INTRODUCTION

This edition of Grim's Amazing D100 Tables is quite different from most of the others in the series, in that rather than a text based book, it's rather graphics heavy as we are dealing with the subject of Fictional noble houses (like GOT, Dune and other such fantastical world settings)

Herein, you will find 100 noble houses with accompanying coats of arms, and includes a motto, complete with a Latin translation of them. All are as original as I could muster (although some may be from other sources by complete chance, but as far as I'm aware they are aren't!)

If you are familiar with this series, you'll see a departure from the usual black and white format and heraldic crest is presented in full colour to denote details (Let's face it, you can't distinguish full livery in just black, white and grey, can you!)

Suggestions for use of this product

You can simply use a usual D100 roll to determine randomly a result from this book, but there is nothing stopping you from just picking them out as you wish. Another way, is to roll three D100 results, the first for the Coat of Arms, the second for the name of the noble house, and the third for the motto.

Of course, you may again choose from the information presented as you see fit, after all, this is designed to supply the Player or GM with quick info to save them time during play.

As ever, whatever you use this publication for, have fun and enjoy!
