

DA BLACK GOBBO!!!

The Black Goblin had his beginnings as an unwilling Night Goblin of the Wissenland area. Although he was quick to gain status among the goblins of the area, all were cut down by a force of Dwarfs moving through their homes. The Black Goblin then became a sort of Mercenary to Orcs and other Goblins. He found great artefacts of power, only to keep some out of what looked best to him. He is apt to steal anything that catches his eye only to throw it away like a crow. He has been seen running around the crude orc huts in search of work once in a while, yet if all the warband he works for dies, he always seems to come out unscathed.....

Weapons/Armor: Ithilmar Armor, Shield, Sword

Special Rules: The Black Goblin is a Goblin and suffers from all rules affecting Goblins, however as he himself is a hero he does not suffer from Animosity. He is also treated as an Orc Hero against other Goblins, he has a Bad reputation!

Black Gobbo's Armor: This armor was stolen from an ancient Elven cache, it was originally made for a Dwarf king as a token of good will to each other, now it serves as the black armor of the Black Goblin. This suit counts as Ithilmar armor, and gives him +1 I which is already included in his profile.

Black Gobbo's Sword: This sword's blade was made from an old Dwarf spearhead given magic powers by the Dwarf runesmith Bannon Mastercraft. The Black Gobbo gets +1 Strength in combat and may parry as a normal sword.

Skills: The Black Goblin has the Dodge, Lightning Reflexes, Step Aside, and special Nickin' Da Stuff skills

Nickin' Da Stuff Skill: Only The Black Goblin may have this skill. The Black Goblin is known for being sneaky and really prone to steal things (from friends or foe, friends most likely!). If the Black goblin puts an enemy Hero Out of Action or Stuns them, he will pilfer one of their hand weapons. Randomly determine which weapon he steals. That weapon is gone from the Hero and given to the warband the Black Goblin was fighting for. Since the Black Goblin usually looks for personal weapons the enemy may try to buy back the weapon at the end of the game at a price to be disputed by the players.

Sneaky Git: The Black Goblin is hard to find when he doesn't want to be, and he certainly doesn't like the likes of Orcs out to get him. Therefore, subtract -1 I from the Orc Hero(s) looking for the Black Goblin.

Modeling: For Da Black Gobbo I'm going to use the driver of the Goblin Wolf Chariot. Short and simple. A little sculpting with green stuff for his face mask, hood and armor. For a more detailed look at Da Black Gobbo, see the White Dwarf issue in which he stole the whole mag!
