker than him, and has a particular scorn for beggars. Any not quick enough to scramble out of his way gets a solid whack.
52-54	Anders Thorpe (N male human warrior) has had his head bashed a few times too many. His lumpy skull and cross-eyed stare aren't at all enhanced by his incessant grunting.

55-57	Pont Dredgem (NG male dwarf warrior) is constantly munching on a raw onion or garlic cloves, giving him a pungent aura. He says it's to keep the vampires away. He has at least a dozen warts on his face and an enormous nose.
58-60	Whalen Wimple (LN male human warrior) is forever stuffing meat pies into his dribbling maw, his gut straining the buttons on his Watch uniform. Enormously obese and drenched in sweat, he doesn't so much "patrol" as waddle around it (mostly from food cart to food cart).
61-63	Olly Totle (N male halfling warrior) was once a slave to a foreign master with a cruel tendency to cut out the tongues of all his servants so they could never reveal his secrets. Having escaped that country and joined the Watch, Olly communicates by whistling.
64-66	Danelly Gim (N male human warrior) has filthy nails that he is always picking clean with a dagger. Bald and loutish, grime seems to have been etched into the wrinkles of his face. There's a hint of a graveyard stink around him, but no one knows why.
67-69	Mavrity Jurex (CG female half-orc warrior) hates how the city is divided by economic strata and racial castes. She often loudly lectures against social injustices, and isn't afraid to slap ill-doers around with the flat of her blade.
70-72	Buntu Drunst (CG male human warrior) has massive scarring across his enormous shoulders and back. He's never told what he did to gain the apparent whipping, or where he lived before coming to the city. Dark-skinned and haired, he goes about his duty with a grim, merciless air.
73-75	Finny Batterby (LG male gnome expert/warrior) loves to talk. Doesn't matter what it's about, so long as he can keep jawing away. His companions have taken to stuffing their ears with cotton during patrols in order to block out his wheedling voice.
76-78	Obos Longsmith (LN male dwarf expert) turned from a passion for mining gold to trying to create the precious metal through alchemy. His eyebrows were burnt off years ago, and he's often setting some part of the Watch station on fire with his experiments.
79-81	Volli Kranster (LG male human commoner) is enjoying his very first day as a member of the Watch. He's eager to prove himself in the eyes of his commanders, and practically vibrates with bridled energy. Smooth-cheeked and wide-eyed, his youthful innocence won't last long, no doubt.
82-84	Uthger Nattles (LG male human warrior) is marked by his half-blindness and white hair. The oldest member of the Watch, he will never retire, even when forced to hobble after crooks on his cane. Loves to tell stories from his youth in a crackly voice.

85-87	Ede luon (N female half-elf adept) loves nature beyond all else, and does what she can to preserve any wild growth within the city walls. She hauls a bag of fresh earth and seedlings around, and plants them whenever her patrols come across a bare patch of dirt among the stones. Trample a blade of grass in her presence at your peril.
88-90	Darnelly Obolstein (CG male human warrior) is quickly recognized by the thick, rusted armour he never takes off. He clanks about town, glinting eyes peering out through his helm's visor, eager for someone to cause trouble.
91-92	Sammus Quilpas (LN male human expert) believes the whole city is conspiring against him, and his signing up for the Watch was partly inspired by the desire to uncover "the truth." Shifty-eyed and with a flair for dramatic reveals, he is forever formulating new conspiracy theories connected to any misfortune that befalls him.
93-94	Ovor Drunst (LE male half-orc warrior) joined the Watch because it gave him the ability to kill with impunity. His armour is patched together from scraps taken from dozens of his victims—but so long as they're criminals, he isn't technically doing anything illegal.
95-96	Daw Quellwith (NG male human warrior) has a thing against fighting women, which puts him in a bind whenever he faces female criminals who have no problem shoving a sword through his gut. He is polite to a fault, often bowing whenever a woman passes him on the street.
97-98	Carrel Fulstrum (LG male human warrior) knows every Watch regulation that ever existed and quotes every single relevant one of them while performing an arrest. He often puts people in mind of a bull walking around on its hind legs.
99	Thulia Falish (LG female elf aristocrat) knows no moral middle ground. To her, all is black and white, good and evil. As such, even the slightest infraction demands the greatest punishment. Willowy and tall, she strides through crowds, back straight and shoulders squared, secure in her ethical superiority.
100	Ralan Thesmir (NG male aasimar adept) has adapted to his celestial breeding by believing he needs no armour, or even clothing to protect his perfect physique. Anyone who runs into this golden-haired, silver-eyed man will get more than an eyeful of his well-muscled body. Clad only in a loincloth, it is a wonder how he keeps his Watch badge affixed to his bare chest.

WATCH, THE: EXPERTS & SPECIALISTS

The watch does not simply comprises warriors and yet more warriors. Like any large organisation, it also relies on groups of specialists to facilitate certain needs – be it healing, organisation, information gathering and more. Use the NPCs below, to portray such folk.

D%
1-6	Frella Wellorus (LN female half-elf expert) used to run one of the most successful smuggling and counterfeiting rings in the city. A religious experience turned her straight, and she now employs her knowledge to catch and convict those who wallow in similar misdeeds.
7-12	Wyrtle Nourn (CG male human adept) has eyes on the back of his head—literally. After going bald, he had a ring of stylized eyes tattooed around his skull. Some of his men even claim to have seen them wink every now and then.
13-18	Lina Haluspeck (LG female halfling adept) has a tamed mountain cat who prowls by her side at all times—and stands as tall as her. Her Watch station also hosts a pack of feral cats, but nobody mutters about the stink of cat piss in Lina's presence.
19-24	Randle Utterspout (N male gnome expert) has bedecked his quarters with a dozen paintings of his own creation, and is always searching for artistic inspiration while overseeing Watch patrols. His hair and eyes are a glittering silver.
25-30	Andragt Huntfer (NE male human expert) loves to use his authority to levy massive fines on local businesses for the slightest regulatory infractions. Despised and feared by merchants, he never hesitates to use the Watch for personal gain, and stall owners rapidly pack up wares whenever they see his slim figure swaggering their way.
31-36	Elwin Quillspine (LG male half-elf expert) has compiled a massive logbook of all current crimes and criminal names in his district. He carries it with him at all times, ready to add another line in his tidy handwriting. He has ink-stained fingers which he licks absentmindedly.
37-42	Luppa Gliswrith (CG female gnome adept) carries paints and brushes with her everywhere and draws odd runes on out-of-the-way surfaces. Her purple hair and eyes gleam in even the softest light, but her voice is harsh whenever ordering her troop about.
43-48	Fayla Mopest (LN female human expert) doesn't believe in the spirit of the law. There is only the letter of the law. Plain-faced and severe in dress and composure, she is merciless in her pursuit of law and order.

49-54	Avi Dunnonson (NG male dwarf expert) came from a poor upbringing and has a particular fondness for beggars and widows. His gentle eyes and words often soothe the souls of those who often are trampled on by the upper crust of society.
55-60	Aghlia Runeforge (NG female dwarf adept) left her position as a priestess during a crisis of faith. Now she turns her healing abilities towards keeping her fellows alive and curing the city of its ills. Black braids hang down to her waist, and she's often seen in prayer.
61-66	Once a blacksmith, Toddy Nobcrusher (LN male dwarf expert) continues to forge his own armour and weapons, while also outfitting the Watch with fine gear. The stink of the forge rests over him at all times, and his chainmail jingles as he marches about.
67-72	Yorg Munst (CG female half-orc warrior) has a reputation for beating information out of prisoners in the most brutal fashion. She files her tusks to needle points and crimson tattoos decorate her dusky gray skin.
72-78	Gipple Werstile (LG male half-elf expert) has an office plastered with maps, marking patrol routes, criminal hideouts and other notable sites. He paces before these at all hours, searching for patterns and details that have slipped past his scrutiny.
79-84	Odel Ansus (N male human expert) believes the Watch is being opposed by a shadowy network of crime lords, and spends much of his time plotting to thwart their supposed schemes. Antsy and unhealthily thin, he tends to speak in whispers, not wanting spies to overhear his plans.
85-90	Undlestent Stundleson (LN male dwarf expert) sees the Watch as a giant mechanism, with the various soldiers and guards as cogs and levers that must be tuned and operated properly. His movements and marches are as clipped and measured as his words.
91-99	Dradley Plonkst (LN male gnome adept) has built up an enormous informant network among the orphans and beggars throughout the city, and he uses this to always keep a bright red eye on the criminal factions in his territory. Swift with a dagger, and swifter to come to his allies' aid.
100	Rouauel Tulus (LE male human vampire aristocrat) only works night patrols. He helps clear the streets of its most violent denizens while also slaking his bloodthirst. Ebony eyes are set in a pale face, and he enjoys stroking the faces of his trembling victims before feasting.

WATCH, THE: INFORMERS & WATCHERS

Although the watch spends a fair amount of its time chasing pick pockets and breaking up drunken brawls it also investigate more serious crimes. A good network of informers, gossips and watchers are vital to this practise. Use the NPCs listed here, to portray such individuals.

D%
1-7	Ada Delia (CG female human commoner) suffered as a prostitute under a particularly harsh pimp, until she convinced her “sisters” to unite and beat him to death. Now, still possessing of a harsh beauty, she patrols the alleys where prostitution remains rampant and is often driven to violence when she witnesses abuse against women.
8-14	Peddly Blusk (NG male human adept) has an affinity with rats others find repellent. Beyond his hunched stature and whiskered face, he even claims an ability to talk with rodents, which makes him even more an object of ridicule. However, he often possesses information that would otherwise be impossible for him to gain alone. His nose constantly twitches.
15-21	Falish Ungul (N male tiefling adept) is striking for his youth—barely come into his first chin stubble. At the same time, cold, hard eyes dare you to bring up the tiny horns peeking out of his black hair, and anyone foolish enough to bring up his heritage is immediately subjected to at least an hour of lecturing on the nature of tieflings.
22-28	Word on the streets is that Salahna A’grayun (LN female human expert) ran away from a noble family to avoid a forced marriage. Since she’s worked with the Watch, she’s proven a keen hand at daggerplay and slinking around unseen, often acting as an informant and hidden blade.
29-35	Yuli (CN female gnome commoner) bedecks her diminutive frame with the holy icons of a dozen different deities and prays to them all, constantly. She figures if she keeps multiple gods happy, one of them will have to come through for her in times of need.
36-42	Reynold Louris (N male halfling expert) is always keen to share the gossip he gathers. He loves to sit unnoticed in an out-of-the-way corner and pretend to doze while eavesdropping on conversations. He always goes barefooted.
43-51	Telly Pendlefoot (LG female halfling expert) is small, even for a halfling. Terrified of the dark, yet stuck on night patrols, she carries a candle almost as tall as her and volunteers for lamp-lighting duty. Moves silently on her hairy feet, but squeaks at any noise from the shadows.
52-59	Ameley Augusthon (NG female human expert) once had a oracle prophesy she would die by drowning, which has given her a lifelong phobia of water. She refuses to even drink it, and her dehydrated state has given her cracked lips, sallow skin and greasy brown hair. She refuses to go near rivers or small bodies of water.
61-66	Yullip Ebonnuth (LN male half-elf adept) fancies himself a prophet and searches for omens in everything around him, from birds flying overhead to the arrangement of a corpse’s limbs. His keen eyes never stop moving as he scans his surroundings.
67-72	Allory Mumfrum (LE male human aristocrat) believes he is descended from royalty, and has affected a pompous air to match his supposed heritage. He thinks of the Watch as his private army and tries to manipulate it for his own ends and profit. His thin figure is buffered by an ostentatious voice.
73-79	Jerly Eroot (LN male human expert) has a knack for sniffing out lies. Stout and jovial, he constantly cocks his head from one side to the other when talking to others, as if hearing something they don’t.
80-85	Illian Chival (NG male half-elf expert 2) used to belong to a dancing troupe until a group of brigands burned down their theatre. Now he employs his grace and speed in superior swordplay, hunting down violent rabble before they ruin others’ lives. He has a wistful look to his violet eyes, as if remembering better days.
86-90	Elsi Ladrael (CG female gnome expert) is the go-to gnome whenever anyone needs to make stolen property disappear. Fencing hot goods gives her a decent side income, and she figures it doesn’t hurt anyone. She constantly runs fingers through her long, pink hair.
91-95	Nobble Spindlespire (CN male gnome expert) doesn’t understand why anyone wouldn’t want to be his friend. Bright blue hair and eyes make him stand out in any crowd, and if you let him start shaking your hand or bowing to make your acquaintance, he’ll never stop. Rather ignorant of potential danger, but fearless when faced by it.
96-100	Perl Bonnon (CN male human adept) once dreamt of being a bard, and still tries to write epic poems and songs about the smallest of crimes he helps to foil. His long legs let him run down any fleeing thief with ease, and he often hums or sings to himself while out and about.

WATCH, THE: SERGEANTS & CAPTAINS & SPECIALISTS

Someone has to lead the patrolmen. Without commanding officers, the Watch would mill about like headless chickens and get even less accomplished than they already do.

D%
1-6	Olmen Zurusk (CE male human warrior) loves inflicting as much pain on others as possible. Few who languish in his cells rarely emerge without broken bones or fresh facial scarring. He always has a smug smirk and licks his lips whenever he spots a new victim.
7-11	Irrromaneus Drex (NG male elf warrior) has charged into more battlefields than most people alive today. Having retired from the army, he applies military precision and strategic planning to keeping the city safe. His boots are always polished and he marches in circles when deep in thought.
12-16	Xandiel Flavius (CG male elf warrior) prefers to see the fear in the eyes of those his squad arrests. He often engages crooks in personal duels, relishing the thrill of a private fight before skewering them on his sabre. His angular features gain a cruel edge whenever duelling.
17-22	Rost Ungrund (CN male half-orc warrior) is known for his brash, hasty manner that has gotten more than a few of his men killed. He believes the simplest solution to conflict is just throwing more people into the fray until all opponents are dead or subdued. Guards fear being assigned to his squad.
23-27	Dahlia Lindquist (NG female human warrior) has recruited an all-female squad, which is ruthless in keeping the quarter clear of criminal factions. With raven hair and emerald eyes, Dahlia isn't shy about using her beauty to disarm a convict before beating him to the ground.
28-32	Avery Alwith (CG male halfling warrior) takes on many green recruits and puts them through merciless training to turn them into fighters worthy of the Watch. His tiny figure, clad in polished armour, draws chuckles from the new recruits, until he has them begging for mercy and rest.
33-37	Langle Dridge (LN male human expert) prefers fighting with his bare hands. With a permanent scowl fixed upon his scarred face, he lumbers about, seeking the next villain who needs throttling.
38-42	Felus Halen (NE male human expert) is in the pocket of a local gang, and turns the Watch away from interfering with their illegal activities. In exchange, he enjoys numerous luxuries, fine food and a peaceful position. This has led him to become fat and lazy.
		petite ears quiver at every noise, and her wide, ocean-blue eyes are always peeking around the nearest corner.
		Atrius Pensworthe (LN male human aristocrat/warrior) is unlikely to ever enjoy his family's wealth, thanks to older siblings who squander the fortune. So he's set out to make his own way in the world, and has become a hardened commander worth heeding.
		Leron Bathus (CN male human warrior) takes everything personally. He is incredibly harsh on his own self, and can often be heard growling in his office, lecturing himself for failing to live up to his personal expectations. His overly large eyes seem to quiver in their sockets.
		You can hear Slavi Pundlestick (LG male dwarf warrior) bellowing from blocks away. It's the only volume setting the stocky dwarf knows, and half his squad stumble around partially deaf because of his shouting in their ears at all hours.
		Tadi Yeureau (N female half-elf warrior) has a passion for feats of strength and physical challenges. She keeps her squads in tip-top shape by a fierce fitness regimen, and is always dashing about town, long brown hair trailing behind her and a joyful light in her eyes.
		Jarla Iridin (LG female human warrior) doesn't have an inch of her dark skin that isn't crowded with tattoos. She claims the tattoos describe her true name, that none but the gods can speak, and claims she is on a divine mission to purge the city of evil.
		Bolstun Erias (LN male human aristocrat) is rarely seen without his horse, a gray stallion he rides all about the city. He loves the feeling of looking down on the commonfolk the horse offers, and feeds it better than most of the men in his squad. He is not beloved by his men, or the people over which he watches.
		Nadan Draske (LG male human warrior) has eschewed the usual shield and sword many Watch patrols are equipped with in preference for training with polearms and spears. Even in close quarters, he can spin and thrust a spear with admirable flair.
		Louk Rowter (CN male half-orc warrior) has an enormous temper that is triggered by cruelty towards children. Woe to the one who shoves aside the grimmest urchin when Louks is watching – he has beaten several folk to a near pulp for such infractions.

83-85	Phileus Olemon (NG male elf aristocrat) claims a royal heritage, and certainly acts the part. Haughty and preferring tailored clothes to the Watch's usual uniform, he keeps his blonde hair long, compared to most guards' close-cropped style.
86-88	Foyathel Gurs (LN male human warrior) While a respected Watch commander, Foyathel is unaware that he actually has a split identity, the other of which is actually violent and criminal in nature. Many of the crimes his squad investigates were actually committed or instigated by him.
89-91	Kaleb Montroy's (CG male human warrior) hirsute appearance has given rise to the rumour he's actually a werewolf. His penchant for raw meat and affinity with wild dogs has only encouraged such stories further.

92-94	Ari Brek (CG female human warrior) wears heavy armour, carries a massive warhammer and puts lovely flowers in her hair. Her smile is as broad as her shoulders, and she's quite gentle until her temper is roused.
95-97	Luellen Versane (LN female half-elf warrior) hates when adventurers stroll into town, because they always muck up her precious peace. Chubby for a half-elf, she keeps a wary eye on any strangers in the area, certain they're going to need arresting sooner or later.
98-100	Haffrey Stonewerk (CN male dwarf aristocrat) is jittery for a dwarf, to the point of paranoia. No one is quite sure what the pale-skinned and gray-haired dwarf is afraid of, but his constant patrols and building inspections do keep the area safer than normal.

WATCH, THE: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS & OPPORTUNITIES

The Watch often has problems they need to sort out. Sometimes they're their own problem. Sometimes the adventurers are the problem. Or you could be the solution.

D%
01-02	While strolling through a city marketplace, the Watch shows up looking for a stolen magic item, recently thieved from one of the nearby merchants. On their search of the PCs' belongings, they discover the item has somehow wound up in their possession.
03-04	The PCs leave a tavern from its side entrance, exiting into an alley—only to find a blood body lying at their feet. Right then, members of the Watch round the corner and see them standing over the corpse.
05-06	While the PCs purchase supplies for their next adventure, the shopkeeper lets slip that a member of the local Watch is running a protection racket, and they're about to arrive to collect their weekly fee.
07-08	The familiar cry of "Stop, thief!" rings out right as the crook in question bumps into the PCs before sprinting away. As the Watch give chase, a PC realizes the thief they're chasing also just lifted his coin purse.
09-10	A Watch patrol marches up and displays a Wanted poster with a sketch of a PC's face on it. Similar sketches have been posted all around town, stating the PC is a violent criminal.
11-12	A Watch patrol stumbles out of a nearby tavern, drunk, surly and looking for trouble. They decide the PCs are up to no good and stagger over to investigate.
13-14	Some wastrel has broken the heart of this Watchman's sister—and from her description, he looks a lot like a PC. Whether the PC did the deed or not, he's been pegged as the culprit.
15-16	The PCs have been caught out past an unofficial curfew, and the Watch members are demanding a "forgiveness fee" in order to not arrest them.
17-18	A guard's gone missing on his usual night patrol in a seedy part of the city. A PC thought he saw someone matching his description slip into a brothel the day before. There is a reward money for the guard's rescue.
19-20	Hearing sounds of a scuffle in a nearby side street, the PCs investigate the disturbance and find a freshly dead Watch member in the middle of the road. A dagger remains stuck in his gut.
21-22	While resting on the balcony of an inn, enjoying the starlight, the PCs see several members of the Watch chasing a masked and cloaked figure across the nearby rooftops. They're passing right by the PCs.

23-24	Need some ill-gotten goods on the cheap? A Watch guard has offered to guide the PCs to the nearest black market for a small fee.
25-26	A Watch member is stalking a noble's daughter, and his commander wants the PCs to dissuade him from this foolish infatuation.
27-28	During a guard's patrol of a mercantile district, a jewellery store was broken into and robbed of many valuable gems. The guard is desperate for the loot to be recovered before he's blamed and demoted. He asks the PCs for help.
29-30	A Watch private has been visiting the estate of a rich merchant on a regular basis. His commander wants to know what's going on there, and whether the private has gotten on the merchant's personal payroll.
31-32	The PCs just saw a known gang enforcer slip a heavy pouch to a Watchman, who is now strolling along like nothing happened. The pouch clinked loudly.
33-34	The PCs spot a reputable Watch commander duck into a popular drug den. Is he there to bring in some addicts or to sample the place's various brews and smokes?
35-36	The Watch squad at the city gate is helping a band of smugglers bring illicit goods into the city through a series of tunnels and nightly deliveries.
37-38	A Watch commander has uncovered evidence of a black market slavery ring. His men are stretched thin as it is, but he wants this ring put out of commission immediately.
39-40	The local Watch patrol is equipped with some of the shoddiest armour and weapons the PCs have ever seen. What are they doing with the city funds that should allow them to purchase better gear?
41-42	The Watch patrol possesses suspiciously nice gear...some of the finest armour and swords around. Who is their mysterious sponsor and what is the hidden cost of their finery?
43-44	Several churches have been desecrated over the past few nights, and the Watch needs more personnel to keep further altars from being profaned.
45-46	A Watch member's family was killed by a band of thugs wanting to cow the city guards into submission. While the rest of his squad are fearful, he'll stop at nothing for revenge.
47-48	The PCs have crossed paths with a Watch guard who is notoriously racist towards non-humans.
49-50	A pyromaniac has burnt down several warehouses in the city's dock district. The Watch is hiring people to guard the remaining structures before the firebug threatens the entire seafront.

51-52	Twenty merchants have had their shops robbed in a single week, and the Watch believes it's the work of several master thieves. They need help coordinating a sting operation to catch them in the act.
53-54	A new street gang has rolled into the city and tried to claim its territory through a rash of killings. The Watch is looking for extra swords to cut down the lunatics before they settle in permanently.
55-56	Dozens of children have been kidnapped off the streets in the past few weeks, and the Watch has no leads as to who is responsible.
57-58	A Watchman wants to retire, but refuses to do so until a local drug smuggler is removed from the scene. Since his mates won't humour him, he's come to the PCs for help in eliminating this blemish on society.
59-60	This Watch member is an obvious addict, shaking and twitching as he begs the PCs for enough coin to get her next fix. It's the only way she can stay focused enough to manage her patrol.
61-62	A Watchman wants help framing one of his fellow guards to get him kicked out of the squad. The guard in question is a lazy brute whose behaviour sullies the good name of the Watch—but there's no hard reason for him to be expelled.
63-64	The PCs have encountered a Watch member who is heavily in debt due to gambling. He either needs someone to pay off his debts or dissuade his creditors from pursuing payment.
65-66	The local Watch also runs an underground dog fighting ring. They've got dozens of the poor creatures starving in cages, horribly scarred and mutilated.
67-68	A Watch captain has dug up some juicy blackmail on a noble and wants some muscle to back him up when he goes to gouge the aristocrat for as much coin as possible. He offers a portion of the spoils in return.
69-70	The PCs hear a shout and see a Watchman standing by a sewer entrance. Apparently, a pack of thieving wererats have just ducked into the undercity, and he's not stupid enough to chase them himself.
71-72	An entire Watch patrol is plagued with insomnia, possibly the result of a magical hex. Alongside their increasingly exhausted and erratic behaviour, they need someone to lift the curse.
73-74	The nearby Watch barracks had its food stores poisoned, and half the force is deathly ill. The PCs are asked to help them and find out who sabotaged their stores!
75-76	A rat infestation has taken over city grain stores, and the Watch needs help in stamping out the pests before people start to starve and riots ensue.

77-78	Food riots have erupted in the poorer sections of the city, and the Watch needs hands able to defend the barricades to keep the violence from spilling over into the more upscale neighbourhoods.
79-80	A serial killer is on the loose in the city, leaving bodies missing hands, feet and heads. The Watch has put out a call for this murderer to be put down like the rabid dog he is.
81-82	Congratulations. The PCs are asked to volunteer due to a shortage of hands in the local Watch. Tonight, a rowdy festival is taking place, and they've been conscripted to help keep folks from getting too out of hand.
83-84	While passing by a tavern, the PCs see a Watchman get flung out the door to sprawl across the cobbles. He sits up, blood streaming down his face. On seeing the party, he points at the tavern, and orders them to help subdue the brawl.
85-86	Drought in the wildlands has caused an influx of barbarian refugees who are stirring up trouble around town. The Watch is short-handed in dealing with these ruffians, and needs the PCs' help!
87-88	The Watch wants the PCs' help in evicting squatters from a block of ramshackle houses and abandoned shopfronts. It's been ordered to be torn down for a noble's new manor, but the squatters refuse to leave and get violent in their own defence.
89-90	While trying to enter the city, the guards at the gate demand a "fee" to prove the PCs an upright and honest citizen. If you refuse, they refuse you entry or attempt to bully you into submission.
91-92	A guard has asked for your help in bringing in a vicious crime lord—an arrest that is sure to get him a well-deserved promotion. He may
93-94	The captain of the Watch is suspected of being on the take of several local crime lords. Several of his lieutenants want to gather enough evidence to take him down, but can't risk getting involved personally.
95-96	A Watch captain wants the PCs' help breaking into a noble's estate to steal evidence to confirm suspicions of tax evasion. If caught, their actions will be plausibly denied on his part.
97-98	The gang member the PCs just killed turns out to be an undercover member of the Watch who had infiltrated the gang as an informant.
99-100	A Watchman has unrequited love for his female commander, but hasn't managed to catch her eye. So he wants to set up a scheme where he catches the PCs performing a heinous crime and turns them in, in the hopes it impresses her and prove he's worth her attention.

WIZARD'S TOWER: CHARACTERISTICS & APPEARANCE

Use this table to generate the appearance of the wizard's tower. Some may be inappropriate based on the locale's set up; ignore such results and simply re-roll.

D%
1-2	A simple and round grey two-storey brick tower, with a wooden front door. Ivy is growing in large patches on the walls. Red roof tiles comprise the sloping roof.
3-4	An octagonal stone tower with a flat observation deck on top. At night, voices can be heard from the observation platform as several wizards discuss the night sky.
5-6	A square stone tower stands in the centre of a bridge, archways allow the traffic to pass without incident, but occasionally the owner shouts at pedestrians or wagons when he feels they come too close to his domain.
7-8	A wooden tower, which looks as if it is about to fall any minute. Every time the wind blows, the tower creaks and trembles, and the door rattles on its hinges.
9-10	On the top of the hill stands a small stairway, the staircase does not end abruptly, instead it simply fades out of existence.
11-12	A four-storey stone tower shows years of neglect, tiles have fallen from the roof and bricks lie in piles near its base. Its chimney is crooked and birds roost about the structure.
13-14	A moss-covered tower has many small animals scurrying to and from the shelter offered by the shrubbery. The door is an intricately carved oaken work of exquisite craftsmanship.
15-16	This morbid three-storey tower has been built with the bones of huge creatures; the roof is made of a huge dragon's skull. Fiendish lights dance behind closely shuttered windows.
17-18	Two towers vie for dominance in the square, one a smoothly polished stone structure and the other a solid tower of hewn stone. The wizards take every opportunity to scream obscenities at each other.
19-20	A small potion shop with living quarters in the back room. The wizard living here has eschewed research, which is a common motivation for so many wizards; he just makes potions and need no grandiose tower.
21-22	This tower of rough-hewn stone is adjoined to an inn called the Drunken Wizard. The inn looks like it is popular, but visitors keep their distance from the tower.
23-24	The harbour's lighthouse doubles as the home of a maritime oriented wizard, he keeps the lighthouse functioning as part of his agreement with the local ruler.

25-26	A stone tower with heavy wooden shutters and a strong looking oak door. Both are of a black, hard wood.
27-28	A square stone tower stands amid newer wooden buildings; some which have been crushed under the tower's base.
29-30	A stone bridge leads out to the middle of a lake. When guests arrive, a stone tower rises up from the lake, while water cascades down the sides of the spire; it surely connects its iron door to the bridge to allow visitors inside.
31-32	A four-storey stone tower has a smaller wooden tower on the top, this wooden tower adds another twenty feet to the tower's height and is a new addition.
33-34	In the middle of an open plaza stands a single-storey building. It looks like the top of a watch tower with ramparts. There is no door leading in, only a series of small windows.
35-36	This stone tower of dwarven design has a mishmash of gears and pipes covering the top floor. Steam, accompanied by a loud whistling, is frequently let out.
37-38	On a small island in a river stands a tall fieldstone tower with a wooden door and barred windows. There is a dinghy tied to a small jetty in front of the tower. Most of the island is overgrown with brambles.
39-40	This wizard's wooden tower is built on a river barge, for the moment the barge is moored at the docks, but it is a well-known sight up and down the river.
41-42	A tall stone tower has the door at the top; a long winding staircase – without a bannister – wends its way from the ground all the way up to the top.
43-44	This sleek tower of green marble is seemingly carved from one giant piece of stone. Red and grey veins run down the length of the tower. No door is visible.
45-46	A deaf wizard has taken up residence in the old bell-tower. The bells yet hang in the tower, but mercifully, he never rings them.
47-48	This necromancer has made a mausoleum his tower, it is located in the town's cemetery and helps to give the place an eerie atmosphere with its dark and ominous motifs of death.
49-50	A soaring spire made of crystal, there seems to be no doors or windows giving access to the interior. The crystal reflects the sun's rays in a kaleidoscope of colours.
51-52	The tower looks more like a military bastion than a wizard's tower. A thick wall surrounds the tower, and the windows look more like arrow slits. A solid wooden gate provides access.

53-54	A serene-looking stone tower with a small garden in the back featuring a small pond. Colourful fish swim in the pond and a large bloated toad sits croaking on a flat stone nearby.
55-56	This small slim stone tower is in the architectural style of the surrounding houses, but sports several ornate carvings upon its upper levels that seem somehow disturbing.
57-58	A tower of black wood. The smooth edges and the way the tower looks like it swirls around itself indicate elven origins. Runes decorate the door; occasionally they flash with a white light.
59-60	This forty-foot high tower made out of clay has clearly been magically modified as it is as hard as steel. A darkwood door and shutters are the only features not made of clay.
61-62	The tower looks like it is made up of the night sky itself. During day its appears to be made of stars and the darkness from beyond the world, but at night the tower is almost invisible. No door or windows can be made out.
63-64	This basalt tower is in a weird architectural style. The angles are off as if the tower occupies more dimensions than three. Observing the tower, for more than a minute, results in the sickene.
65-66	A black ominous stone tower with skull motifs stands in the middle of a busy marketplace, although no one comes within 20 ft. of the tower itself and the air surrounding the structure seems colder than it should.
67-68	The brick tower has an old and ornately decorated observatory dome on the top. On some nights, a large telescope can be seen sticking out of the dome.
69-70	A tall, smooth stone tower, the top has been carved into the likeness of an elephant's head. The trunks snakes its way down the side ending above the wooden door. Two long tusks, from a huge beast, have been set into the stone.
71-72	A huge statue of a wizard over 40 ft. high, with a defiant look on his face, has a door in its left shin. Windows can be made out in the folds of the statue's robes. Sometimes, lights of disturbing hue flicker within.
73-74	Amid drifts of snow, stands a three-storey sandstone tower; not a single snowflake mars the appearance of the tower. The building style stands out amid the other buildings.
75-76	Four large chains are attached to this stone tower and securely driven into the ground, as if the tower itself must be restrained from escaping its resting place.
77-78	A circle of standing stones surrounds this fieldstone tower. Lightning can be seen jumping between the stones building up in intensity and frequency. The biggest lightning bolts are jumping up to the roof where they are collected in a huge ruby.

79-80	The locals avoid the centre of this empty square. All other squares in the town have statues or other monuments built in the centre but not this one.
81-82	On the top of a hill stands a white painted tower with lead tinted windows. The roof is made of red roof tiles, which reflect the sun's light and glitter like rubies.
83-84	The fieldstone tower stands in the middle of a boiling tar pit, a drawbridge can be lowered to allow access. The tar pit is an illusion. The tower and drawbridge are real.
85-86	A gleaming silvery spire stretches to the heavens, at certain angles the sun's rays make the tower impossible to look straight at.
87-88	A 50-foot wide chasm has opened up underneath this tower, but the six-storey tower simply floats in the air over the rupture. The chasm is 200 ft. deep.
89-90	This unassuming stone tower has a simple wooden door. Near the tiled roof, three humanoid shapes can be seen, one hanging from a rope, the other two on the roof itself. Three burglars tried to enter the tower ten years ago, but were caught in a time stasis; in the last ten years they have only moved a few inches closer to their goal. No one dares to confront the wizard about them.
91-92	The tower has been cut in twain twenty feet up at a slightly downward angle. The rift has been contained in a stasis field and individual bricks hang in mid-air as they were smashed away from the tower.
93-94	This stone tower has no stairs leading up to the door, which is located ten feet up the wall. The tower is topped with an onion-shaped golden dome and has no windows. It does have, though, arrowslits in profusion.
95-96	A huge ice spire rises from the ground; a door-shaped hole shows the icy interior. Wicked-looking icicles hang from the spire's roof.
97-98	A beautiful, smooth tower rises up from the temple of the god of magic. The tower is the personal domain of the temple's high priest.
99-100	Several burnt out houses surround the tall stone tower. The tower itself is missing its roof and shows signs of severe fire damage. There seems to be a pall resting over the area and no vegetation grows here as if the fire was not an ordinary fire.

WIZARD'S TOWER: DRESSING

Use this table to provide interesting Subjects and points of note about the wizard's tower. Some may be inappropriate based on the locale's set up; ignore such results and simply re-roll.

D%
1	There are scorch marks around and on the door.
2	The tower's weather vane is formed like a wizard throwing a fireball.
3	A severed hand still grasps the doorknob.
4	An iron fence surrounds the tower, and clearly marks the perimeter.
5	A hot air balloon is tethered to the tower's top.
6	The tower has deep rents covering its eastern side, as if a giant beast have mauled it, the surrounding buildings show no such signs.
7	Hedges ten feet high form a maze around the tower.
8	A two-foot wide green spiral shape glows on the tower's door.
9	The door to this tower has a gnome-sized door in a human-sized double door.
10	A sundial stands on a plinth in front of the tower.
11	A moat surrounds the tower; dark shapes can be seen swimming in the murky water.
12	Stone gargoyles in different stages of take-off and flight decorate this tall tower of cut stone.
13	An open eye is set in the oaken door; it blinks and peers around.
14	At irregular intervals, clouds of sulphur are emitted through canals along the top of the tower.
15	A huge black dragon head hangs over the door.
16	The tower's dome is carved to resemble an octopus; with tentacles twenty feet long. Each day the tentacles seem to be in slightly different positions.
17	Whispers promising power and wealth come out of nowhere; they increase in intensity closer to the tower.
18	A dream catcher made of femurs hangs next to the door.
19	Halfway up, the stone gives way to an organic bulge merged with the wall. The bulge pulses at a steady pace.
20	Three devils' faces are carved over the front door, one covers its ears, another covers its eyes, and the last holds its mouth wide open.
21	For some reason the neighbourhood's cats like to frolic in the tower's shadow.
22	A gilded nameplate proclaims, "Fornegul, court sage, expert in all fields and matters."
23	The tower's roof tiles are in fact black dragon scales.
24	The doorbell emits a moaning sound.

25	The tower is whitewashed.
26	A light mist clings around the tower's base.
27	Occasionally a tray carrying beverages can be seen floating past the windows.
28	The door is a large mirror.
29	Black glasslike bricks have been used to break the monotony of the grey stonework.
30	The exploits of the wizard living in the tower have been carved into the walls.
31	A small explosion blows the shutters off a window.
32	Seven winged monkeys are sitting on the roof, occasionally a pair of them flies off to patrol the nearby streets.
33	The front door has moving shapes of faces and hands trying to break free from within.
34	The tower has a thatched roof.
35	Black orchids surround the tower's base.
36	Black oaken exterior shutters cover all the windows of the tower.
37	"Wands crafted for a fee", is written above the door.
38	The tower's roof is a giant beast's carapace.
39	Halfway up the tower is a large balcony; the doorway behind it is covered by exquisite silken curtains.
40	A spinal cord serves as a bell pull.
41	Oil lamps light up the tower's stone walls.
42	The tower has no door, but a door-shaped opening is covered with what looks like a rainbow-coloured semi-transparent curtain.
43	Every noon, an undead string quartet rises from the ground in front of the tower and plays a bone-chilling tune.
44	The door is made of a single piece of crystal; it distorts everything behind it into unrecognizable weird shapes.
45	Weird shadows dance on the tower's walls. When someone approaches the tower, the shadows reach out for them.
46	A gilded carriage is parked in front of the tower; the coachman is taking a nap in his seat.
47	Small dragons have been carved into the tower's smooth stonewalls.
48	The windows of this tower are beautiful mosaic works of art.
49	A huge wizard's sigil has been painted on the side of the tower.
50	Thorny roses cover the tower walls.
51	Water lilies cover the surface of the moat surrounding this tower, giving it a serene look.
52	Laundry hangs from a line attached to the tower and a point in mid-air.
53	A wooden sign reads, "Potions and Scrolls for sale."

54	All the tower's shutters carry the wizard's mark prominently.
55	A halfling is scrubbing the tower's walls clean from degrading slogans, painted during the night. He looks miserable.
56	A halfling gardener is feeding a giant flesh-eating plant near the door.
57	A displayed sign reads, "No loitering."
58	Potted plants stand on the stairs leading up to the door.
59	The lower windows have iron bars across them and a tightly shuttered from within.
60	A cart carrying dung has broken an axle in front of the tower, the wizard is screaming at the cart driver from a window, as the dung has spilled onto his stairway.
61	The front door is carved from a single piece of jade.
62	A narrow ditch surrounds the tower; the ditch is filled with a purple mist, making it impossible to discern the bottom.
63	No less than five weather vanes are seen on the tower's roof, each of them showing a different wind direction.
64	On the door hangs a piece of paper, on which is scrawled with a shaky hand, "Help wanted, halflings preferred."
65	From a slightly open window, organ music drifts.
66	A broom is sweeping the stairway by itself.
67	A sign says, "Beware of Owlbear."
68	Black smoke billows out of the tower's open top, which functions as a chimney.
69	A moaning man in a pillory serves as a warning to would be thieves.
70	A hastily scribbled note on the doorknob reads, "Gone to the Abyss, will be back soon."
71	The surrounding garden is filled with colourful flower arrangements.
72	The doormat says either, "Welcome" or "Stay out" depending on the person standing on it.
73	A murder of crows is perched along the edge of the tower's roof.
74	Swarms of many-coloured butterflies take flight from flowerpots on the roof.
75	"Arcane paraphernalia bought, inquire within", a sign proclaims.
76	The tower's windows are so dusty and dirty nothing can be made out within.
77	A small work crew is busy replacing the roof tiles with new glazed ones. Scaffolding cloaks the tower.
78	Perfumed odours emanate from the tower's windows. Occasionally, a woman's voice raised in song floats down from above.
79	Scaffolding surrounds the tower as several masons work to repair the stonework.
80	Four burning skulls float around the tower's top.

81	A laughing skull is affixed to the door, the laughter switches between maniacal and giggling.
82	Two metallic statues stand on either side of the door armed with halberds.
83	Gold dragon scales make the roof glitter in the sunlight.
84	The tower's door has seven keyholes.
85	The tower has a small orchard out the back; the wizard occasionally sells fruits to the locals.
86	Three large rubies glitter above the door.
87	Thick mist obscures the lower half of the tower.
88	Small lizards dart across the tower's walls; they hide in cracks in the masonry. Whole families of lizards live in the cracks of the ancient stonework.
89	Two large braziers stand on either side of the door; they each burn with a greenish flame.
90	A thundercloud hangs over the tower; it discharges lightning bolts down to the tower's lightning rod.
91	Thin copper wires have been laid into the mortar of the brickwork.
92	Eight runes, each representing a different magic school are displayed over the doorway, a brass dial shifts between them seemingly at random.
93	Children play in front of the tower; they are jumping in puddles of water, each puddle is a different colour.
94	A sign on the door reads, "Adolphus Finkelroy, Mage Extraordinaire."
95	A chained ettin butler stands in front of the tower, one head is welcoming people, the other threatening to rip them apart and devour them.
96	A ghostly figure stands in front of the tower and warns visitors of the perils of going to visit the tower with darkness in one's heart.
97	Five pillars covered with arcane runes are arranged into the shape of a pentagram in front of the tower.
98	Six open and empty coffins of different sizes stand along the tower's eastern wall. A sign over them proclaims, "Please measure for size before entering."
99	In the ornately fountain in the front of the tower, a group of water mephits have made their camp. Their constant jokes and pranks are a nuisance to the town's inhabitants, but they don't approach the tower.
100	A wizard sits on the stairs in front of the tower and smokes a pipe. The smoke from the pipe takes on shapes of known and unknown creatures.

WIZARD'S TOWER: HOOKS, COMPLICATIONS & OPPORTUNITIES

Although the PCs may simply want to examine or pass by the wizard's tower, sometimes fate intervenes. Use this table to determine what opportunities or complications the PCs encounter.

D20

1	A woman stops the party and implores them to find her young daughter; she was playing near the wizard's tower yesterday. The wizard has threatened to turn those pesky kids into squirrels on several occasions.
2	The wizard asks the party to get rid of some rats in his basement, but he has omitted to mention the rats are of the giant fiendish sort.
3	A man, with a pointy hat, stands in the town square and stares into the distance. Noticing the party he asks if they would meet the caravan he is waiting for, it is long overdue and he expects an important delivery.
4	The local tax collectors ask the party for a favour, they are afraid to go near the tower as the wizard is known for his sour mood towards the authorities. They just need the party to collect the small tax on magic, which amounts to five gold pieces.
5	A white-haired bearded wizard comes running out of the tower screaming, "Flee for your lives." Moments later a horned abomination bursts through the wall next to the door, it scans the fleeing folk in front of the tower, and roars at the PCs before charging them.
6	A parchment hanging from the door of the tower reads, "Midnight dew and red scaled mushrooms wanted, reward given for correctly gathered ingredients, for details ring the bell." An arrow is painted on the parchment pointing towards a small toadstool-shaped bell.
7	The wizard living in the tower sees the party as a tool in his efforts to best his bitter rival living in the next town. Using a combination of threats, flattery and gold he tries to hire them.
8	The wizard has the largest collection of accurate maps of the party's next destination, but will he willingly share?
9	A half-finished statue of the wizard stands in front of the tower, the nose seems overly large for a statue of this size. It might explain why there is a statue of a sculptor with a fearful expression standing next to the statue.
10	When a hawk-nosed man cannot pay his gambling debt to the party, he offers them tickets to the yearly masked ball held in the wizard's home, instead.

11	An absentminded wizened old wizard walks around his tower. He is drawing different designs on selected buildings; there seems to be no grander scheme in his meticulously vandalism.
12	The party is swept along as a crowd of halflings demonstrate in front of the tower. They demand better work conditions for servants in the employ of wizards. The local wizard's reply to their demonstration could be calm or more severe in nature.
13	A surly barbarian hopes to enlist the party's help to break into the tower and steal a jewel the size of a human's head.
14	Two wizards stand in front of the tower and play chess with halfling-sized chess pieces. The pieces are in fact real living halflings; perhaps they are earning a living, being coerced or magically dominated to take part in this bizarre spectacle.
15	At the base of the tower lies a halfling in severe pain, both legs stick out in unnatural angles, they are clearly broken. A bearded man shouts from a window near the top, "No, I anti-gravity ring, now get in here."
16	A bearded man hangs from the tower's roof screaming for help. Below him at the tower's base lies an ordinary broom.
17	An abandoned tower has recently started to open up cracks in the ground around itself, at first it was barely noticeable, but now the cracks are large enough and threaten to swallow up the nearby buildings. Town officials ask the party to investigate, and stop whatever is behind the cracks' sudden appearance.
18	The local town drunkard claims to have conversed with a devil asking for directions to the tower.
19	An artist with a painting of the wizard stands in front of the tower's door. The painting is clearly too large to go through the doorway. The wizard in the painting is hiding his head in his hands and slowly shaking his head.
20	A magical experiment goes wrong, and the tower catches fire. Worse, it begins to give off smoke laden with minor magical effects that starts to affect the nearby buildings. The party must penetrate the tower's formidable defences and stop the wayward experiment.

WIZARD'S TOWER: LEGENDS & RUMOURS

Legends and rumours are often associated with certain wizard's towers. Use this table, to determine what the PCs may learn about the wizard's tower in question.

D20

1	No one lives in the tower, it has been abandoned for years, and furthermore the protective wards of the tower are all dormant. Or at least that is what the rumours say.
2	Carrilyth is a powerful elven mage; he has always been a benefactor to the neighbourhood, always helping the needy. But lately Carrilyth has become a recluse always keeping to the shadows on the rare occasions he leaves his tower.
3	The crystal tower has never been breached. What riches and powerful secrets must lie within?
4	After disappearing twenty years ago, the tower of Balthazar is back in the exact same spot in which it once stood. The tower took most of the neighbourhood with it those decades ago, although when it came back the other houses were nowhere to be seen.
5	Gudron, a gnomish wizard, died a decade ago and now he walks the rooms of his tower, protecting it against intruders, and looking for a way to leave the mortal world. No one knows how he died; perhaps the circumstances of his death are what keeps him here.
6	The tower was built in a single night the legends tell, by devils. One day the same devils will come for the owner, but who knows when that will be.
7	Agathar has the largest collection of fine spirits and rare liquors from across the realms. He is always willing to pay handsomely for any spirits that expand his collection.
8	Verion is a mad mage, with a fondness for turning his enemies and other undesirables into frogs.
9	The Tower of Ferinthyr has been turned invisible, and only becomes visible under the light of the full moon. No one has breached the Moon Tower so far, but the tales tell of plenty attempts.
10	At night, weirdly coloured lights can be seen coming from the windows of the tower, and several voices in languages not from this part of the world chant in the darkness.
11	Old Nikolitus has married one of his apprentices. Her father was not too pleased about it, and he has offered a substantial reward for the return of his beloved daughter.
12	This tower exists on several planes at once; it provides an easy way to travel between the planes. Many planar treasures are hidden within.

13	No one knows who built the tower, it has always been there, and some legends claim that it is older than the town itself.
14	The wizard that lived in the tower insulted a dragon. One day the dragon landed on the tower and tore the roof off, and ate poor old Havasger. Several citizens ended up in the dragon's maw as well. When the dragon had left, eighteen people were gone and several buildings were ablaze. The fires burnt for days, and the smoke could be seen from miles away. Havasger's magical treasures could be in the tower or in a cave up in the mountains, guarded by the dragon.
15	To enter this tower one must appease the three devils carved over the doorway. But how and why, the legend does not specify, apart from the curious line, "What is missing must be restored."
16	It is said the owner of the tower, Henedryal, can hear whenever someone speaks her name, and instantly know the location and intent of the speaker.
17	The wizard Fraelin is obsessed with mechanical life, his tower is choked full of gears and all kinds of weird contraptions. It is said he is looking for a way to merge himself with an iron body to become immortal. "Iron before flesh", is his motto.
18	The wizard Sandhor used to be a handsome man, but an accident in the laboratory left him horribly scarred. Today he barter with devils and demons for a way to regain his lost looks.
19	Gerold is afraid of heights; that is why it is a one-storey building, but how deep it goes is anyone's guess. Some say it goes so deep it pierces Hell itself, which may explain the sounds of flapping wings on the darkest nights.
20	During a thunderstorm five years past, the ground opened up under Barriol's tower. The chasm is still there but the tower simply floats over it, in the exact same spot as before the incident. Now the watch have to stand guard over the chasm in case something comes out of it. On the occasions things have emerged, Barriol has helped defeat the hellish beasts emerging. There have been some unsolved bestial murders, and other unexplained happenings, recently. Perhaps something has snuck past the sentinels?

TAVERNS

TABLE A: TAVERN NAME (DESCRIPTOR)

D%
1	Abandoned	54	Loud
3	Angry	55	Mad
4	Arm	56	Merciful
5	Arrogant	57	Merciless
6	Black	58	Merry
7	Blessed	59	Mighty
8	Blood	60	Mind
9	Bloody	61	Number (1, 2, 3 etc.)
10	Blue	62	Polite
11	Bold	63	Poor
12	Brave	64	Quiet
13	Brawny	65	Red
14	Broken	66	Rest
15	Capricious	67	Restless
16	Clever	68	Rhyming
17	Confused	69	Rich
18	Craven	70	Riding
19	Crying	71	Rotten
20	Cursed	72	Ruddy
21	Dancing	73	Rude
2	Desperate	75	Rusty
22	Destitute	76	Sad
23	Dirty	77	Salty
24	Drunk	78	Screaming
25	Dying	74	Selfish
26	Enchanted	79	Shadowed
27	Fallen	80	Shattered
28	Fiery	81	Shining
29	Flaming	82	Singing
30	Foolish	83	Slain
31	Forgotten	84	Slender
32	Furious	85	Smiling
33	Ghostly	86	Soaked
34	Giant	87	Spectral
35	Gray	48	Suicidal
36	Green	88	Swinging
42	Hammered	89	Sword
37	Hand	90	Tortured
38	Hapless	91	Unkempt
39	Happy	92	Violent
40	Head	93	Vulgar
41	Hung/hanging	94	Wandering
43	Hungry	95	Weary
44	Hunting	96	Weeping
45	Illuminated	97	Welcoming
46	Iron	98	White
47	Jealous	99	Wise
49	Jolly	100	Yellow
50	Last
51	Laughing
52	Lazy
53	Lost

USING THESE TABLES

Tables A and B present scores of options for tavern names. A GM can roll on the tables to randomly determine a name or simply pick a suitable name.

Table A presents 100 descriptors while Table B presents 100 subjects. The simplest tavern names comprise a descriptor followed by a subject; for example, the Happy Halfling. Other tavern names comprise two subjects; for example, The King and Traitor.

It's important to remember when naming taverns that such establishments often gain their name for a reason. For example, The King and Traitor could be named for a famous meeting between a king and his treacherous uncle while the Sorcerer's Wand could be named for a powerful magic item lost in the area. Such names are a cool add-on to the campaign and can even spark adventures or side quests.

For more naming tables, check out So What's It Called, Anyway? by Marc Radle which presents tables suitable for naming taverns and all other manner of establishments. Alternatively, a quick internet search will throw up thousands of example tavern names.

TABLE B: TAVERN NAME (SUBJECT)

D%
1	Acolyte
2	Adept
3	Angel
4	Apprentice
5	Badger
6	Banshee
7	Beggar
8	Bugbear
9	Burglar
10	Champion
11	Cockatrice
12	Cooper
13	Cripple
14	Crypt
15	Cup
16	Curate
17	Demon
18	Devil
19	Dragon
20	Drum
21	Dwarf
22	Elf
23	Emperor
24	Ettin
25	Farmer
26	Footpad
27	Forest
28	Gauntlet
29	Ghost
30	Giant
31	Gnome
32	Goblet
33	Goblin
34	Guardian
35	Gypsy
36	Halfling
37	Harpy
38	Stallion
39	Helm
40	Hero/Heroine
41	High Priest
42	Hills
43	Horseman
44	Human
45	Jester
46	Journeyman
47	Justicar
48	Keeper
49	King/Queen
50	Kobold
51	Lich
52	Lord

53	Mage
54	Magsman
55	Man
56	Manticore
57	Master
58	Medusa
59	Merchant
60	Moon
61	Myrmidon
62	Ogre
63	Orc
64	Priest
65	Protector
66	Rabbit
67	Rat
68	Robber
69	Rod
70	Runner
71	Sceptre
72	Scout
73	Scribe
74	Scrivener
75	Serpent
76	Shadow
77	Shark
78	Snake
79	Spectre
80	Spider
81	Spy
82	Strumpet
83	Sun
84	Swashbuckler
85	Thief
86	Thug
87	Tome
88	Traveller
89	Treant
90	Trickster
91	Vampire
92	Veteran
93	Wagon
94	Wand
95	Warden
96	Warrior
97	Wave
98	Wheel
99	Wizard/Sorcerer
100	Wood

SAMPLE TAVERN NAMES

D20	THE...
01-02	Acrobatic Spider
03-04	Angry Badger
05-06	Angry Harpy
07-08	Balls and Ferret
09-10	Banshee & Spider
11-12	Bard and Fox
13-14	Blind Medusa
15-16	Bloody Orc
17-18	Coiled Serpent
19-20	Confused Jester
21-22	Craven Dragon
23-24	Crippled Bugbear
25-26	Crippled Dog
27-28	Curate and Thief
29-30	Cursed Helm
31-32	Dancing Ettin
33-34	Enchanted Axe
35-36	Fallen Cooper
37-38	Footpad's Hand
39-40	Forgotten Queen
41-42	Ghostly Goblet
43-44	Ghostly Warrior
45-46	Goblin's Sword
47-48	Good Master
49-50	Green Dragon
51-52	Iron Warden
53-54	Jumping Cripple
55-56	Lost Angel
57-58	Mad Beggar
59-60	Merry Huntsman
61-62	Rabbit and Ogre
63-64	Screaming Forest
65-66	Scribe and Scriveners
67-68	Swashbuckler's Head
69-70	Three Kings
71-72	Traveller's Rest
73-74	Tricky Spy
75-76	Vampire and Ghost
77-78	Vengeful Apprentice
79-80	Vengeful Kobold
81-82	Vulgar Halfling
83-84	Wagon and Sceptre
85-86	Wand and Cup
87-88	Wandering Lich
89-90	Weary Giant
91-92	Weeping Justicar
93-94	Weeping Merchant
95-96	Wizard and Beggar
97-98	Yellow Elf
99-100	Zealous Paladin

INTERESTING TAVERN FEATURES

Each tavern or inn the PCs visit should have something unique or interesting about it to help it stick in the players' minds. This section presents dozens of memorable tavern features, including physical descriptions, rumours, secrets and other quirks.

D%	THE TAVERN....
1-2	suffers from frequent bar fights. All stools, benches and tables are nailed to the floor, and all food and drinks are served in wooden plates, bowls and mugs. The cutlery is still metal though....
3	has secret smugglers' tunnels leading from its cellar to an underground river dock.
4	brews Gorgon's Blood Strong Ale on the premises; the beer is rumoured to contain a drop of real gorgon's blood in each pint.
5	has a badly stuffed pair of ettin's heads hanging on the wall. The monster terrorized travellers until it was slain by the landlord and patrons.
6	is a moored ship that once belonged to the infamous pirate captain Bloody Marja.
7	has a resident alehouse drake named Mikulas who loves to gossip and carouse.
8-9	is famous for its menu including dishes such as devilled cockatrice eggs and spiced owlbear steaks.
10-11	has a hidden room where illegal high-stakes gambling takes place.
12-13	doubles as a brothel renowned for its discretion and is very popular with the great and the good.
14	has a polar bearskin rug in front of the fire; this was the gift of a patron from the Northlands.
15-16	is operated as a front for the local thieves' guild.
17-18	stages pit fights in its basement, including bear vs. dogs, cockfights and bare knuckle boxing matches.
19	is situated on stilts in the marshes; patrons arrive and leave by skiff.
20	has a sign on the door reading "No Dogs, Muddy Boots or Adventurers Allowed."
21	is immaculately clean; the rumour is that brownies sweep and wash the floor, polish the glasses and tidy up every night after closing.
22	is designed with gnomes and halflings in mind; the furniture is tiny and humans are forced to stoop to avoid banging their heads on the low ceiling.
23	has an enormous map of the locality on the wall behind the bar with key dungeons marked; adventuring bands stick a flag with their emblem in the map when they have looted a site.
24	is run by a devout follower of Conn the Lawgiver and serves no alcohol. Consequently, it is a dour place.
25	is situated at a crossroads with an excellent view of a high set of gibbets.
26	has such a fine wine cellar that it's rumoured powerful noblemen frequent it in disguise.

27	has a secret door hidden in the wardrobe of one of the bedrooms which leads to the unholy temple of a demonic cult.
28	has a bar made from the trunk of a sacred oak, enraging the local druidic circle.
29	is inside a lighthouse on a rocky headland. The landlord still lights the great lantern on stormy nights.
30	is haunted by the harmless ghost of a former regular, Aznaro Litwin. An empty chair is left by the fireside for him.
31	is run by a former pirate and has a bright green talking parrot on a perch behind the bar. The parrot likes to insult customers, but occasionally recites directions to buried treasure.
32	has ten tables grouped around a large stage on which satirical plays are performed. Sometimes these are closed down by the authorities.
33	somehow moves around the city. Each night it can be found in a different district. Occasionally, it shifts to another town altogether.
34	is popular with members of the Arcanists' Guild; newcomers are encouraged to demonstrate their magical skills with a trick or two.
35-36	is always very dark and has many alcoves. It attracts unsavoury characters and those who don't want to be seen.
37	is inside the trunk of a huge tree; the bar stools and tables are upturned logs, and the floor is bare earth.
38	has the best selection of dwarven beers outside of the mountain kingdom of Khazdralhad.
39	serves bland food and flat beer, but thanks to an enchantment placed on the establishment by a local illusionist, the patrons love it.
40	has a row of moth-eaten peryton heads mounted on the wall; the patrons use their antlers to hang up their hats and cloaks.
41	is warded by magic that calms tempers (established after the owner grew tired of brawls breaking out).
42-43	has a leaky roof which the landlord is too poor (or mean) to fix. There are buckets everywhere, when it's raining.
44-45	makes the best spiced chicken pasties and pheasant pies for miles around.
46	is on the end of a pier. A trapdoor in the middle of the taproom can be used to drop unruly drunkards and those who can't pay their tab into the sea.
47-48	is situated on a floating island, drifting 200 feet above the ground. Access is via a large wicker basket on a pulley.
49	makes its own sweet white wine from the vines growing in the garden behind the pub.
50-51	serves amazing smoked dire boar sausages.

52	acts as the unofficial headquarters of the Adventurers' Guild. There is a "Situations Vacant" notice board for available work and a scoreboard for tallying treasure found and monsters killed.
53	has a rune-covered greatsword hanging over the bar.
54-55	is the most fashionable place in the city, despite its rude staff, vinegary wine and overcooked food.
56	holds weekly singing contests for locals and visitors. Many of the singers have also performed at the opera house.
57	has walls painted with raunchy scenes of nymphs and satyrs; there is a small shrine to the Wine God in one corner.
58	brews its own strong cider, Jolly Halfling Redface, using only local orchards.
59-60	opens early in the morning to cater for the market traders and is closed in the evenings.
61-62	is overrun by rats which are bold enough to eat the food from the customers' plates.
63	has a wide double door entrance, oversized furniture and a high, vaulted ceiling. Tall and four-legged folk such as ogres and centaurs make up much of the clientele.
64	supposedly has the lost treasure of Peder Uren buried beneath the cellar floor.
65	has a flat roof for landings by griffins and giant eagles. An upper floor also provides a quiet, members-only drinking venue.
66-67	is the best place in the city to find someone willing to buy an unwanted magic item.
68	has a trapdoor in the floor of the kitchen which leads down into the remains of the older city on which the present one is built.
69	has a huge painting hanging on the wall of the current landlord battling a dragon single-handed. This never happened – the landlord has always worked in pubs but dreams of adventure.
70	is also a popular gambling establishment among the wealthy, offering fine food and wines and a classy escort service for both men and women.
71	is built on a bridge spanning a chasm. The floor of the taproom is magically reinforced glass and offers a superb view of the river 500 feet below.
72	is situated in the undercroft of the city gatehouse and is popular with off-duty city watchmen. This is a good place for rumour-gathering.
73-74	is a local pub for local people. The place falls silent when the PCs enter and the "welcome" from the bar staff is noticeably frosty.
75-76	has a bad reputation for pickpockets.
77	is decorated with dozens of hunting trophies (mostly animals but there are a few monsters too). The three chandeliers are fashioned from antlers.
78	has dishonest staff who short-change their customers and pilfer items from their rooms.

79	serves delicious mead and tasty honey from its own beehives.
80	is a rowdy place, popular with warriors and barbarians; much quaffing of ale, plate-smashing and drunken singing happens here.
81	has saucy, flirty serving staff of both sexes who can be hired as "bedwarmers."
82	is very quiet. Serious students from the nearby university and School of Wizardry come here for a bite to eat and a drink while studying their books.
83	acts as a front for a group of cruel slavers. Drunk patrons are sometimes dragged off and shoved into the holding cells beneath the inn.
84	is popular with local fishermen and is decorated with fishing nets and other nautical knickknacks. The fried fish served here is delicious.
85	has a "no weapons" rule. All weapons must be surrendered at the door to a female half-orc bouncer with a big club and a missing nose.
86	has a shield with a red griffin emblem hanging outside. This shield was stolen from the paladin Amar Beaumont by bandits; he would pay a decent reward for its return.
87	is subject to a permanent reverse gravity enchantment, allowing patrons the chance to drink on the ceiling.
88	is situated on its own demiplane, accessible from a number of different pub entrances across the multiverse. The clientele is as varied as the cuisine and drinks menu.
89	employs hard-up students from the School of Wizardry; some of them are prone to bumping up their tips with a little charm magic.
90	is a former chapel and has beautiful stained-glass windows. The old altar displays a range of strong spirits.
91	is a popular spot for a romantic evening and has a small fountain in the middle of the dining area. It is said that if a couple each throw a coin into it, they will live happily ever after.
92	is a dank and dimly lit cellar bar, decorated with the skulls of various animals and monsters.
93	is packed every night with actors and playwrights who perform at the nearby theatre. They drink a lot and like to rehearse their speeches in front of other patrons.
94-95	has an uneven floor and wobbly tables and chairs.
96-97	is a cheap, backstreet pub, selling strong ale and hearty stew to hard-working labourers.
98-99	is very popular with merchants and traders; there are deals going on at almost every table.
100	is a secret drinking establishment inside a cave on the outskirts of town.

SAMPLE CUSTOMERS

Other patrons offer the GM a great way for the PCs to hear local rumours, pick up on adventure hooks, or just have a fun roleplaying encounter when they visit a tavern.

This section presents 50 notable tavern customers for the PCs to interact with; each entry includes basic statistics, a physical description and one or two personality traits to help bring the patrons to life.

D%	CUSTOMER
01-02	Eavis Hob (N male human commoner): ruddy-faced local farmer with mutton-chop sideburns, doesn't like "folk not from round 'ere".
03-04	Francio Colias (NG male human expert/bard): fork-bearded playwright, scribbling furiously away on parchment and won't take kindly to being disturbed. Likes to use flowery language.
05-06	Berig Tolly (LN male human expert): miserable, pot-bellied fisherman, constantly bemoaning the lack of a good catch. Stinks of fish.
07-08	Oglander Trell (CG male human wizard): bearded, wears a ridiculous-looking wizard's hat, and smokes a foul-smelling pipe. An expert on the fey; friendly but very absent-minded.
09-10	Madame Rocelin (CG female human expert): buxom middle-aged brothel-keeper, the archetypal "tart with a heart." Loves a good double entendre.
11-12	Garrow Poppyfield (LN male halfling expert): rotund orchard keeper and cider-maker, has a huge belly laugh and enjoys a good gossip.
13-14	Rafiq Al-Tayyib (N male human expert): dark-skinned, djellaba-wearing spice merchant from the southern city of Sabtah. Warm and friendly, but insists on haggling.
15-16	Holgin Forgestoker (LG male dwarf expert): bald-headed weaponsmith with elaborately braided red beard and heavily calloused hands. Irritable perfectionist who does excellent work.
17-18	Anora Greenmantle (NG, female half-elf druid): has light brown hair, violet eyes and attractive features; wears plain woollen robes and is accompanied by her wolf. Softly-spoken, kind and wary of heavily-armed adventurers.
19-20	Nesta Redhawk (CG female human ranger): red-haired with a freckled face and wearing studded leather armour and a dark green cloak. Moves slowly and deliberately. Takes an interest in strangers.
21-22	Gong Tzu (LN male human monk): shaven-headed elderly martial artist from distant Keiwan, dressed in simple robes. Bows respectfully and expects others to do the same. Speaks very poor Common and is likely to become confused in any conversation.

23-24	Thadeous Kellgrim (CE male human sorcerer): bald-headed, thin-faced man with a goatee beard, wearing black robes and a sinister-looking silver amulet. Has a cruel sense of humour.
25-26	Father Poncival (N male human cleric): big-nosed, middle-aged priest of Conn the Lawgiver, clad in white clerical robes. Tends to leer at attractive women.
27-28	Gerd Hot-Head (CN female human barbarian): blond Northlands warrior, clad in furs and leather and carrying a big axe. Boisterous and quick to anger; she likes to challenge men to drinking contests.
29-30	Odgar Pennyweather (N male gnome rogue): devious pickpocket with bright orange hair, large glittering black eyes and earthy brown skin. Bursts into (crocodile) tears, if caught stealing.
31-32	Skaar Flatnose (NE male half-orc fighter): down-at-heel warrior who was thrown out of his last adventuring band and is desperate to join another one. He has terrible breath and a nasty temper.
33-34	Gwaelen Calafalas (CG female elf fighter): blond-haired elf archer in shining chainmail and green leather boots; has a nasty scar on her left cheek. Waiting to meet a prospective employer and seems distracted.
35-36	Piero Merigot (LN male human aristocrat): wealthy and handsome olive-skinned young noble in search of some female company. Charming but somewhat world-weary.
37-38	Dani Sunilda (NE female human rogue): very attractive, well-dressed lady with bright green eyes and dark hair. Looking to seduce a stupid but wealthy man and run off with his money.
39-40	Sidrac Pureheart (LG male human paladin): good-looking, blond-haired knight in shining armour embossed with the symbol of the sun god Darlen. Vain, pompous and a bit dim.
41-42	Beldina (NG female human witch): young dark-skinned gypsy fortune-teller offering tarot readings. Very intense; often sees death in her cards.
43-44	Ivan and Pavao (N male human warrior): off-duty members of the city watch. One is tall and thin, the other short and fat. Both are bullies, and don't like to pay for their drinks.
45-46	Theona (LG female human expert): pale and undernourished scribe with ink-stained fingers, dressed in plain grey robes. Speaks very quietly and is painfully self-effacing.
47-48	Valgard Stonyfist (LE female dwarf fighter): one-eyed bearded adventurer, back from a successful expedition with items to sell. Greedy and likely to rip off anyone she deals with.

49-50	Hamult (N male human commoner): buck-toothed miller, not liked by the locals, who suspect him of taking a bigger cut than he should. Hums to himself and is suspicious of outsiders.
51-52	Caranthir Martken (N half elf rogue): handsome con man, posing as a merchant who has just been robbed. Smooth-talking and apparently very honest.
53-54	Barr Jockell (NE male human commoner): red-faced cooper with a shock of blond hair and a lazy eye. Bigoted about other races and sexist to boot. Rants when drunk.
55-56	Gundrik Craghammer (LN male dwarf commoner): master builder with a magnificent triple-braided beard and the ability to blow large smoke rings. Very meticulous.
57-58	Tuluin (NG male human commoner): swarthy labourer with nearly all his teeth missing, wearing a simple peasant smock. Nosy and overbearing.
59-60	Minir Lossehelin (CG male elf bard): blond-haired singer and lute player, wearing clothes of deep blue and a silver swan-shaped brooch. Talented performer, prone to melancholy.
61-62	“Happy” Hiragg Skullcruncher (N female half-orc fighter): broken-nosed scraggly-haired enforcer for the local thieves’ guild. Affable when she’s not working; tells terrible jokes.
63-64	Reyna Kirkas (LE female half-elf inquisitor): heavily armed, fanatical follower of Darlen the Shining Light, sworn to track down the god’s enemies. Has a sinister smile and enjoys inflicting pain on others.
65-66	Ruggert (N male human expert): weather-beaten, sun-tanned sailor, with a bowlegged gait and lots of tattoos. Won’t stop telling sea stories as long as the rum keeps flowing.
67-68	Colum the Clumsy (N male human commoner): accident-prone dock-worker with a limp and sporting a black eye. Hates his boss and tells boastful lies to anyone who will listen.
69-70	Bhuvanesh (LN male human wizard): brown-skinned, handsome scholar from remote Gopura, studying the magic of distant lands. Will enthusiastically compare notes with any arcane spellcasters; somewhat naïve.
71-72	Leovold Kerric (LG male human paladin): inexperienced, fresh-faced paladin with shiny, undamaged, plate mail and a sword that’s barely been swung in anger. May ask the PCs for some tips if they seem to be “goodly sorts.”
73-74	Parador (NG male human cleric): middle-aged tonsured priest of the god of healing. His adventuring days are behind him but he enjoys recounting his exploits in a dull monotone. Has sweaty hands.

75-76	Kazask’t (N male lizardfolk fighter): seven-foot-tall green-scaled warrior, carrying a turtle-shell shield and a spear. Confident, taciturn and unbothered by any strange looks.
77-78	Elanoreth (CG female elf wizard): stunningly beautiful silver-haired magus, wearing black robes decorated with arcane symbols and carrying an orb-topped staff. Poised and aloof.
79-80	Barro Bonerattler (N male gnome expert): talented professional gambler with a natty line in waistcoats. Expressionless when at the tables; shows his deadpan humour when he’s not.
81-82	“Scabby” Cuthred (CN male human commoner): scruffy and dirty beggar with a missing arm. Offers local information in exchange for food and drink.
83-84	Brendon Sharpwit (NG male halfling expert): smartly dressed curly-haired general shopkeeper with well-manicured bare feet. Is keen to find out if the PCs have enough iron spikes and ten-foot poles.
85-86	Folgrim Goldsmelter (NE male dwarf expert): grey-bearded balding moneylender, wearing small spectacles on the end of his nose. Mean-spirited, avaricious and misanthropic.
87-88	Kadia Killiwrath (LN female monk): dark-skinned woman with her blue-black hair tied in a topknot, and two kamas tucked into her red cloth belt. Maintains a state of zen-like calm.
89-90	Liuva (NG female human commoner): soot-covered, muscular charcoal-maker. Nervous about returning to work due to “strange happenings in the woods.”
91-92	Elarik Swiftwater (CG male half-elf ranger): rugged-looking, well-travelled bounty hunter on the trail of a notorious murderer. Intimidating and solemn.
93-94	Variel Duskreader (LN female elf fighter): plain-featured down-to-earth captain of the city watch. Always on the lookout for anyone up to no good.
95-96	Pia (CG female human commoner): seven-year-old girl in a bright red dress who is looking for her mother. Distressed, she wants to tag along with the PCs until she finds her.
97-98	Borstig Bigbelly (CN male human commoner): obese, sweaty cobbler whose main aim in life is to avoid being sober. Rude and abusive.
99-100	Letia Varro (N female human aristocrat): elegant and well-dressed mature noblewoman, accompanied by her manservant as she looks for her errant husband. Imperious demeanour.

SAMPLE STAFF

It's often the staff in a tavern that determine its atmosphere and help make it distinct and memorable. It's particularly important to have interesting NPCs working in a pub that the PCs regularly return to after an adventuring expedition. The landlord can become a trusted friend and a good source of information on what's been going on in town while the PCs have been away. This section presents 50 notable tavern staff; each entry includes basic statistics, a physical description and one or two personality traits to help with roleplaying.

D%	STAFF MEMBER
01-02	Urgim Strongarmed (N male dwarf warrior): overweight and out of shape bouncer. Is polite to women and gruff with men. Perpetually smiling, he is very protective of the tavern's staff.
03-04	Gurdik Pendrell (LN male human expert): weasel-faced bartender, wearing a grubby, grease-stained apron. Miserly and lugubrious.
05-06	Jarla Vespen (CG female human commoner): rosy-cheeked, mature landlady with a heaving bosom and a heart of gold. Flirtatious.
07-08	Steffan Kennig (N male human expert): portly landlord with thinning hair. Snobbish; looks his patrons up and down when they enter his tavern. Hates mess and dirt; is usually obsessively cleaning something.
09-10	Tanith Zerlas (LG female human aristocrat/expert): elegant widow with long raven-black hair, running her own stylish restaurant. Loves good food and fine wine.
11-12	Renward Slyfox (CN male halfling rogue): well-fed professional gambler who won the tavern in a bet and hasn't a clue how to run it. Makes mistakes when taking drink and food orders, spills beer everywhere and so on.
13-14	Darry Hardbottle (LN male halfling expert): ruddy-complexioned halfling cook. Superb pie-maker but very temperamental.
15-16	Bella Moonrise (NG female half-elf commoner): young serving maiden with long, braided, light brown hair. Terrified of getting things wrong.
17-18	Rhodus (CN male human commoner): very handsome, pony-tailed waiter; wears tight leather breeches and a puffy shirt. Vain and empty-headed.
19-20	Shazwyn (N male gnome expert): green-haired resident juggler and knife-thrower. Sulks if he doesn't get enough applause.
21-22	Dollen (LG male human commoner): goofy-looking serving boy with ginger hair and a stutter. Very gullible.
23-24	Ratha Varrin (LN female half-orc expert): scary-looking innkeeper, with a nasty scar running across her forehead. Proud and determined.

25-26	Ninetha (CN female human commoner): pretty, green-eyed, olive-skinned serving girl and chambermaid. Lazy and flighty.
27-28	Luthrin Summerbee (NE male human rogue): very pale, almost albino, tavern owner. Smooth-talking liar, always looking for ways to steal from his customers.
29-30	Bolval the Barrel-Bellied (NG male dwarf cleric): tubby landlord and former cleric of the Forge God. Has dedicated his retirement to brewing the best beer this side of the Cloudpeak Mountains.
31-32	Obry Verne (LN male human rogue): heavily tattooed, bald-headed landlord with a bushy moustache. Used to be in a criminal gang, but is now determined to keep out of trouble.
33-34	Jameela (N female human expert): sensuous, dark-skinned exotic dancer, performing in diaphanous veils. She longs for a rich patron to whisk her away.
35-36	Grodor (NG male human expert): short, bearded bartender who pours beer agonisingly slowly, much to the frustration of his thirsty customers.
37-38	Zebar (NG male black bear): dancing bear, sits chained in the corner. An adventurer who was cursed by the fey, he tries to communicate his predicament to the PCs.
39-40	Derlana (LG female commoner): smartly dressed, silver-haired landlady who insists only the finest glasses are used to serve drinks in her backstreet pub. She allows no swearing.
41-42	Niall Brodgirdle (N male halfling commoner): doddery, tipsy old potman with bushy sideburns and big, hairy feet. Drinks down the dregs as he collects up the tankards. He is normally drunk, but the customers tolerate him good-naturedly.
43-44	Blothmac (CN male troll): hideously ugly green-skinned bouncer with a ring through his nose. Unusually intelligent and fiercely loyal to the landlord. Enjoys the effect his appearance has on first-time customers.
45-46	Spichfat (NE male human expert): greasy-haired, acne-ridden cook, with a thin moustache. Mean and nasty; uses rat meat in his stews and is not popular with his fellows.
47-48	Elenagh (NG female commoner): pretty, young serving girl with blond hair and a curvy figure. Tired of getting her bottom pinched by amorous patrons, she is likely to empty a glass over someone's head the next time it happens.
49-50	Zambros Kibber (CN male gnome commoner): well-dressed, diminutive landlord with fiery red hair and a bottle-green waistcoat. Greedy, he serves watered-down beer to patrons he thinks won't notice.

51-52	Tereza (N female half-elf expert): beautiful dark-haired prostitute who works from the rooms upstairs. One of her regular client beats her violently, but she is too scared to tell anyone.
53-54	Malkas Hardepate (CN male human bard): veteran master of ceremonies, with wild, grey hair and a red robe that's seen better days. Great joke-teller with a sharp wit.
55-56	Algar Scrobbs (LN male human expert); wide, bull-necked pit boss who makes sure all is running smoothly at the gaming tables. Suspicious of everyone and misses very little.
57-58	Herol Chenric (CN male human expert) highly talented chef, with a shaved head and neatly trimmed beard. Believing that his lovely food is not being appreciated, he is on the verge of poisoning his "ungrateful" customers.
59-60	Frodin Underhall (N male dwarf commoner): dark-haired cellar man, with intricate silver clasps tying up his hair and beard. Surly and enjoys grumbling.
61-62	Landaeris Celetherin (CG female elf bard): graceful and handsome blond-haired resident musician, capable of playing both rousing jigs and terribly sad songs. Shy and nervous when not performing.
63-64	Pachko Keff (N male human fighter): brawny and red-bearded former adventurer, who once plundered the tower of a notorious sorcerer, and is now lying low as a backstreet tavern keeper. Wary of strangers.
65-66	Morten Ordel (LE male half-elf rogue): brown-haired, clean-shaven landlord with wholly unremarkable features. Polite to his customers and keeps a low profile to avoid drawing attention. The tavern is a front for his small but growing criminal empire.
67-68	Bjorg Deepdelver (LG male dwarf expert): one-legged former sailor, covered in nautical tattoos; now a barman. Loves the open sea and has never seen the inside of a mine.
69-70	Belloza (NG female human commoner): attractive, middle-aged landlady, wearing lots of make-up and perfume. Widowed a year ago, she is lonely and looking for a new husband.
71-72	Wali Sabirah (LN male human expert): dark-skinned tavern keeper, with a smartly trimmed beard and wearing a clean white djellaba. Warm, friendly and passionate about the very fine coffee and mint tea he serves.
73-74	Wennig (N male human expert): young lad with a shaved head and multiple piercings. He is an excellent cook; fish and seafood are his speciality. He is often late for work after a big night out. He is pale skinned and suffers from horrendous hangovers.

75-76	Ciosa and Jacopa (NG female human commoners): two young sisters, both blond-haired and comely. Took over the tavern when their father died and are determined to make a go of it without any male interference.
77-78	Gerulf Thondirk (N male human commoner): frustrated artist who serves ale wearing a paint-spattered smock. The tavern is hung with his talentless paintings. Very sensitive to criticism of his art.
79-80	Marketa (CG female human commoner): very pretty serving girl with light brown hair. Forced to work in the tavern by her father, she is trying to get fired by spilling drinks and getting things wrong but it's not worked yet.
81-82	Elestir Calafalas (CG male elf expert): pale gold-haired, violet-eyed and very attractive landlord; dresses immaculately. Loves sharing his passion for fine wines with anyone who orders a glass.
83-84	Herek Tebene (N male human expert): tall, grey-haired, blue-eyed landlord with more than a whiff of arrogance about him. Thinks his tavern is far too good for the riff-raff who drink there.
85-86	Ergal Shieldbreaker (LN male dwarf fighter/expert): former adventurer, now a landlord, red in the face with an unruly beard. Hates elves and won't allow them in his pub.
87-88	Edine (NG female human commoner): slim and muscular serving girl with short, dark hair. Keen to give up her boring job and become an adventurer. She may seek to follow the PCs on their next quest.
89-90	Steinar (CG male human ranger): tall, burly tavern keeper, who insists the only food served is game he's hunted or caught himself. Plains-spoken and genuine.
91-92	Osoro (N male human commoner): young serving lad and apprentice cook with tousled, brown hair. Hates the head cook and is over-salting the food to see if he can get him fired.
93-94	Alvito (NG male human commoner): gangly young waiter with goofy teeth. Works hard but is clumsy and accident-prone.
95-96	Hilda Goodeve (CG female human expert): kindly, smiling woman who runs the gaming tables. Often tries to stop those who can't afford it from betting too much.
97-98	Felippon (N male human expert): well-oiled, sun-tanned and muscular male stripper and sometime gigolo. Targets rich, older women when performing in an effort to get bigger tips.
99-100	Tamas (N male human commoner): ugly and foul-smelling landlord of a shabby backstreet tavern. Is missing several teeth and part of his left ear. Rude and disinterested.

FOOD & DRINK

The food and drink available at taverns is as varied as the establishments themselves. Here find suitable food and drink divided by the quality of the establishment. The table immediately below also presents the average cost of food and drink for sale in taverns.

DRINKS

Ale (gallon)	2 sp
Ale (mug)	4 cp
Wine (common; pitcher)	2 sp
Wine (fine; bottle)	10 gp

MEALS (PER DAY)

Poor	1 sp
Common	3 sp
Good	2 gp

POOR FARE

D20	POOR MEALS
1	Carrot and acorn soup with bread
2	Vegetable stew
3	Pease pudding
4	Chickpea stew with kale
5	Beans and greens soup with rye bread
6	Pea and carrot soup with oatcakes
7	Vegetable soup with laver bread
8	Pea soup on baked potato
9	Potato soup with mixed greens
10	Pea and beet stew
11	Acorn cakes with beet soup
12	Oat gruel with turnips
13	Bean soup with onion
14	Cheesy millet balls with carrot
15	Beet soup with bread
16	Mixed greens pottage with potato
17	Carrot soup with ground chickpeas
18	Fried beet and potato cake
19	Potato and acorn stew with bread
20	Baked potato with onions and bread

D20 POOR DRINKS

1	Water (cold)
2	Buttermilk
3	Whey
4	Mint tea
5	Nettle tea
6	Dandelion coffee
7	Small ale
8	Small beer
9	Sour wine
10	Sage tea
11	Chamomile tea
12	Plain barley water
13	Lavender verbena tea
14	Water (hot)
15	Rosemary tea
16	Watered cider
17	Watered perry
18	Fennel tea
19	Raspberry leaf tea
20	Birch sap tea

D20 POOR HOUSE SPECIALITIES

1	Rolled seaweed stuffed with rice and vegetables
2	Fishcakes with cabbage
3	Black pudding with turnip and bread
4	Marrow stuffed with barley and herbs
5	Spiced beets with onion and potato
6	Roast chickpeas with laver bread
7	Mushroom porridge
8	Turnip and pea pie
9	Onion flan
10	Bean stew with onion bread
11	Cracked wheat pilaf
12	Turnip stew
13	Mixed root stew with kale
14	Bean and barley pottage
15	Homity pie
16	Chicken soup with bread
17	Fish soup with rice and beans
18	Beet stew
19	Umble pie with cabbage
20	Cabbage soup with beets

COMMON FARE

D20 COMMON MEALS

1	Omelette with toasted nuts
2	Ham with mixed greens
3	Fish and bacon stew
4	Rabbit in mushroom sauce
5	Fried rabbit with nut cakes
6	Poached fish with kale
7	Cheap sausage with fried onion and apple chunks
8	Black pudding and beans
9	Corned beef with carrots
10	Ham and vegetable stew
11	Cheese and ham omelette
12	Cheese and leek bake
13	Rabbit pie with beets
14	Black pudding with turnip and mushrooms
15	Cheap sausage with cheese and chickpeas
16	Cauliflower cheese with parsnip and kale
17	Leek and chestnut stew
18	Vine leaves stuffed with chickpeas and millet
19	Chicken with buttered parsnip
20	Fishcakes with cracked corn and red cabbage

D20 COMMON DRINKS

1	Beer
2	Ale
3	Watered white wine
4	Cider
5	Perry
6	Cherry barley water
7	Plum barley water
8	Watered red wine
9	Koumiss
10	Watered mead
11	Pear barley water
12	Elderflower cordial
13	Blackberry cordial
14	Elderberry cordial
15	Sloe wine
16	Sloe gin
17	Rosehip cordial
18	Gooseberry cordial
19	Plum cider
20	Blackcurrant cordial

D20	COMMON HOUSE SPECIALITIES
1	Chicken in plum sauce with rice
2	Honey-fried fish
3	Sheep's head stew with barley and beans
4	Star-gazy pie
5	Chicken and leek pie
6	Mushroom flan
7	Oxtail soup with cheese bread and onions
8	Pork liver with onions and potatoes
9	Bacon, eggs and fried Potatoes
10	Parsnip soup with cheap sausage and bread
11	Yoghurt soup with meatballs
12	Trout stuffed with oats and mushrooms
13	Lentil pancakes with cabbage and leeks
14	Shellfish chowder
15	Fishballs with mixed greens
16	Lamb heart stew
17	Brawn with spinach, turnips and carrots
18	Oxtongue with onion bread and hazelnuts
19	Fish cooked in ale with mashed swede and potato
20	Vine leaves stuffed with garlic cheese, served with millet balls

GOOD FARE

D20	GOOD MEALS
1	Mutton in a creamy almond sauce with a mixed green salad
2	Steak and mushroom pie with green beans
3	Honey glazed ham with cheesy potatoes and peas
4	Lamb chops with redcurrant sauce, swede and leeks
5	Roasted quail in a nest of rice and peas
6	Spiced goat with apple and raisin oatcakes
7	Pork medallions with apricots, almonds and cracked wheat pilaf
8	Mushroom soup with good sausage and butter beans

9	Salmon with peas, mushrooms and carrots
10	Beef stew with roasted chickpeas and kale
11	Good sausage, cheese, plums and honeycakes
12	Roast goose stuffed with apple and raisins and served with potato and parsnip
13	Duck pie with broad beans and sweet millet balls
14	Roasted eggs with endive, raisins and cracked corn
15	Roast pork with fried parsnip and sliced beet
16	Baked pigeon in cream with leek and onion
17	Good sausage with hardboiled egg, cheese bread and spring onions
18	Cinnamon dusted mutton with roasted chestnuts and potato
19	Turkey with raspberry sauce, green beans and mushrooms
20	Roast chicken With pork and apple stuffing, carrots and peas

D20	GOOD DRINKS
1	White wine
2	Red wine
3	Rose wine
4	Mead
5	Apple brandy
6	Pear brandy
7	Plum brandy
8	Brandy
9	Port
10	Sherry
11	Whisky
12	Vodka
13	Cherry brandy
14	Apricot cordial
15	Strawberry cordial
16	Raspberry cordial
17	Lemon cordial
18	Peach brandy
19	Spiced mulled wine
20	Spiced mulled cider

D20	GOOD HOUSE SPECIALITIES
1	Lobster with mixed greens and rice
2	Beef in red wine with potato, carrot and swede
3	Partridge stuffed With eggs and mixed grains
4	Baked hare stuffed with roasted eggs and creamed corn
5	Veal in cream with spiced pilaf
6	Pork and apricot stew with broad beans
7	Peppered beef with corn, red cabbage and peas
8	Minted lamb ribs with peas and potato
9	Chicken stuffed with quail, with parsnips, green beans and spinach
10	Goose in white wine with rice, peas and carrots
11	Smoked salmon with parsley, peas and creamed turnip
12	Pigeon pie with potato, butter beans and baked pear
13	Mutton with mushroom sauce and mixed beans
14	Gammon in cheese and parsley sauce with leeks
15	Turkey with sliced good sausage, cabbage and broad beans
16	Venison meatballs with apricot sauce, chestnut cakes and kale
17	Mutton in onion gravy with a cracked wheat pilaf
18	Steak and kidney pudding with potato, cabbage and peas
19	Pork chop with sage and onion stuffing, peas and roast beet
20	Perch in honey sauce with rice, fennel and raisins

TAPROOM EVENTS

D%
1	A customer collapses, dead, in their meal.
2	A customer collapses, unconscious, in their meal.
3	A customer haggles with the bartender over the hire of a long dark cloak.
4	A group of local young nobles is slumming it in the corner. One is very touchy about their rank and speaks loudly about “peasants” and “scum.”
5	A beggar circulates about the taproom offering to tell patrons’ fortune for the price of a hot meal.
6	A sudden gust of window bangs a shutter shut causing a loud bang. Conversation momentarily stops before slowly restarting.
7	An exotic dancer pickpockets those watching her.
8	Two rival gangleaders and their guards choose the tavern as neutral ground for a meeting.
9	A professional duellist insults people, trying to provoke a duel.
10	A mercenary sergeant and squad set up a recruiting booth in the tavern.
11	A thief takes shelter in the tavern just ahead of a mob of peasants and such like trying to earn his last victim’s reward.
12	A pack of apprentices pour into the tavern.
13	A rich merchant loudly dismisses everything offered as “not good enough.”
14	A dogfight breaks out of its assigned area and rolls across the floor.
15	A cat sees a mouse and charges along the bar after it, knocking all the drinks over.
16	Off-duty town guards swagger in drunk, demanding free food and ale.
17	A drunk projectile vomits across his table.
18	A self-proclaimed hero lounges at the bar, expecting free board in return for tales.
19	Members of two rival guilds stare coldly at each other across a divided taproom.
20	A half-dozen men stagger into the tavern. On an epic bender, they are clearly very drunk. They are refused service and leave...loudly.
21	A tiny fire elemental bound to the fireplace escapes, setting the tavern on fire in passing.
22	Two customers bump into each other and spill their drinks. After loudly cursing, they both apologise and return to the bar for more drinks.
23	Supporters of a local champion, gladiator or suchlike swarm into the tavern to discuss/dissect his latest tactics.
24	Someone throws hallucinogenic incense on the tavern fire, affecting everyone close by.
25	An impromptu drinking contest breaks out between soldiers from different companies.
26	A card-player jumps to his feet and loudly accuses his fellow players of cheating.

27	One of the tavern's bedwarmers comes down the stairs in tears over her latest customer.
28	A press-gang bursts in, looking for suitable victims.
29	A gang of slavers bursts in, grabbing everyone remotely attractive and dragging them outside.
30	An old man tells the tale of how he met a hero to a crowd that only humours him – until the hero walks in and recognises the man.
31	A bird tumbles down the chimney, scattering soot, coal and debris everywhere.
32	The innkeeper's dog has pups under one of the tables and won't let anyone come near it.
33	An argument breaks out at a table when a customer thinks the server has short-changed him. She hasn't; he is drunk.
34	A travelling merchant enters the bar carrying samples of several wines. He tries to sell them to the innkeeper.
35	A mass eruption of loud, unstoppable hiccups breaks out among the tavern patrons.
36	A local hero sits at a table receiving attentive service while everyone else is ignored.
37	Two drunks attempt to climb onto a table and dance for everyone else's entertainment.
38	An urchin enters the tavern and tries to sell customers one of several bedraggled, half-dead bunches of flowers “for that special someone.”
39	A group of urchins wander in, begging for food scraps and coins.
40	An impromptu riddling contest breaks out among a group of sages.
41	An impromptu insult-screaming contest breaks out; a cluster of children listens wide-eyed.
42	A dog races in, snatches a plateful of food from under someone's nose, and runs off with it.
43	Someone spits noisily and obviously into someone else's beer.
44	A stray cat jumps onto a table and starts rubbing itself against a customer.
45	A dead bird tumbles down the chimney, blocking it and shunting smoke and soot into the tavern.
46	A rat emerges from a hole in the floorboards in search of food. If anyone notices it, they try and squash it, but it dashes away.
47	A mischievous gnome sits in the rafters, dropping snuff on the people below to make them sneeze.
48	A group of card sharpsters are taken for a ride by an innocent-looking bard.
49	A wild-eyed preacher declaims the end of the world to anyone who will listen.
50	Several local adventuring parties are holding a recruitment day: each table holds a knot of folk and a sign detailing the skills they seek.
51	Festival participants arrive in the tavern for food and drink, still in their costumes.

52	A bitch in heat races through the tavern door and runs the length of the tavern, closely pursued by a pack of hopeful dogs.
53	A customer steals another (distracted) customer's drink and wanders off with it.
54	A drunk customer passes out.
55	A metallic dragon in human disguise saunters in to mingle with the crowd.
56	An aging madam sits at a table interviewing prospective male and female employees.
57	A woman loudly slaps a customer across the cheek. His companions find this riotously amusing. The man is not so impressed.
58	An impromptu party breaks out when a popular local appears with his new baby.
59	A boy circulates about the taproom looking for his father (who has been missing for over a day).
60	A bard tries to tell the ballad of a hero who was born locally, only to be shouted down with laughter and jeers of "get it right!"
61	A member of the Watch walks in and nails a proclamation to the bar. He leaves after having a quick pint.
62	The town's bells suddenly toll a warning and the tavern customers abandon their benches to see what is happening.
63	A man sits alone deep in thought. Every now and then a sinister smile flits across his face.
64	A brawl breaks out and the bouncer throws the brawlers out through a window.
65	A brawl breaks out; there are too many participants for the bouncer to deal with.
66	Two thieves start a brawl as a distraction so that a third can rob the cashbox.
67	Someone spikes all the tavern's drinks, making them five times as potent as usual.
68	The legs on a bench collapse, dumping all the people on it onto the floor. Laughter fills the common room.
69	A female half-orc sits alone and sharpens a dagger. Occasionally she smiles grimly and looks around the taproom.
70	Four attractive, drunk and giggling women enter the taproom. They make their way to the bar where they hold court to a succession of suitors.
71	One of the tavern drinkers is actually a spy for the local ruler. He asks lots of questions and is quite inept; it quickly becomes obvious he is much more than he seems.
72	One of the drinkers is the local ruler in disguise, testing the mood of his subjects. He makes seditious comments and notes who agrees.
73	A weasel-faced man circulates among the patrons offering several minor magic potions.
74	Several off-duty guardsmen in a foul mood occupy one corner. They are spoiling for a fight after a local thief got away from them...again.

75	A customer enters the taproom and all the regulars shout out his name.
76	Drunk customer falls off a chair.
77	Customer vomits on the floor.
78	Pickpocket tries (and fails) to relieve a drunken customer of his pouch.
79	The watch enter the tavern looking for a wrongdoer. They question everyone closely.
80	A server drops a whole tray of drinks. This may be an accident or a customer may have deliberately tripped her. She is either angry or embarrassed depending on whether this was an accident or not.
81	Customers gambling begin to argue over their game. The argument quickly escalates.
82	A rival group of adventures enter the taproom and nosily celebrate their recently successful foray. They may invite the PCs to join them or alternatively denigrate the PCs' achievements.
83	A beggar enters the taproom and begs for money or food. The barkeep quickly hustles him out.
84	A passing customer enters the bar looking for a "friend" and loudly asks if anyone has seen him. The customer has a black eye and a broken nose.
85	Customer confuses a PC with someone else and sits down at their table.
86	A distraught and dishevelled man enters the bar and loudly calls for aid. It seems he has just been mugged and needs help tracking down his attackers. The man could be genuine or this could be a trap to waylay drunk customers.
87	A customer believes he has been short-changed. He argues voraciously with the barkeep.
88	A customer stumbles into the PCs' table spilling at least one drink.
89	A man enters the tavern, looks about the taproom intently before leaving. Shortly thereafter, two men hurriedly finish their drinks and leave.
90	A customer makes obscene comments to a server and gets a mug of ale thrown in his face.
91	Several patrons whisper conspiratorially while glancing warily about the common room.
92	A bard enters and starts serenading the patrons, moving from table to table in search of coin.
93	The floorboards overhead creak alarmingly.
94	Singing wafts up from the cellar.
95	Two lovers sit at a table, kissing passionately.
96	A half-orc whore leads a very drunk dwarf through the throng to an upstairs room.
97	Over a period of 20 minutes half the patrons drink up and leave. The common room is suspiciously empty.
98	The innkeeper asks the PCs' help with a minor problem.
99	One PC gets drawn into an event; roll again.
100	The party gets drawn into an event; roll again.

TAPROOM ENTERTAINMENT

D%
01-02	An apprentice mage is using minor magic to create the appearance of indoor fireworks.
03-04	A young man is putting on a sleight of hand conjuring show.
05-06	A young woman is using prestidigitation to enhance a sleight of hand conjuring show.
07-08	A waiter is juggling the knives, spoons, mugs and plates while he sets the tables.
09-10	An animated drum kit is playing itself.
11-12	A gnome is playing harp music in one corner.
13-14	A half-orc is playing bagpipes while roving the tavern floor. The sound is incredibly loud, but rousing (and popular).
15-16	A human bard plays the flute by the fireplace. He is playing a soulful, haunting melody.
17-18	A man is singing love ballads in a very deep voice. Several entranced women look on.
19-20	A woman is singing bawdy songs from atop a table.
21-22	A halfling is doing a stand-up comedy routine on the perils of mixing with "big-folk."
23-24	A storyteller is expansively telling heroic tales to an audience of young children.
25-26	Wide tavern windows look out onto an bear baiting arena in the courtyard. The barking of dogs and growls of the bear echo through the taproom.
27-28	A cock-fight is in progress in the middle of the taproom. A dozen or so cheering peasants surround the fighting birds.
29-30	A dog fight is in progress along one side of the tavern, fenced off with wicker hurdles.
31-32	A narrow circular balcony features dog racing.
33-34	A tall elf is reciting humorous monologues.
35-36	Two men are wrestling on the floor while others bet on them.
37-38	Two women are wrestling on a dais.
39-40	Two boxers have squared off in the middle of the tavern.
41-42	A massively muscled dwarf is challenging all comers to arm wrestling. He accepts his winnings in gold or strong spirits.
43-44	A line of tables hosts a drinking competition. Half the people have already passed out. All are splattered with beer and several have vomited.
45-46	Three actors on a low dais are performing a short play. They are terrible, but trying very hard. Almost no one is paying attention.
47-48	Two acrobats are tumbling around the floor delivering bottles of wine.
49-50	A knife-thrower has set up a target in the roof beams and is challenging all comers.

51-52	A half-orc fire-eater is winding through the crowd, quenching torches.
53-54	A slim male dancer is dancing a jig in the middle of the floor.
55-56	A voluptuous female dancer is performing on a table.
57-58	A male stripper is beginning his performance while the crowd claps the beat.
59-60	A female stripper is winding sheer veils around her body in preparation for a performance.
61-62	A mixed group is performing a stamping sword dance around the edges of the room.
63-64	Wire mesh tubes line the walls ready for ferret races.
65-66	A mass drink-and-dance contest fills the floor. Those that fall are dragged to the sidelines.
67-68	A dog choir is lined up against the back wall. Each dog barks at a different pitch on command.
69-70	A puppet theatre fills a lone table and the puppets lie nearby in a tangle of strings.
71-72	A half-elven bard beside the bar plays the fiddle.
73-74	Two youngsters play a four-handed piece on a battered piano.
75-76	A gnome re-tunes a lute before playing again. He is dressed in garish clothes and is humming a tune to himself.
77-78	An impressionist stands on a dais, mocking the local aristocracy.
79-80	A mime plays air violin in time with an old minstrel. He looks ridiculous and leaps around a lot, pretending to serenade female customers and suchlike. Bafflingly, he is popular.
81-82	Cards and a crystal ball mark a fortune-teller's stand in a shadowy corner.
83-84	Voices echo from thin air as a ventriloquist enhances his act with magical, eeire sounds.
85-86	A cartoonist draws on a whitewashed wall for the patrons' pleasure.
87-88	An experienced shadow-puppeteer works in the light of a bulls-eye lantern.
89-90	Two jesters compete, bawling ribald verses at each other across the length of the room.
91-92	A dog and its owner dance to music in the middle of the floor.
93-94	A snake charmer sits cross-legged on the dais in front of a basket.
95-96	A trio of jugglers toss light clubs and balls from balcony to balcony over the audience's heads.
97-98	A talking raven squawks insults at a handful of taunting customers.
99-100	A pair of elves sings a comic duet.

SAMPLE TAVERN SONGS

Many landlords hire travelling bards or talented locals to entertain their customers. Other customers – groups of carefree adventurers, drunken farmers and even star-crossed lovers are also wont to break into song. This section presents a small selection of such songs.

WHERE THE HEART IS

Where the wild geese wing
Where the skylarks sing
Wherever the wind cries
And whispers and sighs
There lies my heart

Where the old oak leans
Where the kestrel keens
Wherever animals creep
And linger and leap
There sleeps my heart

Where the sweet stream flows
Where blue ice forms, then goes
Wherever flowers swell
And snowflakes fell
There dwells my heart

THE CAPTAIN AND HIS CREW

The Captain called to his scurvy crew
Haul up the anchor! It's time that we flew!
There are ships out there in the open main
Don't you fancy some gold, so yellow and plain?

The Captain cried to his pirate crew
Away now, away now, sail out in the blue!
I know of an island, I know of a shore
We all will be rich, but I will have more.

The Captain smiled at his rascal crew
He never guessed what they planned to do
Out there in the sea, with a sturdy plank
And a parrot that squawked, Thanks thanks thanks!

The Captain stared at his mutinous crew
As he walked the plank in a smart new shoe
And only much later did the crew get in a flap
When they found that the Captain had taken the map!

HIS AND HERS: A DUET

He threw a rope
She threw a plate
He managed to duck
She was too late

He tossed a ball
She tossed a salad
He called it a day
She called it a ballad

He ran out of time
She ran out of words
He thought that was fine
She thought it absurd

He went on his way
She went on and on
They called it enough
We call it too long...

LADS AND LASSES

Now that you mention those lasses,
And some of the good lads we've known.
My memory goes back to old Lilly
And the nights I thought we had flown.

It's a long while ago. I'm not sure now
Of the name of that sweet little blonde,
And that lad with the hair to his ankles -
I think that they called him Girond.

What became of that luscious lass, Sarie?
Oh! Remember the fox-faced brunette?
She was working the streets with her sister
And she's not left my dreams even yet.

And a young lad I think was called Ishtak.
The cutest thing I've ever seen,
With a smile any woman would die for,
And a body so muscled and lean.

Wait! I almost missed naming that Keisal.
The one who gave kisses galore,
With a twinkling eye that promised
Everyone so very much more...

GAMES TO PLAY

As well as drinking and eating, games of chance and skill are quintessential pastimes enjoyed in tavern taproom. (Luckily, such games are also an excellent source of barroom brawls, if the GM so desires). This section presents several such games.

ARM WRESTLING

Popular with barbarians, dwarves and other tough guys, arm wrestling is a simple test of strength between two participants. Each person sits across from the other and places his arm on the table with the elbow bent and touching the surface. The two contestants grip each other's hand with the aim of shoving the other's arm down flat onto the top of the table.

- Each round, the contestants compare their Strength with respective checks.
- Each successful check moves the opponent's arm closer to their side of the table, scoring a win. To win the game, a player must beat his opponent 3 times in a row. Every loss removes a win.
- If the contest has not been won after 10 rounds, both contestants must make a Constitution check each round to be able to continue wrestling. On a failure, a contestant gains an automatic loss. When both contestants have accumulated 3 losses this way, the contest is a draw.

BROOM JOUSTING

A popular game in larger taverns, especially common near knightly orders, castles and training grounds.

- Played in teams of two, one of which is the "rider" and one the "horse." The horse carries the rider piggyback.
- The rider wields a broom and tries to hit the other rider. If a rider is hit, the rider must check to stay mounted on their "horse." Failure indicates they fall off.
- If a rider is hit 3 times or falls off his horse, he is out. The winner is the last person still mounted.

DOWN THE HATCH

Down the Hatch is a drinking game more commonly played in poorer communities, as it only requires one mug of drink for each participant. (However, versions that require each drinker to down three drinks also exist). Rather than drinking more than your opponent, the object of Down the Hatch is to drink the same amount, but faster. It requires a minimum of three people – two drinkers and a caller. The drinkers both start with their hands placed flat, palm down, on the table equidistant from the drinks. The caller cues them in with "3-2-1-Down the Hatch!"

- All drinkers make an initiative check to see who can grab a mug fastest.
- Each drinker must hit a simple target to grab the drink without spilling it. Failure indicates the character knocks the drink over, pours it down themselves and so on.
- Each drinker then checks Constitution to get the drink down without choking.
- The winner is the first person to successfully get the drink down their throat. If more than one gets it down, the person with the highest initiative is the winner.

HAZARD

Hazard is just one of many popular tavern dice games. It is played with two six-sided dice by any number of players. The person who has the dice is called the caster.

Bets are between the caster and the house, which is normally the player to the caster's right.

To start, the caster and the bank place their bets. After the first throw, the caster wins if she rolls her chance before her main, and has the option to increase her stake.

- Each round, she picks a number between 5 and 9 inclusive, called "the main" and throws the dice.
- If the caster rolls the main, she wins or "nicks" and can either take the pot or increase his stake (which the bank matches).

For other results, see the table below:

MAIN	NICKS (WINS)	THROWS OUT (LOSES)	CHANCE
5	5	2, 3, 11, 12	4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10
6	6, 12	2, 3, 11	4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10
7	7, 11	2, 3, 12	4, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10
8	8, 12	2, 3, 11	4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10
9	9	2, 3, 11, 12	4, 5, 7, 8, 10

- If the caster neither nicks nor "throws out," this roll is called the "chance" and he throws the dice again.
- If he rolls the chance again, he wins, but now if he rolls the main, he loses. If neither number is rolled, he keeps throwing until he rolls one or the other.
- The caster may keep playing until he loses or wins three times in a row when he must pass the dice to the player on his left who becomes the new caster.

OLD CRONE

An Old Crone is a painted wooden representation of the head of a nasty-looking witch or hag, with a clay pipe stuck in her mouth, sitting on top of a wooden pole. Players throw sticks at the crone to try to knock the clay pipe out of her mouth without knocking the head off the pole.

- Each player takes it in turn to throw their stick at the head.
- The clay pipe is small and relatively hard to hit.
- If the thrower misses the pipe, but hits an easier target, he hits the head. On an even-numbered attack roll, the head falls off and the player is eliminated from the game.

PITCH COIN

Pitch coin is a common game of skill in which the players take turns tossing a coin into a container (a small box, tankard and so on). Normally, each player throws the same value coin, but if the competitors agree otherwise each player may throw whatever denomination they wish.

- Each player in turn tosses a coin at the target. A hit indicates the player gets the coin in the container. A miss indicates he missed.
- The winner is the first to make five successful pitches and wins all the coins in the container.

RISE AND FALL

One of many common card games played in taverns, Rise and Fall is as much about luck and guesswork as skill. It is played with a standard pack of cards. The aim of the game is to successfully predict whether the value of the next card is higher or lower than the last card showing. For this game, an Ace counts as a one and a face card counts as a ten.

- The dealer deals 10 cards face down on the table, then turns the first over as a starting point. (Roll a d10 to determine each card's value, if cards are not available).
- Each player in turn makes their guess whether the next card is higher or lower and places their bet in the pot. The dealer turns over the next card and the players who guessed wrong drop out.
- The players repeat the previous step until no cards are left or until only one gambler remains. The winner(s) split the pot equally.

SNAIL RACING

Snail races take place on a circular "track," usually a damp cloth on a tavern table. The snails start in the middle and "race" to the edge of the circle, which is usually about 13 inches away. Races start with the shout "Ready! Steady! Slow!" The first snail to reach the edge is the winner. This usually takes several minutes. Snails are painted with racing numbers for easy identification and spectators place bets on the outcome and cheer on their snail to victory.

- Roll initiative for each snail at the start of the game.
- Each minute, roll 1d6-2 for each snail. This is the number of inches the snail moves towards the edge. Roll 1d8, to determine the direction in which the snail travels in the same manner as that used to determine a missed splash attack.
- Specially trained racing snails might have a better initiative modifier or move 1d6-1 inches each minute. These snails typically attract much shorter odds.

TOP THAT

A communal telling of tall tales, in Top That, each person tries to tell a stranger tale than the last, without going so far that someone declares "I don't believe you!"

Each tale-teller in turn must make an appropriate lying of performing check opposed by each listener's ability to detect tall-tales. A successful check indicates the listener believe the story; a failed check indicates the listener shouts out "I don't believe you!"

The game ends when no one can top the last tale with a better, yet believable one.

YARD OF ALE

A yard of ale is a very tall beer glass, wide at the top and with a bulb on the end; it holds two and a half pints. Contestants need to drink the ale or beer to empty the glass as fast as possible.

- Each contestant must check Constitution; highest roll wins.
- Dwarves, innkeepers and heavy drinkers get an advantage for their sates.

Yard Racing: In races featuring a yard of ale, use the rules for Down the Hatch.

GAMES TO PLAY: DRAGON AND THE THIEF

To play, Dragon and the Thief, each player needs two six-sided dice. The game is best played with three or more players.

Start: Before play begins, the players must decide what denomination of coin (copper, silver, gold or platinum) to wager. All players start by placing a coin of the relevant value on the number 7.

Who Goes First: The players all roll their dice. The player with the lowest score goes first. Thereafter, play passes to the left.

Playing: Each player rolls his dice. The result determines the player's action:

- 2 (The Thief): The player takes all the coins except those on number seven (The Hoard).
- 3, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10 or 11: The player checks the number for a coin. If a coin is there, the player takes it. If there is no coin the player puts one down on that number.
- 4: The player does nothing.
- 7 (The Hoard): The player puts a new coin on that number.
- 12 (The Dragon): The player takes all the coins on the board.

Play continues as long as the participants want to play; players can join or drop out at any time.

HOW TO USE DRAGON AND THE THIEF

The dragon and the Thief is a perfect game for PCs to play when relaxing in their favourite tavern. They can play it among themselves or try to win coins from the locals. Unlike some gambling games, a single round of Dragon and the Thief can go on for some time, but large amounts of money are rarely won or lost as each player usually only puts down or picks up one coin at a time.

A game of Dragon and the Thief is a great way to introduce new NPCs—normal locals, rival adventurers, thieves, rivals or even potential employers. A game of Dragon and the Thief is also the perfect backdrop for some impromptu information gathering.

GAMES TO PLAY: EVENTS

Not all games of Dragon and the Thief are uneventful. You can use these events on the table below to inject more excitement, conflict or opportunities into the game. Either choose a suitable event, or roll randomly:

D12

1	A drunk tavern patron stumbles and falls onto the table. Coins fly everywhere and drinks spill on the floor. The man is very drunk – and mumbles his apologies – but several of the players don't care and start shouting at him. In the meanwhile, other players scrabble about for the fallen coins, which provokes another argument as no one can agree on what coins were where and whose is whose. Unless the PCs calm the situation, the arguments rapidly spiral out of control and a brawl ensues.	7	One of the players, Avel the Jolly (CN male human rogue), is a petty thief. He is also very drunk and accidentally blurts out details of a major robbery happening tomorrow night in which a nobleman's town house will be targeted. The next day, his lifeless body is discovered in a nearby alley. His mouth and throat are full of tarnished copper coins.
2	Jarrick Hivel, an arrogant minor nobleman (or rich merchant), swaggers up to the table and demands to play. He sneers at the pitiful stakes on the board and demands the players raise the wager to a gold piece a throw. If the players refuse his demand, he belittles them, calls them ingrate scum and continues to be irritating until forced to leave.	8	An attractive, scantily clad lady of the night saunters over to the table and asks if any of the players would like some company. In reality, the woman (Katla N female human rogue) is a thief merely disguised as a prostitute to facilitate her pick pocketing (at which she is rather skilled). After getting close to her mark, she picks his purse, names an outrageous price for her services and then leaves when her offer is rebuffed.
3	One of the players suddenly realises that he has to urgently be somewhere else, but doesn't want to leave until someone has won the Dragon (rolls a 12). He gets increasingly irritated and exhorts his fellow gamblers to play quicker. If they ignore him, he gets increasingly agitated until he eventually just grabs a handful of coins and makes a run for it. Shockingly, the other players object and make a grab for the fleeing player. Chaos ensues.	9	One of the players is getting very friendly with another man's wife. The two sit close together, cuddle and generally seem smitten with one another. All seems to be going well until the woman's husband turns up at the tavern and see the two canoodling. He storms over to the table and a loud (and potentially) violent argument breaks out. Unless the PCs intervene, the men quickly fall to blows, which upsets the table and could potentially lead to a full-scale brawl!
4	The game is proceeding peacefully until a devout cleric of a lawful god enters the tavern, sees the game and proceeds to sermonise loudly about the evils of gambling. Some of the players tell him to shut up, but he persists. The cleric, Fabius Drusu (LG male human cleric), is a reformed gambler and preaches with the conviction of a convert. Unless the PCs convince him to go away (treat him as hostile towards them) he ruins the game. Shortly after his arrival, the other players start to drift away to seek entertainment elsewhere.	10	One of the players has epic delusions of grandeur because he was slightly involved in an adventure many years ago. The man (Lothair of Dol N male human warrior) loves to tell people about it and when he discovers the PCs are adventurers he launches into a long and convoluted story about his own heroics. Sadly, many of the other players have heard the story repeatedly and they beg him to shut up. Undeterred he continues to tell the story as long as the PCs feign interest.
5	A player spills a full drink across the table, which messes up the board and displaces several coins. No one can agree on where the coins were in the first place; an argument ensues.	11	One of the players rolls the dice a little too violently and they bounce off the table onto the floor and under a chair. Sadly, a monkey (which is also the wizard Anhuri of Nekham's familiar) lurks under the chair. It grabs the dice and makes off with it, running away under chairs, over tables and eventually up into the rafters where it sits nibbling on its prize. Anhuri (NE male half-elf wizard [evoker]) is very protective of his familiar and does not allow any harm to come to it. The PCs must come up with a nonviolent way of coaxing the monkey down, abandon the game or make a powerful enemy.
6	Several of the players have finished their drinks, but don't want to get up and lose their place at the table. They ask an observer to get them drinks and he readily agrees. The man getting the drinks, however, is a malicious trickster and he adds powdered herb to one or more of the beers. Half an hour later several of the players experience violent stomach cramps.	12	The game is proceeding as normal when a small patrol of watchmen burst into the tavern. They are searching for a petty criminal who may (or may not) be in the establishment. Their searching and questioning are rough – the thief in question just mugged a nobleman's son – and PCs resisting or ignoring the watch's attention are detained for further questioning.

GAMES TO PLAY: PLAYERS

Along with the PCs, there are bound to be other players enjoying a game of Dragon and the Thief. The GM can invent such folk as necessary or use one or more of the NPCs listed below.

D12

1	Barita Kildann (LN female dwarf fighter): Desperate to raise funds to pay for her passage home, Barita has resorted to gambling – something she abhors. All the way through the game she makes sarcastic remarks about the dice, other players and the foolishness of humans. If the PCs discuss an upcoming adventure or journey that is in the general direction of her homeland she offers to accompany them. She is trustworthy and brave, but somewhat racist.
2	Solalith Evdrearn (CE male elf fighter/wizard): Solalith capitalises on the misconception that all elves are good. He is a relentless – and merciless – gambler who delights in creating discourse and rancour. He argues the rules, nudges the board to displace coins and so on.
3	Miro Giantbasher (CG male halfling fighter): Cheerful, half-drunk and flush with cash Miro has been carousing and gambling for almost three days. He is exhausted and keeps falling asleep in the middle of the game. Empty mugs litter the table and floor around his chair. He is a ripe target for a pick pocket or mugging.
4	Oggor Skull-Splitter (CN male half-orc barbarian): Oggor is not terribly bright and doesn't really understand the rules of Dragon and the Thief. He constantly asks for rules clarifications, gets distracted and ogles any nearby attractive women. Shockingly, he has lost quite a lot of cash and is getting more and more irate.
5	Taneli Keto (N male human expert): Obsessed with one of the players at the table (either male or female) Taneli is playing the game simply to be near the object of his lusts. Although he thinks he has hidden his feelings, the object of his desires is very aware of his interest, but sadly does not reciprocate the feelings.
6	Kaari Ojanen (CN female human commoner): Attractive and vivacious, Kaari loves the thrill of gambling and thinks the other players enjoy her company. She wears a low-cut top and enjoys the reaction it provokes among the other players. She likes free drinks and is charm personified if she thinks she can get something out of her fellow players.
7	Aevar the Flat-Nosed (NG male human barbarian/fighter): A stranger in town, Aevar arrived as a caravan guard and has been busily spending his wages for the last few weeks. He's down to his last 10 gp and is looking for a new job. He asks everyone playing (and anyone watching) if they know of any such openings. He is friendly and a good drinking companion.

8	Khai Desouk (N male human wizard [conjurer]): Khai is horribly burnt and wears a cowled cloak at all times. He is searching for Anhuri of Nekham, and has been for almost a year. Several years ago, one of Anhuri's experiments went badly wrong and Khai was horribly burnt as a result. He now seeks revenge and has heard that Anhuri sometimes drinks here. A pleasant man, he is nevertheless bitter and resentful and – where Anhuri is concerned – has an impressive mean streak.
9	Ivo Njars (N male human expert): Ivo is an expert gambler and a skilled cardsharp. He only plays Dragon and the Thief to identify talentless idiots with a lot of money to lose. If he spots a likely candidate, he invites him to a private "gambling emporium" where Ivo promises he will be looked after. He drinks little and is only friendly to those he thinks he can fleece. He keeps away from other skilled gamblers and reveals little of his personal life.
10	Roza Vagoth (NG female human expert): Roza is at the end of her tether. Several months ago, her husband, Sigdag, was slain while serving in the watch. He left Roza with six children to feed and almost no savings. She sits quietly throughout the game, not making eye contact with her fellow players. In truth, she is worried sick and anyone expressing genuine interest in her plight is easily able to wring the details of her troubles from her. Roza is also a skilled seamstress and has been trying to start up a respectable business – thus far with little success.
11	Filimer son of Huml (LN male human fighter): A mercenary warrior from the west, Filimer's one vice is gambling. Now between jobs – but with gold to fritter away – he is considering giving up a mercenary's life and becoming an adventurer. While the risks are much greater, so are the rewards and Filimer dreams of returning to his home village and building a grand house. If the PCs discuss an adventure while playing, he seeks them out later and offers to join their group – for a decent share of the profits of course!
12	Pekko Mustonen (N male half-elf bard) Pekko is scheduled to sing later at the tavern and is simply killing time until his performance. He is well groomed but obviously not particularly wealthy. He only gambles with copper and silver, but has a good eye for people. If the PCs are obviously adventurers, he makes certain to flatter them and asks to hear about their exploits. Later during his performance, he flatters the PCs and tells the crowd of their adventures – portraying them as his close friends. Afterwards, he approaches the PCs and waxes lyrical about his "financial difficulties."

BARROOM BRAWLS: RUNNING A BRAWL

When planning to run a barroom brawl, a GM should not view it as a normal combat. After all, the chances of anyone getting killed are pretty slim; instead a barroom brawl is a chance to relax and have a fun fight that “doesn’t really matter” in the grand scheme of things.

A barroom brawl comprises several distinct phases:

- Brawl Trigger: Brawls just don’t start for no reason – although to those not paying attention it may seem that way. Consider using the Brawl Trigger table to determine why the brawl starts. Alternatively, the brawl can have a campaign-specific purpose such as introducing a band of rival adventurers, getting the PCs into trouble with the Watch, acting as an adventure hook and so on.
- Brawl Events: Brawls are crazy affairs; use the Brawl Events table to add flavour to the fight. Determine what strange event happens in any given round of combat and describe it to the PCs at the appropriate point. Not only do these events give flavour to the brawl, many also give the PCs important clues about how they can interact with the taproom’s environment and other brawlers.

- Brawl Aftermath: A barroom brawl is a great way to let off steam, but does the fight have any consequences for the PCs? You can decide these consequences based on the PCs’ actions or you can roll on the Brawl Aftermath table. When rolling on this table remember that many of the brawl’s participants are not used to battle (even nonlethal battle) and so their perception of events may not sync with the PCs’ recollections (or, indeed, reality). Thus, the PCs might get blamed for starting the fight or even for an accidental death that had nothing to do with them!

A BRAWL ROUND BY ROUND

Barroom brawls often have dozens of participants – running such a fight “properly” – rolling initiative, making attack and damage rolls and so on for each individual will bring the game to a juddering halt. Rather, concentrate on describing the general flow of battle using the Brawl Event table to highlight notable events in any given round.

BARROOM BRAWLS: BRAWL TRIGGERS

Many events can trigger a barroom brawl: a gambler can be caught cheating, two men may argue over a woman, someone may spill another's pint or simmering animosity may suddenly boil over into violence. A GM can simply determine the brawl's trigger or roll on the table below.

D20	BRAWL TRIGGER
1-2	A group gamble at a table. One of the group is accused of cheating, but denies the charge. He refuses to return his winnings and a brawl quickly ensues.
3	A drunk staggers against a table sending the drinks upon it flying. Those around the table attack the drunk, furious at his clumsiness. The drunk's friends leap to his aid...
4	An argument erupts at one table and quickly several patrons are fighting. The brawl is a diversion; one of the other customers (perhaps even a PC) is marked for assassination and while the fight distracts witnesses the assassin strikes.
5	A pickpocket fails spectacularly to lift a purse. The owner notices and tries to grab the thief. He twists out of the man's hands but falls into a nearby table, smashing it and spilling all the drinks on it.
6	A drunk man staggers to the bar and demands more ale. The barkeep refuses and the man gets belligerent. A regular steps in to defuse the situation and the drunk attacks him. As the regular staggers back, he knocks over another man who leaps to his feet enraged. From there, the chaos quickly spreads...
7	A prostitute moves around the tavern seeking business. Two drunken men begin to argue over who should enjoy the pleasure of her company first. She draws the two men into a brief bidding war, which ends with one smashing a flagon over the others head.
8	A server weaves through the taproom with a full tray of drinks. However, when she sets it down, two groups of drinkers claim that the drinks are for them. Both groups are drunk and the ensuing argument turns violent.
9	A server delivers a drink to a table, but the (drunk) patron refuses to pay. After a short argument, the drunk pushes her away and she falls. Several regulars take exception to this and move to punish the drunk. Others intervene and an epic brawl quickly breaks out.
10	A small contingent of the Watch enter the tavern and start to belligerently search for a fugitive last seen nearby. The search angers many of the regulars and eventually one hurls a flagon at a guard in protest. As the guards attempt to apprehend their attacker other patrons join in. Inevitably, some of the missiles hit other patrons and a confused melee breaks out.
11	An old beggar enters the taproom and moves from table to table begging for spare coins and food. A few patrons give him their scraps but one shouts and curses at him before pushing him away. As the beggar falls to the floor, several other patrons move to help him and remonstrate with his attacker. Unsurprisingly, the attacker does not take kindly to their opinions and an argument quickly develops. Eventually, it leads to violence. After the brawl, there is no sign of the beggar.
12			Two drunken patrons (one a huge warrior) are dancing (very badly) when one of them trips and falls. The other trips over the first and lands in the lap of a courting couple. Wine gets spilled all over the couple, which enrages the woman. She smashes an empty flagon over the head of her "attacker." By that point, the first dancer has regained his feet and totters over to aid his friend.
13			Two men standing at the bar begin to push and shove each other. They inevitably bump into other patrons and matters go downhill rapidly thereafter.
14			A man weaves his way through the crowd carrying two handfuls of drinks. Suddenly, he trips and the drinks go flying. He is quickly to his feet, accusing a nearby customer of deliberately tripping him. Meanwhile, the three men he has just drenched in beer decide to teach him a lesson.
15			A customer drops his belt pouch and gold and silver coins tumble to the floor. As he tries to retrieve his wealth, other nearby customers scramble to grab the coins. Almost immediately, several fights break out.
16			Two groups of rival warriors or workmen are drinking heavily in the taproom. As they get drunker the two groups exchange insults. Veiled at first, they become more demeaning as the alcohol flows. Eventually, a fight breaks out between the two groups; innocent bystanders get dragged into the melee.
17			Four toughs have been bribed to beat up a customer. They enter the bar, buy drinks and take a table close to their target. They wait until their target is drunk before pouncing. Other customers go to the target's aid and a general melee ensues.
18			A man buying drinks at the bar believes he has been short-changed. The barkeep denies the charge and refuses to pay up. The customer reaches across the bar and tries to grab some coins. Several regulars leap to the barkeep's aid. Seeing this, the customer's friends come to his aid.
19			Two men get into an argument over a woman sitting nearby. As they begin to fight, other patrons gather round to watch. Soon, however, one of the men knocks another customer over and the chaos soon spreads. (Alternatively two women can argue over a man).
20			A fleeing man bursts through the tavern's door and rushes through the taproom knocking over chairs, spilling drinks and so on. Patrons leap to their feet in indignation. Moments later, a small group of guards enter the tavern and try to follow the man. Chaos ensues as the guards try to force their way through a crowd of angry patrons.

BARROOM BRAWLS: BRAWL EVENTS

Barroom brawls are chaotic affairs and the most bizarre events can occur during them. Some are to be expected, the innkeeper calling for the watch or opportunistic thieves trying to steal unattended wagers, while others are completely unexpected: tables collapse, kegs of beer spring leaks and chandeliers fall. In the most deadly brawls, fires can accidentally start that if left unchecked can destroy the tavern.

Every round of a brawl, roll on the table below to determine the brawl event before describing it colourfully.

D%	BRAWL EVENT
01-40	No event of note.
41-50	The innkeeper calls loudly for the Watch.
51-52	A brawler tips over a table. Atop the table lies a small pile of coins — the pot of some game now unattended. 2d20 cp and 2d10 sp clatter to the floor. Nearby brawlers dive for the coins and try to gather up as many as possible.
53-55	A brawler kicks over a bench, chair or table. The next person who isn't a PC, to move through the square trips over it and falls prone.
56-59	A brawler tries to punch a target, misses and smashes a beer keg. Beer gushes out, creating a 15 ft. cone of slick floor, creating slippery terrain. The innkeeper wails at this unfortunate event.
60-61	A random brawler hurls a flagon or chair at a PC.
62-64	A small contingent of the Watch arrive to break up the brawl. They use nonlethal attacks to subdue the brawlers, beating them with the ends of their spears. Brawlers fight to get away from the Watch as no one wants to get arrested.
65-66	A brawler leaps onto the bar and starts to kick half-full flagons of beer into the melee. Every time he scores a hit he shouts in triumph.
67-68	Someone shouts that the Watch is coming. At that, many of the combatants make a break for the nearest exit. The area around the front and back doors of the tavern get congested as patrons fight each other to get away.
69-70	One brawler throws another 1d2 x 5 ft. onto a chair or table. The piece of furniture collapses and the thrown brawler lands prone.
71	Somehow, high-strength alcohol (such as brandy) lands in the fire. All combatants within 5 ft. suffer damage as the fire sparks and spits.
72-74	The innkeeper (or other staff member) is attacked by a brawler. The innkeeper shouts for help; if a PC assists him, he gets free board and lodgings for one week.
75-76	Three brawlers gang up on another patron and quickly kick him to the floor. They beat him unconscious in two rounds before moving onto another target.

77-79	Desperate to escape the violence, a patron dives under a table and screams for help. The man is well dressed and gives his rescuer a reward of 2 gp.
80-82	Skirting the violence, a patron moves from table to table, stealing coins, downing drinks and so on. After three rounds of this, he is spotted and attacked by irate patrons.
83	A large brawler picks up a bench and belts nearby targets with it. Once he has knocked unconscious a few other brawlers, the rest avoid him and so he goes in search of new targets. He settles on the nearest PC.
84-85	A female patron jumps onto the back of a brawler and starts hitting him over the head with a flagon. It smashes, blinding him for one round with ale. In the next round, he pulls her off and throws her to the floor.
86-87	A table collapses dumping the patron on it onto the floor. The patron falls prone.
88	A patron dives behind the bar and grabs several bottles or brandy or other expensive beverage. On the next round, he makes a break for the door clutching his prizes.
89	The fight spills out into the street as several brawlers fall through the tavern's door.
90	A brawler is thrown through a window or door into the street. Three rounds later, the Watch arrives.
91	Amid the chaos, a thief rifles the pouch of a fallen brawler. If no one stops him, he moves onto his next mark. If accosted, he flees.
92	A patron lies slumped over a table. Underneath the table, his hound barks ferociously and tries to bite anyone entering an adjacent square.
93	A brawler staggers out of the melee, blood dripping from a nasty scalp wound (caused by a broken bottle). He screams in agony and flails about looking for assistance.
94	A brawler stands over his unconscious foe. The two are hated enemies; the brawler gives his fallen foe a good kicking. If no one intervenes, he eventually kills his enemy.
95-96	A brawler takes this opportunity to knife an enemy. He draws a dagger and tries to stab him in the back.
97-98	A brawler tries to grab the tavern's ready cash before fleeing. The barkeep notices this attempt and screams for help before attempting to apprehend the thief. There is a 50% chance that any patron grabbing the thief tries to steal some of the money himself.
99	Fire! Flames from a knocked over torch or similar fire source catch on a tapestry, straw covering the floor and so on. Unless extinguished, the fire advances 5 ft. every second round. Characters in the fire suffer fire damage and catch on fire.
100	GM's discretion — something truly bizarre happens; the floor collapses, chickens escape from the kitchen etc.

BARROOM BRAWLS: AFTERMATH

Although often fun and exhilarating, barroom brawls can have nasty consequences for the participants. Unlike battles against invading orcs, barroom brawls are not often looked on kindly by the authorities.

This table presents possible consequences for the PCs. A GM should tailor these consequences to suit the overall flow of the campaign. For example, if you have an adventure ready to run in a distant town have the PCs blamed for the brawl and be forced to flee town. Alternatively, you can use the brawl to both introduce an NPC and to set him up as a reoccurring character in your campaign – perhaps he'll one day have a job for the PCs or be able to render them assistance. Alternatively, he may become an enemy or foil of the PCs.

Of course, a tavern brawl can also be an isolated incident and have no impact on the PCs once they have recovered.

D20 BRAWL AFTERMATH

1-2	No consequence of note.
3	The PCs are blamed for starting the brawl and the Watch begins to search for them. Unless someone was killed in the brawl, the Watch does not search too diligently – after all the adventurers are heavily armed; rather the Watch hope the PCs take the hint and leave town.
4	The taproom is severely damaged by the brawl and consequently the tavern shuts for 1d2 weeks for repairs and renovations.
5	The taproom is so badly damaged that the current tavern owner cannot afford the repairs. The tavern shuts and the owner puts it up for sale.
6	A brawler develops a grudge against the PCs. This can manifest itself as nothing more than name-calling and the occasional instigation of other brawls, but it can also take on a more sinister aspect. The brawler can spy on the PCs, bad mouth them to friends and suppliers and could even end up working for one of their enemies.
7	During the fight, one of the PCs loses a minor magical item such as a potion or scroll. They don't discover it is missing until they try to use the item.
8	The owner or innkeeper blames the PCs for the brawl and seeks to reclaim damages from them for broken furniture, loss of earnings and so on. He claims 40 gp and if the PCs decline to pay he refuses to serve them or allow them to stay in his establishment. Optionally, other taverns hearing of the PCs' reputation also refuse to serve them.
9	One of the PCs' enemies masterminded the brawl either so he could get a better feel for their fighting styles, as an attempt to get them into trouble with the local authorities or simply to slow them down. Consequently, his agents report interesting and useful information about the PCs' fighting styles.

10	One of the other brawlers – rightly or wrongly – feels that one of the PCs helped him in the fight. He is very grateful and offers them some small help in return. He can offer them shelter, provide local information or perform other minor tasks. Alternatively, he may have contacts in town who can offer the PCs greater assistance – access to magic items, esoteric lore or individuals of influence.
11	A member of the opposite sex believes the PC saved him or her during the brawl. The NPC develops a crush on the PC and begins to peruse the PC. The NPC is always in the taproom when the PCs are in the taproom and finds excuses to talk with them.
12	A NPC of note saw how the PCs fought during the brawl and was impressed with their prowess. After the brawl, he approaches to offer them a job – perhaps he is about to embark on a long journey and needs bodyguards or he offers them a job that leads to the next adventure.
13	Someone dies during the brawl and the PCs are sought for questioning. As long as they cooperate, the Watch takes their statement and does not bother them further. If they refuse to cooperate, hide or try to make a run for it, the Watch concludes they have something to hide.
14	One of those caught up in the brawl is an off-duty member of the Watch. He remembers the PCs and depending on how they acted during the fight could be a good friend or irritating foil in the future. As a friend, he can waive gate taxes, overlook minor misdemeanours and so on. As a foil, he looks for reasons to get them into trouble.
15	The brawl was a cover for a robbery. A nobleman or merchant in the bar at the time of the brawl has a precious object stolen and wants it back. He believes the PCs innocent of the theft and asks them to retrieve it. Asset rich, but cash poor he offers them the deeds to a small rundown castle on a distant estate in exchange for the item's return.
16	The barkeep believes the PCs did all they could to help him during the brawl. He is very grateful and gets them round after round of free drinks during their next visit. He becomes their good friend and always serves them quickly and well. On the downside, if another brawl starts he expects them to help him calm things down.
17	The barkeep is so impressed with one of the PC's prowess that he offers him a job as a doorman. Pay is 3 sp a night and all the cheap ale he can drink.
18	After the brawl, the PCs find a small item – perhaps a map or key – that will be useful in their next adventure.
19-20	Immediately after the brawl, a PC spots a small belt pouch under an overturned table. The pouch contains 23 sp and 14 gp. Of the owner, there is no sign.

SAMPLE TAVERNS

This supplement provides twenty ready to use inns and taverns for your campaign. Each entry includes a general description of the establishment, information on the staff and the services on offer, notable patrons and events or hooks to use when the PCs visit. The presented establishments fill many niches from those offering low-brow, raucous entertainment to others offering the very best in fine dining.

Most, if not all, of the taverns and inns herein should be suitable for almost any GM's campaign although, obviously, a GM may need to make minor changes and tweaks to fit it seamlessly into his world. Using these taverns, along with any necessary modifications, can help the GM bring his game world to life. Taverns are great places to meet people, learn about current events and rumours and to experience the culture of the place in which a PC finds himself. There's a reason so many adventures start in taverns, after all!

As few PCs own their home, or are often far away from it, they often spend an inordinate amount of time in taverns making this a particularly valuable supplement for GMs whose campaign ranges over a wide area.

RATINGS

To make it easy to see at a glance if an establishment is suitable for a particular locale, each of the taverns and inns in this supplement appear on the table below. The table includes information on where a tavern is best located, basic notes on the most common type of clientele the PCs can meet there and whether it offers accommodation. Furthermore, the table presents a ranking system for the quality and price of the establishment's offering.

For quality, the following rating system suffices:

- One Star: Establishment is of poor quality.
- Three Stars: Establishment is of common quality.
- Five Stars: Establishment is of excellent quality.

For prices, use the following ratings:

- One Star: Establishment has cheap prices.
- Three Stars: Establishment has average prices.
- Five Stars: Establishment has high prices.

ESTABLISHMENT	QUALITY	PRICE	ACCOMMODATION	LOCALE	CLIENTELE
Cock and Bull, the			Yes	Rural	Travellers
Crossed Axes, the			Yes	Urban	Dwarves, real ale lovers
Dancing Satyr, the			No	Urban	Live entertainment lovers
Dirty Weasel, the			No	Urban	Neophyte adventurers, wizards
Hammer and Tongs, the		*	No	Urban	Craftsmen
Huntsman's Rest, the	*	*	Yes	Rural	Trappers, hunters, adventurers
Lady Luck's	*	*	No	Urban	Gamblers
Laughing Gull, the			No	Urban (docks)	Criminals, dockworkers
Lazy Badger, the			No	Rural	Gnomes, halflings, travellers
Lucky Catch, the			No	Urban (docks)	Fishermen, seafood lovers
Merry Mermaid, the			Yes	Urban (docks)	Sailors, smugglers
Pilgrim's Rest, the		*	Yes	Rural	Pilgrims
Royal Swan, the			No	Urban	Nobles and the wealthy
Saucy Sylph, the			Yes	Urban	Gamblers
Silver Unicorn, the	*		Yes	Urban	Elves, merchants, travellers
Wand and Scroll, the		*	No	Urban	Wizards
Warm Welcome Inn, the			Yes	Rural	Travellers
Weary Camel, the			Yes	Rural	Merchants, travellers
Wily Fox, the	*	*	No	Urban	Young nobles, wizards
Wyvern's Head Inn, the			Yes	Urban	Adventurers

SAMPLE TAVERN: COCK AND BULL, THE

The Cock and Bull is a popular roadside inn, providing a handy stopover for couriers and other travellers on the road between two major cities. Weary wayfarers can enjoy a hot meal, an ale or two, and a good night's rest here before venturing forth the next morning.

The inn is a long two-storey wooden building with a thatched roof. The large courtyard at the front has good-sized stables along one side where fresh horses can be purchased and a farrier is on hand to replace any damaged horseshoes. Inside, the ground floor has a low ceiling of wooden beams, and is divided into several small bars and snugs where travellers can relax in front of a warming fire. The yellowing plaster walls are decorated with post horns, leather satchels, wagon wheels and other objects in a similar vein. A gentle hubbub of amiable conversation can usually be heard throughout the bars, and occasionally a wandering minstrel might play a tune or two.

STAFF

The Cock and Bull has the following notable staff members:

- Fosco Greenbottle (LG male halfling commoner) is the fussy, curly-haired halfling landlord of the Bull. He took over the Bull when it had a lousy reputation and is determined to continue to build on his recent successes.
- Odila (NG female human commoner) is short, rotund and formidable. She is in charge of the serving staff and makes sure they are always friendly and welcoming.
- Radulf (N male human expert) runs the stables. He is taciturn and brawny, but has a great affinity with horses and much prefers their company to people.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Cock and Bull has several patrons of note:

- Bourchier (N male human rogue) is a highwayman who holds up travellers on the road at crossbow-point. Handsome and cocky, with long wavy, blond hair, wearing a puffy white shirt and black leather breeches, he sits drinking with his feet on the table.
- Leoda (N female human expert) is an experienced courier, carrying important messages from one city to another. Introverted and unsociable, she has short-cropped hair and is wearing worn riding clothes and boots. Her leather satchel never leaves her side.

FOOD & DRINKS

The Bull has a good reputation for its food. The offering includes:

	PRICE
Catchpole's Old Irregular (tankard)	8 cp
Mead	5cp
Meal, common	3 sp
Rabbit simmered in red wine	1sp
Roast goose with mashed swede and carrots	2 sp

ACCOMMODATION

Two-dozen comfortable single rooms are available on the upper floor (7 sp).

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Cock and Bull may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Robbery Most Foul: The PCs are enjoying a drink when Aaron (LN male human expert), a mud-stained coachman, bursts into the taproom. He tells of being ambushed on the road by bandits who robbed him and his passengers of all their valuables. They have pushed his coach into a ditch and are amusing themselves with the passengers. Aaron begs for help. Surprisingly, Bourchier volunteers to accompany the PCs – such brigands on “his patch” are bad for business.
- Thieves: An unscrupulous merchant is determined to prevent rival trade contracts that Leoda is carrying reach their destination, and has hired a pair of experienced thieves to steal her satchel. The PCs witness the attempted theft.

SAMPLE TAVERN: CROSSED AXES, THE

The Crossed Axes is run by, and for, dwarves, serving as a home away from home for dwarven visitors to the city and for those residents who want to spend time among their own kind. Although there is nothing to stop members of other races from popping in for a drink, they rarely do.

The entrance to the inn is a stone archway, marked with a wooden sign depicting two crossed dwarven waraxes. Beyond, a flight of stone steps leads down to the large cellar bar. Humans and other tall folk need to watch out for the low beam, lest they bash their heads on it when entering (among locals this is known as the “the Crossed Axes’ welcome”).

Carved stone pillars hold up the ceiling, and finely wrought shields adorn the walls. Behind the long bar is the best selection of dwarven ales outside of the Cloudpeaks, and there are half a dozen alcoves opposite where patrons can enjoy some solitude or privacy.

STAFF

The Crossed Axes has the following notable staff members:

- Bardolph Rockheart (LG male dwarf expert), a dour pessimist with a short-cropped and neat jet black beard, is the owner and landlord of the Crossed Axes. Bardolph is trying to brew his own dwarven stout but the local river water “just isn’t the same as back home.”
- Ingel (LG female dwarf commoner), Bardolph’s long-suffering wife, waits tables and keeps the place clean and tidy. She accepts no nonsense.
- Sandor Ironkettle (NG male dwarf commoner) does the cooking. He is dour and hates customers “invading” his kitchen.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Crossed Axes has several patrons of note:

- Holgin Forgestoker (LG male dwarf expert) is an irritable bald-headed weaponsmith with an elaborately braided red beard and heavily calloused hands. He is taciturn in the extreme, but highly skilled.

- Mabrin Glimmersten (NG female dwarf cleric), dedicated and determined cleric of the Forge God, is in the city to hire some stout dwarven warriors for an important mission. She has had no luck so far but will approach any likely candidates entering the bar.

FOOD & DRINKS

The Crossed Axes serves simple, plain food including:

	PRICE
Anvil Brew, mug	7 cp
Cavern Stout, mug	10 cp
Ham and mixed greens	2 sp
Meal, poor	1 sp
Mutton and mushroom stew	15 cp
Stone bread, made from imported lichen flour	5 cp

ACCOMMODATION

Five clean but basic private rooms are available for 1 gp per night.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs’ visit to the Crossed Axes may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- New Batch: Bardolph decides to tap a barrel of his new ale. He has tried a slightly different recipe and is excited to see if he has finally created the perfect dwarven stout. This has become a semi-regular occurrence in the taproom and the patrons fall quiet as he pours the first pint. Although, Bardolph is not satisfied with the new brew, his patrons love it.
- Quest: The legendary dwarven urgosh, Trollslayer (from So What’s the Weapon Like, Anyway?), has been stolen from the tomb of King Odvin Hammerschlag, and a dwarven cleric staying at the Crossed Axes is looking to hire a band of adventurers to help her recover it.

SAMPLE TAVERN: DANCING SATYR, THE

The Dancing Satyr is a rowdy, popular tavern located in the city's lively Riverside District. Good quality food and drinks are sold at reasonable prices, but it's the nightly entertainment that brings in the punters.

Despite being tucked away down a back street, the Satyr is easy to find thanks to the loud music, laughter, cheers and jeers coming from inside. The building is unassuming from the outside, and inside isn't much better: the décor is shabby, the makeshift tables are made from bits of wood nailed to the top of old barrels and the floor is covered in sawdust to soak up spilt wine.

Against one wall is a simple wooden stage on which a wide variety of performers appear each evening. The entertainment is free and always brings in a crowd – many of the city's most famous singers, musicians and poets got their big break after performing here. A typical bill might include several musicians, a puppet show, a juggler, a satirical poet and a singing dog. The good get free drinks and food, and plenty of cheers; the bad get pelted with bread rolls and beer.

STAFF

The Dancing Satyr has the following notable staff members:

- Amara (NG female half-elf bard) is an aspiring musician. She is scatter-brained, but extremely attractive. Tactile, she is a firm favourite of many of the male patrons. She wears ornate hairclips to manage her long, slightly curly hair and loves to receive flowers from admirers. There are always several bouquets behind the bar.
- Hibran (NG male human bard) is an aspiring musician, who is working here to make some extra coin by serving drinks and food between performances. Hibran is bursting with ambition, but is frustrated by all the attention lavished on Amara (which he doesn't believe she deserves).
- Kerran Fairfield (NG human male bard/expert) owns the Dancing Satyr and acts as Master of Ceremonies. He is tubby, camp and fond of colourful, glittery clothing. A showman through and through, he closes every night's bill with a tipsy rendition of "Lads and Lasses," to the accompaniment of the crowd.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Dancing Satyr has several patrons of note:

- Bavo Roddleberry (N male gnome expert) is an impresario looking for performers to appear in the play he is staging. Charming but greedy, he makes sure he comes out on top in any business deal.
- Marette (CG female human aristocrat) has sneaked out from under her noble father's beady eye to come and see the handsome bard, Alaric Micheri, perform.

FOOD & DRINKS

The most popular items on the Dancing Satyr's menu include:

	PRICE
Bardic Inspiration ale, pint	6 cp
Fruity white wine, bottle	3 gp
Honey-glazed roast chicken wings	2 sp
Meal, common	3 sp
Onion and cheese omelettes	1 sp

ACCOMMODATION

None available.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Dancing Satyr may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Hecklers: Freyja Sparrow (N female half-elf bard), a talented and beautiful harpist, can't make herself heard on stage over the rowdy students from the College of Magic. Kerran asks the PCs to go over and tell them to keep their voices down.
- Harassed Bard: Alaric Micheri (N male elf bard) is having trouble with his over-enthusiastic female fans. He begs the PCs to help him slip away quietly at the end of his performance by creating some kind of distraction. He laments to the PCs that he has a hard life.

SAMPLE TAVERN: DIRTY WEASEL, THE

Home from home for students at the College of Magic, young nobles slumming it for the evening and neophyte adventurers, the Dirty Weasel is a cheap and raucous back street tavern in the centre of the city.

The pub is a tall, narrow, two-storey building, sandwiched between a bakery and a candlemaker's shop. The swinging sign depicts a lascivious-looking, drunken weasel wearing a tricorn hat. Inside, the crowded taproom is long and thin, with a low ceiling and only a few bar stools in the way of furniture. A flight of stairs at the back leads up to the first floor; here, there are several rooms with tables and chairs, each usually packed out with groups of friends from early evening. The walls on both floors are decorated with dusty old College memorabilia.

The atmosphere is convivial, if drunken, with much friendly rivalry and banter between the different student houses at the College of Magic, noble factions and various rookie adventuring bands. This often turns into impromptu contests of prestidigitation, arm wrestling, drinking or a combination of all three.

STAFF

The Dirty Weasel has the following notable staff members:

- Mazran Draker (CG male half-elf expert/wizard [universalist]) is a jolly, well-fed fellow who was sent down from the College of Magic for slipshod spellcasting and poor attendance at lectures. He owns and runs the Dirty Weasel.

Mazran is assisted behind the bar by various student wizards trying to earn a few extra silver pieces to pay for their spellbooks.

- Aelliah Kaneltyn (NG female elf wizard [transmuter]) tries to play the part of the aloof elven maiden, but often forgets herself. Far more advanced than most students, she was sent here by her racist father to study at the College of Magic and to see for herself the depravity of human civilisation. Sadly, for her father, she is rather enjoying herself.
- Pirjo Rantanen (CN female human wizard [evoker]) is fiery, unpredictable and a borderline alcoholic student studying at the College of Magic. She loves working at the Dirty Weasel.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Dirty Weasel has several patrons of note:

- Bruno Dunker (NG male human wizard [illusionist]) is a ruddy-complexioned, big-boned student with a mess of curly brown hair. He is failing Evocation and Abjuration and spends every night in the Weasel, getting drunk and entertaining his fellow students with his clever illusions.
- Salerith (LN female elf cleric), a mousy-looking, long-haired cleric of the Goddess of Magic, is looking for an adventuring band to join. She is an expert historian.

FOOD & DRINKS

There is no kitchen at the Weasel, but Mazran sells snacks from the next door bakery as well as various local speciality drinks:

	PRICE
Basilisk Brew	2 cp
Ham and cheese pies	5 cp
Meal, poor	1 sp
Red wine, pitcher	1 sp
Viperstrike Cider (extra strong), pint	5 cp

ACCOMMODATION

None available.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Dirty Weasel may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Adventurers Overheard: Bruno decides to play a prank on the adventurers. If he overhears their conversation, he waits until he hears them speaking about a fallen foe or specific type of creature. Later, he creates a minor illusion of a ghostly creature of the relevant type emerging from the party's table. Bruno (and his friends) find the ensuing chaos vastly amusing. He tells angry PCs to "calm down – it was a laugh."
- Wizardly Whispers: Rumours and gossip about the college and noble houses swirl among the drunken, indiscreet clientele. The latest news is that Oglander Trell (see The Wand and Scroll) is engaged to the Winter Queen's daughter after a misunderstanding, and Kouran of House Berenco is having an illicit affair with the noted bard Alaric Micheri (see the Dancing Satyr).

SAMPLE TAVERN: HAMMER AND TONGS, THE

This unpretentious tavern serves decent food and reasonably priced drinks to local craftsmen seeking to unwind at the end of a hard day's work. The pub is situated in the heart of the city's Guild District and is the type of establishment where everyone knows everyone else's name, meaning that newcomers tend to stand out from the crowd.

Unremarkable from the outside, there's nothing particularly noteworthy about the décor inside either, although the taproom is decorated with painted wooden badges of the various city guilds. It's rarely busy and the clientele tend to sit alone or in small groups, enjoying a quiet pint, a bite to eat and some friendly conversation over a game of table skittles or Pitch Coin.

All this changes when an inter-guild dispute flares up, turning the Hammer and Tongs into a battleground. The last one was between the Coopers and the Carpenters and led to a massive brawl, which broke every stick of furniture in the tavern.

STAFF

The Hammer and Tongs has the following notable staff members:

- Frida (N female human expert), Herk's short and stocky wife, cooks the food and helps serve drinks, using her waspish tongue to keep the patrons in line. She wears her hair up in bunches because she thinks it makes her look younger. Patrons commenting on her "youthful" looks gain preferential service (and possibly a free drink or two!)
- Herk One-Hand (LN male human expert) is the no-nonsense landlord of the Tongs. A former carpenter, Herk lost his hand in an unfortunate accident, forcing a career change. He tries to stay neutral in any inter-guild disagreements. For the most part he succeeds in this and, consequently, he is respected by most of his patrons (except, bizarrely, the Carpenter's Guild that see him as something of a traitor).
- Roke the Reckless (N male half-orc fighter), a towering, broken-nosed bouncer, is brought in to act as peacemaker when the guilds are at war. The patrons universally fear his hammer-like blows and his mere presence has been known to quell an impending brawl.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Hammer and Tongs has several patrons of note:

- Balrenna (N female human expert) is a gap-toothed, grey-haired old woman with hands stained reddish-brown from dyeing cloth. She likes a good gossip and is happy to chat to anyone buying drinks.
- Erner Flat-Nose (NG male dwarf expert) is a tattooed, red-haired shipwright and a fully paid up member of his guild. Business has not been good recently, and Erner grumbles to that the Carpenters' Guild is encroaching on his territory.

FOOD & DRINKS

The kitchen offers filling meals, served in generous portions. The offering includes:

	PRICE
Blacksmith's ale	2 cp
Black pudding with mashed turnips	6 cp
Meal, poor	1 sp
Vegetable stew with meatballs	4 cp

ACCOMMODATION

None available.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Hammer and Tongs may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Barroom Brawl: The PCs are looking for a particular craftsman who they have heard drinks in the Hammer and Tongs. Unfortunately, a full-fledged barroom brawl is underway when the PCs arrive.
- Gossip: Balrenna is thirsty and wants a drink. She decides the PCs are clearly gullible adventurer types and tries to get them to buy her drinks. In return, she tells them all she knows about local events, rumours and legends. The stories start out innocuous enough, but as she gets drunker they become more and more fantastical (and blatantly untrue). She tries to spin out the tales' telling as long as possible, and frequently stops for refreshment.

SAMPLE TAVERN: HUNTSMAN'S REST, THE

The Huntsman's Rest is a large inn situated at a well-travelled crossroads near the edge of a great forest. Popular with hunters, trappers and adventurers, it provides warm food, excellent ale and good company to those venturing into the wilderness.

The inn is a sturdily constructed three-storey wooden building, with sleeping accommodation and meeting rooms on the upper floors. Balconies with comfortable leather armchairs overlook the main taproom, which is dominated by a huge stone chimney and roaring fireplace, and decorated with hunting trophies. Many of these are mundane animal heads, such as elk and boar, but there are monsters too, including the three heads of a magnificent chimera mounted over the fireplace, and a stuffed girallon, which stands in one corner.

STAFF

The Huntsman's Rest has the following notable staff members:

- Cernon Eadbyrg (N male human ranger) is a retired hunter. Balding and out of shape, but still a towering figure of a man, Cernon likes to regale his customers with dramatic hunting tales.
- Emmi (NG female human expert) is Cernon's doting wife. She is an excellent cook with years of experience in preparing exotic meats.
- Irja and Saewen (CN female human rangers), the couple's daughters, serve drinks and food, but also bring in the fresh game served in the kitchen. They dress in hunting gear and take no nonsense from the customers. Both are attractive; of the two, Irja is far wilder than her sister.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Huntsman's Rest has several patrons of note:

- Barjik the Stubborn (CG male human expert) is a grizzled old fur trapper, visiting the Rest for a hot bath and a few ales before heading to the nearest town to sell his wares.
- Kanbrar (NE male half-elf ranger) is the current head of the local Huntsmen's Guild. Ruggedly handsome, with his blond hair tied in a ponytail, he seeks to impress any female PCs with his charms.

FOOD & DRINKS

The high quality food served at the Rest is dominated by game. House specialities include:

	PRICE
Dire Bear Drool (an amber ale), mug	8 cp
Forest grouse pie with fresh mushrooms	7 sp
Meal, good	5 sp
Spicy elk sausages	7 sp

ACCOMMODATION

Private one- or two-bed rooms cost 1 gp and 15 sp a night respectively. More trophies decorate the bedrooms, fur rugs keep patrons' feet warm and the chandeliers are made from antlers. Alternatively, bunk beds are available in the common room for 5 sp a night.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Huntsman's Rest may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Forbidden Pleasure: Irja takes a liking to one of the party and makes it very clear that she would like to spend the night with her chosen partner. She is attractive, passionate and without scruples. However, once the PCs have left, Cernon overhears her telling Saewen of her conquest. Outraged, he decides to avenge his daughter's honour – who was clearly bewitched in some way – and sets out after the PCs with a small band of hunter friends.
- Missing Adventurer: One of the first-floor meeting rooms is used exclusively for the Huntsmen's Guild's monthly meetings.

The locked wood-panelled chamber is decorated with stuffed goblin heads and trophies taken from other "undesirables" the Guild has hunted down and killed. The PCs may have come to the inn looking for a missing adventurer who fell foul of the Guild. The discovery of his embalmed head gazing down at them from the wall may lead the PCs to question the motives and morals of the local hunters.

SAMPLE TAVERN: LADY LUCK'S

Located in the poorest neighbourhood in town, Lady Luck's is a sleazy gambling hall and tavern that attracts desperate souls hoping to win big and get themselves out of a hole.

Lady Luck's can be spotted from some distance away because of its unique "sign" – three glass globes floating magically above the shabby entrance, glowing in ever-shifting colours. These spheres were given to the owner a few years ago by a hard-up wizard who couldn't pay his gambling debts. Inside the dingy low-ceilinged hall, local folk fritter away what little money they have at the scruffy-looking gaming tables, while drinking cheap beers and wine served by scantily clad hostesses. Games played include Rise and Fall (a card game), Hazard (a dice game) and a spinning wooden wheel of fortune, and are rigged to ensure the house always comes out on top.

STAFF

The Lady Luck's has the following notable staff members:

- Podrick Pendrell (NE male halfling rogue) runs Lady Luck's for its owner, the crime boss Orzo Gerozzo (see The Laughing Gull). This cowardly little fellow has yellowing, rotten teeth, bad breath and a greasy comb-over, which fails to cover his bald patch.
- Sylvana (CG female human expert), a talented singer whose career was cut short after a nasty robbery, spins the crooked wheel of fortune. Still very attractive, despite the scar across her throat, she longs to find honest employment elsewhere.

RISE AND FALL

One of many common card games played in taverns, Rise and Fall is as much about luck and guesswork as skill. It is played with a standard deck of cards. The aim of the game is to successfully predict whether the value of the next card is higher or lower than the last card showing. For this game, an Ace counts as a one and a face card counts as a ten.

- The dealer deals 10 cards face down on the table, then turns the first over as a starting point. (Roll a d10 to determine each card's value, if cards are not available).
- Each player in turn makes their guess whether the next card is higher or lower and places their bet in the pot. The dealer turns over the next card and the players who guessed wrong drop out.
- The players repeat the previous step until no cards are left or until only one gambler remains. The winner(s) split the pot equally.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Lady's Luck has several patrons of note:

- Averick (CN male human commoner) is a middle-aged widowed fisherman who has fallen in love with Sylvana. Kind-hearted and not bad looking, he squanders his earnings from the day's catch by placing bets he never wins on the wheel, in order to spend time with her.
- Mannero the Sly (N male human rogue/expert) is a nondescript-looking information-broker, who sells and trades useful snippets of gossip. His information is usually very reliable but he cannot be trusted to keep quiet about who has asked him what.

FOOD & DRINKS

To keep the gamblers at the tables the snacks are large and filling (but not particularly nice):

	PRICE
Beer, watery	2 cp
Fishcakes	5 cp
Meal, poor	1 sp
Red wine (vinegary), glass	4 cp
Sausage rolls	3 cp

ACCOMMODATION

None available.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Lady Luck's may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Mistaken Identity: Podrick mistakes one of the PCs for a member of Orzo's organisation and provides as much free drink and food as the PC demands. Later on in the evening, the real thief comes in for a drink and Podrick realises his mistake. He belatedly demands that the PCs pay for everything they have consumed. When Orzo hears of the confusion he realises he now has a golden opportunity – while the PC is in town his henchman has an airtight alibi. Until the case of mistaken identity is resolved, this could cause the PC in question considerable grief.
- Rigged Games: Market trader Murghad was beaten up by Gerozzo's enforcers for failing to pay the gambling debts he racked up at Lady Luck's, and died soon afterwards. His daughter Nessie thinks the games at the tavern are rigged and begs the PCs to go there and prove it.

SAMPLE TAVERN: LAUGHING GULL, THE

The Laughing Gull is a thoroughly disreputable tavern situated near the docks in the roughest part of the city. Widely known as the unofficial headquarters of the Gerozzo crime family, the place is best avoided.

The tavern occupies a ramshackle two-storey wooden building built on the end of a pier, sitting above the waters of the harbour. A couple of dodgy-looking Gerozzo family soldiers (LE male human warrior) loiter outside, but most people stupid enough to come here without an invitation are admitted with little more than a shrug of the shoulders. Inside, the main bar is on two levels; stairs lead up to a first-floor balcony where Orzo Gerozzo and his lieutenants look down on the action below in some comfort. Common thieves, low-level enforcers and teenage pickpockets drink at rough tables and benches on the lower floor.

In the centre of the room is a large round hole in the floor, surrounded by a low wooden railing. The dark waters of the bay are just five feet below the hole, and occasionally a large dorsal fin breaks the surface of the water. Every night, a barrel of fish heads and guts is poured into the hole to entertain Gull patrons with a glimpse of one or two sharks.

STAFF

The Laughing Gull has the following notable staff members:

- Hardjoy (CE male half-orc rogue/commoner), tends the Gull's bar while living up to his epithet "the unsmiling." Hardjoy is missing half his nose and gets very angry if anyone asks him how he lost it (his ex-wife bit it off).

Several women work as tavern wenches; the younger ones flirt with Orzo and his men to keep in with the crime boss and get the best tips.

- Hild (NG female human commoner) has just started work at the Laughing Gull because she is deeply in debt to Orzo and is horrified as to what she has gotten herself into. Most of the clientele terrify her and she has already fended off several inappropriate advances. If any of the PCs seem trustworthy, or if any of them are actually nice to her, she keeps as close to their table as possible hoping that they will protect her.
- Oxilia (CN female human rogue) is out for revenge – Orzo had her brother killed and she is waiting for the right moment to slip a knife between his ribs. She is very attractive and tries to seduce a warrior to aid her.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Laughing Gull has several patrons of note:

- Orzo Gerozzo (LE male human rogue) owns the Laughing Gull and is a thoroughly nasty piece of work. Fat, sweaty and fond of wearing massive jewelled rings, Orzo controls much of the smuggling that operates through the city docks, as well as running protection rackets and thieving gangs.

FOOD & DRINKS

The Laughing Gull is not renowned for its cuisine:

	PRICE ¹
Ale, pint	2 cp
Beer, pint	2 cp
Fish stew and a hunk of bread	4 cp
Meal, poor	1 sp

ACCOMMODATION

None available.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Laughing Gull may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Barroom Brawl: A barroom brawl suddenly breaks out in the common room and quickly spreads. The brawl is a diversion intended to draw attention away from an assassination. The assassin (NE human male rogue/assassin) intends to poison his target and dump him into the shark-infested waters below. If the PCs stop the assassin, they make a new friend (but sadly a new enemy as well).
- Doomed Pickpocket: Chum isn't the only thing that gets thrown into the harbour for the sharks. The PCs might come to the Laughing Gull on the trail of a pickpocket who stole something valuable from them. Unfortunately, the young lad got caught trying to hide part of that day's takings from Orzo and is about to be thrown to the sharks when the PCs enter the tavern.

SAMPLE TAVERN: LAZY BADGER, THE

The Lazy Badger is situated on the banks of a busy river in a small town and is a popular watering hole amongst the “Little Folk” – gnomes and halflings – living in the wooded hills nearby or passing through on barges.

The tavern is built into the side of a low hill and is either entered through a large round blue door at the front or the charming beer garden at the back, where a small jetty provides easy access for river travellers. The whitewashed walls of the taproom are hung with faded tapestries and paintings, mostly depicting rural scenes, although one behind the bar (showing three moss-covered troll statues sitting in a forest clearing) stands out from the others.

The ceilings inside the bar are much lower than those in a typical tavern, forcing humans and other tall folk to stoop, and most of the furniture is built with the smaller races in mind. Humans, elves and dwarves are still made to feel welcome by the bar staff, but it is recommended they sit outside in the beer garden to avoid too many bruised heads and egos.

STAFF

The Lazy Badger has the following notable staff members:

- Maela (LG female halfling commoner) is Reenor’s wife. She does the cooking, and likes to make a fuss of her regular customers, often flirting with them when she’s had a few drinks, prompting rolled eyes from Reenor.
- Reenor Nimblefoot (NG male halfling expert) is well-fed, curly-haired and amenable. He loves his job and is genuinely happy with his lot. He is not above sharing a pot of ale and recent rumours with friendly, generous customers.

Several barmaids and potboys (NG gnome or halfling commoner 1) aid the couple, but none stay longer than a month or two.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Lazy Badger has several patrons of note:

- Cadder Shadowstep (N male halfling rogue) is a river traveller and regular at the Badger. Dressed in well-tailored midnight blue clothes and with his long dark hair tied back in a ponytail, this handsome fellow is a big hit with Maela and the barmaids. Cadder smuggles fine brandy, pipeweed and spices up and down the river, always staying one step ahead of the authorities.

- Paulpin Lund (CG male gnome wizard) lives just outside town. Easily spotted thanks to his purple spiky hair and ostentatious red and gold robes, Paulpin does a brisk trade in scrolls and potions, advertising his magical talents by performing parlour tricks in the bar.

FOOD & DRINKS

Maela’s food is typical, hearty halfling fare. He also brew his own beverages on the premise:

	PRICE
Fresh onion bread, loaf	1 sp
Frothy Luglurch ale, pint	4 sp
Meal, common	3 sp
Reenor’s Own (perry), glass	3 cp
Rabbit and beetroot pie	1 sp

ACCOMMODATION

None available.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs’ visit to the Lazy Badger may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Flirtatious Service: Maela takes a shine to one of the party – probably a halfling or gnome but any attractive male will do – and flirts outrageously even when her husband is nearby. She loves her husband and has no intention of cheating on him, but her attentions may make the PCs uncomfortable.
- Woodland Hunt: Paulpin is running low on some of the ingredients he needs for his potions and scroll inks. Would the PCs be available to pop into the woods and fetch him some giant spider silk and jack-o-lantern toadstools?

SAMPLE TAVERN: LUCKY CATCH, THE

This tavern is located near the docks in a seaside town and is popular with both the local fishermen and anyone who enjoys well-cooked seafood.

The pub is nothing too special to look at from the outside, just a weathered one-storey wooden building, with a painted sign showing a smiling fisherman hauling in his bulging net. The taproom isn't particularly impressive either – it has a low ceiling, a plain wooden floor, and the only decorations are fishing nets and other nautical gear. What is notable, though, are the delicious aromas coming from the kitchen. Typically quiet during the daytime, the tavern is bustling in the early evening when the fishermen come in for their supper and a drink after a day out on their boats. Tales are swapped of the ones that got away and it's only a matter of time before someone gets out a fiddle or a squeezebox and starts to a play a jolly shanty.

STAFF

The Lucky Catch has the following notable staff members:

- Norbert (LG male human commoner) is a nervy, acne-ridden young lad with a missing thumb, who needs to be more careful when handling knives. He helps out in the kitchen and behind the bar.
- One-EyedGriffo (NG male dwarf expert), a retired fisherman with an eye patch and a peg leg (he lost his own leg to a shark), owns and runs the Catch. As well as brewing his own beer, he's a great fish cook. A nosy fellow, Griffo is always keen to find out more about any newcomers.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Lucky Catch has several patrons of note:

- Ortwen (CG female human wizard [transmuter]) needs a rare seaweed found on the beaches of remote Shadow Island for a potion she wants to brew. Bespectacled and bumbling, with long red hair, she is looking to hire a fisherman to take her there.
- Praen (N male human druid [aquatic]) is a fisherman of consummate skill who always seems to know exactly where the fish are most plentiful. Perpetually smoking a pipe, he is bluff and friendly to all. He knows secret coves along the coast where at low tide strange ruins emerge from the surf. For a modest fee, he is happy to show inquisitive adventurers.

- Skorren (LN male human expert) is a bearded, bow-legged old fisherman who enjoys telling tall tales of mermaids and sea serpents. He likes his rum and has a tendency to overindulge.

FOOD & DRINKS

Much of the Lucky Catch's provender comes from the sea:

	PRICE
Clam chowder	2 sp
Griffo's Lonely Wyrms dark ale, mug	2 cp
Grog	2cp
Lobster	3 sp
Mackerel fishcakes with mushy peas	1 sp
Meal, common	2 sp
Rum	1 sp

ACCOMMODATION

None available.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Lucky Catch may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- The Sunken Pyramid: Several old fishermen sit around telling tales of a strange sunken structure just off the coast. They speak of a great stone pyramid that rises up from the depths. Sharks are known to cruise the waters around the pyramid and several fishing boats have recently gone missing.
- The Whispering Idol: Skorren caught something unusual in his nets a few days ago – a strange wooden idol. He took it home and has since had a few weird dreams where it appeared to be whispering in his ear while he slept. He is now worried that one or two of the other fishermen want to steal it from him. He can't let that happen...

SAMPLE TAVERN: MERRY MERMAID, THE

In the eyes of the authorities, a nasty blemish on the face of their otherwise fair port town, the Merry Mermaid is a boisterous dockside inn, run by an ex-pirate and frequented by those still in that line of work, smugglers, and sailors looking for somewhere to spend their hard-earned coin. Bawdy songs, barroom brawls and wild revelry are common.

The Mermaid is a large two-storey black and white building on a busy street corner near the docks, with a scandalously carved ship's figurehead of a mermaid, its paint peeling off, fixed above the entrance. Inside, the barroom has the appearance of an inverted ship, with a ceiling fashioned from curved wooden beams. The décor includes many items taken from the owner's former vessel, including a ship's wheel, a large globe that once stood in his cabin and dozens of framed nautical charts. A painting of a strange-looking rock formation resembling the skull of a giant monkey hangs behind the bar.

The inn is usually fairly quiet during the day, but from early evening it fills up with sailors who have arrived at the docks that afternoon, and then stays busy until the early hours of the morning. Entertainment is provided by a trio of resident half-elf musicians – a fiddler, an accordion-player and a penny whistle player – who perform a wide array of sea shanties sure to get everyone dancing a drunken jig and singing along at the tops of their voices.

STAFF

The Merry Mermaid has the following notable staff members:

- Aldal, an emerald green talking parrot, sits on a perch hanging over the bar. He mostly enjoys insulting the customers but occasionally spout things like “take fourteen paces from the crooked tree, then walk west for twenty paces,” which appear to be directions to buried treasure.
- Arallia (CG female human commoner) is Loach's third wife. She is twenty years his junior, blonde and stunningly attractive, and dotes on the old ex-pirate. Arallia manages the tavern wenches and potboys who serve drinks and food to the thirsty pirates, and handles the inn's finances with aplomb.
- “Red Legs” Loach (CN male human fighter) is a red-haired, bearded, bear of a man in his late forties, covered in tattoos. He served as first mate on the Drunken Medusa under the fearsome pirate captain Bloody Marja, before a massive treasure haul earned him enough to buy his own ship. After a few years sailing the Five Seas on the Merry Mermaid, he returned to dry land and bought this inn. Red Legs misses the sea and it's not hard to get him to tell a few tales of his adventures.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Merry Mermaid has several patrons of note:

- Blind Nallon (NE male dwarf rogue) is an irascible, greedy informant and spy, who provides intelligence on the movement of pirate ships and smugglers to the authorities and sometimes rival criminals. Although he binds his eyes with a black cloth and carries a staff he isn't actually blind.
- Ywain Coltbeyn (CN male half-elf expert) is a dashing-looking fellow, always elegantly dressed, with long, flowing blond hair and several gold rings on his fingers. Ywain is a successful and wealthy fence, charming to talk to, but also possessed of a steely determination to make as much money as possible.

FOOD & DRINKS

Food served at the Mermaid is mainly simple, hearty fare:

	PRICE
Meal, common	3 sp
Nutmeg-spiced grog, mug	3 cp
Oysters, served raw with a sauce of white wine, shallots, lemon juice and black pepper, platter	3 sp
Piping hot cheese and onion pasties	1 sp
Rum, glass	1 sp
Well-spiced sausage rolls	1 sp
Whalesong Stout (strong dark beer), mug	6 cp

ACCOMMODATION

There are six well-kept private rooms available at the Mermaid for 5 sp per night, as well as the bunkhouse in the yard out the back which sleeps a dozen (2 sp for a bed). Company for the night is usually available for between 2 gp and 5 gp.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Merry Mermaid may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Bloody Marja's Cutlass: The PCs have heard a rumour that Aldal knows the location of Bloody Marja's cutlass (see So What's the Weapon Like, Anyway?) If they give him enough ship's biscuits, will they be able to get the information they need to find the valuable sword?
- Smuggled Goods: The town council knows it is missing out on valuable duty charges from goods smuggled into port and believe the Merry Mermaid is at the heart of this illegal activity. Rumours persist of hidden tunnels leading from a secluded cove to beneath the inn and the mayor hires the PCs to go to the inn and find the tunnels.

SAMPLE TAVERN: PILGRIM'S RESPITE, THE

Pilgrims making the arduous trek up Justicar's Mountain to visit the sacred site where St. Joramón received the Sacred Laws of Darlen (LG god of law, order, justice and the sun) from the god are always grateful for the sight of the Pilgrim's Respite halfway through their trip.

The inn is a two-storey wooden structure built onto the side of the mountain, with balconies on both floors giving guests stunning views of the forested valley far below and the high peaks opposite. The main barroom is decorated with wooden pillars carved with Darlen's holy scriptures, and provides welcome shelter from the bleak weather conditions on the steep, winding trail to the summit. Hot, sugary cups of tea are presented to guests on arrival and the great blazing fire allows travellers to dry off while their mules are taken to the stables.

STAFF

The Pilgrim's Respite has the following notable staff members:

- Esme (LG female human commoner) is Ullah's wife and his equal in religious fervour. In her fifties, she is a kindly woman and has a tendency to speak in hushed, reverential tones.
- Father Ullah (LG male human cleric [Darlen]), a devout cleric of Darlen, runs the inn. In his mid-fifties Ullah has a suntanned, weather-beaten face. He climbs the mountain at least once a week and is happy to act as a guide for pilgrims (for a donation to the church, of course).
- Lister(NG male human commoner) looks after the stables and serves food and drink in the bar. He is a gangly, awkward lad who desperately wants to join the clergy. Not particularly religious, he nevertheless sees the priesthood as his best chance at an easy life.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Pilgrim's Respite has several patrons of note:

- Bozelas (LN male human commoner) is a small, wiry-looking goat herder who comes into the inn each evening for a hot cup of tea and a bowl of rice. He gets lonely with no one but his flock to talk to all day and is keen to chat to travellers.
- Davefor Poggs (N male human wizard [necromancer]) is a wizard in trouble. A spot of foolish dabbling in diabolism has led the pot-bellied, balding little man to sign an infernal contract with a devil in exchange for success and recognition from his peers at the College of Magic. He sits alone in a corner, drowning his sorrows and fretting about what lies in store for his damned soul.

- Korivio (LG male human cleric) is a 17-year-old, olive-skinned, tonsured priest of Darlen on his first pilgrimage to the shrine at the summit. Unfortunately, his porters were driven off when his party was attacked by a flock of harpies. He is determined not to turn back but could do with help in getting to the top.

FOOD & DRINKS

Only plain dishes are on offer, at the Respite:

	PRICE
Hot rice wine, glass	3 cp
Meal, poor	1 sp
Rice with chicken and egg, bowl	7 cp
Tea, cup	2 cp
Vegetable broth (thin), bowl	4 cp

ACCOMMODATION

A night's stay costs 1 sp. The rooms are very basic with bunk beds, warm blankets and a fireplace. Religious paintings and tapestries adorn the walls.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Pilgrim's Respite may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Ghostly Pilgrim: Recently a pilgrim's seven-year-old daughter, Asunda, died in a tragic accident – the little girl slipped and tumbled down the mountain in the snow. Her ghost wanders the corridors of the inn at night and may try to lead the PCs to the site where her bones lie so she can be put to rest.
- Stolen Soul: Davefor Poggs is desperately seeking a band of adventurers experienced and resourceful enough to sneak into the fortress-library in the Nine Hells that holds the devil's copy of his infernal contract so it can be destroyed. He seeks to test the PCs' capabilities first with a simpler quest.

SAMPLE TAVERN: ROYAL SWAN, THE

The Royal Swan is, without a doubt, the finest tavern and restaurant in the city, if not the entire kingdom. Home to the culinary genius Sarracino, and a wine cellar that is second to none, this is the place to see and be seen for the great and the good.

The tavern is a smart, two-storey black and white building whose sign depicts a white swan wearing a gold crown, with two liveried doormen standing attentively outside. Within, guests are greeted by a hostess and shown to either the bar or the restaurant. Both typically require reservations, with the latter subject to a long waiting list. The décor in the barroom is stylish with discreetly lit booths and well-upholstered velvet seats. In the more formal restaurant, fine rugs from distant Sabtah cover the floors, the cutlery is silver and the glasses elven, and the walls are hung with tapestries. Upstairs, several private rooms are available for intimate dinners and soirées.

STAFF

The ownership of the Swan is something of a mystery, as no one has ever met the wealthy merchant who holds the deeds. The Royal Swan has the following notable staff members:

- Dainiel (LG female elf expert) manages the staff and looks after the customers. She is beautiful and charming and is consequently the centre of much male attention.
- Sarracino (CG male half-elf expert) is the Swan's head chef; shaven-headed and olive-skinned, he is renowned as much for his penchant for colourful language as he is for his experimental dishes.
- Volterin (LN male human expert) runs the bar and the wine cellar. He is short and dapper.

The waiters and bar staff are all impeccably dressed and exceptionally polite.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Royal Swan has several patrons of note:

- Coren D'Attallio (LN male human aristocrat) is a cold-hearted noble in his late thirties with thinning black hair. He is dining with his fashionable young "niece" and is bored with her inane conversation.

- Fiora Silvertongue (NE female human bard) is a large-bosomed blond opera singer with a magnificent voice and a mean streak. She is most often here with a coterie of male admirers.

FOOD & DRINKS

Sarracino's imaginative creations are expensive but taste amazing.

	PRICE
Stuffed pheasant on a bed of vegetables served with parsnip mash	6 sp
Meal, good	5 sp
Poached cockatrice egg and crispy dire bacon on a bed of river cress, drizzled with truffle oil	5 gp
Wine (fine), bottle	10 gp
Wine (outstanding), bottle	25 gp

ACCOMMODATION

None available.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Royal Swan may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Angry Customers: A party of noblemen turn up for dinner, but discover they have lost their booking because they are late. It transpires that the PCs are the beneficiaries of their misfortune. The nobles demand the PCs leave – as they are now here – and take it badly if the PCs refuse. The nobles leave, but vow revenge against the commoner upstarts. While they do not physically confront the party, their hirelings can and do make the PCs' lives difficult while they remain in the city.

- Criminal Front: Captain Jorgem of the City Watch is convinced the Royal Swan is a front for a ruthless crime lord. He can't be seen to harass the influential clientele or the staff, so he attempts to hire the PCs to pose as aristocrats to see if they can unearth the truth.

SAMPLE TAVERN: SAUCY SYLPH, THE

The Saucy Sylph is an inn, tavern, gambling hall and festhall all rolled into one that provides rowdy entertainment nightly to all and sundry.

The inn occupies a large three-storey wood and stone building in a busy part of the city where it attracts nobles wanting to slum it for the evening, traders and merchants and anyone else looking for a wild night out. Inside, the noisy bar runs the length of the right-hand wall; there is always a big queue despite the half dozen very efficient barmaids pouring pints.

The centre of the room is dominated by a round stage where scantily clad dancers of both sexes and various races perform for the crowds. Several gaming tables, including dice, cards and even snail racing, are dotted around the vast room. The décor is gaudy – much of the furniture is painted gold and the walls are hung with rather tatty red velvet drapery. Escorts (of either gender) are available for hire for 10 gp for the evening.

STAFF

The Saucy Sylph has the following notable staff members:

- Grurk (N male bugbear fighter) works as the inn's bouncer. He enjoys his work, happily throwing out anyone getting too boisterous, then bopping them over the head with his club for good measure. He is an imposing figure and is ferociously loyal to Tyrellai. If not beloved by the patrons, Grurk is respected and is able to move about the town relatively freely.
- Tyrellai (CG female half-elf expert), an enchanting dancer, won big on the card tables one night and bought out the previous owner. She still takes part in the performances and is very popular with the regulars. She makes sure that no customers mistreat her dancers or escorts.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Saucy Sylph has several patrons of note:

- Doonan (LG male human cleric) is a young, shaven-headed pious priest of Conn who has come to the Sylph to preach the joys of temperance to the sinners within. He is getting very hot under the collar at the sight of the dancers and is planning to get to know one or two of them so he can save them.

- Odgar Pennyweather (N male gnome rogue) is a devious little pickpocket with bright orange hair, large glittering black eyes and earthy brown skin. He targets wealthy customers whose attention is wholly focused on the dancers.

FOOD & DRINKS

Most people don't come to the Sylph for its food – the quality isn't great and prices are on the high side:

	PRICE
Chicken hotpot	2 sp
Liver, bacon and onions	3 sp
Maiden's Ruin, beer	1 sp
Meal, common	4 sp
Sweetheart (beer), mug	5 cp
Wine (decent), bottle	5 gp

ACCOMMODATION

Thirty rooms are available costing 1–3 gp per night, depending on size. Most are decorated with erotic paintings or tapestries.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Saucy Sylph may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Amorous Customer: The half-orc warrior Brunk (N male half-orc fighter) is spectacularly drunk. He invites himself to sit with the party and immediately begins drinking their drinks and making inappropriate comments about the dancers. After a half-hour he staggers to his feet and tries to join the dancers on stage. Grurk quickly intervenes and throws Brunk out. Depending on how the PCs have been dealing with Brunk, Grurk may also demand they leave.
- Drunk Nobles: A group of young, drunken nobles accuse a merchant of cheating at a game of Hazard, saying he is using loaded dice. The argument escalates and soon gets out of control as the nobles draw swords.

SAMPLE TAVERN: SILVER UNICORN, THE

The Silver Unicorn is located in a small town on the fringes of the elven forest kingdom of Aerathrin. Here, merchants from the elven city and the Faerie Realms beyond come to trade with their counterparts from the human cities.

The inn is a large, solid-looking structure of wood and stone, built in the shade of an enormous, ancient oak tree. At night, softly glowing pale blue magical lights illuminate the entrance, which leads into a wood-panelled lobby. The welcoming tavern room lies beyond – wooden pillars carved with vine motifs support the low ceiling, and the walls are hung with paintings of the Elven Courts and their beautiful and terrifying inhabitants, enchanted so the vibrant colours glow softly.

In the evenings, musicians perform on the low stage in the corner. The handsome flutist, Londallin (CG male elf bard), is a favourite for his delicate, haunting tunes, but the gnomish fiddle-playing duo Dinegar and Pallena (NG male & female gnome expert) are also very popular for their merry jigs.

STAFF

The Silver Unicorn has the following notable staff members:

- Nainesti Greenglade (CG female elf aristocrat/expert) is the Unicorn's owner/operator. A kind-hearted widow of indeterminate age born into a noble family several decades ago, she grew frustrated with courtly life, moved to the human lands and built the Silver Unicorn. She and her human chef, Imbart, soon fell in love and married. Imbart has been dead for ten years and Nainesti misses him terribly, but ensures his signature dish remains on the inn's menu to honour his memory.

Nainesti employs several long-serving, reliable human and half-elven staff in the kitchens and stables, as well as half a dozen vivacious and pretty elf barmaids to create a cheery atmosphere.

- Sylahel Vonothvar (NG female elf expert) is the most experienced member of staff and was the first person retained to serve at the Silver Unicorn. She dreams of setting up her own business using all that she has learned under Nainesti's tutelage. To that end she offers excellent service, but is less than subtle when it comes to the subject of tips. She is friendly to a fault, but has no interest in romantic entanglements (except with rich, generous and handsome customers).

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Silver Unicorn has but one patron of note:

- Traelerin Starmantle (CG male elf expert) is a master armourer from Aerathrin with finely made leather armour and bucklers for sale. Traelerin is muscular for an elf, and is somewhat nervous around other races, but is very proud of his work.

FOOD & DRINKS

The Silver Unicorn has a fine selection of cheeses from near and far and an excellent selection of wine. Highlights of the menu include:

	PRICE
Cheese platter	3 sp
Imbart's fresh river salmon glazed with ginger and lime and served with fennel and forest mushrooms	7 sp
Leafmould Blue (cheese) with crusty bread, platter	1 sp
Meal, good	6 sp
Silver Moonbeam (elven white wine), bottle	20 gp

ACCOMMODATION

The Silver has twenty private rooms, each decorated with fresh woodland flowers, available for 6 sp per night.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Silver Unicorn may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Con-Man: An unscrupulous con-man has been selling fake elven magical items to gullible adventurers staying at the Silver Unicorn. These fakes are damaging the inn's reputation and Nainesti will pay a reward to whoever catches the culprit.
- Traelerin Starmantle: Assuming the PCs are adventurers, Traelerin Starmantle approaches them and tries to interest them in some of his wares. All are of masterwork quality and beautifully made. PCs working for Nainesti may assume that Traelerin is the con-man selling fake magical items and react accordingly.

SAMPLE TAVERN: WAND AND SCROLL, THE

The Wand and Scroll is located in a dingy alley behind the College of Magic and close to the Arcanists' Guild. Wizards and other arcane spellcasters relaxing after a hard day's lecturing or spell research make up the majority of the tavern's customers. Almost exclusively male and mostly of a certain age, the patrons give the tavern the ambience of an old boy's club or senior common room.

The entrance to the Wand and Scroll is an unassuming, battered-looking wooden door at the end of the alley, with a faded sign depicting a crossed wand and scroll hanging above. A piece of parchment nailed to the door is scrawled with the message "Students are not welcome. Go to The Weasel instead!"

Inside, the taproom is hazy with pipe smoke. This makes it hard for first-time visitors to discern the dimensions of the room, but it seems bigger than looks possible from the outside. The décor is plain – the walls are stained yellowish-brown from the smoke and there is nothing fancy about the wooden bar – but a few interesting objects hang on the walls and from the ceiling, including a shabby-looking pointed hat which once belonged to the legendary wizard Elgrim the Thoughtful, and the broken wand of a reckless dragon-blooded sorcerer named Turaljir.

A gentle hubbub of conversation is usual, although late in the evening, the wizardly patrons often get into heated debates about such topics as the nature of the Seventh Element or the proper way to train a quasit, and drunken voices are often raised in disagreement. Apart from cantrips used to light pipes, spellcasting is an unusual event in the Wand and Scroll – alcohol and spellcasting rarely mix well.

New customers are generally ignored by the regulars, but adventurers who are obviously warriors might be the subject of a few disapproving looks. Young-looking wizards and others in robes are assumed to be students and are asked to leave.

STAFF

The Wand and Scroll is owned by the Arcanists' Guild. It has the following notable staff members:

- Hildegard (NG human female commoner) is the establishment's ample-bosomed, matronly cook. She cooks simple, filling fare to make sure her customers "don't get too thin." Judging by most of their waistlines, this seems extremely unlikely.
- Torold (LG human male wizard [universalist]/expert) is the Wand and Scroll's affable landlord. Torold knows only very basic magic but is an expert on fine ales and ensures the very best from around the city and beyond is available to his discerning clientele. He is middle-aged, sports a smartly trimmed goatee and wears dark blue wizard's robes.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Wand and Scroll has but one patron of note:

- Oglander Trell (CG male human wizard [enchanter]) is an expert on the Fey and their courts, and has written several academic treatises on the subject. Friendly, but rather absent-minded, he wears a pointy wizard's hat and smokes a foul-smelling pipe.

FOOD & DRINKS

The food at the Wand and Scroll is tasty and hearty. The selection of guest ales and wines is also excellent. Highlights include:

	PRICE
Belligerent Bulette Brew (ale), pint	12 cp
Black Mountain (red wine), bottle	12 gp
Catchpole's Old Irregular (ale), pint	15 cp
Meal, common	3 sp
Oxtail soup	3 sp
Plum bolster smothered in custard	5 sp
Polymorphic Porter	1 sp
Steak and mushroom pie, served with roasted parsnips and boiled cabbage	1 gp

ACCOMMODATION

None, although more than one wizard has slept off the night's drinking under one of the tavern's tables.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Wand and Scroll may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Petrified Wizards: Torold has ordered a barrel of Gorgon's Blood Strong Ale as the latest guest ale. Each pint is said to contain a drop of real gorgon's blood but there seems to be a much higher concentration in this batch and wizards who drink too much are petrified. Did somebody sabotage the ale and why?
- Sage Advice: The PCs need some information before a trip to the Faerie Realms and have learned that Oglander Trell is the best person to advise them. In return for his help, the wizard wants the party to fetch him some of the rare herbs that grow along the river banks there.

SAMPLE TAVERN: WARM WELCOME INN, THE

Situated at a country crossroads on the outskirts of a small, sleepy farming village, the Warm Welcome Inn does exactly what it says on the sign hanging outside. Smoke comes from the chimney of the thatched building, and a warm glow from the fire can be seen through the windows. Patrons are typically weary travellers and local farming folk.

Stepping into the taproom, visitors are greeted by the friendly smiles of the landlord and his wife. The bar is cosy with simple wooden tables and chairs arranged around the roaring fire, which usually has a hog roasting on a spit over it. Well-polished horse brasses and a few ancient, rusty weapons provide most of the decoration, although it's the magnificent display of huge, prize-winning vegetables that usually catches the eye of first-time visitors.

STAFF

The Warm Welcome Inn has the following notable staff members:

- Denrys Drinkpenny (NG female human commoner) is Gullenn's homely-looking wife. She dotes over her two sons, Frans and Jooris.
- Frans Drinkpenny (LG male human commoner) is as much of a yokel as his parents. His shock of unkempt red hair makes him easy to spot.
- Gullenn Drinkpenny (LG male human commoner) is the affable landlord of the Warm Welcome. Red-faced and big nosed, with bushy eyebrows and mutton chop sideburns, Gullenn knows how to make sure his guests enjoy their stay.
- Jooris Drinkpenny (CG male human commoner) is tall and lanky. He is getting restless and yearns to leave and seek his fortune in the big city.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Warm Welcome Inn has several patrons of note:

- Hervel (LG male human commoner) grew the enormous marrow that occupies pride of place at the centre of the vegetable display. Hervel is a bit simple but is very good at growing vegetables. He loves to chat to strangers.

- Mitko Juraj (NE male half-elf wizard [necromancer]) sits in the corner away from the fire, wearing a dark, hooded robe and nursing his red wine. Pale-complexioned, he wants to be left alone to his sinister thoughts, and finds the Drinkpenny family extremely annoying.

FOOD & DRINKS

Denrys' cooking is both tasty and filling. Specialities of the house include:

	PRICE
Cider (local), pint	4 cp
Gullenn's Own (beer), pint	2 cp
Ham and beetroot soup served with warm sourdough rolls smothered in butter	1 sp
Meal, common	2 sp
Slices of roast hog served with buttered parsnips and red cabbage	2 sp

ACCOMMODATION

There are four comfy private rooms available for 4 sp per night.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Warm Welcome may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Hero Worshipper: Jooris takes a shine to the most confident warrior in the party and decides to join the group. He informs his mother, who takes the news very badly. She rushes into the common room and through floods of tears begs the warrior in question to "not take her dear boy away." Of course, at this juncture, Jooris has not actually asked the group if he can join them and so the PCs are likely clueless as to what is going on!
- Restless Spirits of the Dead: A hundred years ago, the crossroads on which the Warm Welcome stands was the scene of a large number of executions by the tyrannical local lord. Mitko Juraj has come to the village to attempt to raise the restless spirits of the dead using dangerous necromantic magic. Can the PCs prevent him shattering the bucolic idyll?

SAMPLE TAVERN: WEARY CAMEL, THE

The Weary Camel is a busy roadside inn, situated between towns on the well-travelled trade route leading to the southern lands. It is renowned for its excellent food and hospitality.

Travellers entering the Weary Camel come through the main gates into a large open courtyard, with a beautiful fountain in the centre, depicting the God of the Sea and his lovely daughters. The inside walls of the enclosure hold stalls for camels and horses, storage rooms where trade goods can be locked up, and guest accommodation. More guest rooms can be found on the first floor.

There is a fine tavern and restaurant located along one side of the ground floor, with a wide selection of exotic wines and other drinks, including strong, sweet coffee. Diners can relax on comfortable silk cushions and are treated to nightly entertainment in the form of a puppet show, music and dancing girls. Other amenities include a bathhouse, decorated with stunning mosaics, with hot, warm and cold baths to wash away the dirt of the road.

STAFF

The Weary Camel has the following notable staff members:

- Fatima, Latifa and Keshini (LG female human experts), Jamshid's three attractive wives, welcome guests warmly and serve drinks and food.
- Jamshid Sharam (LG male human expert) is the owner and landlord of the Weary Camel. Charming, handsome, well-fed, and possessed of exquisite taste, Jamshid made his riches as a spice merchant before growing tired of travelling from town to town. He settled down to run the kind of inn he would like to stay in.
- Mustapha and Rupak (LG male human experts) are Jamshid's young sons. They attend to guests' animals and trade goods. Rupak is bored with his life and loves to listen to tales of faraway lands and adventure.
- Pelindaer (CG male elf bard) puts on the popular nightly puppet shows for the Camel's guests. A clever and talented puppeteer, his topical shows are often satirical in nature.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Weary Camel has several patrons of note:

- Conchaka Chabi (CN female human barbarian) is a bounty hunter on the trail of a bandit gang who have been attacking caravans. Stunningly beautiful with jet black hair, she wears leather armour and dozens of pieces of silver and turquoise jewellery, which she constantly plays with while she's talking. She is accompanied by four big, silent warrior-types (CN male human barbarian 1) from her homeland on the Steppes. Not the usual Camel patron, she is sure to attract a lot of attention.

- Omkar Al-Hashem (N male human rogue/expert) is a dark-skinned, djellaba-wearing wine merchant who stops off at the Weary Camel on a regular basis. Polite to other travellers, but with a tendency to keep to himself, Omkar is smuggling illegal drugs inside his wine barrels.

FOOD & DRINKS

Food and drink at the Weary Camel is of a high standard. Highlights include:

	PRICE
Elvish Dreamwine (white wine), bottle	20 gp
Gopuran Blue (red wine), bottle	20 gp
Meal, good	1 gp
Roasted pigeon in saffron cream sauce served with spiced couscous, pan-fried river trout with garlic and shallots, and minted lamb with curried parsnips	5 gp

Beers are available for 2 sp per tankard, and coffee is 1 sp per pot. Guests are also able to smoke apple, strawberry or mint flavoured tobacco by sharing a sheesha (water pipe) for 2 gp.

ACCOMMODATION

Rooms and suites are available for 8 – 15 gp per night, depending on size and location. Prices include use of the bathhouse, stabling and overnight storage for trade goods.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Weary Camel may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Strange Happenings: Pelindaer has been troubled by a couple of strange happenings recently. The dead body of Latifa's pet cat was found two mornings ago – it had been repeatedly stabbed with a small pointy object. Then, a guest found broken glass in his eggs at breakfast. After both of these occurrences, Pelindaer found his Cunning Fox puppet nearby when he was sure that he'd put him safely away after the performance. What's going on? Is his puppet somehow possessed, or is someone trying to upset Jamshid and his family?
- Ghoul Tunnels: The PCs have heard a rumour that the Weary Camel is built on top of a series of abandoned ghoulish tunnels. Although the ghouls are supposedly long gone, the treasure they took from their victims is said to remain. Is there a way into the catacombs from the cistern beneath the bathhouse? And can the PCs sneak in there without Jamshid noticing?

SAMPLE TAVERN: WILY FOX, THE

The Wily Fox isn't like other taverns in the city. Each night it somehow moves around, ending up in a different district. Occasionally, it even shifts to another town altogether. Tracking it down for a night's drinking is a popular pastime for wealthy young nobles seeking to impress their lady friends, and for students at the College of Magic.

No one knows how or why the Wily Fox wanders, only that it does. When it appears in a new location, it somehow seems to squeeze itself in between existing buildings, or temporarily replaces a disused warehouse, unoccupied home or other building no one cares about. Wherever the tavern turns up, the exterior always appears the same – an unassuming wooden building with a shabby sign bearing the name and a green door with a brass knocker in the shape of a fox's head.

Inside, the large taproom has wooden beams overhead, a scuffed wooden floor, and a well-stocked, polished chestnut bar running the full length of the left-hand wall, with plenty of tall stools alongside for patrons. Several booths are situated on the opposite wall, and there are tables with benches in the middle of the room, as well as a small stage. A wrought iron spiral staircase leads up to the first floor balcony where there are more booths and a cosy area with large leather armchairs sitting in front of a glowing fire. Paintings and hangings, most depicting animals such as foxes, coyotes, rabbits and ravens, decorate the walls. These are all the work of Yenjukai, the tavern's owner.

The atmosphere in the Wily Fox is lively and affable, and the entertainment is usually light-hearted and fun, with performances from jesters, jugglers and comic singers more common than those by serious musicians. The tavern is open from dusk until the early hours of the morning, when the last revellers are politely asked to leave before the tavern fades away. No one knows where the Wily Fox goes to during the day.

STAFF

The Wily Fox has the following notable staff members:

- Tomoko (N male human expert), the jovial and jowly faced barman, is also from Keiwan. He also lives in the inn and is aware of Yenjukai's secret.
- Yenjukai (CN female kitsune wizard/rogue), the enigmatic owner of the Wily Fox, is an attractive woman of Keiwanese origin with brilliant blue eyes and long dark hair who always dresses in silver and blue. Friendly and welcoming, she enjoys speaking a good riddle and gives cryptic answers to newcomers' questions about the tavern. Yenjukai's other form, which she does not assume in public, is that of a humanoid fox with snow white fur.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Wily Fox has several patrons of note:

- Theodolphus Snelk (N male human wizard [diviner]) is a bespectacled student of divination at the College of Magic who enjoys spending his evenings sitting in front of the fire, and playing cards with his fellow students. He has an uncanny knack of predicting where the Wily Fox will appear.
- Varren Piso (NG male human aristocrat/fighter) is a fashionable, young noble with a hot temper and a barbed wit. If he has one too many drinks (a frequent occurrence), he is likely to challenge someone to a duel for an imagined slight.

FOOD & DRINKS

The food served is excellent and exotic. Highlights include:

	PRICE
Chicken in white wine sauce with tamarind leaves and mung beans	8 sp
Dewdrop White, bottle	12 gp
Meal, good	7 sp
Peach brandy, glass	3 gp
Sweet and sour pork with saffron rice and oyster mushrooms	1 gp

ACCOMMODATION

None available.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Wily Fox may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Missing Merchant: The PCs are asked to track down Modahar, a wealthy young merchant who went missing after a night's drinking at the Wily Fox. Is he still in the tavern, and, if so, where does it go during the daylight hours?
- Yenjukai's Curse: The Wily Fox didn't always wander. Yenjukai was cursed by a sorcerer after she failed to steal a wand from him when he passed out in the tavern from drinking too much. The curse is that she can never spend the night in the same place twice, but for some strange reason, probably to do with the sorcerer's drunken state, this causes the tavern to move around each night with Yenjukai unable to leave the premises. The kitsune might steal a magical item from the PCs, believing it can help her break the curse. If caught, she begs for their help in freeing her, even offering the Wily Fox as a reward.

SAMPLE TAVERN: WYVERN'S HEAD INN, THE

Conveniently situated just inside the city gates is the not-so-cheap but cheerful Wyvern's Head Inn, an establishment built to cater for adventurers and liberate them from as much of their ill-gotten gains as possible.

The inn is a large, ramshackle building with many wings, roofs, towers and balconies, added on as its popularity grew over the years. In addition to food, drink, accommodation and stabling, the Head also has its own adventurers' store, which sells a variety of useful gear at standard prices.

The main barroom is capable of seating a couple of hundred hungry heroes at rough wooden benches and tables. The floor is covered in straw to mop up frequent drink spills, and the walls are hung with faded maps and rusty old weapons and shields. Dominating the room is an impressive stuffed wyvern's head. Nicknamed Grimjaws, the head is enchanted – at irregular times during the evening, it speaks in a low rumbling voice of legendary dungeons and ruined towers. Several adventuring bands have become rich from Grimjaw's ruminations over the years.

STAFF

The Wyvern's Head Inn has the following notable staff members:

- Ortis Stoutbelly (CN male halfling expert) is the temperamental halfling chef that supervises the busy kitchens. He is always stressed.
- Piroska Silverpenny (CG female human fighter), a stunning flame-haired former adventurer in her forties, bought the inn a decade ago and turned it into the success it is today. She enjoys drinking with her customers and swapping stories of dungeons and dragons, and more than one handsome young adventurer has ended up in her bed at the end of an evening.

A dozen attentive tavern wenches wait on tables.

NOTABLE PATRONS

The Wyvern's Head Inn has several patrons of note:

- Leovold Kerric (LG male human paladin) is a young, fresh-faced paladin with shiny, undented plate mail and a brand new sword. He's looking for a bunch of like-minded fellows to accompany him on an expedition to free the ruined Abbey of St. Joramon from the clutches of the undead.

- Yupan Harlsen (N male half-orc fighter) is a drunk and unkempt adventurer who has fallen on hard times. His last party was wiped out by a deadly naga; Yupan escaped and feels guilty for not dying at his companions' side.

FOOD & DRINKS

Food served in the Wyvern's Head is humdrum but filling. The offering includes:

	PRICE
Chicken with buttered carrots and mashed herby potatoes	4 sp
Derring Do dark ale, pint	5 cp
Ham and pea stew, bowl	2 sp
Meal, common	3 sp

ACCOMMODATION

Clean, basic rooms with twin beds are available for 1 gp per night.

EVENTS & ADVENTURE HOOKS

The PCs' visit to the Wyvern's Head may not be without incident; use one of the below adventure hooks, to inject a little excitement into the proceedings:

- Grimjaws: The cunning gnome illusionist Erfejan Daenig (CN male gnome wizard [illusionist]) has travelled to the Wyvern's Head with the express purpose of getting a band of adventurers to investigate a ruined castle hidden in the nearby hills. The tower belonged to a powerful wizard, and Erfjan wants the wizard's spellbooks reputedly hidden within. A coward, he doesn't want to deal with the monsters and traps that inevitably lurk within the ruin.

- Rival Adventurers: An adventuring band enters the taproom and noisily accuses a rival group of sabotaging their gear so they could beat them into the Lost Tomb of  Darrovir Halfman and loot it first. A barroom brawl appears imminent.

ragingswan.com

