Foreword

This supplement is designed to help the average GM with that age old RPG trope; The tavern. The mainstay of many a good (or bad) campaign, be it a place to rest, gather information, begin and end epic adventures, or simply passing through town to buy supplies and recharge, the Tavern functions as lots of different focal points.

In this booklet, you will find 200 tavern names in two D100 tables. One being that of fantasy inspired descriptive names, whilst the other being that of 100 real world, actual British Pub traditional names that suit well to the fantasy genre. Feel free to pick and choose as you like, or randomise by simply rolling a D100 and consulting one of the tables. This is the second in the Tavern series of amazing D100 tables, so please consider getting a copy of the first of the series: 100 Fantasy Beverages. This series is devised to help in the random creation of the entire Tavern environment, from name, right up to beverages, patrons, encounters, food and so forth. Perfect for fleshing out that sad and tired description of a generic fantasy bar with a tad more detail than just the norm.

Enjoy!
