

THE MAZE

"Only those who seek Death or sell It enter the Maze"

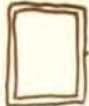

One-story buildings are shacks that lean against two-story structures. A one-story building is outlined by a single line.

Two-story buildings are outlined by a double-line. Two-story buildings without external stairs have stairs or trap doors between the floors. Such buildings are usually better kept-up, and lived in by single families. Two-story buildings with external stairs are probably tenements.
