

ROMULAN RANK INSIGNIA

Magna-Admirals are the equal of Federation five-star grand admirals and command an entire theater of war.

Pente-Admirals are the equal of Federation four-star fleet admirals and command fleets of 20-50 ships.

Major-Admirals are the equal of Federation three-star vice admirals and command a wing of 12-25 ships.

Ante-Admirals are the equal of Federation two-star rear admirals and command a division of 6-10 ships.

Pente-Commanders are senior commodores who will never be promoted to admiral; they are often staff specialists.

Major-Commanders are squadron leaders and command groups of three or four warships in combat.

Ante-Commanders (also known as Sub-Commanders) captain cruisers or other large ships in combat.

Proto-Commanders are the captains of destroyers and lesser starships, or students at Imperial Command School.

Pente-Tribunes are equal to Star Fleet captains, but are usually staff officers not in the chain of command.

Major-Tribunes are the equal of Star Fleet commanders and head major departments on a starship.

Ante-Tribunes are the equal of Star Fleet lieutenant commanders, and supervise minor departments on a ship.

Proto-Tribunes are students at the senior leadership and staff schools, so that all students are equal.

Pente-Centurions have little hope of promotion to tribune, but are often deputy department heads.

Major-Centurions are the equal of Star Fleet senior lieutenants and continue to be in charge of duty sections.

Ante-Centurions are the equal of Star Fleet junior lieutenants and have authority over a duty section.

Proto-Centurions are officer candidates serving up to two years with minimal status in an active military unit.

Ultra-Decurions are E9 sergeants-major, the senior enlisted man on a starship or in a cohort of ground troops.

Magna-Decurions are E8 master sergeants, the senior enlisted man in a duty section or century.

Pente-Decurions are E7 senior NCOs who supervise junior sergeants in a duty section.

Major-Decurions are E6 veteran working sergeants in charge of a few enlisted personnel at a duty station.

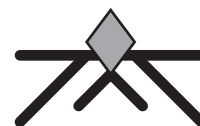

Ante-Decurions are E5 junior working sergeants on their first assignment in charge of a duty station.

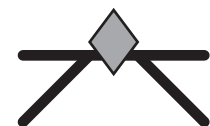

Pente-Soldats are veterans who will never be promoted to leadership positions, but are respected for their skills.

Major-Soldats are veteran soldiers or crewmen who have gained a broad range of skills through their experience.

Ante-Soldats are junior enlisted personnel who have completed basic training but lack much experience.

Proto-Soldats are recruits undergoing basic training, but in wartime some are sent to frontline units for final training.